Preface.

During more than half a century past, different persons have, from time to time, given more or less attention to gathering information as to the history and genealogy of some special line of the Potts family, and in some instances these collections have been published ; but, with one or two exceptions, they have occupied but a few pages in some larger work on local history. The present work, in the main, covers original and broader ground.

In the early part of the year 1860, the writer hereof, having a little leisure at his command, began the collection of some family records and information as to ancestors. For a dozen years he continued to gather information as opportunity offered. These inquiries were for the most part confined to immediate kinsfolk, and memoranda made of the statements of aged members of the family, as well as copying family records whenever available.

In 1872 he became acquainted with the late William John Potts, of Camden, New Jersey, an educated and cultured gentleman, who had been giving the subject special attention for some years previous. From that time until his last illness, a close intimacy and an extensive correspondence was maintained. There had previously been much confusion as to the kinship of the early Potts in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, but he had succeeded in unraveling the tangle and making a clear statement, assigning to each individual his proper family or correct place in his family. He continued to accumulate data bearing upon these families, as well as material relating to the history of the family in Great Britain. It was Mr. Potts' intention to prepare for publication articles upon certain disputed questions concerning the true relationship of the early settlers to each other, but was prevented by reason of failing health. The present writer gave attention to collecting information concerning first settlers of the name in America, and tracing their descendants as far as possible.

About the year 1884, the proposition of publishing a volume, to be compiled from these joint collections, was suggested and considered, but the way did not then seem clear and the project was allowed to rest for the time being. Since that time the accumulation of new data has more than doubled. About 1892-4, Mr. Potts prepared and communicated to the writer, a collection of data relating to the Potts Family in Great Britain, which now forms Part I of this book. His subsequent illness prevented his preparing further copy for this work. He had however during the long correspondence communicated much concerning his researches bearing upon the families in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. This information has to a greater or less extent been incorporated into those Chapters which treat of these families.

After the decease of Mr. Potts, the writer took up the matter of publication in earnest, and since then has devoted much of his time to the work. The primary object of this publication has been to give as full and accurate a history of the first settlers of the name in this country, as it has been possible to secure from reliable sources. The data for these accounts has been gathered from deeds, wills, church records, ancient documents, memorial inscription, and similar authentic sources. During all these years of collecting material, much time has been devoted to personal examination of public records in many localities; sometimes long distances have been traveled for this purpose, and in numerous instances experts have been employed upon the ground, to make examinations and to furnish copies or abstracts of important records.

In addition to this, an extensive correspondence has been carried on during all these years, covering a majority of the States of the Union, and copies of family and Bible records and the recollections of many aged persons secured. This wide correspondence has brought the writer in contact with many intelligent and cultured people and has been a source of continued profit and delight. It is to be regretted that so many of these writers, who were so deeply interested in this work, have one by one answered the last call that comes to all men, and have not lived to see its completion. As is usual in such cases, scores of letters have remained unanswered, and many who could have given valuable information have manifested a total indifference.

The greatest care has been taken in compiling the data in order to secure accuracy, but in a work of this kind, where names and dates occur by the thousand, it is not unlikely that errors may be discovered. Sometimes the manuscript has been difficult to decipher, and in other cases information coming from different sources has been at variance, or so deficient in details as possibly to have been misconstrued. Since the body of the book was printed, some annoying typographical errors have been noticed, but in most cases the sense intended is not affected.

The book grew to nearly double the size at first estimated, and for this reason the matter has been condensed as much as possible, and not a few details omitted altogether. Had it have been possible to have secured a complete record of all descendants of the families or branches included in this volume, it would possibly have been again doubled in size. The compiler is fully aware of the imperfections of the book, but hopes that those interested in preserving some records of the family will be lenient in their criticism. It is the compiller's intention to deposit with the Pennsylvania Historical Society at Philadelphia, in addition to a copy of this work, a manuscript that will contain Indexes to Potts deeds and wills at different places, Lists of marriages and deaths, copies of papers, and memoranda of greater or less value to the future historian of the family.

The compiler is indebted to scores of persons for valuable aid, and in many instances acknowledgments have been entered in the body of the text. It is proper to make special mention of Gilbert Cope, of West Chester, Penna.; Louis M. Childs, of Norristown, Penna.; Miss Sallie H. Potts, of Camden, N. J.; Mrs. R. Shannon Haines, of Mount Holly, N. J.; Howard N. Potts, of Philadelphia; Thomas Franklin Potts, of Morrisonville, Ill.; Miss Abby L. Potts, of Pottsville, Pa.; Dr. Samuel T. Potts, of Augusta, Ga.; George W. Potts, of Bowling Green, Ky.; William O. Potts, of Cadiz, Ohio; Alpheus Potts, of Jeffersonville, N. Y.; Mrs. Emma Zacharias, of Hillsboro, Va.; Miss Sue G. Chandler, of Bethlehem, Pa.; and William C. Armstrong, of New Brunswick, N. J.; and the following, now deceased, Ellis Potts Miller, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Anna T. Potts-Jones, of Conshohocken, Pa.; Wm. F. Corbit, of Philadelphia; Dr. Wm. H. Egle, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Amanda T. Potts-Best, of Hillsboro, Va.; Charles Combs Potts, of Leesburg, Va.; Rev. Elijah F. Rockwell, D. D., of Statesville, N. C.; Miss Elizabeth Rosa Potts, of Baltimore, Md.; William H. Potts, of Trenton, N. J.; Gen. Benjamin F. Potts, of Helena, Mon.; Col. David G. Potts, of Petersburg, Va.; Joel Potts, of Sharpsburg, Ill.; Thomas Elwood Potts, of Philadelphia; B. F. Harper, of Germantown, Pa.; and Capt. Thomas Potts Miller, of Louisville, Miss.; who have contributed valuable information and aid. Much information has been gleaned from manuscripts in the possession of the Pennsylvania Historical Society at Philadelphia, and thanks are due to the polite officials for favors. Thanks are due to those who have furnished subjects for illustration. It is proper to say that portraits of the living have not been inserted from any desire of notoriety, but through the solicitation of friends.

Explanatory.

This volume is divided into three parts. Part I treats of the family in Great Britain; Part II treats of the family in America; and Part III treats of David Potts and his descendants.

Descendants of heads of families or of first settlers are numbered consecutively and when a name is carried forward it may be easily found by the corresponding number.

At the beginning of each biographical sketch, the person's number and name are printed in bold faced type, and followed by the Christian name of each ancestor, back to the first known or mentioned, enclosed in parentheses.

In Parts II and III, the small figures, ¹, ², ³, etc., indicate the generation back to the first settler, and the small letters, ^a, ^b, etc., the trans-atlantic ancestors.

ABBREVIATIONS. b. signifies born; d., died; m. married; unml., unmarried; bap. baptized; d. y., died young; mo. month; =, married.

WILLIAM BAIRD POTTS.

Historians of the Potts Family.

Several persons in the past have given more or less attention to the history and genealogy of some branch of the Potts family. These efforts have been mainly confined to the family of Thomas Potts, Junior, of Germantown and Colebrookdale, sometimes referred to as the "Pottstown Family." The early investigators started upon the assumption that the Thomas Potts who came to America in 1678,* landed at Burlington, New Jersey, and settled there, was the head of this family. The pioneer in these researches was the late William Baird Potts, Esq., of Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania.

WILLIAM BAIRD POTTS† was the son of William and Mary Frances (Potts) Potts. Mary Frances Potts was a daughter of Dr. Jonathan Potts, who was the Medical Director General of the Continental Armies of the Revolution, and who was stationed in New York and the Canadas during the greater part of the struggle for Independence.

William Baird Potts was born Feb. 22, 1802, at Pottstown, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. His early life was passed in the better schools of that day. For a short time after completing his studies at school, he was employed in a store at Reading. He prepared himself for the practice of the law and was admitted to the bar, eventually removing to Orwigsburg, Schuylkill County. He married Jane Hughes Downing, daughter of Major Levi Downing of Downingtown, Chester County, Pennsylvania, April 8, 1830.

During his residence at Orwigsburg, he conceived the idea of a genealogical history of the Potts family. He encountered the usual hindrances and difficulties incident to such an undertaking, but the work grew interesting to him and he continued it for over seven years. He spent much of his time and private means in his researches for data and facts concerning the early history and the arrivals from abroad of the earliest emigrants of the name of Potts. He also carried on an extensive correspondence with persons living in England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland, and accumulated a large collection of documents and valuable papers relative the subject. He had beside unusual facilities in having access to old family papers in the libraries, and even in lofts and garrets, of members of the family then living. In 1850 he presented these accumulations to the Pennsylvania Historical Society at Philadelphia, where they are preserved in two bound volumes. In the last years of his life, he compiled into book form his data concerning the family of Thomas Potts, Junior, of Germantown and Colebrookdale. With the exception of the statement that this Thomas Potts was the son of that Thomas Potts who came to Burlington, New Jersey, in 1678, the record has been pronounced altogether correct as far as it goes. His labor of love was latterly interfered with by ill health, and finally interrupted entirely by his death, which took place October 9, 1855. His manuscript volume has been preserved by his family, and up to the time of his death was in the custody of his son, the late Hon. W. Ramsay Potts, of Pottsville, Penna.

At the change of the County-Seat of Schuylkill County in 1850, from Orwigsburg to Pottsville, Mr. Potts removed to the latter place. He was eminently successful as an attorney, and at his decease left a large clientage to his eldest son, who succeeded him and continued the practice for over forty years.

Rev. EDWARD D. NEILL, D. D., a Presbyterian minister, scholar, antiquarian, and author, in 1863, published an admirable Biographical Sketch of Dr. Jonathan Potts, the Medical Director General in the Revolution, in pamphlet form. In a foot-note on the first page, he gives what purports to be a brief pedigree of the family, but unfortunately confounds three or four families by combining them into one, and making Thomas Potts, of the Shield, the head. In his Virginia Carolorum he gives some account of Dr. John Pott and Captain Francis Pott, his brother, of Jamestown.

Dr. JAMES HENRY CARR, late of the City of Philadelphia, gave many years attention to collecting information concerning those of the name of Potts in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, especially from deeds, wills, Friends records, and such like. He prepared, in manuscript, a genealogy of the family of Thomas Potts, Junior, of Germantown and Colebrookdale. His collection was very valuable and reliable in all particulars, except that he claimed this Thomas Potts, Junior, to have been the son of Thomas Potts, of the Shield. He would not admit his error on this point, and no array of facts or argument would he listen to or admit. In November, 1882, he published an article in the Montgomery Ledger of Norristown, Pa., entitled "Solution of the old Potts Puzzle," * in which he brings together, in a small space, a valuable collection of data.

Mr. WILLIAM JOHN POTTS, late of Camden, New Jersey, had his attention called to the subject in the latter part of 1869, and began a systematic and thorough investigation and was in time surprised that so many important sources of information, bearing upon the subject, had not up to that time been examined. He was the first to make a clear statement and assign to these first settlers their true position, and show that they were not all of one family. See Biographical Sketches, pages xxiii and 541.

* See infra, page 269, et seq.

Dr. JOHN NEILL, (brother of Rev. Edward D. Neill), in his John Neill, of Lewes, Delaware, prints a paragraph or two, to dispel the confusion that had before existed as to the several 'Thomas Potts', living at the same time.

Mrs. THOMAS POTTS JAMES, late of Cambridge, Massachusetts, in 1874, published a Memorial of Thomas Potts, Junior, etc, This is a fine quarto volume of 416 pages, giving a record of over 1200 descendants of Thomas Potts, Junior, of Germantown and Colebrookdale. It contains much historical matter, and is handsomely illustrated.

FUTHEY & COPE's History of Chester County, Pennsylvania, (1881), contains some biographical sketches of persons of the name who have resided in that County.

WILLIAM F. COOLEY, in his Older Hunterdon County, New Jersey, gives a short account of the Potts' of Trenton.

Old Kent of Maryland and Provincial Councillors, both have brief accounts of the family of Hon. Richard Potts.

Biographical Sketch
William John Potts.

William John Potts,* son of Robert Barnhill and Sarah Page (Grew) Potts, was born October 14, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and died November 18, 1895, in Camden, New Jersey. When he was eight years of age, the family removed from Philadelphia to Camden. He attended schools in both cities, and later attended courses of lectures on Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania and at the Polytechnic College of Philadelphia. After completing his education, he for several years filled the position of Analytical Chemist in the large manufacturing chemical works established and operated by his father.

After a few years, he relinquished his profession and devoted his time to intellectual pursuits, which he found to be more congenial to his tastes. Being a person of means he was free from the exacting demands business, and in consequence pursued those branches of science and literature to his liking. His more favored subjects were history, genealogy, archæology, numismatics, and kindred studies. He conducted a large correspondence and kept in touch with a select circle of educated persons of kindred tastes. He valued his membership in the American Philosophical Society very highly and took a great interest in its proceedings. At the time of death he was also a member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, the New Jersey Historical Society, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, the American Folk-Lore Society, the English Folk-Lore Society, the Pennsylvania Sons of the Revolution, the New Jersey Sons of the Revolution, the Society of Colonial Wars for the State of Pennsylvania, the Society of Colonial Wars for the State of New Jersey, and a corresponding member of the Wisconsin Historical Society. He had also been a member of the Academy of Natural Sciences and of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Societies of Philadelphia.

He was unmarried, but very happy in his home surrounding which, after the decease of his father, included his mother, brother and sister, where every needed comfort and many luxuries aided to make life enjoyable. His home became a meeting place of his friends, and he was made president of a local art club that met there. He was also president of the "Fortnightly Club," which held its meetings at the homes of the members, where lectures and other elevating entertainments were enjoyed. Later he was president of the University Extension in Camden, and labored zealously to give his fellow citizens the benefit of the most interesting and instructive courses of lectures.

The late Dr. Frederick D. Stone, librarian of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, his life-long friend and biographer, says of him :

To sum up Mr. Potts' character in a few words, he can best be described as an educated gentleman of broad and liberal tastes, in whose company every one could find pleasure. Although not a college graduate, his education was excellent, and it was supplemented by the advantage of extensive travel, at a time when his mind was open to broadening influences. Early in 1866 he sailed for Europe, and remained abroad for more than two years. In 1880 he again visited Europe, and did not return until 1882. On his first trip he visited some of the principal European capitals. His second trip was extended to Norway, Sweden, Russia, Italy, Spain and as far up the Nile as the first cataract.

Rev. E. H. Byington, D. D., in an obituary notice, published in the proceedings of the New England Historic Genealogical Society for 1896, writes :

He was a man of remarkable industry and skill in antiquarian research, and he left many of his plans unfinished, on account of his too early death. He was a genial companion, agreeable in conversation, gentle and patient in enduring the long-continued physical suffering of his last years. "The death of such a man," says one of his old neighbors, "is a loss to the community which can only be properly estimated after the sad event has occurred."

He was a contributor to The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, The New England Historic Genealogical Register, The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, the London (Eng.) Notes and Queries, and other periodicals. He contributed valuable material for a number of works, and the authors of several books published in England give him credit for securing valuable materials for their use from America. Dr. Stone says of him,

It may well be asked if Mr. Potts gave no one of his numerous tastes a prominence over another, and while the answer must be in the negative, so far as his studies were concerned, there was certainly one class of composition in which he excelled, and to which I think he gave a particular attention—I mean the well-nigh lost art of letter-writing. For this he seems to have had a natural-born taste.

Dr. Stone quotes from many of his letters, and in one written to the doctor from Paris in January in 1882, he refers to the skull-cap seen in his portrait, as follows,

My researches in the British Museum were after all not very satisfactory,—though quite laborious,—owing to the dark fogs of November. The atmosphere in the Reading Room does not at first appear to be so bad, but constant attendance convinced me that the necessary oxygen to keep up the brilliancy of one's intellect is not to be found in an English November, and especially in the badly ventilated Reading Room of this wonderful library. When ventilated at all, a cold draught cuts across one's back from an occasional door being opened in the gallery. I have bought myself a black velvet skull-cap, such as the priests wear to cover their tonsures in the cold European cathedrals. It is a very useful article, and has a most foreign look ; and if you have any draughts in the Society's Rooms I shall honor you when I get back, and should anybody ask what distinguished prelate that is, you can say, "A bishop from Jersey."

Mr. Potts' letters to the writer hereof cover more than fifteen hundred pages, and he can readily agree with Dr. Stone that there was something intangible about them that gave them a peculiar charm, and an expected letter was anticipated with pleasure and read with the keenest relish. The last letter written by his own hand to the compiler was dated March, 1895. The following are some paragraphs extracted from a letter written from Paris in 1882, in which among other things he discusses, at some length, some disputed points in the Potts pedigree not then altogether clear. The whole letter comprises sixteen closely written pages.

PARIS, FRANCE, Feb. 17. 1882.

DEAR SIR :

Thank you for your interesting letter dated 27 January. I was particularly interested in your account of the stubborn revival of Mr. Carr's theory of the Pottstown family's descent from Thomas Potts of the Shield. I have become rather excited about it, and I must say it has aroused me to fresh effort in the elucidation of this matter.

Since I have been abroad, everything convinces me that our country's greatness is advancing with tremendous strides, and rapidly becoming apparent to all Europe. As has been said, certainly without exaggeration, in one hundred years we shall number two hundred millions population. There are signs too of a great era of American literature, historical as well as general. When this coming century shall have passed away there will be more than ever of the curious and justly proud who will take an interest in the founders of this magnificent empire. You and I have duties to perform to posterity to preserve "the fragments which remain that nothing be lost" of the history of our ancestors.

Though I have published nothing in the defence of my theory of the pedigree of the several families of Potts' of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, my labor in the voluminous correspondence with Mrs. Thomas Potts James and Mr. James H. Carr was very great. It was this as you know which caused Mrs. James to drop her claim to Thomas Potts of the Shield; and my correspondence with the Neills of Philadelphia, which was the means of their also abandoning T. P., Shield and giving, in the Potts part of the Neill Genealogy, my evidence (in part) of the claim of the New Jersey family to Thomas Potts of the Shield.

You have referred in your last letter to Mr. Carr making a newspaper publication entitled "the Potts Puzzle"* in which he still lays claim to the Shield for the Pottstown family. I met him often at the Historical Society's Rooms. His argument was always the same, and not one new thing could or would he add to it, viz.: that a certain deed recorded in Philadelphia showed that Thomas Potts of Colebrookdale sold a house and lot in Philadelphia, which he had inherited under the will of his father, Thomas Potts, will 1726.† He further said there could be no doubt that T. P. will 1726 was the same as T. P. of the Shield, because of the remarkable and unusual T which was used in the signature being identical with that of the old T. P's signature of Burlington.

Now this is the whole of his argument, and the strong point in it which it is incumbent for us to attack and to examine critically is the deed recording the above statement. That once broken down their whole case goes. If you could examine this deed and show that the Thomas Potts, Junior, mentioned in it was not proved to be him of Colebrookdale, then their evidence falls to the ground. Mr. Carr once took me to the office of the Recorder of Deeds in Philadelphia, and gave me a paper with the index to Potts deeds, but I cannot now remember whether I saw this deed. The moment I get home I shall copy it and weigh its value very carefully. I found even then at that examination several deeds which bore out my theory. Though I must say that I viewed the matter in a generous and liberal way and argued from his side and tried to prove his case right, but I could not make mine wrong, unless this deed is so strong in every detail that it cannot be gainsayed. It must positively show that the Thomas, Jr., it refers to was the Colebrookdale Thomas and could not be the Thomas of Mansfield and of Bucks County, who might for a short time have been in the City. This is the most important clause in this deed, and the next of course is the reference to Thomas Potts of the will of 1726 inserted in it.

I have abundant official record evidence to show that the old Thomas Potts of Burlington recognized Thomas Potts, Jr., of Springfield, Mansfield, and Bucks County as his son, and that his wife Ann joined with him in an important deed, recognizing this Thomas Potts of Springfield as their son. I have legal evidence to show that the Junior of Philadelphia was not the person meant in this deed. I have evidences to show that Thomas Potts, Jr., was born before the Shield landed, while the Thomas Potts of Colebrookdale, by his own showing, was born in 1680, after that vessel landed. The collareral or circumstantial evidences also are favorable to Thomas Potts, Jr., of Mansfield, etc. No birth record on the Burlington books appears of T. P. of Colebrookdale, no evidence whatever that he was ever in Burlington in his life. He was a Quaker, while on the other hand not only was T. P. Mansfield married at the house of his father, Thomas Potts, in Burlington as the Court Record states,* but he was also a Baptist and appears like his father on the books of the Pennepack Baptist Records.

I have in my letters to Mr. Carr only carried my argument down to 1699, when old T. P., Shield, left and went to Pennepack, but I have not endeavored to show or prove to Mr. Carr that I claimed the Pennepack Senior as him of the Shield and as one and the same with T. P., wife Alice, will 1726 who died in Philadelphia. I did not think it necessary to prove or disprove this further history of T. P., Shield, beyond 1699-1700, up to which time I made the affiliation positive between him and T. P., Mansfield. Now Carr says, after all this, that T. P. Colebrookdale, could only be his lawful son.

I need not refer you to the circumstantial evidence of the New Jersey family, Stacy Potts' letter of 1769 † and their Bible records. Carr said they were worthless. I have the statement on Thomas Potts of Mansfield's tombstone as to his age, and the parish register of his death giving the same, both showing that he was born before the landing of the Shield. Smith's History too that Thomas Potts came in the Shield bringing his wife and children. Carr would also set that aside as to the term "children." I have the Burlington Court record that Ruth Kettle was married at the house of her father-in-law [step-father] Thomas Potts to Thomas Bibb, Tanner. The only name that approaches to this funny "Kettle" is Cattle, now written Cattell, of New Jersey, of which there was (perhaps it is only a coincidence) an early Jonas Cattle. I presume the name to have been the same as Catla. A John Catla appears at an early date on the Pennepack records. These latter records, by the way, I have been over several times most carefully. Kettle is a common name in Cheshire, England. Could it be possible that Thomas Potts, Shield, married a widow Cattle or Kettle?

I had, as I have told you, evidence that Thomas Potts of the Shield came from Chesterfield, in Derbyshire. Some years ago I wrote at random (not knowing his name) to the Clerk of the Parish Records, Chesterfield, Derbyshire. It was nearly, if not more than, a year afterward when I received a reply from a person, signing himself "G. Damns," stating that he had been very busy when he received my letter, that he had examined his records for the name of Potts in the period desired, (I had purposely specified no Christian names), that he had a number which he thought would be of interest ; but as I was a stranger to him, would I send him two pounds (£2) some shillings first. I naturally thought "G. Damns" has a bad sound and was suspicious of the name and the unusual length of time taken to answer my letter. So I took no notice of his tardy reply, not wishing to risk eleven dollars. Some time after a friend wrote me from England that there actually was such a man in the Chesterfield, Derbyshire, Directory as "G. Damns, Parish Clerk." * * * Your letter has stirred me up so, I think I'll go to Chesterfield if it is not a very expensive journey.

In five weeks I leave here for England to stay a week in London, make a short examination again in the British Museum and then make a tour of England preparatory to returning to America in the Spring. It is some years since I had a letter from Mr. Carr containing a copy of one received by Rev. Edward D. Neill, then U. S. Consul at some foreign port, an answer to one the said Neill had addressed to a certain English customs official at Trinity House, Hull, who happened also to be an antiquary. It stated that there was no record of any vessel named the Shield sailing from Hull in 1678. But as the Shield sailed from Stockton upon Hull, that was of no account.

You know I had the Quaker records in London searched. Those particularly referring to Cheshire and Wales. From the former I obtained a record of the descendants of Thomas Potts, the persecuted Quaker, mentioned in Besse. Wales was deficient, the persecution having raged so that meetings were broken up at an early date and their members emigrated in a body to America. The wills in Bangor cover the part of Wales from which our family came. There are few Potts' in the period we desire, and the wills I have do not make the connection with David, because they are too early, but they are valuable. However there are great voids in these Welsh wills, but I think all the circumstantial evidence shows David came from these. * * * The Parish Records of Llangurig, so the history of that place which I examined in the British Museum states, are only existing from a late date. Perhaps the adjoining parishes may be more fortunate.

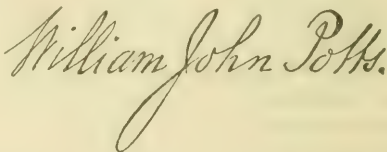

Of your correspondent Mr. Robert Potts, M. A., of Trinity College, Cambridge, I have heard in Allibone's Dictionary of Authors, I believe, where he figures on the roll of honor. In 1867 when at Kreutznach, a watering place in Germany, I met a very agreeable English clergyman, since Bishop of Ningpo in China, a learned man in the Chinese tongue. His name was William A. Russell, and he came from Dublin. He told me his grandmother was a Potts, an old family of that place.

If in England there are many sources to obtain genealogical information they require considerable length of time to become acquainted with them. To be sure they have the wills, and where they exist the parish registers; but are wanting in that one great clue which we have to perfection, an institution of great importance, not only to the genealogist but to the Republic, the open registry of deeds. What would either of us know about the Potts genealogy if we had no Recorder of Deeds office? It would have been impossible to have made anything out of it. The pedigrees examined were only those of the great landed families, for none other exist in England. The tenants of whom, were most of the ancestors of the Americans, did not own in the old country a foot of land at that early date, consequently if there were any recorded deeds of land, none of these tenant farmers would be found among them. The County Histories are pompous memorials of the great alone. Ancient names of any but the nobility or families of great property are not even mentioned. This is utterly regardless of the fact expressed by Camden, the antiquary, that the high are descended from the low, and the low from the high. Addison remarks, of the pedigree of an Englishman, that where his ancestors were of no condition he conceals their origin by writing "Esquire" after their names. So a pedigree which really might give some clue to certain names purposely conceals any fact that may identify them. All this is so different from the plain honesty and outspoken truth of a Republican genealogy that it is perplexing and vexatious.

So with best wishes, I remain,

Yours Truly,

THOMAS MAXWELL POTTS.
Canonsburg, Pennsylvania,
United States.

Mr. Potts in appearance was a very robust man, but long suffered from ill health, being subject to attacks which, for the time being, caused him great suffering and prostration. As the years increased these attacks became more frequent and longer continued. He had the benefit of the best medical skill and the ministrations of tender hands of loving care-takers, but at last succumbed to the fell destroyer—death. In religious conviction and affiliation, he was an Episcopalian.

The Potts Family in Great Britain.

POTT OF POTT.

THE POTTS FAMILY IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Arms of Pott or Potts.

The publisher of this volume has received so many inquiries as to the arms of the Potts family, that it is deemed expedient to insert the following compilation upon the subject. First of all it may be well to explain, that the English idea or usage of armorial bearings is, that they are granted as property to an individual, and from him descend to his children, grandchildren, and so on. Hence in England there is no such thing as the arms of a family, except as the sons, grandsons, etc., of the grantee constitute his particular family. That is, they do not pass to brothers or collateral lines. The practice however is quite different on the Continent. So far as the writer's investigation has gone, there seems to be no evidence that the early Potts settlers in America were descended from armigerous ancestors, though they may have belonged to collateral lines, and been descended from a common origin in a more remote past.

The Arms of Pott or Potts are quite simple, being composed of bars and a bend over all. In the various descriptions given, there are some variations in the tinctures or colors, as borne by different branches of the family. In some cases these changes may have come by reason of being borne by junior members of a family, while in some other cases it is not at all improbable that the copyist may have been at fault. It is not uncommon for the branches of a family to difference their Coats with an interchange of tinctures. Leaving out those that are incomplete or manifestly inaccurate, the following descriptions have been noticed.

- 1 Or two bars azure, over all a bend gules.
- 2 Or two bars azure, over all a bend of the second.
- 3 Azure two bars or, over all a bend of the last.
- 4 Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend over all gules, three trefoils slipped or.
- 5 Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend over all sable, three trefoils slipped or.
- 6 Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend azure three trefoils slipped or.
- 7 Barry of six azure and or, over all a bend of the last

Similarity of Arms is generally understood to indicate family relationship, but it is not an ironclad rule, as there are instances of persons bearing the same surname, and having very similar Arms, yet in no way related.

The earliest record in the Herald's College of Arms granted to any one bearing the name of Pott or Potts, so far as yet discovered, bears date of 1583. In that year Arms were granted to John Potts, an eminent lawyer of Lincoln's Inn, London, and are fairly shown in the margin, and described as follows.

ARMS. Azure two bars or, over all a bend of the second.

This John Potts was a son of Roger Potts, of Mannington, County Norfolk. The Potts' of Counties Bedford, Durham and Kent, all bore the same Arms and seem to have been of the same family. A branch of the Potts family who settled in Kings County, Ireland, also bear these Arms, though they claim descent from the Cheshire Potts.

Ormerod's History of Cheshire, edition of 1882, gives a description of the Arms of Pott, of Pott Hall, Cheshire, which seems to be corrected from a former edition of that work. This description is here copied, and represented in the margin. See also Arms printed in colors.

ARMS. Or two bars azure, over all a bend [not] of the second [but gules].

When these Arms were granted, and to whom, does not appear, but the inference is that they were quite ancient. In the Visitation of 1633, Edmund Pott, of London, bore these Arms. This Edmund Pott was the third son of Francis Pott, who was a son of Roger Pott, of Pott Hall, Cheshire. These Arms bear a mullet on the bend over the dexter chief, which is the distinctive difference indicating a third son, and proves that he bore these Arms by inheritance.

Another and more recent account of the Potts, of Pott Hall, printed in Burke's Landed Gentry, edition of 1886, gives the Arms as follows, ARMS. Or two bars azure, over all a bend of the second.

These Arms are the same as the last mentioned, except that the tincture of the bend is changed from gules to azure. This account states that these Arms are those allowed to Edmund Pott, of London, the third son of Francis Pott, of Pott, in 1634.

On November 19, 1611, Arms were granted to John Pott, of Stancliffe, Derbyshire, by Sir Richard St. George, Norroy, as shown in the margin, and described as follows, ARMS. Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend over all gules, three trefoils slipped or.

John Pott, of Stancliffe, was a son of another John Pott, and a grandson of Roger Pott, of Dun-ge, Cheshire. On a burial tablet, suspended in St. Mary and St. Helen Church, at Neston, Wirrill Hundred, in Cheshire, to the memory of Thomasyn, wife of George Pott, of Stancliffe, who died in 1650, the Arms for Pott are the same as those granted to John Pott, of Stancliffe, his father, in 1611, and described above, except that the tincture of the bend is changed from gules to sable.

The pedigrees of the Pott or Potts family, as gathered from various sources, are frequently incomplete and sometimes slightly at variance. Assuming that Roger Pott, of Pott, and Roger Pott, of Dunge, Cheshire, were one and the same person, which seems to be altogether probable, the following skeleton pedigree exhibits the position in the family of those of Cheshire and Derbyshire who are mentioned as bearing Arms. The names of those who have been noticed as bearing Arms are underscored and a number affixed to correspond with the descriptions of Arms given on page 4, ante.

The Pott or Potts family of Counties Selkirk and Roxburgh, Scotland, bore a very similar Arms. The only difference from the Potts, of Manington, Arms, being an additional bar in the Shield. They are described as follows, Arms. Barry of six azure and or, over all a bend of the last.

THE CREST. The Crest used with these Arms, with the exception those of the Potts of Stancliffe, are all practically the same, though the descriptions of even the same Crest by different writers vary quite as much as the descriptions of the Arms. The Crest used by members of the Cheshire Potts shown in the margin, lacking the mount, is variously described as follows,

1 On a mound vert over a wreath, a wild cat sejant, proper, collared and chained or.

2 On a mount vert an ounce sejant, proper, collared and lined or.

3 On a wreath a wild cat sejant, collared and chained.

4 An ounce sejant on a mount vert.

The Potts, of Mannington, County Norfolk, and London, used a Crest which has been described as follows,

5 An ounce sejant spotted, collared and chained or.

6 A leopard or ounce sejant, collared and chained or.

The Crest of the Potts, of South Shields, County Durham, is described as given below.

7 On a mount vert, an ounce sejant proper, collared and chained or.

The Potts', of Bentham Hill, County Kent, bore a Crest as follows,

8 On mount vert a leopard sejant proper, collared and chained or.

9 On a mount vert a leopard sejant proper, collared and chained, reflexed over the back or.

The Crest of the Potts of Todrig, County Selkirk, and Borthwickshields House, County Roxburgh, Scotland, is thus described.

10 A leopard sejant proper, collared, lined and ringed or.

The Crest used by the Potts, of Stancliffe, Derbyshire, is thus described.

11 On a mount vert a greyhound couchant gules, collared and ringed or.

MOTTOS. Mottos attached to Potts Arms seem to be of recent adoption. The following have been noticed. That of the Potts', of Bentham Hill, Kent.

Fortis et astutis.

That of the Potts, of Todrig, Scotland.

Vive et Vivas.

That of the Potts', of Counties of Kings, Westmeath and Roscommon, Ireland.

In Vinculis Etiam Audax.

BY WILLIAM JOHN POTTS.*

The Derivation of the Name.

The origin of the name of Potts, anciently Pott, is somewhat obscure. Lower has, in his Patronymica Britannica London, 1860, p. 274, the following :

POTT, POTTS. The reason for the assumption of this name is not very obvious ; yet similar words have designated families of importance in other countries. For instance, there were in Flanders in the XV century, a noble family of POTT, who bore a pot in their armorial coat. There was also an Italian house, called the LITTLE-POTS, (Pignatelli), while a line of Spanish grandees rejoiced in the thrice-illustrious name of PADILA, "Frying-pan."—DIXON. In the north of England, "potts" is a topographical term implying deep circular hollows in the ground. This surname designates a Northumbrian clan.

Various evidences, apparently not brought to the notice of Lower, show clearly that Potts is a place name of one who lived near "deep circular hollows in the ground." The following line from Tennyson's Enoch Arden would seem to give an apt description of such a locality :

"* * * * a cup like hollow of the down."

* NOTE. The late Mr. William John Potts, of Camden, New Jersey, from the latter part of 1869, until prevented by declining health, gave careful and critical study of the Potts family in Great Britain, and of the early settlers of the name in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and succeeded in collecting more material than any other who has written upon the subject, particularly in establishing who were the descendants of that Thomas Potts, who came from England in the Shield, and landed at Burlington, N. J., in December, 1678.—T. M. P.

In Bishop Percy's Romances and Ballads,* we have a curious ancient ballad, the story of one Thomas a Pott, a servant to the Earl of Arundel, who falls in love with his master's daughter, and after a tournament with a certain suitor, Lord Phenix, who does not find favor in her eyes, unhorses his adversary, defeats him and marries the Earl's daughter, and, according to the ballad, takes the name of Arundel.

It is not generally known at the present day that four hundred years ago, a large number of substantial English yeomen had no family names.† Among the Parliamentary writs, A. D., 1278, Robertus atte Potte, of County Surrey, is summoned to do military service. Anthony a Wood, Thomas a Becket, Attleborough, and Atwood, are well known names derived from places in a similar manner. Agate is another family name of a dweller at a gate.

The name of Pott is to be found in isolated instances in different parts of Great Britain at a very early period, but it is not until the reign of Queen Elizabeth that we find any family of the name of special social importance settled in one spot, so that one is able to make a connected pedigree.

The Potts' of Cheshire and Derbyshire.

The first of these was that in Cheshire, from whom at least three other important branches seem to have sprung. Descent was claimed for them from the original stock, by the Herald's Visitations, and the pedigrees recorded in the Harleian and Egerton MSS. in the British Museum. Of these the family of Stancliffe became extinct on the spot, at least in the oldest male line, we presume in about 1658, at which time Stancliffe Hall was sold. The family of London, of whom the eminent surgeon, Percival Pott, was the most noted, is still represented, we believe. This branch descend from John Pott, of Stancliffe, County of Derby, who married Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Richard Newsam in - - -, for his first wife, through a Percival Pott, the second son, according to one visitation. All these take their origin from one Roger Pott, of Dunge in the County of Cheshire. Arms were granted to John Pott, of Stancliffe, November 19, 1611, by St. George, Norry, as follows:

ARMS. Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend over all gules three trefoils slipped, or.

In Ormerod's History of Cheshire, revised by Thomas Helsby, 1882, Vol. 3, p. 775, is found the following :

“ Pott Hall was the seat of a family which assumed its local name from the township, and bore for arms as follows :

ARMS. Or two bars azure, over all a bend [not] of the second [but Gules]. CREST. On a [mound vert, over a] wreath, [and therefore not precisely as in the annexed cut,] a wild cat sejant [proper] collared and chained Or.

“ [See Visitations, 1663.^b The connection of this family with the hall seems to have been severed before 11 Henry VI, (unless we are to regard the following purely as a trust deed?), on which date Richard Scarret, of Pott, after reciting that John Hurle, chaplain, and Ric Pygott, Armig^r. gave him a messuage, with an orchard &c., called le Halle of Pott, for his life, and with rem^r to the said Ric Pygott forever.^c John Pott of Potshrigley, yeman, occurs in the Plea Rolls, 20 Hen. VII. m. 2, and was perhaps ancestor of another line of the family, freeholders and gentlemen who continued here for a long period.]

NOTE. b Another coat (as erroneously given by Mr. Ormerod, for this branch) commencing, Azure two bars Or. &c., &c., perhaps belongs to one of the Junior branches.

NOTE. c. Original in possession of a lady of Macclesfield in 1875.—H.

“ Edmund Pott of Pott, aged 23 years at the Visitation in 1663-4, according to the Cheshire pedigrees, was fifth in descent from Roger Pott, who resided on the edge of Taxall. This family is believed to have ended in the direct line in co-heiresses, and another family of similar name, now represented by Henry Potts of Chester, esq., [1819, and now by Arthur and C. W. Potts, esqrs., 1881,] is traditionally said to be descended from it, and alienated an estate in the township in the last century.^d”

We shall give these pedigrees a record here in the hope that the future genealogist may be able to make a clearer statement. The Herald's Visitations are known to be often but partly correct, for where there are no errors there are omissions, as can be well proven by wills and other evidences. So we dwell upon the family of Cheshire and Derbyshire, because from these it is supposed (but not proven) came the family of persecuted Quakers, who emigrated to America about 1690, from Llanidloes, Montgomeryshire, North Wales and vicinity. They may have been here a few years earlier, as two women of the name, perhaps mother and daughter, Elizabeth Potts, members of Friends Meeting, who appear in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1686, are believed to be the Elizabeth Potts who desires, in an early deed, 1684, “a lot in the City [Philadelphia] and 100 acres of land (being the Headright of herself and daughter) in the County of Philadelphia, near the Welchmen.” Warrant at Harrisburg.*

It is therefore with the hope that the affiliation may either be proven or disproven between the Cheshire family and that of Wales, that we give these parish records, pedigrees and the accompanying wills. They have never been published before in a collected form.

From the publications of The Record Society for the Publication of Original Documents Relating to Lancashire and Cheshire, Vol. V. 1881, entitled The Register Book of Christenings, Weddings, and Burials within the Parish of Prestbury, In the County of Chester, 1560-1636. Edited by James Croston, F. S. A. Printed for the Record Society, 1881.

In the Introduction, page xiii, the editor Mr. Croston of Upton Hall, Prestbury, Cheshire, says, inter alia, "Perhaps the most interesting entries are those appended at the close of the years 1632 and 1633—the licences granted to sick and aged persons to eat flesh-meat during Lent." A foot note here explains, "The keeping of Lent was enforced by proclamation and an office granting licences to eat flesh in any part of England was established in St. Paul's churchyard, but the relaxation was not unfrequently obtained by a gift of money to the poor. In the 'History of Henley' a list is given of persons who in 38 Elizabeth (1595-6) were presented for eating flesh in Lent."

The editor further says, referring to the license given below, "Francis Pott was of the family of that name, of Pott in Shrigley; he was buried at Macclesfield, Oct. 31, 1638." The entry of the license reads "1633. Licentia Comedendi carnes concessa ff Francisco Pott de Pott gen. octavo die Januarij."

The following abstracts of Wills have been taken from the Probate Office at Chester, Cheshire.

1638. The will of FRANCIS POTT, gent., made 28 September, 1638. To Ann Pott, his daughter, he gives £100. To his son Thomas Pott, £50. Has lately given 100 marks to his son Henry for "byndinge of of his apprenticeship," and gives him beside £100 more. He had a daughter Jane (was "weak in judgment and discretion and not fit to be left to her own disposition"), he leaves £200 for her use, which is placed in the hands of trustees. He had sons Francis and Thomas Pott (who was the 3d youngest son). Francis Pott had a brother-in-law, Edmund Joydrell, Esq., and brothers Roger and Edmund Pott. He had for sisters-in-law, Mrs. Marie Shallicrosse and Mrs. Joydrell. He also had a sister married to a Brereton. Had a cousin named Hugh fforde. He had a tenant named John Pott. He gives his brother Roger 40/ [shillings]. Signed in full, but no seal.

The will of Francis Pott is evidently drawn by his own hand and covers $2\frac{1}{4}$ large folio pages. The inventory is very long—say six feet—made of long strips of thick paper or parchment fastened together. There is a long list of moneys due him, and bonds, notes, &c. John Pott of Harrop owes him £20, and another John Pott some 40/ or 50/.

1638. The will of LAWRENCE POTT, of Manchester, yeoman, made in the year 1632. Wife's name Elizabeth. Had a brother John Pott, who owed him £7. Had a brother Thomas Pott. Had a nephew Edmund Pott, and nieces Isabel Pott and Elizabeth Pott. Had a brother-in-law William Hill. Makes his mark. The Inventory is long and on parchment strips.

Also had a daughter Catharine; had also a daughter Elizabeth who was the wife of Henry Kirk. John

* NOTE. The exact date given is Jan. 14, and reference being had to the MS. copy, it apparently refers to the date of making the inventory.

Pott the elder also had sons Roger Pott and Edmund Pott, and another daughter named Hannah who was the wife of William Kirk. To each of his grandchildren he gives two shillings and sixpence, and in doing so he is particular to have it understood that this sum is for his grandchildren, not his great-grandchildren, who are not specially mentioned or remembered by any legacies. To his godson John Bowdon he gives two shillings and sixpence. He appoints his son Thomas Pott to be his sole executor. The will was proved April 13, 1724. The inventory amounts to £102-12-01. The following is taken from Burke's Landed Gentry, 7th edition, 1886, Volume 2, page 1487.

Potts of Hoole Hall.

ARTHUR POTTS, Esq., of Hoole Hall, Co. Chester, J. P., second son of the late Henry Potts, Esq., of Glenraven, Co. Denbigh, b. 23 June 1814; m. 12 Oct. 1854, Elizabeth, only surviving child and heir of William Wardell, Esq., of Abbotsfield, near Chester, and has had issue :

I Ann Elizabeth, died an infant 31 July, 1855.

II Edith Wardell-Potts, assumed, by royal licence, 5 July, 1880, the additional name Wardell before that of Potts.

LINEAGE. The family of Pott was for long seated at Pott Hall, in the county of Chester and Hundred of Macclesfield, and a pedigree was entered with the arms, in the Visitation of Cheshire in 1663, and that of London in 1634. Dr. Lyons, in his History of Cheshire, describing the township of Pot-Shrigley, writes, "The hamlet of Pott gave name to a family of gentry who had an estate here for many generations, now [1810] represented by Charles Potts, Esq., of Chester. Pott Hall, which had belonged to the family of Pott, passed successively to Edward Swan," &c.*

* NOTE. Another authority, "John Neill, of Lewes, Delaware, 1739, and His Descendants, Philadelphia, 1875," says "This was bought by Robert Orme, January 16th, 1709, from Edmund Pott, of the Inner Temple, London. (See Court Roll 8th, Anne, 41)."

From the Visitations of 1634 and 1663, we find that in the latter year, Edmund Pott of Pott, aged 23, was head of the family, being the only son and heir of Edmund Pott, who died 1643, by Dulcibell, daughter of John Price, who who was the eldest son and heir by Ann, daughter of Edmund Jodrell of Eardsley, of Francis Pott of Pott, (died 1640), who was eldest son and heir of Francis or John Pott of Pott, by Ann widow of Mr. Trafford, and daughter of ——— Dickinson, who was son and heir of Roger Pott of Pott, by Anne Sutton of Rushton, County Stafford. The elder line ended in an heiress, but the male descent was carried on by Thomas Pott, Esq., of Pott Hall, who was father of another Thomas Pott, who married Mary daughter of ——— Norbury, Esq., of Norbury Houses, Macclesfield, and had issue a son,

THOMAS POTTS, Esq., of Ollerton, near Knutsford, married 1696, Miss Hannah Jarwood of Macclesfield. He was the first of his family to establish the spelling of the name as Potts, which his descendants have ever since continued. He left issue, with a daughter Sarah, married John Algeo, Esq., two sons,

- I Charles Potts, his heir.
- II Thomas Potts, died 9 August, 1778.

CHARLES POTTS, Esq., of Ollerton Hall, County Chester, the elder son and heir, married, 29 September, 1741, Miss Eliza Rogerson of Derby, and left issue, and by her (who died June 1796, and was buried in Chester Cathedral) he had issue, with two daughters, Sarah and Anne, who both died unmarried, three sons. Charles Potts died 18 November, 1817.

- I Henry, of whom hereafter.
- II Charles, died 1781, an infant.
- III Charles, b. 1789; m. Emma, daughter of John Towers Lawrence, Esq.

HENRY POTTS, Esq., of Gleanravon, co. Denbigh, and of Chester, J. P. co. Flint, the eldest son, was born 28 June, 1777; married 29 Aug., 1805, Anne, daughter of Samuel Taylor, Esq., of Moston, co. Lancashire, and died 10 Nov. 1845, having had issue,

- I Charles, died an infant.
- II Henry, of Glanravon, co. Denbigh, J. P. cos. Flint and Denbigh, High Sheriff co. Flint 1852, and co. Denbigh 1877, b. 1810; m. 1844 Cecilia Anne, dau. of Major Martin, and dying 22 March, 1884, left by her with other issue, an eldest son and heir, Henry John Potts, Esq., now of Glenravon, J. P. cos. Denbigh and Flint, and Capt. 1st Royal Cheshire Militia, b. 1845.

History of the Ancient Parish of Sandbach, County Chester, etc., by Farwaker, 1880. On page 91, in a pedigree of the Raven family of Elworth, "William Raven married, 2d, Emma, widow of Roger Pott, of Harrop. Living in 1530.

Farwaker's East Cheshire, Past and Present, or a History of the Hundred of Macclesfield, in the County Palatine of Chester, etc. 1877., contains frequent mention of the Pott or Potts family, and of these the most important will be found in the paragraphs following.

Volume I, page 17. In a list of "Names of Knights, Gentlemen, and Freeholders in Cheshire, in 1445," is given the name of John Pott of Macclesfield Hundred. The author states that this had never been published before.

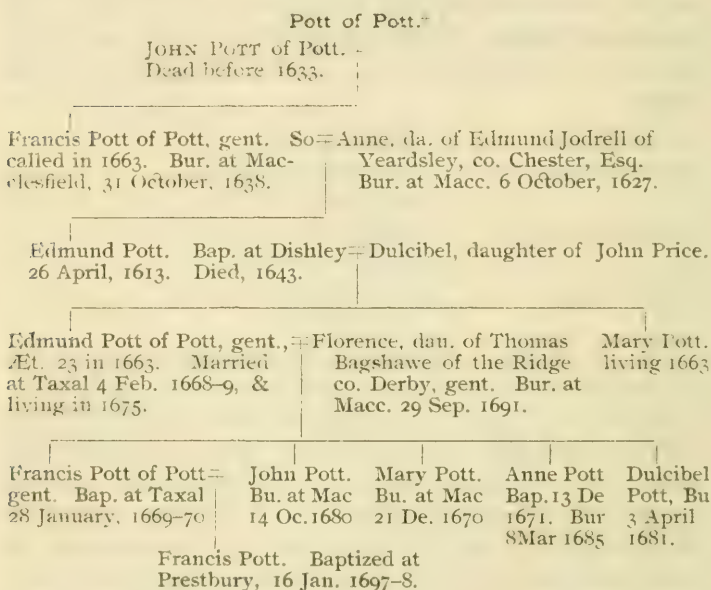

Ibid. Vol. II, p. 218. In the Churchwardens' account, Prestbury Parish, 1558, is "An interesting list of some of the chief inhabitants in each of the townships at this date, 1558," (who gave their consent that The Serage Silver [a peculiar ecclesiastical tax] due yearlie at the feast of S^t George the Martyr [should be applied] to the reparacon of the church.) Vol. II, p. 324. POTT HALL is mentioned early in the fifteenth century, as appears from a deed dated 17 October, 11 Henry VI, [1432], by which Richard Scarret of Pott, after reciting that whereas, John Hurle, chaplain, and Richard Pygott, Esq., had given and conceded to the said Richard one messuage and an orchard in Pott, called "le Halle of Pott," with its appurtenances, he concedes the same to Richard Pygott, Esq., forever; these being witnesses, Sir John Savage, Knt., Sir Laurence Fitten, Knt., Robert Legh, Esq., Robert Downes, of Worthe, Esq., John Sutton, gentlemen, and others.* At the beginning of the last century, Pott Hall appears to have been in the possession of the Holland family, from whom it passed to the Ormes in 1718. The present Hall is situated near the church, but does not show any signs of great age. The Prestbury, Macclesfield, Taxal, and Pott Shrigley Registers contain very many entries relating to the name of Pott, of which there appears to have been many families living in this district. The following pedigree is from the Cheshire Visitation of 1663, (preserved in the Herald's College, London), with additions and continuations from the above named Registers, &c. :—

Ibid. Vol. II, p. 457. Under Kettleshulme township is mentioned "A family of Pott of the Dunge also occurs." and a foot-note says, "Pedigrees of this family will be found in the Harl. MSS. 1535, f. 407. and 2146, f. 154. The inq. p. m. of 'John Potte late of Dunge was taken 4 October, 1563.' "

Ibid. Vol. I, p. 16 et seq. A copy of a document, dated September 14, 24 Henry VI, [1445], is given, which "appears to be full list of those who are liable to be called on Juries, and of course representing all the families who held sufficient land to entitle them to be so called upon." This copy is from the original in the possession of Richard Masie, Esq., who lent it to the author. Among other familiar Cheshire names occurs that of "John Potts."

In a list of all the Delinquents in Macclesfield Hundred, written in 1648 by one of the agents of the Parliament, after most of the estates there mentioned had been sequestered and heavy fines imposed, is found the name of "Henry Pott." The original of this list is amongst the State Papers in the Record Office Domestic Interegnum Letters, Volume 308, being a list of Royalists whose estates were sequestered by the Parliamentarians.

The author, speaking of Chorley in Wilmslow Parish, records some account of "Mr. Henry Davenport of Chorley" who died at Lincell in Salop, March 1603-4, and "14 daye was Buried in the Chancell of Wilmeslowe." A foot note says "He would appear not to have resided at Chorley Hall during the later years of his life, for not only did he die away from that place, but in the Wilmslow Registers is an entry in October 1603 'The 10 day was baptized John Pott, sonne of Mr. John Pott, dwelling at Chorley Hall.'" "The Parish Registers begin in 1558, the commencement of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. They are very voluminous, and are in a good state of preservation. The entries during the Civil War times being fairly kept up."

Ibid. Vol. II, p. 332. POTT SHRIGLEY. The Parish Registers begin in 1630 for the Baptisms, and in 1685 for the Burials and Marriages; but the two latter are very defective. The former have evidently been transcribed from some old memoranda or Registers about the beginning of the last century, and there are a few memoranda going back to 1619. * * * * "The chief names are Pott," etc. In a foot-note it is stated "There are a series of baptisms of the children of Thomas Adshed, of Birchencliff, 1619 to 1635; of Edmund Potts of Bank, 1640 to 1645; and Henry Potts of Harrop, 1637 to 1645, entered on the first page of the Register." On a page facing page 328 is given an illustration of Pott-Shrigley Church, Prestbury Parish.

Ibid. Vol. II, p. 330. In 1625, the Macclesfield Registers record the marriage of "John Fletcher, minister of God's word, at Pot chapell, and Katharine Pott, of Harrop, of this Parish," on August 15th of that year.

Ibid. Vol. II, p. 547. Rectors of Taxal. 1727, Dec. 27. Edward Potts, B. A. Presented by John Shallcross, Esq., on the resignation of Joseph Dale. This rector is probably to be identified with the Edward Pott who matriculated at Oxford from Brazenose College, March 22, 1698-9, aged 19, son of John Pott, (not Potts), of Morton, [query Marton], co. Chester, B. A. 13 October, 1702. The only entry in the Registers relating to him is the record of his burial "1753 July 9 Edward Potts, clerk, Rector of Taxal buried." A small brass on the north wall of the chancel records his death on July 5th, 1753, but does not give his age.

One Ralph Potts of Taxal, was a churchwarden of Taxal Church in 1776. The Registers of Taxal begin in 1610, and with the exception of the years 1641 to 1651, are quite perfect. The early volume is not in good condition, and it and the others need binding. * * * "The chief families mentioned are * * * * Pott," etc.

A brief account of the Rev. Thomas Potts is here compiled from the same source. He seems to have been Curate at the Chapel of Ease to Prestbury (Siddington township) in 1734, when he signs the Registers. He was Curate at Prestbury from 1737 to 1762, when he became the Vicar of Mottram in Longendale, where he remained until his death in 1778. His wife's name was Sarah. She survived him and was buried at Mottram May 31, 1781. They had children as follows,

- I Mary Potts, baptized. October 3, 1734.
- II Elizabeth Potts, bap. January 15, 1737-8.
- III Peggy Potts, bap. March 30, 1748.
- IV William Potts, bap. April 18, 1750.
- V Martha Potts, bap. July 12, 1751.
- IV Lettice Potts, bap. September 16, 1753.
- VII John Potts, bap. December 20, 1755.
- VIII Anne Potts, bap. January 29, 1758.
- IX Benjamin Potts, bap. March 17, 1762; buried, July 30, 1764.

Bridget Jodrell, daughter of Roger and Ellen, (mentioned as if the 4th child), married (1) John Pott, of Dunge in Kettleshulme, and (2) Leonard Shallcross, of Shallcross, Esq.

Ibid. Vol. I, p. 417. Stockport Grammar School, Stockport Parish. "1609, April 8, Luke Mason was appointed

Master. He does not appear to have remained here long, for in 1612 the Parish Register records the baptism of Elizabeth daughter of Gualther Pott, Schoolmaster of Stockport. In 1625 a new Master was appointed. 1625 June 8, Reginald Pott was appointed Master. 1627-8 Feb. 7, Edmund Clough, B. A., was appointed Master in place of Reginald Pott.

The following brief memoranda, taken from the Parliamentary Writs, clearly refers to Francis Pott of Pott who died in 1638.

THOS. LEIGH
Overseer of the will of Francis Pot

FRANCIS POTT died seized of lands of value in Staffordshire and Cheshire lands called Runge [query Dunge?] or Runge Hay, a house at Pot and the Coal mines at Pot & Raynal in Staffordshire

The following taken from the Historical Sketches of Non-conformity in the County Palatine of Chester By Various Ministers and Laymen in the County with a Map. London. MDCCCLXIV, contains a brief biography of Rev. Nehemiah Pott, minister at Wincle Chapel, who died in 1649.

SWETTENHAM. Upon the death of Randall Catharall, rector of this parish, on February 4th, 1642, his son Samuel Catharall was appointed, but seems not to have continued here for more than four years, for on April 4th, 1647, "Mr. Nehemiah Pott, aged twenty-four years, brought certificate of his ability and holy life from divers ministers in Cheshire, took the National Covenant, brought in his recommendation from Mr. Langley, was desired and elected by the people of Swettenham, Cheshire," and was thereupon ordained. He seems not to have settled at Swettenham, because in 1648 the name occurs among the signatures to the Cheshire Attestation, "Nehemia Potte, minister at Wincle;" and at Candlemas in 1647 Mr. Samuel Langley has "just accepted the parsonage of Swettenham." The probability is that Mr. Potte was recommended by Mr. Langley to the congregation at Swettenham, and that he ministered there for some months: but the people were not satisfied with any substitute for Mr. Langley, but ultimately succeeded in obtaining him as their pastor. Samuel Langley did not come to live at Swettenham until after his marriage in the latter end of the summer of 1649.

WINCLE. Amongst the names of those who subscribed the Cheshire Attestation in 1648, occurs the signature—"Nehemia Potte minister at Wincle." When to this statement we have added another as brief, viz., that Mr. Potte died on January 24th, 1649, and was buried at the Old Church, Macclesfield, we have recorded perhaps all that is now known of the Puritan Minister of Wincle. In the entry of his death in the Register at Macclesfield, he is simply described as "Minister of the Gospel."

The Chapel at Wincle seems to have been erected in 1642; though the building also bears date 1647. From this circumstance it may be inferred that Mr. Potte was the first minister at Wincle; and on his decease it is possible that no successor may have been appointed for some time; for Bishop Gastrell records, May 16th, 1717, "No settled maintenance for a minister; but the inhabitants pay what they please for preaching once a fortnight, when there is any; but there has been none for half a year past. The same authority tells us that the Registers at Wincle date from 1630; and that the chapel, in his day, had no pulpit nor communion table, but a desk at the east end of the building. There was no font; but the curate had baptized, though he had not administered the Lord's Supper. We have no contemporaneous references to Wincle or to Mr. Potte in our Puritan literature.

In Earwaker's History of Macclesfield, Vol. II, p. 436-7, it is stated that Rev. Nehemiah Pott was the son of Henry Pott, and that he was baptized at Macclesfield "18 August, 1603." Perhaps the year is a misprint and should be 1623. The same authority says that he died in 1650. This is clearly an error, because his will was proven in 1649.* He married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Ward, by whom he had a son Caleb Pott, baptized at Macclesfield 20 April, 1649.

Earwaker's History of Macclesfield, Vol. II p. 521, has the following; On June 20, 1660, Thomas Gold, late student of All Souls' College, Oxford, was elected second master under Mr. Caleb Pott, in place of Mr. Meyre, at a salary of £30 per annum. Mr. Pott was buried on Sept. 4, 1690, when the following epitaph, on a small brass plate, now in the baptistry, was placed to his memory :—

Caleb Pott was baptized at Macclesfield on April 20, 1649, the son of Nehemiah Pott, of Hurdsfield, Clerk. A notice of his father will be found on page 437. His mother appears to have married for her second husband, Mr. John Walker, and was father of Rev. Joshua Walker, who erected the monument to his half brother.‡ I have a contemporary copy of the Rev. Joshua Walker's marriage articles, dated 17 Dec., 1689, on his marriage with Christiana Staveley, daughter of Thomas Staveley, late of Leicester, Esq., † TRANSLATED. Caleb Pott, A. M., the son of Nehemiah Pott, of Hurdsfield, clerk, and Elizabeth, his wife, when he had laboured for 20 years as a schoolmaster, at Knutsford, Sanbach, Newcastle in Staffordshire, Audlem, and Macclesfield, an upholder of true religion, and a true lover of his native country, died a bachelor, Sept. 2, 1690, aged 42. Joshua Waker, rector of the church of Great Billing, in Northamptonshire, his uterine brother, placed this.

In The Reliquary, Vol. VI, pp. 45-7, is a curious doggerel of An Unpublished Elegy By Leonard Wheatcroft, 1672, a local schoolmaster of Derbyshire. It shows there was a divine named Pot of this family who died some years before 1672, the year in which it was written. The following are verses 8 and 9.

Then on the hills I came to Darley Hall,
To heare that music in those ashes tell
Listening awhile, I not being pleased well, Thought I where is my pretty Cullen-bell *
Whose name and fame made all this vale once sound,
But now that honour's buried under ground.

Besides your Parsons of Divinity,
As Pain and Pot, Edwards and Moseley
All foure divines and men of noble birth
All dead and gone and buried in the earth ;
How can I chuse but must lament to see
My friends all gone who did make much of me.

The Reliquary, Vol. VI, p. 40, gives the following armory of Pott of Stancliffe, [Derbyshire].

SOME BRIEF BIOGRAPHIES.

The following brief biographical sketches have in the main been abstracted from the Dictionary of National Biography, by Sidney Lee. 1896. Vol. XLVI, page 207.

PERCIVALL POTT. He was a native of London, and by occupation a scrivener. He married a daughter of Sir James Houblon, she being then a widow with one daughter. He lived but a few years after his marriage, dying in 1717. He left his widow with a very inadequate support. His widow and her children were assisted by Dr. Wilcox, Bishop of Rochester, a distant relative.

PERCIVALL POTT, M. D. (1714-1788). Percivall Pott, Jr., the eminent surgeon, the only son of the foregoing.

* NOTE. St. Mary Mounthaw was burnt in 1666, and the present church of St. Nicholas Cole Abbey was erected on its site. Rector, Henry Stebbings, 1875.—G. D. Scull.

was born 6 January, 1713-4, in that part of Threadneedle Street, which is now covered by the Bank of England.

He entered as a student of surgery under Dr. Edward Nourse, with whom he served seven years. He seems to have gained a professional reputation at an early period in his career. A minute book now in possession of the Barbers' Company has this record, 7 Sept. 1736. Percivall Pott was admitted into freedom of the Company by service, upon testimony of his master and sworn.

Later on the same day he received his diploma, testifying to his skill and empowering him to practice. After filling several positions he was, on the 14 March, 1744, made Assistant Surgeon to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, and became full Surgeon on 30 November, 1749. He introduced many improvements into surgery, rendering the practice more humane and less painful to both patient and surgeon.

In 1756 an accident befell him which rendered his name of world-wide fame. The following is the account given.

As he was riding in Kent Street, Southwark, he was thrown from his horse and suffered a compound fracture of the leg, the bone being forced through the integuments. Conscious of the dangers attendant on fractures of this nature, and thoroughly aware how much they may be increased by rough treatment or improper position, he would not suffer himself to be moved until he had made the necessary disposition. He sent to Westminster, then the nearest place, for two chairmen to bring their poles, and patiently lay upon the cold pavement, it being in the month of January, till they arrived. In this situation he purchased a door to which he made them nail the poles. When all was ready he caused himself to be laid upon it, and was carried a long distance to where he lived near St. Paul's.

At the consultation of surgeons the case was thought to be so desperate, as to require immediate amputation. Mr. Pott being convinced that no one could be a proper judge in his own case, submitted to their opinion, and the proper instruments were actually gotten ready, when Mr. Nourse, (his former master and colleague), who had been prevented from coming sooner, fortunately entered the room. After examining the limb he was convinced there was a possibility of saving it. An attempt to save it was agreed upon and succeeded.

The term "Pott's fracture" is still applied to that particular variety of broken ankle. He was the author of several treatise which revolutionized the practice of surgery. He was elected to several honorary positions.

In 1746 he married Sarah, daughter of Robert Crutten-den, by whom he had five sons and four daughters, one of whom married Sir James Earle. His kindness of heart was proverbial. He was a man of high character and blameless life. Several portraits are in existence, but the chief one is in the Great Hall of St. Bartholomew's Hospital, being a life size three quarter length in oils, seated.

JOSEPH HOLDEN POTT, Archdeacon of London, (1759-1847). He was son of Percivall Pott, the surgeon, and was born in 1759. He began his education at Eton, and from thence at an early age was sent to St. John's College, Cambridge. He graduated B. A. in 1780, and proceeded to M. A. in 1783. Taking holy orders, he was collated by Bishop Thurlow, formerly dean of St. Paul's, to the prebend of Welton-Brinkhall, in Lincoln Cathedral, 17 March, 1785. In 1787 he became rector of St. Olave, Old Jewry, and St. Martin, Ironmonger Lane. He was appointed archdeacon of St. Alban's on 8 January, 1789. After filling numerous positions he died unmarried 16 February, 1847, at his residence in Woburn Place, Bloomsbury, London, leaving a considerable personality and a valuable library. He published a number of works, including theology, literature and poetry.

LAURENCE HOLKER POTTS, physician and inventor, (1789-1850). He was the son of Cuthbert Potts,* surgeon,

* NOTE. CUTHBERT POTTS, Surgeon, was born in 1743, and died 10 November, 1825, at Truro, [in Cornwall.] Several persons bore the unusual name of Cuthbert, suggesting possible relationship. The will of a Cuthbert Pott was probated at Leicester in 1546. Another Cuthbertus Pott and Johannes Smith were married at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, 3 June, 1636. Among those who compounded with Cromwell for their estates was a Cuthbert Pott.

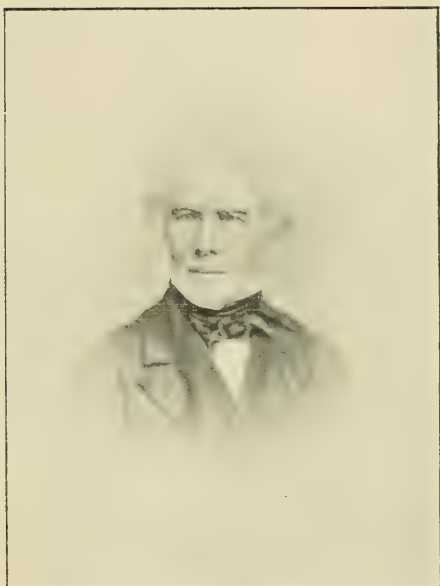

and Ethlinda Margaret Thorpe, daughter of John Thorpe, M. D., F. S. A., and was born in Pall Mall, London, 18 April, 1789. He was educated at Westminster School in Northamptonshire, and in 1805 he was apprenticed to Mr. Birch, surgeon. He was a surgeon of considerable renown, having been Surgeon Royal in Counties Cornwall and Devon, and Physician to County Lunatic Asylum at Bodmin; but in later years gave considerable attention to scientific and mechanical pursuits, and brought out a number of valuable inventions.

In 1820 he married Miss Anne Wright, of Lambessow, Cornwall. He died 23 March, 1850, at Buckingham Street, Adelphi, London, leaving two sons, John Thorpe Potts and Benjamin L. F. Potts, and four daughters.

ROBERT POTTS, Mathematician, (1805-1885). He was a son of Robert Potts, and grandson of the head of a firm of Irish linen drapers, was born at Lambeth. Entered Trinity College, Cambridge, 1828. Was a successful private tutor in the University, and acquired wide reputation as the editor of Euclid's Elements. LL. D. from William and Mary College, of Virginia. Author of several publications. He died at Cambridge, August, 1885.

The Potts' of Staffordshire.

The Potts' of Staffordshire were evidently of the same family as those of Cheshire and Derbyshire. The following list of names were extracted from the Indexes of Wills and Letters of Administrations, in the Court of Probate at Litchfield, Staffordshire, by the late Mr. G. D. Scull, in 1875, for the author of this paper. Wills from 1650 to 1660 are missing. It will be noticed that the residences of several of the decedents were at places in Derbyshire.

Thomas Pott, the Persecuted Quaker.

Earwaker's History of the Hundred of Macclesfield, in the County of Cheshire, under a chapter upon "Wilmslow Parish," has this entry extracted from the Churchwardens' account in 1654.

Paid unto Mr Daine [Dean] in the Middlewich for taking of 4 ex-amacons concerning Quakers.

This is the first entry relating to the Quakers, and shows how early they were established in this parish, where they have since been strongly represented. On page 134 of the same work is the following,

Their old place of worship near Morley Green, is now converted into cottages and a more commodious building was erected nearer Wilmslow about twenty years since. Their first place of interment was across Linden Common, in a secluded piece of ground in Mobberly Parish, where some old tombstones may still be seen. This graveyard is fenced round and well cared for.

Upon the fall of the Commonwealth and the restoration of monarchy, a systematic persecution of all dissenters was instituted, and the new sect of Friends or Quakers* were especial sufferers on account of their peculiar doctrines and practices and their firmness in the face of opposition. Maccaulay says, "At the Restoration the Quakers were regarded as the most despicable of fanatics."

* The Friends or Quakers seem to have first been distinguished by these names in 1650.

Among the early adherents to the faith held and taught by George Fox was Thomas Pott, of Styall Green in the township of Pownall Fee, Cheshire. He was born about the year 1618. He seems to have been a man of substantial character and sterling principle, and by reason of his firm adherence to his religious convictions, he was the subject of repeated persecutions, as we find from the following extracts taken from A Collection of the Sufferings of the People Called Quakers of a Good Conscience, etc., By Joseph Besse, London, 1753.

1653. John Worthington, Thomas Janney, THOMAS POTTS, Richard Burgess, Robert Milner, and Edward Alcock, Suffered Distress of Goods to the Value of 111. 10s. for going but two Miles from their Habitations to a Meeting.

1655. Eighteen Persons taken in a Meeting at the House of Edward Alcock of Moberly, were by Warrants from the Deputy Lieutenants of the County Committed to the House of Correction at Middlewich for two Months, where they found several others of their Friends; so that they were much incommoded for Want of Room, being closely kept, and none suffered to visit them, and when William Woodcock and Mary Stretch came to the Prison to see their Brethren, themselves were imprisoned for attempting it. Nor were they admitted to bring them their necessary Food, but as they received it through the Windows of the Prison. By means of this close Imprisonment in the Depth of Winter, Edward Knevett, a Man of good Reputation, aged about seventy, and infirm of Body, fell sick and died there, before the two Months expired; at the End of the Time the other seventeen were released; four of whom, viz., Thomas Janney, THOMAS POTT, Jeffrey Burgess, and Edward Alcock, were soon after taken again at a Meeting, and recommitted for four Months.

1666. James Harrison, William Janney, John Falkner, John Nixon, THOMAS POTT, John Lamb, John Milner, and Thomas Bretton, were committed to the common Goal at Chester, the former five of them for six Months, and the others for three Months, being convicted of having been at a Meeting held at the House of Thomas Janney at Pownal Fee, upon the Information of John Burges and Thomas Hease, noted Informers, Persons of a bad Character, and observed to be very unsuccessful. Hease was obliged to fly for Debt, and he who was used to plunder his Neighbours Houses, was turned out of his own by the Sheriff, and some of his Children sent to the Parish for Maintenance. Burgess was thrown into Goal for Debt, and he who was instrumental in sending his Neighbours to Prison, died a Prisoner himself.

1671. In this Year Thomas Janney, for 1l. 6s. 8d., and THOMAS POTT, for 20s., for Tythes claimed by Peter Ledsham, Priest of Wilmslow, had their Goods taken away to the Value of 3 l. 10s. each.

1673. Thomas Janney, THOMAS POTT, and Robert Pearson, for Tythes claimed of them worth but 2l. 14s., had Goods taken from them to the Value of 10l. 19s.

1684. THOMAS POTT of Wilmslow, for a Meeting at his House, was fined 20s., but he being very poor, the Officers, who broke open his Doors and rifled his House, could find no more Goods than amounted to 2l. 0s. 6d. which they took, and the poor Man and his Family were obliged to seek for Lodging at their Neighbours Houses.

Several of his neighbors and friends emigrated to Pennsylvania in America, and several letters written by him to them are still extant. Two of these are here given, and two others are in possession of the Pennsylvania Historical Society at Philadelphia.

Both were buried at Mobberley, probably in the Friends graveyard before mentioned. All their children were born in Pownall-Fee.

The Potts' of Wales.

At the middle of the seventeenth century a family of Pott or Potts were settled in Montgomeryshire, Wales, who are supposed to have been from the Cheshire stock, and may have spread into Wales by way of Shropshire. The late Rev. H. E. Thomas, D. D., sometime pastor of the the Welsh Church at Idlewood, Allegheny County, Penna., a native of Wales, and whose ancestors had intermarried with the Potts family, communicated to Thomas Maxwell Potts,* this tradition, that "a son or nephew of the Rev. Nehemiah Pott, of the Deanery of Macclesfield, settled at or near Llanidloes, where he married a Welsh lady named Jenkins, and became the ancestor of the Welsh Potts.' If the Nehemiah Pott referred to is the same who has already been mentioned in this work,[†] then that much of the tradition must be at fault, because at least one of the Welsh Potts' was evidently a much older man than the Rev. Nehemiah himself. This tradition however may be taken as an evidence of Cheshire extraction. As it is reasonably certain that the early Potts settlers in Pennsylvania came from this section of Wales and were of this family, we shall give here all data so far as have been collected.

It is quite probable that a careful examination of the Parish Registers of the neighborhood would discover some valuable records of the Potts'. The British Government made Parliamentary Inquiries in 1831, as to the state and age of the Parish Registers then existing. The Report was published in what was called a Blue Book, dated 1833. From this we learn that the Llandinam Parish Registers were then existing, dated 1594 to 1812. To 1732 they were written in Latin. The Llanidloes Registers contained Baptisms, Burials and Marriages, 1618 to 1708, but were very defective. The following are copies of a letter of inquiry and the reply, regarding the name of Pott or Potts in the Parish Registers of Llandinam.

Letter of Inquiry.

529 COOPER STREET
CAMDEN, NEW JERSEY
UNITED STATES
AUG. 30, 1892

REV. & DEAR SIR:

Would you kindly make a preliminary examination of the Parish Registers of Llandinam and let me know if there are many entries in the name of Pott or Potts from their beginning in 1594 to the year 1730, and let me know the cost of having them copied.

For the preliminary examination I send the fee of six shillings which I believe is customary. If there should be within those dates entries in the name, I will send the charges in advance.

* See pages 18, 21, and 33, ante.

Truly Yours

WILLIAM JOHN POTTS

The Rector, Llandinam, North Wales.

The Reply.

THE VICARAGE, LLANDINAM, MONTGOMERYSHIRE.

21 SEPTEMBER 1892.

DEAR SIR:

I have glanced through the Registers of Llandinam Parish Church for the years given in your letter 1594 & 1730, to examine them carefully would take weeks if not months. I may mention that after the inspection I have made I am quite satisfied that the name of Pott or Potts was not common in this Parish during that period.

I am yours faithfully

MORGAN JONES

Another inquiry addressed to the Rector at Llanidloes elicited the following reply.

THE VICARAGE, LLANIDLOES, N. W.

Nov. 23, '92.

DEAR SIR;

With reference to yr. letter of Aug. 30, I beg to say that I have made a cursory examination of the registers from 1618 to 1720 but have not found any entries in the name of Pott. At the same time I must add that the registers are written in a v[ery] crabbed hand in Latin & in many cases are wholly illegible. A thorough search w^d be a long task; the fee for searching modern Registers is 16 shillings per an.

Yr^s faithfully

EDWARD O. JONES.

Vicar.

WILLIAM JOHN POTTS.

Camden, New Jersey.

The following description of the Parish of Llangirrig, the former home of the Potts', taken from Lewis' Topographical Dictionary of Wales, 1864, is not without interest.

LLANGURIG or LLANGIRRIG (Llangurig), a parish in the Union of Newton and Llanidloes, upper division of the hundred of Llanidloes, county of Montgomery, North Wales, 5 miles (s. w.) from Llanidloes on the road to Aberystwith; containing 1931 inhabitants. This parish is situated on the northern bank of the river Wye, at no great distance from its source in the neighboring mountain of Plinlimmon; and is bounded on the north by the parishes of Llanidloes and Treveglwys, on the south by those of Cum-Toyddwr and St. Harmon, in the county of Radnor, on the east by Llandinam and Llanidloes, and on the west by Llanbadarn-Vawr and Llansyihangel-y-Cruddyn, in the county of Cardigan.

A new road leading from the village of Rhaiadr, in the shire of Radnor, formed in 1830, has placed it on the nearest route from London to Aberystwith, and added materially to its interest and importance; and this line of road which is nine and a half miles in length, winds through the beautiful and picturesque Vale of the Wye, abounding with pleasingly diversified scenery. The parish comprises by computation 35,000 acres, of which about 8,000 are arable, 25,000 pasture and sheepwalks, and the remainder woodland. The northern, southern and western parts are mountainous and dreary, but the eastern portion is marked by less lofty deviations, and is well-wooded and ornamented with romantic scenery. The distant views from several parts are interesting; and from Glyn-Brochan is an extensive and delightful prospect, embracing the Vale of Llanidloes, with the winding of the river Severn, and the mountainous ridges by which this district is bounded.

Of the rateable annual value, the return made amounts to £3,749. A few persons are engaged in quarrying flagstones, which are abundant; and there are three or four flannel manufactories giving together employment to about 150 men and children; four corn-mills employ three or four hands each.

The living is a vicarage, rated in the kings books at £8 10; patron, Bishop of Bangor; impropiator, Sir W. W. Wynne, Bart.: the vicarial tithes have been commuted for a rent charge of £280, being one fourth of the whole. The church dedicated to St. Curig, a saint of the seventh century, is an ancient structure in the early English style with a tower containing three bells; it is 37 yards long and 15 broad, and affords accommodation to about 600 persons, the remains of an elaborately carved screen and rood-loft having become dilapidated were lately removed. There are places of worship for Baptists, Independents and Welsh Calvinistic and Wesleyan Methodists.

A day school was established in 1832, by the Rev. E. James, M. A., curate, and contains upwards of sixty children, forty three of whom are paid for by annual subscriptions, every subscriber of 10s. being allowed to send a child for one year, and the rest are instructed at the expense of their parents. There are also four Sunday Schools, supported by subscription, in one of which connected with the Established Church, are 56 males and females; the rest appertain to the dissenters, and contain about 170. Mr. David Vaughn bequeathed £10 to the poor, the interest of which is annually distributed among them. In 1826, a noble coin in the reign of Edward III, was dug up in this parish.

1 THOMAS POTT, the eldest of the family of Llangirrig so far as we now know, was evidently an aged man at the making of his will in 1654, as his children were then all married and had children of their own, and as he speaks of some of his grand-children as unmarried it is fair to suppose that some of them were grown up and of marriageable age at that time. He calls himself yeoman which, from the English usage of the word, would indicate that he was a landowner. He was a resident of the Parish of Llangirrig, in Montgomeryshire, above described. His will was made in 1654, and proven in 1661, but as the inventory of his personal effects was filed in 1658 he probably died in that year. The following is a copy of his will, as taken from the original on file in the Consistory Court at Bangor, so far as it can be deciphered. It is much eaten away by the decay of the paper from age and damp. The blank spaces in the printed copy only approximately correspond with the missing parts in the original.

3 ELIZABETH POTT, daughter of Thomas, married William Pound or Bound. They resided in the Township of Dithenith in the Parish of Llandinam. In 1668, William Bound and his wife were presented at the Great Sessions at Poole, charged with absenting themselves from attendance upon divine worship in their Parish Church. From this it appears probable that they had united with the Friends or Quakers who were then undergoing severe persecution, at the instigation of the Established Church. William Bound died about 1678 or 9. His will dated 24 April, 1678, and proven 6 March, 1679, is on file in the Consistory Court at Bangor, North Wales. The following is a copy of the will and inventory as they appear on file.

The Potts of Llangirrig, Wales.

Some if not all the family became members of the Society of Friends. There probably was a Friends Meeting established in this vicinity, but no records are known to be in existence at this day. It is well-known that many Friends came to Pennsylvania from that section of Wales in the latter part of the seventeenth century, and they may have carried such records as they had with them, as was sometimes done where the whole membership removed in a body.

These devoted people suffered persecution in common with those of other sections. The following "Montgomery Nonconformity Extracts from the Goal Files with Notes, by R. Williams, F. R. Hist. S." have been selected from Collections Historical and Archæological Relating to Montgomeryshire and its Borders, issued by the Powys Land Club for the use of its members and published at London. We give memoranda of Thomas and John Pott, and of some of their neighbors whose family names are quite familiar.

The complete correspondence with the Clerk of H. M. Probate Registry at Bangor, North Wales, is here given, in the belief that it will be helpful to the future investigator, not only showing fully what has been done, but because of the additional facts therein set forth. H. M. Probate Registry at S. Asaph, North Wale, was also examined down to 1729, but the name of Pott or Potts was not found.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

1300 Locust St., Philadelphia, U. S. A.

March 1, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR:

Some years since an American friend travelling abroad copied for me the will of one "Thomas Pott of the Parish of Llangirricke co. of Montgomery, yeoman," made 11th day of August 1654. Proved 8, September 1661. He omitted apparently some part of it. I wish very much to have an exact copy word for word of the whole will, also in like manner that of John Pott, made the 12th day of February 1672 "of ye parish of Llangirricke in the Co. of Montgomery yeoman." Proven May 1, 1673.

In the will of the first mentioned Thomas Pott mention is made of his son-in-law William Pound. This under date of 1654. It is reasonable to presume that the said William Pound's will is to be found some time between 1654 and 1700. I should like also a copy of his will. There are attached to the will of John Pott the names of two persons, E. Rees and E. Jarman. This was in 1672. I desire a copy of their wills which it is reasonable to suppose may be found between that date and the year 1700.

Not being known to you I will either send the fees for copying these four wills in advance by money order, or refer you to my friend Mr. Frederick D. Stone, the Chief Librarian of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, of which I have been a member twenty two years and where I am well known.

There are many descendants of those who came from North Wales living in Pennsylvania and the vicinity, members of this Society, who if they knew they could get certain wills either copied entire or extracts made would send similar orders.

Would you let me know the names from the index of persons named Jenkins between 1630 and 1649 or perhaps a few years later with dates. I may desire also to have a will of one bearing this name if it fits into my evidences.

I am Truly Yours

14th March 1892

DEAR SIR,

In reply to your letter of the 1st instant received this morning, I have to inform you that by the rules of the Court of Probate, I have to require the fees & charges for copies of wills & searches to be paid in advance. The charges for the copies of the wills of Thomas Pott & John Pott will amount to 13/8. The will of Thomas Pott is in a very dilapidated state, parts of it being eaten away by time & damp. I have no registers prior to 1636—none for the years 1639 & 1640 & none for the years 1649 to 1660 both inclusive. I can only search therefore under the name Jenkins from 1636 to 1648 omitting 1639 & 1640. For the will of William Pound from 1660 to 1700, and for E. Rees & E. Jarman for the periods which you name—from 1672 to 1700.

My charges for making the searches would amount to £1-13-10, which added to 13/8 for copies of the two wills above mentioned will make the amount to be remitted, £2-7-6, which I will thank you to send if you desire to proceed.

I think it probable that the copy which you have of the will of Thomas Pott is correct as far as it can be deciphered.

Yours faithfully

March 25, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR

This morning I received your prompt answer in regard to copying the wills of Thomas Pott 1654 and John Pott 1672 and making searches for the other names mentioned in my letter. I enclose, or I should more correctly say that I have sent a money order to your address this day for two pounds, seven shillings and sixpence,—£2-7-6.

I thank you for the frank statement that you think the copy of the will of Thomas Pott which I have is probably correct as far as it can be deciphered. It may be so, but in the genealogy which I am about publishing I wish to be absolutely certain. If you would kindly enclose any very doubtful words in square brackets with an interrogation mark I would be obliged.

I ought to state that the person named Jarman appears to be one Edward Jarman, or Jermin or Jarmin. Do I understand you that you have no wills in your office or letters of administration before 1636? or simply no index? and may I ask if you know in what part of Wales or England such wills, etc., relating to the County of Montgomery, if in existence, could be found? My object is a purely genealogical one and I know the parish register of Llanguric now existing does not cover the period of the deaths of the two persons of my name.

It is not a little singular that the peculiar names of Pound and Jarmin appear in the early colony of Pennsylvania, also the more common one of that of Kinsey, who was one of the appraisers of Thomas Pott's will, and a "James Kinsey" also. Jenkins at the same time occurs here among the Welsh settlers who named many parts of their settlements here for their old homes in Wales. The name of course is common enough. Those of the present day are a highly respectable family. The descendants of those named Roberts who came from Wales are well known here also. You can send the paper to the address at the head of this letter, my house address, as it will reach me a little quicker.

Truly yours

WILLIAM JOHN POTTS

H. BEAVER ROBERTS, ESQ.

H. Beaver Roberts to William John Potts.

H. M. PROBATE REGISTRY, BANGOR.

23rd April 1892.

MY DEAR SIR

I now send you copies of the Wills of Thomas Pott and John Pott

the former is not strictly a fac-simile copy, as some of the blank spaces in the original are larger than those shown in the copy, the blanks being caused not by any illegible or doubtful words, but from the paper being rotted away entirely through damp. In my letter of the 14th of March I said I had no indexes or wills prior to 1636, I should have said prior to 1635. I believe that in 1634 the cathedral at Bangor was destroyed by fire and that the Registry which was within the building was destroyed at the same time.

It was not usual in those days to go outside the Diocese to prove wills or to take out administrations, though it might have been done in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury at Doctor's Commons in London, and any wills proved or administrations granted there would now be at the Principal Registry of the Court of Probate, Somerset House, London, but I do not suppose that any would be found there except of persons of distinction having a residence in London.

I have searched as requested for the will of William Pound and find in 1678 the will of one William Bound of Llandinam, yeoman, and I also notice in 1661 the will of Thomas Bound of Llangerig. William Bound appointed his wife Elizabeth and his son Thomas Executors and the will was witnessed by Rich^d Hamer, Tho^s Marple and John Pottes. The parishes of Llangerrig and Llandinam are near to each other and both are in the county of Montgomery.

In 1675 I find the will of one Evan Rees of Llangerrig. His wife's name was Catharine Lewis and his eldest son Lewis Evan. In those days and down to a late period it was customary for a wife to retain her maiden name and for the eldest son to adopt his father's Christian name as his surname, the testator signed his name in full, the witness E. Rees to the will of John Pott signed by mark—they may or may not have been one and the same person.

My search for the will of E. Jarman was not successful. In 1675 I found the will of Audrey Jarman, widow of Llangerrig, leaving an only son John and two daughters Alice and Ursula, and in 1662 I find administration to Arthur Jarman of Llangerrig. I have searched from 1635 to 1669, omitting the years for which I have no registers as stated in my letter of the 14th of March, but failed to find any person of the name of Jenkins except Hugonis ap Tho^s ap Jenkin of Llandinam, whose will was proved 1635. Lewis ap John ap Jenkin of Towyn whose will was proved in 1644 (Towyn is in Merionethshire), and Jenkin ap Jenkins of Llanbeblig (in Carnarvonshire) whose will was also proved in 1644. I also noticed the will of Evan David Jenkin of Llangerrig, proved in 1669, and an administration of David Jenkin Morris of Llangerrig also in 1669. The costs of the copies of the wills of William Bound and Evan Rees, should you wish to have them, will be £1-3-8

Yours faithfully

WM. JOHN POTTS, ESQ.

William John Potts to H. Beaver Roberts.

529 COOPER STREET, CAMDEN, NEW JERSEY, U. S. A.

May 9, 1892.

DEAR SIR,

The copies of the wills of Thomas Pott, 1654, and John Pott, 1672, arrived safely a few days. Thank you very much for the careful and most satisfactory manner in which they are copied, having been an amateur genealogist for twenty two years, I can appreciate a good piece of work of that kind and am obliged for the points given me on the other wills.

The copy of Thomas Pott's will 1654 shows me that he left at least two sons Evan and John, and the former at that time, judging from the fragmentary "hter one yearlinge sheepe" after his name is indicative that he was married and had at least one child. All this seems to have escaped my American friend when he made some extracts from this will in 1875 or 1877. He was a man of leisure and much experience in antiquarian researches and it may be possible that he was not acquainted with the use—legal usage—of the word "nrall" [natural], and wanted to spare my feelings, but I hardly think so. The legal use of the word "natural," chiefly written in your legal papers down to a very late period "natural and lawlul" is what is meant and not the colloquial use of the word which for two centuries in ordinary speech has meant illegitimate. This is more evident to me in this case as the testator in the first place in which it is used wishes to distinguish that "Anne [Pott] my nrall daughter wife of the said John Pott" was not his daughter-in-law but his own daughter of his blood, "natural and lawful." It is her eight children of whom he speaks as "being unmarried," that is also plainly evident to me. There are some very learned articles in Notes & Queries on the use of the word "natural," and the new American Dictionary, the Century, has given this meaning. May I not ask if this is not your understanding of the word in this instance? Moreover the "Thomas Hardinge clerk" who drew up this will has an English name and would give the English use whatever may be the Welsh custom. Scotch use of the words "filius naturalis" is said to be different. At a later period than 1654 we find that eminent English scholar Anthony a Wood using the expression So-and-So third natural son of So-and-So, showing that even then in English common colloquial speech the word "natural" had not attained its present meaning of "illegitimate."

Please copy for me the will of William Bound of Llandinam, and the inventory if it exists and is not a long paper. Beside the evidence which you send me I have some other which makes me come to the conclusion this was not the Evan Rees I am in search of, a possible kinsman of Thomas Pott, will 1654. Therefore his will would be of no service. As to David Jenkin of Llangurrig will 1669 and David Jenkin Morris' administration, of the same place, 1669, they cannot be the David Jenkins I am in search of, who in 1672 was one of the appraisers of John Pott's goods and chattels. I have evidence that this David Jenkins was living as late as 1675. Therefore if you have not searched for his name from 1675 to say 1700 please do so, and give me some brief data of his will. His wife's name will show me if it is the one I seek and if I wish his will copied.

The fact is there must have been in these places, a number bearing my family name who as they adhered strongly to the faith of the Quakers, nearly all their little farming stock and household goods were seized to pay fines for absenting themselves from church and attending meetings of the Society of Friends. David Jenkins was also a Quaker, so were the Jarmans, and I find also one named Rees, and William Bound of Llandinam would go to meeting in 1668 whether his "parish priest" liked it or not, and they all suffered in consequence.

We find in Pennsylvania in 1680 and shortly after a number of these Welsh Quakers from Montgomeryshire, the Jarmans, and I believe every Potts who came of this family except one or two, and most of them founded families of considerable prominence and distinction. One, the Potts' of Pottsgrove, now Pottstown, were one of the most influential colonial families shortly after 1700, and are to this day at their homes in Pottstown, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, well known and respectable. I may speak without egotism of this family for I come of a different line.

Pardon this long letter. I have a deep interest in the most trifling details of this genealogy, and I shall be greatly obliged if you will kindly note at any time the merest mention even of the name of Pott in any will, administration, inventory or account book, for with the dates and evidences already in my possession, such apparently trifling mention is of great service.

To recapitulate, the wills desired to be copied are William Bound's with inventory 1678, provided the inventory is not a long paper ; the inventory of John Pott will of 1672 ; the Thomas Pott inventory 1654 ; searches for David Jenkins' will between 1675 and 1700, or his widow's will if any. These are searches only for Jenkins.

I have this day, May 9, sent enclosed a postal order for two pounds eight shillings or thereabouts which will pay for these I suppose. Please credit me with any balance as I intend to have the parish registers searched which will show what other wills I may want. When I finish with this publication, I shall publish an article in the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, which, containing some account of the North Wales wills, will bring you some work, especially as we have recently founded a Penna. Geneal. Soc. which has 252 members.

Truly Yours

WILLIAM JOHN POTTS

H. Beaver Roberts to William John Potts.

DISTRICT PROBATE REGISTRY, BANGOR.

1st July 1892

DEAR SIR

As requested by your letter of the 9th of May last I send you a copy of the will of William Bound, and of the Inventory, a copy of the Inventory of John Pott, and that of Thomas Pott as far as it can be deciphered. It is in a very dilapidated state.

I have searched for and found a will of David Jenkin described as of the parish of Llangirricke in the county of Montgomery, gentleman. The will is dated the 8th of January 1684, and was proved on the 15th of May 1685. The testator left legacies of a shilling a piece to his sons John and Rees and to his daughters Dorothy, Elenor and Catharine, and all the rest of his property to his wife Elizabeth whom he appointed Executrix and who proved the will. I searched for her will down to 1700 but did not find it.

I received your postal order for £2-9-4, but I am afraid there is no balance with which I can credit you. The official fees for which I have to account to the government for the copies enclosed & for the search for the will of David Jenkin amount to £1-13-6, leaving 15/10 to cover my remuneration for collating the copies and attending to make the search and the correspondence. The usual charges would amount to much more, but I will be satisfied in this instance with the 15/10, but it must not be made a precedent. The trouble involved is probably much greater than you think.

I agree with you that the word "natural" as applied to a child in a will by no means implies illegitimacy. Its proper meaning is the child of one's body, and though it is popularly used as equivalent to bastard it cannot be taken to have that meaning in a will or formal document in which the proper description would be "illegitimate" or "reputed."

The will of David Jenkin is not a long one, but it does not contain anything material beyond what I have told you. It is witnessed by William Davis, Jenkin Davis, Morris Davis and Morgan Evans, no residences or callings being given. I have been rather long in attending to your last letter, owing to a pressure of work in my registry.

Yours faithfully

H. BEAVER ROBERTS

WILLIAM JOHN POTTS, ESQ.

The Potts' of Mannington, Norfolk.

A family of POTTS' was long seated at Mannington in the county of Norfolk. It has been claimed by some that they were of the Cheshire family, but the accounts given are in some sense contradictory and misleading, and while there is some similarity both as to family names and the arms borne, it is somewhat doubtful whether they were of kin. Future researches may determine the matter. This family became extinct in the elder line in 1731. The following account of this family is taken from F. Bloomfield's History of the County of Norfolk, London, 1807, Volume VI, pp. 463-468.

MANNINGTON. In the Conqueror's time Earl Gadrone(?) held this town which was then of the annual value of £3, but rose to £4, and at the Conqueror's Survey was worth £5-1-4, and 20s. fine or income.

Edmund Dodge and his sister releasing their rights to Anne, their sister, who was first married to John Potts of this town, and after to Sir Christopher Heydon, Knt., of Brionsthorpe, who died on January 28, 1642, aged 75, and was buried at Brionsthorpe, and her son Sir John Potts became lord and patron of the Church.

The family of POTTS was very anciently seated in this town, and were considerable yeomen and landowners. William Potts, in 1274, was sued by Tirrel, then Lord, for encroaching and appropriating to himself the feed [sic, query fees?] of a certain highway extending from Mannington to the Ker.

The first that raised it was JOHN, son of ROGER POTTS,* a student of Lincoln's-Inn, a lawyer of eminence and reputation, who married Catharine a daughter of Philip Boteler of Woodhall in Hertfordshire, Knt., and had a grant of arms to him and his heirs, from Robert Cooke, Clarencieux' dated 1585,† as follows, ARMS. Azure two bars,^{or} over all a bend, or.

CREST. An ounce sejant spotted, collared and chained, or.

JOHN POTTS, ESQ., his son, was also a student at Lincoln's-Inn, and married Ann, one of the daughters of John Dodge, ESQ., and is buried in this parish church under an arched monument, on the north side of the altar. No inscription now remains. On it are the arms of Potts quartering with Dodge, ARMS. Barry of six, or and sable, over all a pile with a plate and gutte de larme.

He died about the year 1600.

JOHN POTTS, ESQ., his son and heir was knighted and afterwards created a baronet by letters patent, dated August 14, 1641. He married Ursula, daughter of Sir John Willoughby, and lies buried here under a marble gravestone, with the arms of Potts and Willoughby, ARMS. Or, on two bars, gules, three water budgets, 2 and 1, argt. and

* NOTE. Some authorities allege that Roger was the son of William Potts.

† NOTE. This date is probably a misprint and should be 1583.

Here lye the bodies of Sir John Potts, Knt. and Bart., and dame Ursula, his most dearly beloved wife. (one of the daughters of Sir John Willoughby of Risley in the county of Darby, Knt.) who being happily together 30 years had issue 3 sons, John, Francis and Charles, and one daughter named also Ursula; they died not at one time, and so could not be buried in one grave; yet desired to be so near as under one cover, which is since performed.

SIR JOHN POTTS, BART., succeeded his father, and married, first, Susan, daughter of Sir John Heveningham of Ketteringham, Knt., and secondly, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Samuel Brown, one of the Judges of the Common Pleas, by whom he had no surviving issue. By Susan he had

SIR ROGER POTTS, who by Mary, the daughter and heiress of William Davy of Great Ellingham, had four sons and a daughter. Sir Roger died October 14, 1711, and his lady in March 1701, she was buried at Great Ellingham.

SIR ALGERNON POTTS, BART., was third son to Sir Roger, and inherited the honour, James the eldest son dying young, and Philip the second son before his father. He married Frances, daughter and coheiress of — Calibut of Saham Long, relict of Thomas Crane of Norwich. They are both buried in this Church, dying both in November, 1717, leaving no issue.

SIR CHARLES POTTS, his only surviving brother, succeeded him, who was a citizen and merchant tailor of London. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Newman, gent., of Brionsthorpe, who died September 2nd, 1706, and was buried at Great Ellingham. His second lady was Mary Smith of London, but having no issue the honour was extinct in him. He was buried in this Church near the altar under a black marble gravestone, with this inscription :

In hope of a joyful resurrection here under lies the body of Sir Charles Potts, Bart. He died January 14, in 1731, aged 56 years.

He quartered the arms of Dodge, Lumner, Davy, Gourney, and Bishop of Yarmouth ; who bore as appears by his achievement. His last lady survived him, and dying February 7, 1736, aged 61, was also here interred. Susan, only sister of Sir Charles, was married to Matthew Long of Dunstan, Esqr., and after the death of Lady Potts this manor and township, with the advowson was conveyed to the Honorable Horatio Walpole, Esqr., the present lord.

The Parish Church is a small pile, built by the Earl of Pembroke, the arms of the family De Valentia being carved in stone over the door; it has no steeple or bell, the nave and chancel tiled, but now falling much into decay; it had till lately service once a month. Besides the inscriptions above mentioned, on a stone with a brass plate, by the south side of the altar, is this:

Here lies Katharine, the wife of Thomas Lougher, Rector of Letheringset, daughter of John Potts, Esqr., who died in October, 1631.

Some additional memoranda gathered from other sources, is here appended.

JOHN POTTS was a witness to the will of John Harding, the elder, of Aspley, 29 October, 1530.‡

* NOTE. In the Elstow Parish Register is recorded the burial of Sir Thomas Hillersden on 30 June, 1623, son of Thomas Hillersden of Amphill, by Joane, his wife, daughter of (? Rayfe) Pottes, of Chalgrave; married at Toddington in 1558. He was knighted at Theobalds 17 Sept., 1622; his wife was Elizabeth, a daughter of John Harding of Chalgrave.

† NOTE. In 1889 the original will of "Thomas Potts of Toddington," 1659, was advertized for sale by a London bookseller, and was described as a "curious will." The writer of this monograph at once sent out an order for it, but it had been sold before the order reached London.

JOHN POTTS, armiger, son and heir of Nicholas Potts, of Bedfordshire, baptized at Chalgrave, 12 May, 1586; matriculated at Oriel College, Oxford, 8 May, 1601, aged 14; barrister-at-law, Gray's Inn, 1611.§ He married Elizabeth, daughter of Benjamin Piggott, of Gravenhurst.

In a list of Bedfordshire Gentry of the XVIIth Century, —a Catalogue of the names of Gentlemen of Quality that have sold their Estates and are quite gone out of Bedfordshire within the space of 50 years, by Sir Robert Clernocke of Hullcott, is found the name of "Mr. John Potts of Chalgrave."

married Judith Clark, 14 April, 1615; and was buried, 5 July, 1621. Judith, his widow, married William Gerard, as appears from the following abstract taken from the Bedfordshire Notes & Queries.

William Gerard, Esq., of Gray's Inn, Bach^r, 29, and Judith Potts, of St Andrews Holborn, widow, 25, relict of Farsard [Fairford] Potts, late of Chalgrave, Beds., Gent., dec^d; at St. Pancras, Kentishtown.

The date of license or marriage is given as April 1617. There is manifestly an error either in the date given for the death of Fairford Potts or of this marriage.

SPENCER POTTS. In the life of John Bunyan, by John Brown, is a reference to the few Bedfordshire men who were in favor of the King during the Civil Wars. His wife's name was Barbara.

THEODORE POTTS, of Toddington, gent., married Sarah Coddon, 18 June, 1637, and had children as shown by the Parish records given on page 81. He died about 1688 or 9. His will is dated 7 March, 1688, and was proved 20 April, 1689. He bequeaths to his son Thomas Potts, freehold land in Toddington, he paying thereout to [testator's children] John, Sarah Purrott, and Mary White £20 each, and to daughter Dorothy Bishop £5.

The following additional entries from the Toddington Parish registers have been copied from the Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, Volume III.

Following this is given an incomplete and perhaps imperfect pedigree of the Potts family of Bedfordshire. In some cases there were evidently children not included in the foregoing parish abstracts; and again, this pedigree includes only a part of those who are therein enumerated.

* NOTE. Radulph is abbreviated Latin for Radulphus, or in English, Ralph.

The Potts' of Scotland.

A family of POTT or POTTS is found in the south of Scotland from quite an early period. In a work comprising three large volumes entitled, Registry of the Privy Council of Scotland, (printed in Edinburgh in 1877), in Volume I, (1545-1569), we find an early mention of a Potts in Scotland, in old Scotch language, a resident of the borough of Kelso in County Roxburgh, as follows, 1566. Ane half mark of land occupiit be Thomas Pott.

Rev. Thomas Potts of Flushing.*

REV. THOMAS POTTS, an English clergyman, was settled at Flushing, [Vlissingen, in Dutch], a city in the southern part of the Island of Walcheren, in the Province of Zealand, Holland, in the Elizabethan period. In the early part of the seventeenth century he retired into Wales, where he took a small living. From MSS. in the possession of Lord de L'Isle and Dudley, we have the following, 1607, June 8. Letter from Thomas Pott at Flushing (Holland) to Lord Sydney. He has lost his fellow labourer, M. Daniel de Dieu : asks for another from England, and to have elders to assist the ministers, and that he may be joined to the Classis of Walcheren.

* NOTE. This sketch has been compiled by the publisher from memoranda communicated in the private letters of Mr. William John Potts. Mr. Potts was very anxious to secure material for a complete biography of Rev. Thomas Potts, being impressed with the belief that he was a possible ancestor of the Potts family in Pennsylvania. T.M.P.

Quoting from the Record Office at London, we have the following, 1633, Nov. 7-17, Charles 1st. Letter from Stephen Goffe to — — (at the Hague), M^r Forbes will still be preacher, as he was in time of Mr. Potts, his predecessor, who for very weariness gave over to Mr. Forbes and took a small living in Wales.

Possibly the following extracts from the Books of Licences and Permits to pass to New England and to the Low Countries, etc., may refer to a member of the family of Rev. Thomas Potts.

1634, December xxx. John Potts 26 years old to pass to Flushing, (Holland).

1634, ultima die Decr. John Potts 26 years old—dwelling in Flushing.

The following are suggested as sources from which additional information might possibly be learned concerning the Rev. Thomas Potts.

vember, 1654, der nederduitsche gemeente ter eerst gemelde plaats. In September 1684 geraakte hij in groote ongelegenheid, omdat hij de onvoorzigtigheid had gehad Koelman, die te Sluis afgezet was, voor zich te Vlissingen te laten prediken, niettegenstaande de Staten van Zeeland te voren aan Koelman verboden hadden binnen de province van Zeeland te prediken of de Sacramenten te bedienen. Pots werd daarover voor de Staten van Zeeland ontboden, dock hij verontschuldigde zich "vermits hij aan het flerezijn laboorede."

De Staten namen hierin geen genoegen, en ontboden hem op nieuw. Pots verontschuldigde zich op de beste wijze en betuigde onkundig te zijn van hun resolutie van 1674 omtrent Koelman en dat hij ook voor zijn collega Bernardus van Denise had gepredikt. Het gevolg hiervan dat aan beide heeren drie maanden het prediken werd verboden en hun tractement voor dien tijd den armen van Vlissingen toegewezen.

Hij sloeg in 1659 een beroep der Engelsche gemeente te Amsterdam en in 1663 een der Nederduitsche gemeente te Utrecht af. Hij overleed in Julij 1689. Uit een geschrift dat op hem werd vervaardigd en onder het volk verspreid is, blijkt, dat hij te Vlissingen niet zeer bemind moet zijn geweest. Het begint dus :

"Hier licht begraven Schotsche Tom

This same biographical work contains sketches of Adrian Pots, Hendrick Pots, Dirk van der Pots, Jean en Nicholas Pots, Bernard van der Pot, and Cornelis van der Pot brother of William van der Pot, but it is probable that these had no connection with the English family, although bearing a similar name.

Another work, Beknopt Biographisch Handwoordenboek van Nederland, * * * door J. C. Kobus * * * 1857, contains sketches of Hendrick Gerritsz Pot, 1600-1656; William Van Der Pot, 1704-1783; and of Thomas Pots, before mentioned.

The Potts' of Ireland.*

Families bearing the name of POTTS are found in nearly every county in the east and north of Ireland, all of whom are believed to be of English extraction. The ancestors of some of these families went over from England and settled in the last half of the seventeenth century, but persons of the name are found there at a much earlier date.

In the Public Record Office at Dublin, are to found the following wills of persons named Potts, prior to 1805.

- 1591 John Potts, Waterford, Physician.
- 1626 John Potts, Canonscourt, County Kildare, Gentleman.
- 1670 Richard Potts, died at Percival, Scotland.
Rev. Lawrence Potts, Stapleton, County Carlow.†
- 1723 Ann Potts, Drogheda, Widow.
- 1738 John Potts, Athlone, Merchant.
- 1742 Thomas Potts, Dublin, Merchant.

more than two centuries, have been seated in that section of Ireland embraced in Kings County, West Meath, and Roscommon, and in the City of Dublin.

1 WILLIAM POTTS.¹ The founder of this branch of the family in Ireland was one WILLIAM POTTS, who tradition alleges was of the Cheshire, England, Potts', and being an ardent supporter of King William III, joined him in 1688, followed him into Ireland, and after the decisive battle of Aughrim in 1691, settled at Tinemuck in King's County.

This branch have a further tradition that the family originally came into England from Holland, having been driven out of that country by the persecutions of the Duke of Alva. The arms borne by this family are as follows.

ARMS. Azure, two bars or, over all a bend of the last.

CREST. On a wreath a leopard sejant ppr. collared and chained or.

MOTTO. In Vinculis Etiam Audax.

Some years ago Mr. William Potts, of Athlone, sent a copy of these arms to the writer hereof, stating that he had in his possession several ancient copies, one on an old cup of the time of Queen Anne.

[A Richard Potts who died at Percival in Scotland, about 1670, left a will which is on file in the Public Record Office at Dublin, Ireland. This will is written in Latin on parchment and has an English translation pinned to it. He mentions his son William Potts in Ireland, to whom he leaves 1800 marks. Query. Was this William identical with the William of Tinemuck?]

Whether William Potts married in England or Ireland, does not appear, nor is his wife's name given. His descendants, while not numerous, have been most respectable and prosperous.

2 DAVID POTTS,² (William,¹), is said to have been born about 1690. One authority alleges that he married Anne, daughter of John Trumperant, another authority gives her name as Mary; but from the will of John Potts, (1738), it is evident that her name was Jane. David Potts died before 1738, and his widow seems to have married his brother John Potts.

3 JOHN POTTS,² (William,¹), was a merchant of Athlone, County Roscommon. He was twice married, the name of his first wife is not given. He seems to have married for his second wife, Jane, the widow of his brother David. He died about 1738, leaving a will in which he directs that his body be buried beside his former wife in Ballyloghlow Church-yard. Jane his widow seems to have died about 1781. The following is a copy of his will as found in the Public Record Office at Dublin, and is now reproduced because it makes clear the state of the family at that time.

The Will of John Potts, of Athlone, 1738.

4 SAMUEL POTTS,² (William,¹), was a resident of Tine-muck, in the Kings County, and by the will of his brother John Potts in 1738, he succeeded to the farm at that place, and probably continued to live there until his death about 1770. He was married but the name of his wife is not given. He left a will dated 18 April, 1770. A daughter Anne survived him. If he had sons or other daughters they must have been deceased before the making of his will. He bequeathed £1000 to different grandchildren and friends.

The family afterward made a permanent settlement in Maryland where the family gained a high social position. This branch will be fully treated of in a special Chapter in Part II of this work. Jane the daughter is mentioned by her uncle John Potts in his will in 1738, who leaves her a small legacy.

December, 1768. His will is dated November 24, 1758, with a codicil Dec. 12, 1768, and proved Dec. 27, 1768. After providing for his wife Dorothy, he leaves his entire estate to the issue of his wife's late brother David Potts, in tail male.* No issue.

9 WILLIAM POTTS,³ (David,² William,¹), born about 1729, married Eleanor Young, of County Roscommon. He inherited the estate of his maternal uncle, John Trumperant, and settled at Athlone.

He kept up a correspondence with his Barbadoes and Maryland cousins until late in life. The following are a few brief extracts from some of his letters which are still preserved by the family in Maryland. In 1756 learning that his cousin William Potts, of Barbadoes, was then on a visit to London for the purpose of placing his eldest son William with an aunt, he wrote to him as follows, 1756. I have just met a gentleman going to the Temple, by whom I have sent you a gold signet ring with our family arms engraved upon it, left me by my grandfather. This opportunity so unexpected, occasions my being so brief in respect to our family, as just to inform you that we are originally English. William Potts, of Tinemuck in the King's County, Ireland, was your grandfather, who had four sons John who died without issue, William your father, David my father, and Samuel.

1756. My brother James just going to London will give you a gold signet ring, which I send you, with our arms engraved on it, left me by my grandfather. I am sorry it is not of more value, but such as it is I am extremely glad to have it in my power to gratify you.† I had a letter from my brother Jack, just leaving Barbadoes for London, on his passage home. He brought no commodities from the Island, as he meant to take the first ship homeward bound.

1764. My brother James is conducting a newspaper in Dublin which yields him about £1000 a year.

* NOTE. The will of John Trumperant is most carefully drawn and is very long covering twenty-five large folio pages and containing about nine thousand words.

† NOTE. This ring is still preserved in the family and was in possession of the late George M. Potts, of Frederick, Md., at the time of his death a few years ago.

About 1767 he writes of his brother James as a printer settled in Duane Street, Dublin, and his brother John as trading to the West Indies.

He resided at Correen Castle, Ballinsloe, County Roscommon, which has since continued to be the chief residence of the family. He died 11 Nov. 1799, in the 71st year of his age. His will is in the Public Record Office at Dublin. A burial tablet in the Church of St. Marys at Athlone bears the following inscription,

The remains of William Potts, of Correen in the County of Roscommon, Esqr., are deposited in the family burial place, adjoining the south wall of this church. He died on the 11th day of November, 1799, in the 71st year of his age.

10 JOHN POTTS,³ (David,² William,¹) born about 1730, died 16 December, 1811, unmarried. He was an active business man and in his younger days made several sea voyages. In 1755 he shipped to Barbadoes, West Indies, where he visited his cousins and writes warmly of their kindness and hospitality. He was at Lisbon, Portugal, just after the great earthquake.

In 1767, in writing of himself to his cousin William Potts of Barbadoes, he says,

I have a malt-house at Athlone, and also an appointment in the revemue service. I am not married. I look on myself as unsettled, and have some thought of once more seeing my American friends, and if so, I shall write to have your opinion of the cargo I had best provide.

In 1799 he writes to his American cousins, and speaks of the death of his brother James as having taken place in the year 1796, and that he had inherited his brother's printing business in Dublin, which was being managed by his nephew James Potts, (son of William). He was then living at Athlone, and was still expecting to make another visit to America. He also speaks of his brother William as in very feeble health at that time.

His will bears date of 5 June, 1799, to which are added two codicils, dated respectively 12 August, 1807, and 23 June, 1809. The will was proven 10 January, 1812. This will is very voluminous, containing about 10,000 words. He made his nephew James David Potts his principal heir, after whom it was entailed to certain heirs. After the decease of James David Potts, questions arose as to the line of entail, and in 1848 an important suit at law was had to determine the construction of the will.

A tombstone in St. Marys churchyard at Athlone bears the following inscription,

Beneath this stone are deposited the remains of John Potts, of Athlone, Esq., who departed this life on the 16th day of December, 1811, in the 82nd year of his age, highly respected as an indulgent landlord and an honest gentleman,

II JAMES POTTS,³ (David,² William,¹), born —, and died in 1796. He married Elizabeth Narney but left no children. He settled in Dublin about 1760, and in 1762 became proprietor of Saunder's News Letter, a newspaper, which proved to be a very successful venture to him. In 1764 it was yeilding him about £1000 a year. He built a residence called "Richview," and until about 1875 some of this Potts family continued to live in Dublin, in Fitzwilliam Square or elsewhere in the city.

His will is dated 15 January, 1787, and proven 2 May, 1796. He left the bulk of his estate to his brother John Potts, but made provision for his wife Elizabeth, his mother Jane Potts of Athlone, and leaves legacies to his sisters Elinor Bernard and Jane Potts as well as to several nephews and nieces. He makes a bequest for a monumental stone to be erected over the grave of "my father-in-law" in Saint Werburghs Churchyard, Dublin, and also for a monumental stone at the [Potts] family burying place in the churchyard at Athlone. Elizabeth Potts, his widow, died 1800.

12 SAMUEL POTTS,³ (David,² William,¹), was living in 1758 when he was mentioned in the will of his uncle John Trumperant. It is probable that he died without issue, or he may have been that member of the family who is said to have gone to America with "a cornet of horse" and was lost sight of.

19 JOHN TRUMPERANT POTTS,⁴ (William,³ David,³ William,¹), born 1770 and died February 13, 1836. He married Catharine, daughter of Rev. Michael Griffin, of Elfin, County Roscommon. He was a Lieutenant in the 14th Regiment Light Dragoons. His tombstone in the churchyard at Athlone bears the following inscription, Underneath are the remains of John Trumperant Potts, of St. Marks, Esq., in this County, who died Feb. 23rd, 1836, aged 66 years. This monument is erected by his sons as a token of their love for an affectionate father.

THE POTTS FAMILY IN AMERICA.

Introduction.

While Potts cannot be said to be a common name in America, yet there are many families bearing this surname scattered through the Middle, Southern and Western States. These are descended from several different emigrant ancestors, who may have, in a more remote past, sprung from a common original stock in Great Britain.

The aim of this work has been to collect and compile all information obtainable relative to the earliest settlers or ancestors of these Potts families in this country, together with some account of their immediate and direct descendants. With how much success this has been done the reader must judge.

In addition to the Potts families in America of English extraction, there are also some of German origin bearing a similar name, but who seem to be in no way connected, notwithstanding the fact that there are traditions to the effect that the English Potts' were originally from Germany. Some account of a few of these German families will be given at the end of this section of this work.

To the late Mr. William John Potts belongs the credit of having developed the first clear statement of the early Potts families of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, about whom so much confusion had before existed.

CHAPTER I.

The Earliest Potts Emigrants.

During the first half of the seventeenth century several persons named Pott or Potts emigrated to America, but the accounts that have come down to our time are in most instances very meager and unsatisfactory. It is not known that any of these early emigrants left descendants, or that they all continued to live in America.

Richard Pott or Potts is the first person bearing this family name known to have come to America. He came with the "First Supply of Passengers, perhaps in January 1607-8," to Virginia. He was the author or compiler of the Proceedings of the English Colony in Virginia, from 1606 to 1612, Oxford, 1612. See Preface of A Trule Relation of Virginia by Captain John Smith, with an Introduction by Charles Deane. Boston, MDCCCLXVI, pp. xxiv, xxv. "Richard Pots Clarke of the Councill." Page xlv, Richard Pots is designated among the settlers who came 1607-8, as "Gentleman."

The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, Vol. I, page 484, says "The history of the first administration is given in the Oxford Tract, published 1612, which was written by Richard Pott, one of the Colonists, etc."

Dr. John Pott, with Elizabeth his wife, came to Virginia, in 1620, and settled at James City or Jamestown, and was physician to the Colony. He served as a Member of Council and was Governor of the Colony for some time. A more complete sketch will be found in the next Chapter.

Capt. Francis Pott, brother of Dr. John Pott, was also an early settler, and was for some time the Commandant at Point Comfort. A fuller account will be found in the next Chapter.

John Pott, Jr., a nephew of Dr. John and Capt. Francis Pott, was a contemporary resident of the Colony, and will be further mentioned in the next Chapter.

Hallet Pott received a grant of 700 acres of land near "James Cittie," September 4, 1641, as we learn from Book 1, folio 758, Virginia Land Registry Office.

Anthony Pott. In Hotton's Lists of Emigrants to America, among the passengers in the Paule of London, Leonard Betts, M^r., "vj Julij 1635," bound for Virginia, with Certificate from the minister of Gravesend of their conformity to the Church of England, is the name of Ant^o Potts, aged 27 years.

William Potts. In Hotton's Lists, among the passengers in the Alexander bound for Barbadoes, "2^o Maij 1635," is the name of William Potts.

CHAPTER II.

The Potts of the Virginia Settlement.*

Sketch of Doctor John Pott.

Of the early life of Dr. John Pott, who with his wife Elizabeth came to Jamestown, Virginia, in 1620, very little information has been discovered. He had a plantation on the site of present city of Williamsburg which he called "Harrop," and which he may have so named in honor of his ancestral home. Harrop in Cheshire was the place of residence of some of the Potts at that period. One Lawrence Pott of Harrop died in 1573, leaving a will.† Francis Pott of Pott, who died in 1638, mentions in his will a John Pott of Harrop, who owed him £20.‡ This appropriation of the name "Harrop" by Dr. Pott suggests that he may have been of the Cheshire family.

He is said to have taken his degree of A. M., at Oxford 1605. He was recommended as physician to the London Company by the eminent Dr. Theodore Gulston, the founder of the Gulstonian Lectureship of the London College of Physicians. In the minutes of the Virginia Company of July 16, 1621, is the following entry,

For so much as the Phisicons place to the Company was now become voyde by reason of the untimely death of Dr. Bohune, slaine in the fight with two Spanish Shippes of Warr the 19th of March last, Dr. Gulstone did now take occasion to recommend unto the Company for the said place one M^r Potts, a M^r of Arts, well practised in Chirurgerie and Physique, and expert also in distilling of waters.

In 1625 Dr. Pott was commissioned a member of the Council, in which office he continued a number of years. In 1628 he was chosen Governor, and held the position until the early part of 1630, when he was superceded by Sir John Harvey. Dr. Pott is described as an educated physician, careless in business, fond of good living and jovial companions. George Sandys, some time Colonial Treasurer, a scholar and gossipy writer, in a letter to Samuel Wrote, Esq., of London, written April 9, 1623, alluding to Dr. Pott, says :

I have given from time to time the best counsell I am able, at the first, he kept companie too much with his inferiours, who hung upon him, while his good liquor lasted. After, he consorted with Captaine Whitacres, a man of no good example, with whom he is gone to Kicotan, yet wheresoever he bee, he shall not bee without reach of my care, nor want for any thing that I or my credit can procure him.

Thomas Warnet, who had been the principal merchant of Jamestown died in February 1629-30. Among the many legacies named in his will is one to " Dr. John Pott, acting Governor, 5000 pounds of nails," which were of great value to one starting a plantation; and to Elizabeth Pott, the Doctor's wife, "one corfe and one cross cloth of wrought gold."

Governor Harvey was very arrogant and arbitrary in his course, and engendered no little opposition and became very unpopular. Soon after his ascendancy he charged his predecessor, Dr. Pott, with misdemeanor in office and also with keeping some cattle which did not belong to him, though the records seem to indicate that he claimed them as his own. Harvey ordered the arrest of Pott, who was then at his plantation called Harrop, seven miles from Jamestown. He appeared before the General Court on the 7th of July, 1630, and before a jury of thirteen was tried for cattle stealing. The first day was occupied in pleading, and Kingswell, an old planter, testified adversely. The next day Dr. Pott declared that the witness was unreliable and hypocritical, and told the story, of Guzman of Alfrach the rogue. Reference was had to the hero of a Spanish romance by Mateo Alemon of Seville, called "Guzman de Alfrache the Rogue." *

The jury found a verdict of guilty, but judgment was withheld in consideration of his "quality and practice," until the King's pleasure could be known. The Governor reported to the King, stating that Dr. Pott "was the only physician in the Colony skilled in epidemical diseases." and suggested that his estate be restored, in view of his long residence, and the value of his services.

Elizabeth Pott, the Doctor's wife, impelled by affection, made a dangerous voyage to England, reaching London in September, after an absence of ten years, and pleaded for her husband. The case was referred to commissioners who reported that the condemning of Doctor Pott "for felony was very rigorous, if not erroneous," and recommended his pardon which was promptly granted.

In the abstracts of the Virginia land patents "John Pott, Esq., Dr. of Physic, of the Council," is granted three acres near his dwelling house in James City in 1624. In the Virginia Land Registry Office, Book 1, folio 61, is the record of the grant of twelve acres to Dr. John Pott, September 20, 1628. He appears to have died without issue, as in the Land Books of 1642, there is mention of 500 acres of land bought by Richard Brewster from Captain Francis Pott, "brother and heir of Dr. John Pott."

Sketch of Captain Francis Pott.

Captain Francis Pott, a brother of Dr. John Pott, soon followed him to the Virginia Settlement, and was for some time the Commander at Old Point Comfort. In 1629-30, Thomas Warnet, the merchant before referred to, by his will, bequeathed to Captain Francis Pott "a debt of eighty pounds of tobacco." By reason of his want of sympathy with the unpopular Governor Harvey, he was removed from the command of the Fort at Point Comfort early in 1635.

On April 28th, 1635, Gov. Harvey caused the arrest of Francis Pott and others, who were brought to Jamestown in irons; Capt. Pott being charged with addressing an assembly at York when he severely criticised the course of the Governor. When brought before the Council, Pott produced a paper recounting the grievances of the Colony, which he had sent on to York. The result was that the breach between the Governor and the Council became wider, the Governor was deposed, and the statement of grievances sent to the King's Commissioners for Virginia in England.

In the same ship with Harvey, also sailed Captain Pott and Thomas Harwood, representing the Assembly to present their complaints and their reasons for sending the Governor home. Upon the arrival of the ship at Plymouth on July 14th, Sir John Harvey, the Virginia Governor, made complaint to the Mayor of "a late mutiny and rebellion in the Colony," when Pott and Harwood, the representatives of the people, were arrested and kept close prisoners in the Fleet, Pott being charged as the principal author and actor.

The popular sovereignty exercised by the Virginians found no favor with the King—Charles I. It was not until December 11th, that the case of Harvey was formally discussed by the King and Privy Council. After the letter of the Virginia Councillors and Burgesses had been read, the King thought it was necessary to send Harvey back, even if he should remain but a day, that it was "an assumption of regal power to send hither the Governor." It is not clear when Captain Pott returned to Virginia.

Francis Pott was heir to his brother Dr. John Pott, and in 1642 there is mention of 500 acres of land bought by Richard Brewster from Captain Francis Pott, heir and brother of Dr. John Pott. In 1646 Captain Pott was in England, as in a letter dated March 26th of that year, at London, and recorded in Northampton County, Virginia, he tells his nephew John Pott, that he had been disappointed in collecting money promised him by Mr. Nuthall; that "my cozen Menefie had paid £116 Sterling to me," and his nephew is to satisfy the debt out of any of his [Francis Pott's] property, except his negroes; that he may expect from him more ample directions by the next shipping. In a postscript he says he received £4 more from Mrs. Mary Menefie.

In 1647 Francis Pott and his nephew John Pott had a plantation at Magothy Bay. On February 15th and 24th, 1653, Francis Pott had grants of 2000 and 1500 of land respectively in Northampton County.*

A Francis Pott, possibly the same, was Sheriff of Accomac County in 1654. He was a Justice of the Peace for Northampton County in 1656. He died in 1658, leaving his property to his nephew John Pott; kinsmen Henry Perry and wife; godson Argoll Yardley;† godson Bishop, "on the other side of the bay;" "my countryman John Allen." Also to his [testator's] sisters, £10 Sterling each. Susanna Potts, his widow, married William Kendall within a year or two after Captain Pott's death.

Sketch of John Pott, Junior.

John Pott, Jr., a nephew of Dr. John and Capt. Francis Pott, is several times mentioned. He was associated with his Uncle Francis Pott in business transactions, and was one of the legatees to his estate. In 1647 he and his Uncle Francis had a plantation at Magothy Bay. In 1651 he was a signer among the people of Northampton County. He probably removed to Maryland, as there is a power-of-attorney, dated October 1, 1660, from John Pott, of Pautuxent, Maryland, to John Severne, of Accomac, recorded in Northampton County, Virginia.

* See Book 3, pages 48, 49. Virginia Land Registry Office.

† NOTE. Argall Yardley was the eldest son of Sir George and Lady Temperance Yardley, who came to Virginia about 1608 or 9. Sir George Yardley was sometime Governor of Virginia.

CHAPTER III.

Thomas Potts, (Shield), and Family.

[INTRODUCTORY NOTE. To distinguish him from other persons of the same name, this Thomas Potts is usually designated as "Thomas Potts of the Shield," or "Thomas Potts, (Shield)," indicating the ship in which he came to America.

In the latter part of 1869, the late Mr. William John Potts, of Camden, New Jersey, entered into a thorough investigation of the history of Thomas Potts, (Shield), and his family, about which so much confusion had before existed. He succeeded admirably in collecting a large amount of valuable data, and in making a clear statement of the family affiliations.

It was Mr. Potts' intention to prepare for this work, "a special division on the Potts' of the Shield, giving principal deeds and material concerning Thomas Potts of the Shield, with a brief outline of a few of his descendants," as he expressed it in one of his later letters. It is greatly to be regretted that failing health prevented Mr. Potts from carrying out his intention in the matter. The publisher hereof has taken up the subject, and following out the plan of Mr. W. J. Potts as nearly as possible, written this chapter and included such new data as has more recently come to light.—T. M. POTTS.]

Like many other old families, this one also has its traditions. One account alleges that Thomas Potts, Junior, son of Thomas Potts, (Shield), was born at sea during the passage to America. Another alleges that when Thomas Potts, (Shield), left England for America, his family included a daughter-in-law, the widow of his eldest son; that during the passage the young widow was delivered of a son and subsequently died; and that the child was nourished while on board the ship by a goat. It is further said that the family on reaching the banks of the Delaware first lived in a cave and built the first house in Burlington, and that this infant grandson became the ancestor of the New Jersey family. Still another says that Thomas Potts, (Shield), came from Handworth, Yorkshire, England. However interesting these traditions may be, they are not wholly supported by facts, as will be shown in the following pages.

Samuel Smith's History of New Jersey contains the following statement,

In the 10th month, O. S., 1678, arrived the Shield, from Hull, Daniel Towes, commander, one of the ships mentioned in the above letter, and dropped anchor before Burlington, being the first ship that came so far up the Delaware: Against Coaquanock [Indian name for Philadelphia] being a bold shore, she went so near in turning, that part of the tackling struck the trees; some on board then remarked it was a fine spot for a town: A fresh gale brought her to Burlington. She moored to a tree, and the next morning the people came ashore on the ice, so hard had the river suddenly frozen. In her came William Emley the second time, with his wife and two children, one born by the way, two men and women servants; Mahlon Stacey, his wife, children and several servants, men and women; Thomas Lambert, his wife, children and several men and women servants; John Lambert and servant; Thomas Revell, his wife, children and servants; Godfrey Hancock, his wife, children and servants; Thomas Potts, his wife and children; John Wood and four children; Thomas Wood, his wife and children; Robert Murfin, his wife and two children; Robert Shooley, his wife and children; James Pharo, his wife and children; Susannah Fairnsworth, her children and two servants; Richard Tetersal, his wife and children; Godfrey Newbold, John Dewsbury, Richard Green, Peter Fretwell, John Newbold, one Barns a merchant from Hull, Francis Barwick, George Parks, George Hill, John Heyres, and several more.

The late Mr. W. J. Potts found clues that led him to believe that Thomas Potts, (Shield), came from Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England, and while staying abroad in 1882, he visited Chesterfield and made a personal examination of the Parish registers with very gratifying results. The head of the family here was RICHARD POTT, who was a Church-warden in 1639 and 1640. His wife's name was ANNE, and the registers show baptisms and burials as given below.

1637. Elizabeth, filia Richardi et Annæ Pott de Chesterfield, bapt. Aprilis v^o 1641. Thomas, filius Richardo Pott, Sepultus July xij.

1642. Maria, filia Richardi at Annæ Pott, bapt. March xvij^o

1642. Sammel, filius Richardi et Anne Potts, [sepultus?] March xij^o

1647. THOMAS, filq Ried. et Anne Pott, baptizat July xij^o

1676. Anna, filia Thomo Potts, sepulta October xxvj.

1677. THOMIO, filius Thomi & Joani Pott, bapt. December xxx.

The Chesterfield registers show that Richard Pott was buried September 12, 1650, and Anne Pott, his widow, on September 2, 1673. The Chesterfield registers do not show the marriage of either Richard Pott or of his son Thomas Pott, which makes it probable that they got their wives in other parishes.* The registers were only casually examined before 1637. The following diagram exhibits the state of the family. Thomas, son of Richard Pott, is Thomas Potts, (Shield).

THOMAS POTTS,¹ was the fourth and only surviving son of RICHARD^a and ANNE POTT, of Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England. He was baptized at Chesterfield July 12, 1647. When about thirty-one years of age he, together with his family, came to America, in the good ship the Shield, and landed at Burlington, New Jersey, in December, 1678. He was a tanner by occupation, and established himself in that business at Burlington, where he continued to reside until about 1699, when he removed to Philadelphia, where he died in 1726, aged 79 years. His signature was very peculiar, signing his name either "tthomas Potts," or "ttho. Potts," and in legal documents he usually described himself as "tanner." * In religious persuasion he was a Baptist. He was three (possibly four) times married, and died leaving a widow and an only son Thomas.

On Dec. 23, 1680, he purchased a town lot as appears by the following abstract, Liber B, Part 1, folio 23, at Trenton.

* NOTE. Tanning is still an important industry at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, and it is quite common to see on tombstones the name of So and So, "tanner."

Thomas Potts and Ann Potts were subscribing witnesses to several early marriages, among which was that of John Antrim, on the 15th day of the 3d month, 1682, as appears by the records of the Friends Meeting at Burlington.

The old Court records of Burlington contain this entry of the marriage of Thomas Bibb and Ruth Kettle.*

THOMAS BIBB		The marriage between Thomas Bibb & Ruth Kettle was solemnized the Seaven & twentieth day of July Anno 1693 at ye House of Tho: Potts in Burlington (her ffather in Law) before Edw: Hunloke Depty Gov ^r nor. John Tatham & Tho: Revell Justices: And before many other witnesses.
RUTH KETTLE
July 27th, 1693

The term father-in-law was, at that date, very generally used as a synonym for step-father. Thomas Potts could scarcely have had a married son deceased at that time, indeed Ruth Kettle must have been considerably older than any of Thomas Potts' own children, hence the only legitimate conclusion is that Thomas Potts had married a widow Kettle who had at least one child Ruth. This also accounts for the use of the term "children" in the passenger list of the Shield.

In the Chesterfield Parish registers the name of Thomas Potts' wife is given as Joani, but after coming to America she is always called Ann. Perhaps Ann was a second wife. This would explain, and in a great measure confirm, the tradition that the mother of the infant Thomas died at sea, as well as the Ruth Kettle relationship.

Thomas Potts does not appear to have been identified with any religious denomination after coming to America, until 1686, when both he and his wife united with the Baptists, and were baptized at Burlington, West Jersey, by Elias Keach. They were among the founders of the first Baptist Church at Burlington, and when that Church ceased to exist in 1699, they joined the Pennypack Church in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, and there continued in membership during life. Morgan Edwards, in his Materials toward a History of the Baptists in America, in a foot-note on page 113, says,

* NOTE. Thomas and Ruth Bibb were members of Pennypack Baptist Church, where the birth of two of their children are given, viz. Thomas Bibb, born 1 mo. 17, 1695; Mary Bibb, born 5 mo. 24, 1698. Thomas Bibb was a Justice of the Peace in 1698.

There was a little Baptist Church at Burlington planted by Mr. Keach [Elias] about the year 1690; which is one of the two which he is said to have gathered in this country. See Crosby, Vol. 4, p. 309. The names of the members were, Thomas Bibb, Thomas Potts and Ann his wife, Nathaniel Douglass and Emblem his wife, and Edmund Wells, Joseph Wood, Ann Gill, John Jones, Nathaniel West and Elizabeth his wife. They broke up and joined Penepek Oct. 9, 1699.

Thomas Potts, of Burlington, tanner, was one of the bondsmen, of Mary Ingram, as administratrix of the estate of John Ingram, deceased, in 1694. This bond is still on file and bears the distinctive signature—thomas Potts.

On March 14, 1699, Thomas Potts, senior, of the town and county of Burlington, (tanner), and Anne his wife, conveyed by deed to Christopher Wetherill, of the same place, (taylor), a "Lott of land situate on Island of Burlington containing about 2 acres being 8^h part of a lot of land called Thomas Olive's Lott which s^d Thomas Potts purchased of John Woolston by deed—Dec. 23^d A. D. 1680," together with dwelling, bark mill, tanyard, &c.* To secure to the said Christopher Wetherill, quiet possession of these premises, Thomas Potts, senior, of the town and county of Burlington, tanner, and Thomas Potts, junior, of the township of Springfield in said county, yeoman, son of the said Thomas Potts, senior, executed a bond dated March 14th, in the 12th year of the reign of William Third, Anno 1699. This bond is signed by both Thomas Potts, Sr., and Thomas Potts, Jr., and is recorded at Trenton. The signature of Thomas Potts, Sr., is here given as copied from the original by the late James H. Carr, Esq.

Thomas Potts removed to Philadelphia, probably in the Spring of 1699. In 1700 he was a subscribing witness to the will of John Bolt, of Philadelphia, butcher. The following is a fac simile of his signature.

On 9th mo. 9, 1701, Ann, daughter of Thomas and Ann Potts, was buried in the Friends graveyard at Philadelphia. This second daughter Ann was probably born in America.

The minutes of the Common Council of Philadelphia, of February 2, 1702, show that "Thomas Potts is admitted freeman of this City, paying for his freedom twenty-two shillings and sixpence, which he had paid for his freedom."

Thomas Potts, tanner, was one of the executors of the will of Richard Sparks, of Philadelphia, but late of Liverpool, mariner, made September 9, 1711. On August 26, 1712, he was a subscribing witness to the will of James Kennison, of Philadelphia, saddler, as shown by his peculiar signature, thus, Pennypack Baptist Church records the death Ann Potts in 1714, and the Friends Monthly Meeting at Third and Arch Streets, Philadelphia shows that Ann, wife of Thomas Potts, tanner, was buried in the Friends graveyard on 7 mo.

9, 1714. He did not long remain a widower, as the Pennypack Baptist records show that he married Grace Farmer in 1715. She had been baptized at Pennypack in 1699, by John Watts. She did not long survive her marriage, as the Friends records show that she was buried in the Philadelphia graveyard on 6 mo. 15, 1715. In 1716 he married Alice Pusser. She had been baptized at Pennypack by Thomas Griffith in 1705. The baptism and marriage are both entered upon the Pennypack Church records.

Mary Powell, of Philadelphia, widow, made her will September 13, 1718. Among others she names her grandchildren—children of Judith and Abel Morgan,* and appoints Abel Morgan as her executor. She mentions Thomas Potts, Sr., and his son Thomas Potts, Jr., tanners, and Thomas Bibb, tanner. Thomas Potts, Sr., tanner, in his will, in 1725, made a bequest to Judith Morgan, daughter of Thomas Griffith, and late wife of Abel Morgan.

Thomas Potts died at Philadelphia September 4, 1726, aged 79 years, and was probably buried in the Friends graveyard. The Pennypack Church has this record

Thomas potts dyed at ditto [Philadelphia] Sept. 4, 1726.

His will bears date of February 25, 1724-5, and was proven at Philadelphia, November 18, 1726. It is recorded in Will-Book E, page 8, and is as follows,

The Will of Thomas Potts, Tanner.

3 Thomas Potts,² Junior, ('Thomas,¹ Richard,') was baptized at Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England, Dec'r 30, 1677, and the next year was brought to America with his parents. In 1699 he is mentioned as of Springfield Township, Burlington County, but afterwards of Mansfield where he owned land by purchase as well as by gift from his father-in-law. How long he continued in Mansfield is not apparent. In 1741 to 1744, he was living in Southampton Township, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, but in 1745 he had returned to Burlington County. He seems to have been three times married, and died in Burlington County, Feb. 2, 1754. He is usually spoken of as "Thomas Potts, Jr.," but for the purpose of distinction, he will be referred to in this work, when necessary, as "Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield)."

In 1697 Thomas Potts, Junr., bought land in Mansfield Township, as appears from the following abstract taken from Liber B, Part 2, folio 613, Trenton records.

THOMAS POTTS, junr 144 Acres (except 8 acres before granted to Edw: Boulton) from George Porter.	date March 5, 1697 Between George Porter of y ^e County of Burlington in the Province of West Jersey, yeoman, and Thomas Potts junr of ye County of Burlington yeoman Consideration £60 144 Acres being part of that 150 acres purchased by the said Geo Porter of Francis Austin by Deed of Conveyance dated Jany 2 1697 Situated on y ^e next creek north from John Woolstons & lying between ye lands of sd John Woolston & Thomas Revell within ye Township of Mansfield in ye county of Burlington (except & reserved forth by ye sd 144 acres 8 acres thereof heretofore by ye sd George Porter unto Edward Boulton granted, sold &c Sealed & delivered in y ^e p ^r sence of William Pancoast James Antram by his mark †† Tho: Revell of ye Gov ^r no ^r s Council

He married Mary, daughter of Nathaniel Records, of Mansfield Township, Burlington County, on June 20, 1698, and the following record thereof is found in the old Burlington Book of Court Records.

THOS. POTTS &	}	Thomas Potts & Mary Records solemnized their

		before Tho: Revell, Anthony Elton & Tho: Bibb
		Justices & before many witnesses.

There is a tradition in the family that Thomas Potts, Jr.'s parents having died at sea, the young Thomas was brought up by Nathaniel Records and when he grew to manhood he married Nathaniel's daughter. It is probable that his mother died, leaving him an infant; but his father lived to old age. It is at least quite evident that Nathaniel Records thought well of his young son-in-law, because on March 8, 1702, he executed a deed wherein Nathaniel Records, of the Townshippe of Mansfield, in the County of Burlington within the Province of West Jersey, Yeoman, of the first part, And Thomas Potts, of the same place, Husbandman, of the other part, WITNESSETH that the said Nathaniel Records for and in consideration of a marriage allready had and Solemnized between the said Thomas Potts and Mary, the Daughter of the said Nathaniel, and as a marriage portion with her the said Mary, for their better support and supply and for the natural love and affection which hee the said Nathaniel hath and beareth to the said Thomas Potts, his sonne in law, and to the said Mary, his Daughter, Hath Given, Granted,, etc., * * * * unto the said Thomas Potts, his Heirs, etc.

This deed conveyed two tracts of land in Mansfield Township, one of fifty acres, purchased of George Porter May 24, 1686, and one of one hundred and sixty-five acres, purchased of the said George Porter December 5, 1696. By this deed the grantor reserved a one half interest during his life time.* Nathaniel Records died intestate and Letters of Administration were issued to Thomas Potts, March 4, 1705-6.

The records in the Surveyor General's Office show a survey, in 1722, of 125 acres in Mansfield Township, belonging to Thomas Potts.

* NOTE. The original deed written on parchment is in possession of a descendant at Beaver Falls, Penna.

In Swank's History of Iron in All Ages, 2d edition, 1892, is the following communication from Hon. Austin N. Hungerford,*

In 1722 the erection of a bloomery forge was undertaken by Isaac Horner, Daniel Farnsworth and Joseph Borden, on the west side of Black's Creek, which rises near Georgetown, in Burlington County, and runs a northwesterly course between Mansfield and Chesterfield Townships, and empties into the Delaware at Bordentown. On February 1, 1725, the partly erected forge with the property connected with it was conveyed by the three proprietors to Thomas Potts, a son-in-law of Joseph Borden. On the same day he conveyed one undivided half of the property to Daniel Coxe, (of whom mention is made that he had been interested in the manufacture of iron for several years), and one fourth to John Allen, Potts retaining one fourth interest for himself. The forge was completed in the summer of 1725, and was probably operated for a few years, but no account of it has been obtained. The property afterwards passed into the hands of a Mr. Lewis of Philadelphia. Thomas Potts had emigrated in the Shield, which brought so many emigrants to West Jersey.

Joseph Borden furnished the capital for his son-in-law. Referring to the same property, the Pennsylvania Gazette of December 20, 1739, contains the following advertisement.

TO BE SOLD. Three fourth parts of an Iron Work and Grist Mill, situate within half a Mile of Burdens-Town, in the County of Burlington, lying about the Distance of a small mile up a Navigable Creek which empties into the Delaware River close by Burdens-town; whereby the Water Carriage up and down that River is rendered very commodious: Together with three fourths of 17 acres of Land and 3 Acres of Meadow purchased for Iron Oar. Also a Coal House and many other Necessaries for carrying on the said Work, tho' now somewhat out of Repair. Any person inclined to purchase the same, may apply to Samuel Bustill of Burlington and John Cox of Trenton, Attorneys at Law, two of the Executors of Daniel Cox, Esq; deceased, who are empowered to sell the same, where they may be inform'd of the Conditions of sale.

N. B. Mr. Thomas Potts, who owns the other Quarter Part of the Premises, will be inclined to sell with the said Executors on reasonable Terms.

* NOTE. Mr. A. N. Hungerford informs the compiler hereof that the deeds are recorded in the Burlington books.

Two questions arise, one as to the identity of Joseph Borden, and the other as to the identity of Thomas Potts, mentioned in the foregoing transactions. There were at the time not only several Thomas Potts', but also several Joseph Bordens. Those who have written upon the subject, seem to have assumed that this Joseph Borden was he who subsequently became the founder of Bordentown. To say the least this seems very improbable.

Joseph Borden, the founder of Bordentown, and son of Benjamin Borden, was born May 12, 1687, which would make him, at the signing of the deed, not yet 38 years of age. It seems unlikely that he had a married daughter at that date. His biographers place the time of his marriage at about the year 1716,* and his children are all accounted for and no daughter married a Thomas Potts, but two of them did marry sons of Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield), subsequently. Again, there is no evidence that Joseph Borden, (the founder), had a step-son Thomas Potts who might have been designated as son-in-law, or that he had a step-daughter who may have married a Thomas Potts. It is also alleged that the first purchase of land by Joseph Borden, (the founder), at Farnsworths Landing,† was not made until 1724. It is therefore assumed that the Joseph Borden of the foregoing deed was not Joseph Borden, (the founder).

There were, at the date of making the deed, six Thomas Potts', in West Jersey, and Pennsylvania of marriageable age, if we include Thomas, son of Thomas Potts, Jr. (Mansfield), then just past 18 years of age. All these are fairly well accounted for, and the only one who may have married a daughter of a Joseph Borden before 1725, seems to be Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield). On account of the great disparity of the ages of his elder and younger children, it seems probable that they were by different wives. Furthermore, Mary, the wife of this Thomas Potts, died April 2, 1741, aged 56 years, 8 months, 26 days. This shows that she was born about September 5, 1684. If this Mary Potts was Mary Records, then she was less than 14 years of age at the time of her marriage in 1698, which is extremely improbable. Therefore, while not positively proven, it is reasonably certain that Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield), married for his second wife Mary daughter of Joseph Borden.

* NOTE. As Joseph Borden had seven children and the youngest was born in 1723, he must have married at an earlier date.

† NOTE. Thomas Farnsworth, of England, landed at Burlington in 1677, located on the site of Bordentown, became the owner of 548 acres of land, and established a ferry there known as Farnsworths Landing.

By the Thomas Potts was the executor of his father's will, and will he became possessed of a lot of ground on Chestnut Street, Philadelphia which he sold in 1728, as appears from the following deed recorded in Deed-Book H, page 78.

A SECTION OF THE OLD BAPTIST GRAVEYARD AT BORDENTOWN, N. J.

In a deed dated January 1, 1754, made by Thomas Potts and Rebecca his wife, of Mansfield Township, Burlington County, he mentions the natural love and affection he bears to his son William Potts, yeoman. On the same day he conveyed land in Mansfield Township, which he had bought in 1724, to Nathaniel Potts of the same place, for £200.

Thomas Potts, like his father, was a Baptist. The Pennypack Baptist Church records show that both he and Mary his wife were baptized at Cold Spring June 29, 1707, by Evan Morgan. He was one of the original members at the organization of the Baptist Church at Southampton,* Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1746, when his son Joshua Potts became its first stated pastor.

He died February 2, 1754, and was buried in the Baptist graveyard at Bordentown, Burlington County. The following record thereof is copied from the Southampton Baptist Church books.

1754. Thomas Potts, Died at his House in West Jersey the 2nd Day of February, and was Buried at Burdentown the 4th of the same Month aged 76 years and one month.

His tombstone still remains in the old Baptist graveyard at Bordentown and bears the inscription as given below. [See illustration.]

* NOTE. The Southampton Church was built in 1731 and used for monthly services by some members of Pennypack Baptist Church living in that neighborhood, and a Society of Keithians, until 1746, when it was incorporated as a Baptist Church, with Rev. Joshua Potts as the first Pastor.

and recorded in Liber 8, page 29. It was proven February 27, 1754. He mentions the following.

Son Nathaniel Potts, 5 s., he having already been provided for.

Son Joshua Potts, £250, and a lot in Burlington.

Son William Potts, 5 s., he having heretofore been provided for.

Daughter Ann Folwell, £100. (wife of William Folwell).

Daughter Mary, wife of John Cox, £100.

My son Thomas Potts's children, £100, to be divided among them.

Wife Rebecca Potts, £5, having heretofore well provided for her by an instrument signed by me and in the hands of Samuel Atkinson, and use of rume [room] called parlor and conveniences, as well as services of negro woman Anjegelico, as long as Rebecca remains my widow.

He had lands and meadows adjoining William Black's plantation, in Mansfield Township, and known as Great Meadows. He had negro slaves Jafat, a mulatto; Jack, a negro; and Angelico, a negro.

His executors were sons Joshua and William Potts, and son-in-law Thomas Cox. The witnesses were John Bates and Jeremiah Bates, [Quakers], and Thomas Folks. The inventory filed amounted to £836-6-0.

Joshua Potts, William Potts and Thomas Cox were duly sworn as executors ou February 27, 1754.

Here is given a fair copy of his signature as appended to the will.

Thos. Potts

The compiler has been unable to procure any other copy of his autograph, and as this was written in old age and only three days before his decease when he was in feeble health, it is not to be taken as a fair sample.

Thomas Potts, Jr., was the father of five sons and three daughters, all of whom grew to manhood and womanhood except perhaps the eldest, who probably died young.

The old Burlington Book of Records 1680, contains the following entry in the back part of the book.

Thomas Potts married Mary Records—June 20, 1698.

When necessary to distinguish him from other persons of the same name he will be designated as "Thomas Potts, Jr., (Tanner)."

By the will of his grandfather, Thomas Potts, (Shield), he inherited a lot of ground in Gilbert's Alley, Philadelphia,* which he conveyed to Andrew Edge, by a deed dated August 14, 1728, but not recorded until August 16, 1799. Recorded the 16th day of August 1799.

On 8 mo. [Oct.], 29, 1730, Thomas Potts married Sarah Beakes, daughter of William and Ruth (Stacy) Beakes. He was brought up under the influence of the religious teaching of the Baptists, but at his marriage became affiliated with Friends. Looking forward to marriage with the young Quakeress, he addressed the following letter to the Meeting to which she was attached. The original is in the custody of the Chesterfield Monthly Meeting.

TO THE PREPARATIVE MEETING OF FRIENDS AT CROSWICKS.

Respected friends,

I have a Desire & Inclination to Consumate my intended Marriage with one of your Perswasion, in the way which is practiced & Esteemed most Reputable amongst friends.—

And to accomodate the same with Decency & Order; it will (I presume) be expected (by another meeting) that I produce some Certificate, or Recommendation of my Regular Living. I send these to apprise you, & Desire your Consideracon thereon: That I purpose to Request such a favour of you at your next Monthly Meeting. If it be thought proper—And as I would be very carefull not to bring any Reproach upon a Society of well Disciplined Christians; to that End I shall endeavour to act nothing that may Disoblige any party, that are Either Related, or otherwise concerned.

My Parents have been acquainted with my Intention in this particular and Do assent theretoo. And for myself I do greatly approve of Your Method of Marriage, as the same in my Judgement, is very consistent to Scripture, Good Rule & Decency. But becauee I am apprehensive it may be objected that the Different way in which I have been Educated, had Excluded me from your Protection and assistance in this respect, & that my Condesention may be only to gain a particular End, & to have it in my power to Subvert & Disswade a Vertuous Innocent person from these good principals in which she is now Established. To which Objections I would thus far answer: That I believe my Education to have made very Little more or other Difference than to Introduce & give Sanction to Several Customs in Salutation, Dress &c. that are not held Decent & practiced amongst you; for as far as I have Informed myself into y^r principals, I have found them warrentably Soported, & very Consonant to the workings of my own mind. And for me to conform with any Society & and to Embrace a new Opinion from no other motive or better Testimony, than to gain a particular End: or Common Interest, would Discover a greater Weakness & Impiety, that I hope Ever to be Tinctured with. And because I am greatly Inclined to favour the principals which you hold, it is therefore far from my Intentions; & very Improbable, that I shall ever Endeavour the alteration or subversion of the opinion of my Intended Partner: well knowing that the Consequence would tend to my own Infeliscity & Disquiet—and Tho' I am not fully satisfied Imediately to fall in with every punctillio in y^r oeconomy; I am very Desirous to Live & Maintain a Sincear friendship & Christian Communion with all & Each of you.

Thus much by the hands of a friend. I thought proper to present to you; & Desire you would Deliberate thereon; begging your Indulgence in the a^d Request ; but if for good reasons rejected shall rest Satisfied. Who am with Due Respects

Tho: Potts Jun^r

Thomas Potts was evidently in very good repute among Friends, and his case met with favorable consideration. The following are copies of the records of the "passing meeting" of the young couple as found entered upon the minutes of Chesterfield Monthly Meeting of Friends.

At a Monthly Meeting of Friends held at our Meeting House in Chesterfield the 6th of the 6^{mo} 1730.

Thomas Potts Jun^r though not educated in our Society after having made some way by Friends of our last preparative Meeting acquainted this Meeting that he had a desire to proceed in marriage with Sarah Beakes who hath been educated under her parents in the Religious way of Friends & that he had under his consideration the consistency of Friends' principles & found them in his Judgment very agreeable & therefore requests this Meeting to recommend him to their Friends as they can have freedom Whereupon we appoint our Friends Isaac Horner & Isaac Harrow to make inquiry concerning his conversation & of his clearness from all other women on account of marriage & make report to our next Monthly Meeting

At a Monthly Meeting of Friends held at their Meeting House in Chesterfield the third day of the Seventh month [September] 1730

The Friends appointed last meeting to enquire concerning Thomas Potts' conversation and clearness on account of marriage find nothing to obstruct his having a few lines by way of certificate and granted him one from this Meeting according as his conversation & education have been & further that he hath given us to believe that he is convinced of our Principles amongst them whose proceedings therein after deliberate Consideration thereof having consent of Parents and Relatives concerned nothing appearing to obstruct were approved of by the said Meeting

Now these are to Certify all whom it may concern that for the full accomplishing their said Intentions this twenty ninth day of the eighth month in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and thirty they the said Thomas Potts and Sarah Beakes appeared in a publick Meeting of the said People and others at the Meeting House in the Township of Chester And the said Thomas Potts taking the said Sarah Beakes by the Hand did in a solemn manner openly declare that he took her to be his Wife Promising to be unto her a loving and faithfull Husband untill the Lord should by Death separate them and then and there in the said assembly the said Sarah Beakes did in like manner declare that she took the said Thomas Potts to be her Husband Promising to be unto him a faithfull and loving Wife untill it should please the Lord by death to separate them. On January 1, 1754, his father conveyed to him a tract of land in Mansfield Township. On June 26, 1760, the following advertisement appeared in the Pennsylvania Gazette.

NATHANIEL POTTS.

Nathaniel Potts probably contemplated removing to Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, as he purchased 175 acres Lower Dublin Township, and in the early part of 1761 he and Susanna his wife executed a mortgage upon this land to secure to William Humphries the payment of £400. Nathaniel died in June 1761. Letters of administration were issued to his brother William Potts. Letters were taken out at Philadelphia as well as at Trenton. It does not appear that there were any children.

II Rev. Joshua Potts,³ (Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,⁴), son of Thomas and Mary (Borden?) Potts, was born January 4, 1719, at Mansfield, Burlington County. He became a Baptist minister and was settled over the Southampton Church in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, until his death in 1761. His wife was Ann Borden.

On February 3, 1743, his father deeded him a lot or piece of ground in Hatborough in the Manor of Moreland, Pennsylvania, and in 1760 Joshua and Ann Potts join in a deed conveying this same property to Jacob Tompkins. The village of Hatborough is situated a short distance west of the Bucks County line, in what is now Montgomery County, but then Philadelphia County.

The History of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, by Mr. Theodore W. Bean, contains the following notice of Rev. Joshua Potts.

The Rev. Joshua Potts lived in the house of the Joseph B. Verkes, near the York Road, below Hatboro', which he built in 1759, and which is still standing, containing a stone with his name and date. He owned here at the time several hundred acres. He was the first pastor of the Southampton Baptist Church, built [?] in 1746, and in which he officiated till the time of his death, which happened June 18, 1761, at the age of forty six years. He was one of the founders of the Hatboro' Library in 1755.

The Pennsylvania Gazette, in the issue of Nov. 2, 1758, contains the following notice of a Library meeting.

Notice is hereby given to the Members of the Union Library Company of Hatborough, that they attend their Annual Meeting, at the Library Room, on the Fourth Day of November next, between the Hours of Twelve and Four in the afternoon, in order to choose Directors, Secretary, and Treasurer, for the ensuing year, and to make their third Annual Payment. By Order of the Director

JOSHUA POTTS, Secretary.

Joshua Potts was ordained as a minister of the gospel on May 29, 1746, and became the pastor of the Southampton Baptist Church, in Bucks County, Penna. The records of that Church contains the following obituary notice of him.

He was a minister from our first Constitution to the Day of his Death. He was afflicted for some years with a very painful disorder, which the Doctors said was the Gravel in his Kidneys, which he bore with no less Fortitude than Resignation; and Continued to Preach to the last, notwithstanding he was frequently obliged to walk a foot not less than five miles to meeting, not being able to bear the motion of a Horse & Carriage. He was truly Pious, yet Genteel, gay and Cheerful, a most agreeable Companion, a Good Neighbor, a kind Husband, a tender parent and an accomplished Preacher.

In another place is this memorandum.

Joshua Potts, the first Ordained Minister of the Church at Southampton, Died at his own House in Moor-land about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the 18th of June and was Buried at Southampton the 20th 1761 Aged 42 years 5 months & 14 days.

In Morgan Edwards' Materials towards a History of the Baptists, etc., speaking of the Southampton Church is this notice.

Rev. JOSHUA POTTS. He was born Jan. 4, 1719, at Mansfield, in the Jersey. Baptized Sep. 2, 1738. Ordained May 29, 1746, at which time he took the care of the church, and continued therein to his death, which came to pass June 18, 1761, and was buried at Southampton. Mr. Potts is said to have been endowed with a very uncommon share of those qualifications which render the civil and ministerial life amiable. He married Ann Borden by whom he had children, Mary, Amy, Abigail, Rebeka, Hannah, Joshua, Thomas, All single except two who married into the Edwards and Taylor families.

The will of Joshua Potts, made September 16, 1757, and proven August 11, 1761, is recorded at Philadelphia, in Will-Book M, page 165. He mentions wife Ann Potts, children Thomas, Mary, Anne, Abigail, Rebecca and Hannah, his brothers Nathaniel and William, and brother-in-law Joseph Borden.

Sometime after his death his family removed to Burlington County, New Jersey, and on July 5, 1766, Ann Potts was dismissed to the Church at Croswicks, as shown by the records of the Southampton Church in this entry.

Ann Potts, Widow & Relict of the Rev^d Joshua Potts Late Minister of this place Dec^d was Dismissed to the Church at Croswicks July 5th, 1766.

APPENDIX

12 William Potts,³ (Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), son of Thomas and Mary (Borden?) Potts, was born 1721, and died July 25, 1783. He married Amy Borden, youngest daughter of Joseph and Ann (Conover) Borden, of Borden-town, about 1755 or 1756. He was a resident of Mansfield Township, Burlington County. He was an active Patriot during the Revolution. On Feb. 14, 1775, he was appointed a member of the Committee of Observation for the City and County of Burlington. At the time it was stated that the assembly of citizens, freeholders, etc., met to appoint the Committee and that the said Committee shall be and continue to act for one year from this date unless the measures of the next General Congress shall make an alteration necessary. Signed by order of the meeting.

PETER TALLMAN, Chairman.

Stryker's Jerseymen in the Revolution, includes the name of William Potts.

William Potts died July 25, 1783, in the 62 d year of his age. The diary of Rev. John Pitman* contains this entry, July 24, 1783. Crossed the Ferry, got to William Potts passed 11 a clock, Mr. Potts lay a dying, he died a little after 2 o'clock. He lay 2 Days without seeing, speaking or eating.

* NOTE. Rev. John Pitman's wife was a niece of William Potts. See page 145, ante. Another entry in this diary is as follows, "Jan. 14, 1784. Got to Borden-town and found Aunt Potts dead, she died yesterday between 8 and 9 a clock in the morning." Perhaps "Aunt Potts" was Anne, widow of Rev. Joshua Potts.

His tombstone, in the Baptist graveyard at Bordentown, New Jersey, bears this inscription :

In Memory of
WILLIAM POTTS;
Who died July the 25th Anno Domini
1783.
In the 62^d Year of his age.

William Potts, of Mansfield, Burlington County, in his will, made April 9, 1783, and proven August 16, of the same year, mentions wife, sons William and Joseph, and daughters Mary, Amy and Ann. He leaves £20 to repair the Baptist Meeting house at Bordentown. The executors named were sons William and Joseph Potts and son-in-law James Cox. The witnesses were Samuel English, Joshua Potts and Petter Willson.

Amy Potts, widow, died August 19, 1804, leaving a will dated June 6, 1799, and proven September 24, 1804. She mentions son Joseph Potts, daughter-in-law Rebecca, widow of William, deceased; daughters Ann Cox, Mary Eaton and Amy Potts. Executors, son-in-law James Cox and John Cliver. Her tomb near that of her husband is inscribed

- 50 William Watts Folwell, b. 1768; d. 1818; m. Jane Dungan. He graduated at Brown University; was elected to the chair of Rhetoric in the University of Pennsylvania, but declined. He removed to Seneca County, N. Y., where he engaged in farming and other pursuits. His son Thomas J. Folwell, was the father of Prof. William W. Folwell, now and for years past a member of the Faculty of the University of Minnesota.

16 John Folwell,⁴ (Ann,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), married Elizabeth Boileau. He was a Captain in the Revolution. He resided in Southampton Township, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where he died in 1808, leaving one daughter Mary.

19 Stacy Potts,⁴ (Thomas,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,"), son of Thomas and Sarah (Beakes) Potts, was born 7 mo. 20, 1731. He received a good education, and was a tanner by trade. He established himself at Trenton, where he was a successful business man for many years. He was a leading man in the Society of Friends, and in the government of West Jersey. He was three times married.

He married, first, Esther Pancoast, (daughter of John and Mary Pancoast), 4 mo. 13, 1758. She was born 3 mo. 16, 1739, and died 5 mo. 13, 1769. He married, second, Margaretta Yardley, (daughter of William Yardley, of Bucks County, Pa.), 4 mo. 15, 1773. She was born 12 mo. 6, 1752, and died 8 mo. 25, 1783, aged 30 years, 8 months, and 29 days. He married, third, Mrs. Mary Boyd, widow of John Boyd, of Harrisburg, and daughter of George Williams of Paxtang.

When Col. Rahl, the Commander of the British troops, was mortally wounded in the battle of Trenton, he was carried into the house of Stacy Potts, where he was visited by Gen. Washington, and later died. It has been alleged that on the night preceeding the battle, Col. Rahl was engaged in card playing, or as stated in another account, he was absorbed in a game of chess. The account as preserved by the descendants of Stacy Potts is to this effect. Col. Rahl had been spending several days at the house of Stacy Potts, and on the night before the battle he was much interested in watching some young people playing at Fox and Geese, when a shot was heard. Col. Rahl immediately rushed out of the house and was not seen again by the family until he was carried in mortally wounded.

About 1790 Stacy Potts removed to Harrisburg, where he made large purchases of land. In his new home he at once became very popular and prominent, and served in the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1791-1792, and 1799-1801. He served as Burgess of the Borough and as a member of the Town Council.

GEN. WASHINGTON VISITING COL. RAHL AT THE HOUSE OF STACY POTTS, MAYOR OF TRENTON.

About 1805 he returned to Trenton, and he subsequently became Mayor of the City, which office he held for some years. He died April 28, 1816, in his 85th year. His widow returned to Harrisburg where she died in 1844, aged 84 years. His descendants are frequently spoken of as the "Trenton Potts'."

Miss Sarah Sherman, of Trenton, a granddaughter of Stacy Potts, says she remembers hearing that her grandfather had corresponded with relatives in the old country, but if such was the case no vestage of the correspondence is now known to be in existence.

20 Richard Potts,⁴ (Thomas,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,*), son of Thomas and Sarah (Beakes) Potts, was born Jan. 1, 1733. He resided in Upper Freehold Township, Monmouth County, where he was a considerable land owner. In the 4th month, 1755, he produced a Certificate from Burlington Monthly Meeting of Friends to the Monthly Meeting of Chesterfield. He married Rebecca Arney, (daughter of Joseph and Sarah Arney), June 25, 1755. This marriage seems to have been contrary to Friends discipline, as in 9 mo., 1755, he made an acknowledgment to the Chesterfield Meeting on account of marriage. In the 6 month, 1757, Rebecca Potts made a similar acknowledgment. She was born April, 1, 1737, and died 1801.

He died sometime subsequent to 1817. His will, made Sept. 20, 1817, and proved March 25, 1825, is recorded at New Brunswick, N. J., in Book C, page 51. He mentions sons John, William, and Stacy, and son Thomas, deceased; daughters Mary Wright, Rebecca Harris, and Elizabeth Cox; grand-children John A. Potts, Richard Potts, Junr., and the children of daughters Rebecca Harris and Elizabeth Cox. Executors William Potts and Richard Potts. Witnesses William Potts, Edward Taylor, Jr., and John A. Potts. This branch is sometimes called the "Monmouth Potts'."

RUTH POTTS, (21), born 11 mo. 23, 1734-5; married, 1st, William Johnson, of Philadelphia, 1759. She married, 2nd, Oliver Paxton.

MARY POTTS, (22), born 1 mo. 15, 1736; married Isaac Horner, 1757; and died 5 mo. 31, 1776. Residence Kingwood, (now) Hunterdon County, N. J. She was a minister among Friends. Children, 1 Samuel, 2 Elizabeth, 3 Sarah, 4 Isaac, 5 Thomas, 6 Stacy, 7 Mary.

SARAH POTTS, (24), born 10 mo. 14, 1740, received a Certificate from Chesterfield Monthly Meeting to Philadelphia in 1764.

29 Joshua Potts,⁴ (Joshua,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), was probably the youngest child of Rev. Joshua and Ann (Borden) Potts, and perhaps born after Sep. 16, 1757, as he is not mentioned in his father's will made on that date. He married Mary Bunting, daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth (Kirkbride) Bunting,* of Chesterfield Township, Burlington County. On January 7, 1785, Thomas Potts and wife "Alcey," executed a deed of gift to Joshua Potts, and on Sep. 1, 1792, Joshua Potts and Mary his wife sold the same land.† In the afore-mentioned deed he is described as "wheelwright." It is said that he removed to Arkansas and died about 1835.

- 76 Ann Potts, d. about 1872, at Bordentown, unmarried.
- 77 Sarah Potts.
- 78 Lydia Potts, d. about 1852; m. Stephen D. Lewis.

* NOTE. Elizabeth Kirkbride was a daughter of Joseph Kirkbride, Jr., and sister of Col. Joseph Kirkbride.

† NOTE. The latter deed is recorded in Liber AR, folio 29, in the State Department at Trenton. The deed of gift has not been found at this writing. It would very likely state relationship and the reason for the gift. Perhaps it was for a share of the patrimony, Joshua not having been provided for in the father's will.

30 Thomas Potts,⁴ (Joshua,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), son of Rev. Joshua and Ann (—) Potts, was born —. He married Alice Bunting, daughter John Bunting, of Chesterfield Township, Burlington County. The statement printed on page 157, that he married Rebecca King is probably incorrect, unless she was his first wife. On Jan. 7, 1785, Thomas Potts and "Alcey," his wife executed a deed of gift for land to Joshua Potts, as before stated.

On Nov. 11, 1791, the following heirs, sons and daughters, of the late John Bunting of Chesterfield Township in Burlington County, to wit, William, Benjamin, and Daniel Bunting, and Levi Gibbs and Ann his wife, John Woodmansee and Mary his wife, and Thomas Potts and Alice his wife, all of New Jersey, join in a quit-claim deed * to John Bunting of Frederick County, Maryland, also a son of John. John Bunting the elder became seized of this land, by the will of his uncle John Bunting, dated Sep. 19, 1729,—156 acres of unappropriated land.

Whether Thomas Potts left children or not has not come to the notice of the compiler.

37 Ann Potts,⁴ (William,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), daughter of William and Amy (Borden) Potts, was born Feb. 13, 1757. She married Gen. James Cox, son of Joseph Cox. He was born 1753 and died 1810. Mrs. Cox was an excellent woman and a devoted wife and mother. While on her way from Lamberton to Philadelphia to attend a Baptist meeting, in company with her youngest son, she was accidentally drowned in the Delaware River, by the capsizing of the "Traveler" on March 21, 1815. She was buried in the Baptist graveyard at Trenton. The True American, of Trenton, published a long account of the accident. They resided at Trenton, New Jersey.

Isaac and Rebecca (Stout) Eaton, October 21, 1784. They settled in Chester County, Pennsylvania, where Dr. Eaton became a highly respected and prominent physician.

Dr. Eaton died August 13, 1813, and Mary, his widow, August 9, 1843. They lie buried in the London Tract Baptist graveyard, in London Britain Township, Chester County. Their ten children are buried in ten different graveyards, and in five different states.

41 Amy Potts,⁴ (William,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), daughter of William and Amy (Borden) Potts, was born July 26, 1767. She married Thomas Potts, who seems to have been a widower, and is said not to have been related to her. One account (from the family) alleges that she did not marry until after her mother's death, and when she was about forty years of age, and that she had no children.

When the Baptist church at Burlington, New Jersey, was constituted in 1799, Thomas Potts was received by a letter from New Mills,* and Amy Potts by a letter from Jacobstown. On October 5, 1812, they were dismissed together to the Baptist Church at Trenton and Lamberton, and in the records of that Church, under date of Sep. 12, 1812, is the following entry.†

Two letters from our sister church at Burlington, dismissing and recommending brother Thomas Potts and his wife, sister Amy Potts, and Rachel Thorn, to join us, were read. They were all by vote unanimously received.

They seem to have settled in Lawrence Township, Hunterdon County. On July 16, 1816, Thomas Potts was appointed to the office of Deacon. He is reported to have been an excellent man and a zealous Christian, but a poor financier, and died leaving his widow with much less property than when she married him. He died Sep. 10, 1824, leaving a will bearing date of Sep. 6, 1824, and proven Oct. 1, 1824. He is described as of Lawrence Township, Hunterdon County, N. J. He mentions wife Amy, and three sons, John, William and Bloomfield Potts. Executors, wife Amy Potts and son William Potts. The Church books contain the following obituary notice of him.

Departed this life on Friday Morning the 10th day of September, 1824, our Beloved and highly esteemed Brother Deacon Thomas Potts, in the 63^d year of his age. His remains were the day following interred in our graveyard. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

Amy Potts was a woman of uncommon vigor, a fine conversationalist, and a great favorite in the family. In 1840, while visiting her niece, Mrs. Mary (Eaton) Chandler, in Chester County, Pennsylvania, she was taken ill and died there, at the age of 73 years. She was buried in the London Tract Baptist graveyard. The Trenton Baptist Church books contain the following obituary notice of her.

Departed this life on Friday, November 27, 1840, our dearly beloved sister Amy Potts, widow of our late Brother Deacon Thomas Potts, aged 74 years. She had been 56 years a member of a Baptist Church. Universally beloved and respected by all who knew her for her amiable disposition, consistent Christian deportment and zeal for the cause of Christ, her loss is deeply felt by her surviving brethern and sisters of the Church, as well as a large number of relatives and friends. Her body was interred at ——— in the State of Delaware.

55 William Potts,⁵ (Stacy,⁴ Thomas,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,⁰), son of Stacy and Esther (Pancoast) Potts, was born 5 mo. 30, 1768. He married Miss Mary Gardner daughter of Theophilis Gardner, of Philadelphia, August 28, 1791. Mr. Potts was educated in the religious teachings of Friends, while his wife was brought up in the Presbyterian faith. They lived for some time in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, probably in the vicinity of the present site of Bloomsburg, in what is now Columbia County. On April 7, 1803, Gov. McKean appointed William Potts, as a Justice of the Peace for the Township of Fishing Creek. The family returned to Trenton about 1810.

116 Rev. William Stephens Potts, D. D.,⁶ (William,⁵ Stacy,⁴ Thomas,³ Thomas,² Thomas,¹ Richard,^a), son of William and Mary (Gardner) Potts, was born October 13, 1802. When he was eight years of age, his parents removed to Trenton New Jersey. At the age of sixteen, he was sent to Philadelphia to learn the printer's trade., during which time he made a profession of religion and determined to enter the gospel ministry. He began his preparatory studies in 1822, under the tuition of Rev. Ezra E. Ely, and entered Princeton Theological Seminary in 1825, but on account of impaired health was compelled to leave the Seminary in November, 1827. He was at once licensed by the Presbytery of Philadelphia, and sent on a mission through the Southern States with instructions to make his way to St. Louis. He made the journey on horseback and reached St. Louis six months later. Here he ministered to the Presbyterian Church, and in October, 1828, was installed as its pastor. In 1835 he became President of Marion College, Missouri, and in 1839 accepted a call to the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, where he continued to minister until his death. He is said to have had a "clear, cool, logical, and well-balanced mind," and while not a brilliant orator was very successful in spiritual work, and "his influence in St. Louis and throughout Missouri, grew in potency to the end of his life." He married Ann Benton but left no children. The Encyclopædia of the Presbyterian Church (1884) contains an excellent biographical sketch of Mr. Potts, and closes as follows,

In the midst of a series of special meetings in his church, seeking an outpouring of the Holy Spirit, his frail body gave way, and after a protracted confinement to his bed, he went to be with Jesus on the morning of Sunday, March 28, 1852, while the church bell was ringing for the Sabbath School to assemble.

THE CHART. Facing this page is given a Chart, showing the descendants of Thomas Potts, (Shield), to the fifth generation. Female lines are not carried down, and those of the male lines may not be complete.

FROM
THOMAS POTTS, (SHIELD).

^{NOTE} The pedigree exhibited by this Chart is believed to be substantially if not absolutely correct. In a few particulars the positive evidence has been lacking, but the circumstantial evidence has been sufficiently convincing, as may be seen by reference to the text. In the last column, the individual numbers will aid in tracing later generations in the body of Chapter III.

JOSEPH POTTS. A marriage license was issued to Joseph Potts, of Bordentown, Dec. 28, 1769, to marry Elizabeth Moore. The bondsman was John Van Emburgh, of Bordentown, and the witnesses Peggy Moore and Polly Potts.

CHAPTER IV.

The Potts' of Middlesex County, New Jersey.

A family of POTTS, of good repute, is found in Middlesex County, New Jersey, before the time of the Revolutionary War, but nothing is now definitely known of its origin or the time of its first settlement. The family seems, however, to be quite distinct from that of Thomas Potts, (Shield). Eugene F. Potts, of Fuerti, Sinaloa, Mexico, says he has heard that his family is descended from one of "three brothers" who came from England and settled in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. D. Barton McKinne, Esq., of New York, writes that it is his understanding that his ancestor, Samuel Potts, came from England sometime prior to the Revolution.

The Family Bible of Samuel Potts passed by will to his son John Potts, and is still preserved by his descendants. It contains some family records, but through age, wear, accident or careless mutilation, they can only be partially deciphered. Through the courtesy of Alpheus Potts, Esq., of Jeffersonville, N. Y., we are able to give below a copy of the fragmentary remains of these Bible records. The blank spaces left in this printed copy only partially correspond to those in the original entries.

It is very unfortunate that this record is so imperfect. The reader is left to his own conjectures. Samuel Burtes Potts may be identical with that Samuel Potts who married Amy Baylis in 1776. Samuel Burtes Potts, Maria Potts and William Potts may have been brothers and sister. From Stryker's Jerseymen in the Revolution, it is learned that both Samuel and William Potts, of Middlesex County, served in the Revolutionary army. Such an account of Samuel Potts and his descendants, as could be obtained, is here given.

1 Samuel Potts,¹ of Middlesex County, New Jersey, was probably born about 1750, but whether in England or America is not clear. He married Amy Baylis (or Bayles) April 23, 1776.* His residence was then given as Cranbury. He served in the Revolutionary army. He is said to have been a wagon-master, but at the battle of Monmouth fought in the ranks, while his brave young wife carried water to the soldiers during and after the battle. *

He was a prosperous and influential citizen, and at the time of his death, in 1821 or 1822, he possessed a considerable estate. About 1808 he purchased lands in Bethel Township, Sullivan County, New York. His will is dated March 7, 1821, and was probated in the Surrogate's Office at New Brunswick, on September 13, 1822. He gives his residence as South Amboy Township. He makes bequests to "my well beloved wife Amy;" to son John, $100, and large Bible, after his said wife's decease; to son Thomas, $100; to daughter Eliza, wife of Seth Dey, interest of $500; to son William, $400, and remainder of my land in Bethel Township, Sullivan County, New York, adjoining lands already conveyed to sons John and Thomas; to deceased daughter Susanna's son James Herbert, $200. William Potts was under twenty-one years of age. Sons John and Thomas appointed executors and empowered to sell lands in New Jersey for $4000.

2 John Potts,² (Samuel,¹), son of Samuel and Amy (Baylis) Potts, was born March 21, 1777, at Cranbury in Middlesex County, New Jersey. He married Mary Voorhees, daughter of Garret Voorhees, (perhaps Feb. 6, 1800). John Potts settled on a farm in Bethel Township, Sullivan County, New York, which his father had purchased for him. Here he engaged in farming and spent the remainder of his life. He died in 1864.

5 Thomas Potts,² (Samuel,¹), son of Samuel and Amy (Baylis) Potts, was born April 11, 1784, in Middlesex Co., N. J. He was married but the name of his wife has not come to the notice of the compiler. He settled on land purchased by his father, in Sullivan County, New York, but he tired of the forest, and returned to Middlesex County, N. J., where he lived until his death in 1865 at 81. He reared a family and accumulated a considerable estate. His will, dated Feb. 21, 1865, and proven Feb. 15, 1866, is recorded in the Surrogate's Office at New Brunswick. He mentions each of his seven children, and seven grandsons bearing the name of Thomas, sons of each of his children. He makes a bequest of the interest of $800, to the widow of his son James W. Potts, deceased, and at her death the principal to go to her children, provided they apply for it within twenty years, otherwise they were to be considered as dead.

19 Rev. James W. Potts, M. D.,³ (Thomas,² Samuel,¹), son of Thomas and ——— (——) Potts, was born in Middlesex County, N. J. He married Frederica Margarita Fickhardt.* Mr. Potts was a practicing physician and a minister of the Methodist Church. He is said to have been a fluent and eloquent speaker. Soon after marriage he settled at Port Deposit, Maryland, where he founded a Methodist Church. He subsequently removed to the southwest, preaching and practicing medicine in Missouri and Texas. In 1856 he started on a trip to California, leaving his family in Texas. On reaching Tucson, Arizona, he was the first man to read the Declaration of Independence and deliver a patriotic address. After visiting California he started home, but was taken ill and died at Las Cruces, New Mexico, in 1856 or 7. There were eight children, but the names of only four of them have been furnished.

CHAPTER V.

The Potts Family in Pennsylvania.

From the year 1683 to 1700 and later several persons appear about Germantown in Philadelphia County bearing the name of POTTS, who were closely associated and evidently nearly related. The following is believed to include an accurate list of these persons, together with the earliest dates at which each has been first noticed. Some of these are believed to have come to America at a much earlier date.

1683. Elizabeth Pott or Potts and her daughter Jane came to Pennsylvania in 1683. Elizabeth Potts married Edmund Bennett in 1685, and her daughter Jane married John Austin in 1686.

1686. Thomas Potts signs the marriage certificate of John Austin and Jane Potts.

1686. Jonas Potts signs the marriage certificate of John Austin and Jane Potts.

1690. Elizabeth Potts (not the first mentioned Elizabeth) died.

1692. David Potts signs the administrator's bond of Elizabeth (Potts) Bennett.

1698. Thomas Potts, (Jr.), is a witness to the will of John Powell, made at sea, during the passage to America.

1698. Several orphan children of John Potts, of Wales, deceased, were sent over to Pennsylvania, to the care of Thomas Potts, their uncle. John Potts, one of these children, was a ship carpenter and married Rebecca —. Mary Potts, another of the orphans, married Matthias Tyson.

1700. Joan or Jone Potts signs the marriage certificate of Lewis Lewis and Mary Powell.

1705. Eleanor Potts married Thomas Roberts.

1709. Margaret Potts married Evan Morgan.

1716. Reese, Riece or Rees Potts sells land at Germantown to Margaret Tyson.

All of these will be quite fully treated of in separate succeeding Chapters, while a special Chapter will be devoted to the evidences of relationship, and still another to the "Old Potts Puzzle."

From time to time other persons of the name appear who were not connected with these earlier settlers, or whose affiliation has not been proven.

CHAPTER VI.

Elizabeth Potts and her Daughter Jane Potts.

Elizabeth Pott or Potts and Jane Potts, her daughter, came to Pennsylvania in 1683, as shown by a deed recorded in the Recorder's Office at Philadelphia, in Deed-Book E 3, Volume 6, page 42. They are the first of the name known to have settled in that State. Elizabeth Potts seems to have been a widow when she came to Pennsylvania, and it is believed that others of the family, beside her daughter Jane, came with her. They were Friends and in 1685 were under the care of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting. In 1684 they obtained a grant of one hundred acres of land, which was supposed to be laid out in Philadelphia County, but a subsequent resurvey showed it to be in Chester County. It adjoined Letitia Penn's Manor. The warrant issued by the Board of Property, on file at Harrisburg, is as follows,

By the Commissioners of Improvement to grant lots in the Province of Pennsylvania at the request of Elizabeth Pott, that we would grant her a lot in the City and 100 acres of land (being the Headright for herself and her daughter) in the County of Philadelphia near the Welchmen. These are to will and require thee forthwith to survey or cause to be surveyed unto her a lot near the center of the city, and the said hundred acres in the aforementioned county where not already taken up, she fencing the lot in & building upon the same within six months & improving the Land within one year from the date of survey, and make returns thereof into the Secretaries Office. Given at Philadelphia the 12th 7^{mo} 1684.

THOS. LLOYD,
JAMES CLAYPOLE.

In 1685 Elizabeth Potts married Edmund Bennettt of Bucks County. They first declared their intentions of marriage before Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 8 mo. 5, 1685, and the following record made thereof.

Ellinor Allen and Hannah Boyer presented Edmond Bennett and Elizabeth Potts, who the first time declared their intentions of marriage to the meeting. The meeting orders him to bring a Certificate from the meeting to which he belongs to in the County of Bucks to the next meeting.

On 10 mo. 7, they presented their intentions the second time, and were allowed to proceed in marriage according to the usage among Friends. The marriage took place 10 mo. [Dec.] 22, 1685, at the house of John Otter, near Burlington, [now Bristol]. The Middletown Monthly Meeting has a brief record of the marriage, with names of the signers to the certifiacte as follows.

Edmund Bennett seems to have been in Pennsylvania before the arrival of the Proprietor, and may have been here as early as 1681. He took up 300 acres of land in Bristol Township, Bucks County, 12 mo. 1, 1682, [O. S.]. As he is included with those who took up land before Penn's arrival, the above date would seem to be February [12 mo.] 1, 1682. The minutes of the Board of Property, of 9 mo. 8, 1703, contains the following entry.*

The Prop'ry by deeds dat, 25, 7br., '81, vid. Rolls Bo. A., vol. fo. 82, Granted to Edm'nd Bennett 1,000 acres, who by warrant dated 1st 12 mo., '82, Took up 300 a's In Bristol Township, in Bucks, and the said Edm'd by his last will, dat. 5, 7ber, '92, Granted his whole Estate to his wife Eliz'th Bennett, who by her deed dated 22, 3 mo., 1702, Conveyed 100 a's Part thereof, to Wm. Crosdale. The said Tract being resurveyed is found to Contain 151 a's, for the Overplus of which he Offers £10, being Barren. A Patent is granted, the Consideration to be for Services and No Sum.

By a general warrant, dated 4 mo. 13, 1683, lands taken up by old settlers, before the arrival of the Proprietor, were resurveyed. Edmund Bennett is shown to have 321 acres in one tract and 50 acres in another.* At a meeting of the Board of Property, held 12 mo. 22, 1689-90, it was ordered that Edmund Bennett have a warrant "for taking up his Liberty land according to his purchase of 1000 acres." †

At another meeting, held 2 mo. 12, 1690, it was ordered that Edmund Bennett have a warrant to lay out a piece of swamp, adjoining his land in Bucks County. ‡ On 8 mo. 13, 1683, Richard Dungworth conveyed to Edmund Bennett, 50 acres which in a subsequent deed of sale it is recited that the Proprietor had granted it to the said Edmund Bennett, as part of his land due him on account of his first purchase, §

Edmund Bennett died September, 1692, leaving a will dated Sep. 5, 1692, and proven 7 mo. [Sept.] 21, 1692, and recorded at Philadelphia, in Will-Book A, page 210. His residence is then given as Philadelphia. By the will he left one shilling to his nephew John Bartlet "now in England." The remainder of his estate he left to his wife Elizabeth, making her his executrix, with friends John Kinsey, John Jones and John Otter to assist her. The witnesses were Thomas Roberts, Jane Austin and Theodore Roberts.

Elizabeth Bennett filed her bond as executrix, "7^{hr} 24, 1692," in the sum of £250. She was said to be "late of Bucks County." Her bondsman was David Potts. The following is a copy of the inventory filed 7 mo. 23, 1692.

On 5 mo. 5, 1696, Elizabeth Bennett sold to Thomas Yardley 50 acres in Bucks County, and on 3 mo. 22, 1702, she sold 100 acres, (part of the original 300 acres), to William Croasdale. A resurvey of the tract showed that it contained 151 acres.

Elizabeth Bennett died 1 mo. 8. 1707. In a MS. list of deceased Friends in the "Burying ground at Philadelphia, recorded by Robert Ewen," in possession of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, is this entry, Elizabeth Bennitt, widd : of Edmond Bennitt, died 1 mo. 8, 1707.

It is believed that Elizabeth Bennett had several children by her former husband, but the name of only one—Jane Potts—is certainly known.

Jane Potts, daughter of ——— and Elizabeth (———) Potts, came to Pennsylvania in 1683, in company with her mother and possibly others of the family. On 9 mo. 11, 1686, she married John Austin, of Bucks County, at the house of Edmund Bennett. The Middletown Monthly Meeting of Friends has a record of the marriage. The Marriage Certificate was signed by the contracting parties and witnesses as follows,

Edmund Bennett	John Otter	JOHN AUSTIN
Elizabeth Bennett ✕	John ✕ Closa	JANE ‡ AUSTEN
Tho; Potts *	Michel Huff
Jonas Potts †	Will ^m Sanford
Elizabeth Potts ‡	F R
Samuel Spencer	James Spencer	frances Sanford

John Austin was by occupation a ship carpenter, and was early settled in Pennsylvania. He received from the Proprietor of Pennsylvania, November 1, 1683, a patent of confirmation for a lot of ground, 50 by 178 feet, (No. 151), on Chestnut Street, between Third and Fourth Streets. On August 20, 1686, he sold a portion of this ground, when he is styled "of the Town and County of Philadelphia, ship carpenter." He probably removed to Bucks County about this time, as at the time of his marriage on Nov. 11, of that year, he is styled as of Bucks County. On August 4, 1687, he sold another portion of the Chestnut Street lot, and is then styled "ship carpenter of the County of Bucks." He subsequently returned to Philadelphia, where he purchased of Francis Rawle, on January 30, 1696, a "bank lot," 102 by 250 feet, on the north side of Mulberry Street, from Front Street to the River, where he carried on the business of ship building.

* NOTE. For an account of Thomas Potts, See Chapter VII.

† NOTE. For an account of Jonas Potts, see Chapter VIII.

‡ NOTE. The Middletown Monthly Meeting has a record of the death of Elizabeth Potts as occurring on 10 mo. 4, 1690. Perhaps she was a daughter of Elizabeth Potts-Bennett and sister of Jane Potts-Austin.

The minutes of the Board of Property for 3 mo. 24, 1703, contains the following entry,*

Jno. Austen Producing a Warrant from the Office dat. 12, 7, mo. '84, signed Thom's Lloyd and Ja's Clayp. for 100 acres of Land to Eliz'th Pott, near the Welch, being her and her Daughter's head-right,† requests a Resurvey in Order to a Confirmation. Granted, the rent being settled One-half at a Penny p'r acre and the other half at a half Penny for her Daughter, being a Servant.‡

This one hundred acres granted to Elizabeth Pott and Jane her daughter, was sold to James Davis for £36, as shown by a deed dated 9 mo. 19, 1706, and recorded in the Recorder's Office at Philadelphia, in Deed-Book E 3, Vol. 6, page 42, of which the following is a brief abstract.

‡ NOTE. Among the early settlers who came into Pennsylvania were a very large number who were denominated as Servants. The liberal terms offered by Penn, greatly increased the number of those who came in this capacity, as they received 50 acres of headland, when their time expired, the same as others. The term did not necessarily imply a menial, but included mechanics, farm hands, agents, etc., employed by others, and were frequently relatives and those of equal social position. Sometimes their passage was paid in consideration of a specified term of service.

John Austin was a Friend and was attached to Philadelphia Meeting. He died about 1707 or 8, and letters of administration were granted to Jane Austin, his widow, February 25, 1707-8. She filed a bond in the sum of £400, with Henry Willis [or Willey] and "Jonas Potts, of Germantown, yeoman," as sureties. Both Jane Austin and Jonas Potts made their marks. The Inventory, made 11 mo. [Jan.] 6, 1707, and exhibited Feb. 25, 1707-8, amounted to £248 6 4, and consisted of ship-stuff and household goods.

Jane Austin, being "weak in body but of sound mind and memory," made her will Dec. 26, 1733, and died Sept. 14, 1734. The will is recorded in Will-Book E, page 309, at Philadelphia. She mentions son Samuel Austin; daughters Ann Robins, Elizabeth Chanel and Mary; grand-children John Robins, Mary Robins, John Austin, John Wood. The excutors were George Fitzwater, Anthony Morris and Jacob Shoemaker. Witnesses, Ezekiel Potts and John White.

CHAPTER VII.

Thomas Potts, (Miller), and Family.

THOMAS POTTS, SEN., was a resident of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. He seems to have come to Pennsylvania from Wales, it is supposed from Llangirrig or Llanidloes in Montgomeryshire. He was a miller by occupation, and was a party to numerous land conveyances, owning lands and mills in Bristol Township, and in New Jersey. He was a member of the Society of Friends and attached to Abington Monthly Meeting. He was an acceptable Public Friend, as ministers of that Society are termed, and, after 1700, traveled much in the service of Truth. In contemporary records he is variously styled "Thomas Potts, Sen.," "Thomas Potts, yeoman," and "Thomas Potts, miller," while recently he has often been referred to as "Thomas Potts, the Quaker Preacher." In this work he will be designated, when necessary, as "Thomas Potts, (Miller)."

1 Thomas Potts, (Miller), is first noticed in Pennsylvania, as a witness to the marriage certificate of John Austin and Jane Potts, on 9 mo. 11, 1686. At the marriage of Friends it was and is customary for those present to sign the marriage certificate as witnesses, the relatives of the contracting parties, signing first and following each other in the order of nearest connection. In this instance, Thomas Potts signs immediately after the mother of the bride, which is a strong evidence of near relationship.

His first purchase of land seems to have been, 150 acres on the west side of the Schuylkill River, bought 10 mo. 5,

In 1707, James Farmer, from Essex, John Bradley, from Cheshire, Thomas Potts, from Pennsylvania, also divers other ministering Friends from this nation, were diligent in the exercise of their gifts, both in meetings held among Friends and strangers.

In 1711, he made a visit to Maryland, and on his return immediately prepared for a journey into New England, as it appears from the following entry in the Abington Monthly Meeting minutes of 4 mo. 25, 1711.

Our friend Thomas Potts lately returned from Maryland upon y^e Service of Truth, & recommended of good Service from Tredevan Creek & now the said Thomas having declared that he finds a concern on him to Visit friends at New England, requests a Certificate In order for y^e Said Service, which allso was granted.

He was accompanied by Thomas Chalkley upon this visit, and it is probable that they visited Friends on Long Island and at other points on the route of travel. It may be that it was upon this, or a similar journey, Thomas Potts first met Judith Smith, of Flushing, whom he married in the next year. The minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting for 5 mo. 28, 1712, show that

A Certificate was granted Thomas Potts in order to proceed on towards Marriage with Judith Smith of Long Island.

The marriage was accomplished not long afterwards, as shown by the following abstract from the Friends records of marriages at Long Island.*

The foreteenths day of the Sixth Month Ano One thousand seven hundred & twelve. At flushing—Thomas Potts of Bristol township in y^e county of Philadelphia in pensilvania and Judith Smith of flushing, &c.

In the latter part of the year 1712, he again visited Friends in Maryland, and on 2 mo. 25, 1715,

A Certificate was granted Thomas Potts in order to go to visit Friends in Barbadoes, upon y^e Service of Truth.

Sometime after his return he made arrangements to settle in Maryland, and on 11 mo. 30, 1715,

A Certificate was granted Thomas Potts in order to Settle in Maryland.

He removed to Talbot County, Maryland, where he continued to live for some time. While a resident of Maryland, he issued a letter of attorney to Joseph Kirkbride of Bucks County, empowering him to sell his land, house and mills in Somerset County, New Jersey. The original document remains on file in the office of the Department of State at Trenton. It is as follows,

On 2 mo. 18, 1712, the signing of the deed was confirmed by Peter Shoemaker and Isaac Shoemaker. [See Deed-Book E 7, Vol. 8, p. 175. Phila.]

In 1706, Thomas Potts, of Bristol Township, yeoman, sold to Everard Bolton a one fourth interest in certain lands and two water corn mills or grist mills in Bristol Township, commonly known as "Potts's Mills." In the same year Thomas Potts, Sen., of Bristol Township, miller, and George Gray, of the City of Philadelphia, merchant, were parties to several real estate conveyances of lands, etc., in Bristol Township.

On Dec. 26, 1617, Thomas Potts, Sen., of Bristol Township, miller, purchased of William Dilworth, 100 acres in said Township, "beginning at the corner of the City Liberties," etc.

On September 2, 1718, Thomas Potts, Senr., of Bristol Township, yeoman, purchased two small tracts of land in said Township from Joshua Fincher and Elizabeth, his wife. On the same day Thomas Potts and Judith, his wife, made a deed to Joshua Fincher for a lot in the same Township.

Among public records are to be found a number of original signatures of Thomas Potts. They are marked by certain characteristics that make them readily recognized and easily distinguished from those of any of his contemporaries who bore the same name. Below is a good copy of his signature attached to the appraisers' list of the effects of John Powell, who died at sea in 1698 while on his way to Pennsylvania.

FIRST MEETING PLACE OF GERMANTOWN FRIENDS.

MEMORANDA.—The modest two-story building in the center, now known as 4537 Germantown Avenue, Germantown, is built on the site of the original dwelling house of Thones Kunders, and the north wall at the left is believed to be part of the original Kunders house. It was in Thones Kunders' house that the first meeting of the Germantown Friends was held, and it is likely that they continued to meet here from time to time for worship, until the erection of the Meeting House in 1705. Doubtless among the worshipers were Thomas, Jonas and David Potts, and here the voice of Thomas Potts may have been heard in testimony. No print of the first Friends Meeting House is known to be in existence.

Thomas Potts and David Potts were witnesses to the will of William Howell, of Cheltenham Township, Philadelphia County, made 12 mo. 20, 1709. Below is a fair copy of Thomas Potts' signature,

Other signatures will appear appended to copies of important papers.

Thomas Potts was an earnest and active member of the religious Society of Friends, being attached to the Germantown Preparative Meeting, which was under the care of the Abington Monthly Meeting. From the minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting* and other sources, it appears, that from about 1705 to the end of his life, he devoted himself very largely to the duties of a public Friend or religious minister, traveling and visiting Friends in the service of Truth, in Maryland, Virginia, New England, the West Indies, England, Ireland, and other places.

In Hazard's Register, it is stated that "About this time [1705] or the last year, Thomas Potts of Pennsylvania went to pay a visit to Friends in England and Ireland," and in 1705 William Penn, writing from England, mentions Thomas Potts as about to return to Pennsylvania. Two years later he again visited England and Ireland, having been granted a Certificate for that purpose by Abington Monthly Meeting on 3 mo. 26, 1707. In the same year Thomas Chalkley mentions Thomas Potts, in his journal, as a companion of himself and Anthony Morris, on a visit to Friends in the West Indies, from whence they sailed for England. Ruttly's History of the Rise and Progress of the People called Quakers in Ireland, etc., Dublin, 1751, has the following,

* NOTE. The early minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting are very meager and evidently incomplete. It is possible that the original minutes were written upon separate slips of paper and subsequently copied into a book, when some of the slips may have been lost.

1692, from John Blunston, attorney for William Shardlow, of London, England. The deed recorded at Philadelphia in Deed-Book E 7, Vol. 9, page 53, is as follows, Know all men that I John Blunston of Darby in the County of Chester for the consideration of nine Pounds of Current Money of Pennsylvania to him paid by Thomas Pott of Phila C. the Receipt whereof he doth hereby acknowledge Hath by Virtue of a Lett^r of Attorney, duly executed under the hand and Seal of William Shardlow of London Merchant dated the thirtieth day of September (1691) and Recorded in the Registry for the s^d County of Chester in Book A, page 58, given granted Enfeoffed & by these p'sents confirmed unto the s^d Thomas Potts all that Tract of Land on the West Side of Schuylkill. Sealed & delivered in the presence of Joseph Wood and John Wood.

Acknowledged in open Court held at Philad^a the 7th of the 1st Month 1693 Witness, John White, Deputy Clarke, and the County Seal. Recorded the 12th 1st mo. 1712-3.

On 2 mo. 2, 1695, "Thomas Potts, of Philadelphia, Yeoman, for ye consideration of 75 pounds current silver money of Pennsylvania, to him paid by David Hugh, of Merion in the Welch tract, yeoman," conveyed "all that tract of land with buildings and improvements," * * * "scituate on the west side of Skoolkill," etc., containing 150 acres, formerly purchased of John Blunston, the 5th day of the tenth month, 1692. The witnesses to this latter deed were Thomas Pritchard, David Potts, and Francis Cooke.

The earlier public records are frequently quite deficient, as in many instances the recording of deeds was long delayed or they were not recorded at all. The Deed-Books at Philadelphia, show at least some of the land transactions of Thomas Potts. He built two water corn mills or grist mills on a branch of Frankford Creek, not far from Germantown, that were long known as "Potts's Mills," or "Potts' Mills." Among land conveyances, aside from the foregoing, are the following,

On 4 mo. 28, 1699, Thomas Potts, yeoman, purchased 100 acres of land in Bristol Township, from Jacob Shumaker, (or Shoemaker),* and on Sept. 6, 1705, he bought another tract in the same Township, from the said Shoemaker.

On "29, 9ber, 1705," Heifert Papen of Germantown, conveyed two tracts of land in Germantown, one parcel of $21\frac{1}{4}$ acres and another of $28\frac{3}{4}$, containing together 50 acres, to Samuel Richardson, Richard Townsend, Thomas Potts, Sr., and Samuel Cart, all of the County of Philadelphia, yeomen. Thomas Potts, Sen., by a deed dated Oct. 2, 1707, sold and set over his interest in these two tracts to the other three partners. On October 8, 1711, Samuel Richardson, Richard Townsend and Samuel Cart, in consideration of £200, executed a deed, conveying this same 50 acres in German township, to Thomas Potts, Sr., Thomas Canby,

* NOTE. On June 17, 1699, Jacob Shoemaker made a deed to John Moore for land in Bristol Township, which is partially described as "Bounded Easterly by former land of said John Moore, Southerly by the City Liberties, Westerly by the said Jacob's Land sold to his Brother-in-Law Thomas Potts, and northerly by Land of Samuel Richardson, as the same is actually divided." As Thomas Potts was then unmarried, (we believe), to have been brothers-in-law, Jacob Shoemaker must have married Thomas Potts' sister. This view is supported by the fact that Jacob Shoemaker's children signed Potts marriage certificates among relatives, and were in other ways associated with the Potts family. Jacob Shoemaker's wife's name was Margaret. He came to Pennsylvania in 1685, a single man.

No deeds of conveyance of this property have come to the notice of the compiler, and neither the date of purchase nor sale can be given. Stony Brook is a short distance south of the town of Princeton, and within the limits of the present County of Mercer.

Thomas Potts returned to Pennsylvania from Maryland in about a year and a half, and on 6 mo. 26, 1717, the minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting contain this record.

Thomas Potts produced a Certificate from Treadevan in Maryland which was read and accepted.

He subsequently made one or two other visits to Friends to the southward. On 6 mo. 25, 1718, a Monthly Meeting minute shows that

Thomas Potts acquainted friends that he is minded to travail Down Towards y^e Capes of Delaware & Desires a Certificate: The Meeting Do appoint Dennis Cundras & John Lucan to make Enquiry how he leaves his Bussiness.

He was frequently appointed to attend Quarterly Meetings, and on 12 mo. 23, 1718, he was appointed "to visit families."

On 1 mo. 30, 1719, is this entry, which probably refers to an intended visit to the southward.

At this Meeting things was found Clear Relating to Tho^s Potts and a Certificate was granted him.

At this Meeting Thomas Potts having lately Returned fro: traveling in Meryland & Virginia Produced a Certificate from Treadaven Monthly Meeting.

Thomas Potts did not survive long after his return from this visit, as he died before October [8 mo.] 3, 1719, the date on which his will was probated. He was undoubtedly a man of rare worth and exemplary character. William Penn calls him "honest Thomas Potts," and an estimate of his character may be gathered from the Penn and Logan Correspondence.

The age of Thomas Potts has not been ascertained. As he signs as a witness to a marriage certificate in 1686, it is probable that he was then a well grown youth or a young man. When he purchased land in 1692, he must have been above twenty one years of age. It seems reasonable to conclude that he was at least forty old when he married Judith Smith in 1712, and fifty years or over when he died.

Thomas Potts left a will, dated 3 mo. [May], 6, 1719. It was proven October 3, 1719, and is recorded in the Register's office at Philadelphia in Will-Book D, p. 133. The following is a copy taken from the original will remaining on file in the said office.

W^r Judith Potts

Exhibited 27th 6 : 1722

In 1724, Judith Potts, the widow, married Thomas Sharp, as her second husband. The minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting of 2 mo. 27, 1724, has a record of their passing meeting, beginning thus, Whereas Thomas Sharp of West Jersey & Judith Potts Widdow having Declared their Intentions of Marriage with Each Other before two Monthly Meetings, etc.

The marriage very likely took place shortly afterwards.

Thomas Sharp was a widower with several grown-up children. He died within a few years after this second marriage. His will is recorded in Liber 3, folio 55, in the Department of State at Trenton. He is therein described as "Thomas Sharp, of Newtown, Gloucester County, West Jersey, yeoman." The will is dated 8 mo. 5, 1724. He mentions his wife; his sons Thomas, John, Samuel and Joseph; and daughters Elizabeth Hallowell, Mary Smith and Sarah Pearce. Executors, friends John Estaugh and Joseph Cooper, Jr. Witnesses, Benjamin Thackera, Joseph Thackera and Mary Thackera. Both persons named as executors declined to serve, as also did Judith Sharp, the widow. Samuel Sharp, one of the sons was appointed administrator on the — day of —, 1728.

There are on record at Philadelphia, several deeds for the conveyance of lands in Bristol Township, formerly property of Thomas Potts, late deceased. On March 1, 1741, Thomas Potts, of Bristol Township, Susanna his wife, and Judith Sharp, formerly Judith Potts, mother of the said Thomas, join in a mortgage, covering one hundred acres in said township, in favor of Mary Carter. In 1744 and 1748, Judith Sharp, Thomas Potts, Jr., and Susanna, his wife, heirs of Thomas Potts, Sr., join in deeds for the sale of lands in Bristol Township to Robert Strettel.

James Logan, on April 4, 1718, purchased a one fourth interest in the "Potts Corn Mill," in Bristol Township, for £200. The property included fifteen acres of land. The Pennsylvania Gazette for April 2, 1744, contained an advertisement for the sale of Potts' Mill. Another advertisement appeared August 21, 1746.

Judith Sharp died about June, 1749. Her will is dated 2 mo. 6, 1748, and was proven July 8, 1749. It is recorded at Philadelphia, in Will-Book —, folio —. The will opens as follows,

Be it Remembered that I, Judith Sharp, of Bristol township in the county of Philadelphia & province of Pensilvania, widow, being an-tient & sometimes Indisposed in body, But through Mercy am at the signing & publication hereof of sound mind & memory. Having several grand Children, I have thought proper to Distribute some part of my substance among them by this my last will & Testament in manner following. That is to say, etc.

She enumerates divers articles of personal property which she directs shall be given to each of her grandchildren when they become of age or marry. She names them in this order, Hannah Potts, John Potts, Rachel Potts, Lydia Potts, Rebecca Potts and Jasper Potts. To the grandson John Potts, she gave "a Black walnut chest, a Silver cup, a silver seal* & a Bible. She further says,

All the rest of my moveables or personals or Estate whatsoever, I give & bequeath the same to my beloved son Thomas Potts, who in conjunction with my esteemed friends Thomas Roberts, Jnr & John Roberts, both of the township aforesd, I appoint as Executors.

On 3 mo. 20, 1749, she added this codicil,

MEMORANDUM. Whereas I the said Judith Sharp, having in the body of this will given & bequeathed to my son Thomas Potts, the Residue of my estate, not before given to my grand children, my will is therefore that in lieu of the s^d Residue in my s^d Will given to him my s^d son Tho^s Potts, I do hereby give & bequeath unto him the sum of Five Shillings current money of this province in full of his part of my Estate, and the Remainder of my Estate I give & bequeath to all my Grand Children to be equally divided amongst them, provided nevertheless that my Daughter in law Susana Potts shall have the use thereof during her natural life, and she shall not be accountable for my horse & two Cows as they are perishable. My Will is that this be added as a codicil to my last will & Testament. In witness whereof I have set my hand & seal this twentieth day of third month 1749.

The appraisement was made by Thomas Rose and John Roberts and amounted to £49 12 4. Thomas Roberts, Jr., and John Roberts both declined to serve as executors, and letters were issued to Thomas Potts.

2 Thomas Potts, Jr.,² (Bristol), (Thomas,¹), son of Thomas and Judith (Smith) Potts, was born about 1713, it is supposed. About 1732, he married Susanna ———. The marriage was accomplished in a manner "contrary to Discipline of frst," and on 1 mo., 26, 1733, they made an acknowledgment for their "Disorderly Walking," which was accepted. This shows that Susanna was also a Friend, but her maiden name is not given. They resided in Bristol Township, and when necessary for the purpose of distinction, he will be referred to as "Thomas Potts, Jr., (Bristol)."

He died about the early part of 1751, and letters of administration were issued to Susanna Potts, his widow, May 29, 1751. Susanna Potts did not long remain a widow, as on Dec. 24, 1751, she married Job Compton. The records of Abington Presbyterian Church have a minute of the marriage. No further account of Job and Susanna Compton has been found in Pennsylvania, and it is supposed that they removed to New Jersey, possibly to Somerset County, where the Compton family have long been established. It was in this County that Thomas Potts, (Miller), formerly owned land and mills. No will or letters of administration of either Job or Susanna Compton has been found. Within the present Century, two persons named Job Compton have died in Somerset County, but the Job Compton, who married Susanna Potts, belonged to an earlier generation than either of these.

4 John Potts,³ (Thomas,² Thomas,¹), son of Thomas and Susanna (——) Potts, may be the same who married Mercy King, and lived at Kingwood in (now) Hunterdon County, New Jersey. John Potts, of Kingwood, will be treated of below.

6 Lydia Potts,³ (Thomas,² Thomas,¹), daughter of Thomas and Susanna (——) Potts, may be the same who married John Pinkerton, by license, Feb. 27, 1762. She survived her husband and died in 1811. Her will dated Sep. 8, 1811, and proven Nov. 11, 1811, is recorded in Will-Book 4, page 16, at Philadelphia. She is described as widow, of Philadelphia, and mentions son John and his children Lydia and Elsie; also her daughters Rebecca Carnes(?) and Sarah McGregor. Witnesses, Charles Widdis(?) and John Ashmead.

7 Rebecca Potts,³ (Thomas,² Thomas,¹), daughter of Thomas and Susanna (——) Potts, seems to be the same who married Rev. Nicholas Cox, at Philadelphia, March 14, 1764.* Nicholas Cox was born March 24, 1742, in New Castle County, Delaware. He entered the Baptist ministry at Philadelphia in 1771, and became pastor of the Baptist Church at Kingwood, Hunterdon County, New Jersey, in 1784.†

1 John Potts, (Kingwood).† A John Potts was settled at Kingwood in Hunterdon County, New Jersey, who is believed to have been John the son of Thomas, Jr., and Susanna (——) Potts, of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, though the proof of such relationship is yet incomplete. There seems to be no other John for this place, and one or more of Thomas and Susanna's children are known to have settled in New Jersey. Also, this John Potts was neighbor to, and closely associated with, other Potts' from Pennsylvania.

John Potts married Mercy King, daughter of William and Abigail (Doughty) King. She was born June 4, 1738. They lived at Kingwood, not far from Pittstown. John Potts was probably a farmer, and was a neighbor to Daniel Potts, a native of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. In 1797, he went on the refunding bond of Rebecca (Emley) Potts, widow of his late neighbor Daniel Potts. So far as known John and Mercy Potts had but two children.

Pedigree of Thomas Potts, (Miller), 's Family.

CHAPTER VIII.

Jonas Potts, of Philadelphia County.

I Jonas Potts is first noticed in Pennsylvania as a witness to the marriage certificate of John Austin and Jane Potts, 9 mo. 11, 1686.* He was a resident of Germantown, Philadelphia County, and vicinity for a number of years, where he sometimes held local offices under the government. Later he settled on land in Gilbert's Manor, not far from the present town of Royersford in Montgomery County. He was a party to several transactions in the purchase and sale of lands in Philadelphia County.

Among different lines of descendants are several traditions, which probably have some elements of truth in them, as well as inaccuracies. One tradition alleges that Jonas Potts came from England in the sixteenth [seventeenth] century and settled in Pennsylvania. Another claims that the first of the family came to Pennsylvania with William Penn. Another alleges that the first Potts settlers in Pennsylvania came from Wales, emigrating from there on account of religious persecution. All agree that the first settlers were Friends or Quakers.

By a deed dated June 12, 1693, he purchased 133 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres of land in Cheltenham Township, Philadelphia [now Montgomery] County, from Jacob Tellner.† This was part of a larger tract, originally granted to Edward Jefferson, of Ashwell, County Hereford, England, malster, and Mercy, his wife. The said Jefferson dying, his widow, Mercy, married Thomas Phillips, and they conveyed to Francis Richardson in 1684, who conveyed 400 acres to Jacob Tellner in 1688, and now the said Jacob Tellner conveys one third thereof to Jonas Potts, as above stated. The tax-list of Philadelphia County for 1693, (the earliest known to be in existence), contains an entry of "Thomas Whitton & Jonas Potts." assessed together in Cheltenham Township.

† NOTE. This deed does not seem to be on record, but is referred to in the deed of sale of the same property, recorded in Deed-Book 80, page 574, in the Recorder's Office at Norristown, Pennsylvania.

By a deed dated December 8, 1701, Jonas Potts sold this land in Cheltenham, to James Williams, of Darby, Chester County, blacksmith, for £60, and appointed David Lloyd, his attorney to acknowledge the same in Court, which was done on March 1st, following. The witnesses to the deed were, William Hudson, John Bond, and David Lloyd. It is recorded at Norristown, in Deed-Book 80, page 574. It is a little singular and worthy of notice that, though the deed was made in 1701, it was not recorded until the year 1851, or one hundred and fifty years afterward.

Jonas Potts held the office of Ranger for the County of Philadelphia, his term of office expiring in 1702. He also held the office of Court Sheriff for Germantown at one time. He seems to have been a man of determination, and perhaps of an impetuous temperament, as upon one occasion, in making arrest, it is said that he handled the man so roughly as to have almost killed him.

He was a member of the Society of Friends, but does not appear to have been very active in meeting affairs. The imperfect records of the early Meetings do not show a very clear record of his consecutive connection with the Society. He seems to have been under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting, but later in life may have resorted to Gwynedd, or some Meeting in that vicinity.

About the year 1703, Jonas Potts seems to have been in straitened circumstances, perhaps by reason of his wife's long continued illness. Radnor Monthly Meeting minutes of 2 mo. 8, 1703, contain this entry, Gwynedd friends have laid before this meeting that Jonas Potts & his wife being poore, and haveing divers small children, want assistance to buy a Cow, they formerly Resorting or belonging to another monthly meeting, friends of this meeting desire that they bring a Certificate from that monthly meeting to the next monthly meeting, and their Proposall is left to the further Consideration of the meeting.

At the next Monthly Meeting, held 3 mo. 13, 1703, friends Conclude to collect 5*£* to Jonas Potts to lend him to buy a Cow, that is to say 2*£* from Merion meeting, 1^l 10^s from Radnor meeting, and 1*£* 10^s from Haverford and Newtowne meetings, and he is desired to bring a Certificate from the monthly meeting where they formerly Resorted, and the Collectors appointed in the severall meetings are desired to Collect them, to be brought to the next monthly meeting.

On 3 mo. 31, 1703, Abington Monthly Meeting granted a Certificate to Jonas Potts' wife, being removed to North Wales. It has been alleged that her parents lived at that place. The minutes of Radnor Monthly Meeting of 5 mo. 8, 1703, state that "Mary Potts Certificate from friends of Dublin Monthly Meeting was read in this meeting & ordered to be Recorded." The minutes of the same Monthly Meeting for 6 mo. 12, 1703, have this entry, Jonas Potts Certificate not brought to this meeting, and his wife being weakly and sickly, wanting present assistance and 5*£* being mostly Collected, as the meeting formerly appointed, are Lent to the womens meeting to be given to her assistance, they not haveing stock to assist them at present.

The first essay of the foregoing minute is crossed off. It contains the name of Mary Potts as wife of Jonas. The minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting of 1 mo. 31, 1707, contain this entry, Whereas Jonas Potts wife having been a long while Sick : whereby his ffamily Stand in great need of Assistance, Friends do appoint Dennis Cunnard and Arnold Klinker to assist y^m with Some money out of their Subscription.

On 5 mo. 31, 1710, Abington Monthly Meeting granted a Certificate to Jonas Potts, "in order for his removal to Perquamen," [Perkiomen].

On October 2, 1705, "Jonas Potts, of Germantown, planter," purchased from "Arnold Koster, of Germantown, bricklayer," two tracts of land, aggregating 50 acres, for £27.* One of these tracts was described as containing $20\frac{3}{4}$ acres, in the inhabited part of Germantown; and the other as containing $29\frac{1}{4}$ acres of side land. These were parts of a large tract of land originally granted by the Proprietor to Benjamin Furley, in 1682. Benjamin Furley conveyed 200 acres thereof to John Luken, June 8, 1683. John Luken and Mary his wife sold to Eve Bellinge, 3 mo. 8, 1697, and he sold the two tracts of 50 acres to Paul Engell, 12 mo. 1, 1697-8. Paul Engell sold to Arnold Koster, 3 mo. 13, 1699, who in turn sold it to Jonas Potts as above stated.

On December 28, 1708, "Jonas Potts, of Germantown, husbandman," sold the first mentioned lot, "and now in Tenure and occupation of the abovesaid Jonas Potts," containing $20\frac{3}{4}$ acres, to Herman Casdorp, for £60. It was described as bounded on the south east by lot of Isaac Van Sintern, north by lot of Jacob Gottschalk, 14 perches in breadth, and extending from Germantown Street, as all other lots "to y^e hindermost line of s^d town." Jonas Potts made his mark, I P.†

On December 13, 1709, "Jonas Potts, of Germantown, planter," in consideration of £37, sold the other lot containing $29\frac{1}{4}$ acres, to Conrad Rutters. The witnesses were Thomas Potts and Francis Daniel Pastorius. Jonas Potts made his mark, I P.‡

* See Deed-Book B, 2, page 391, at Philadelphia.

The account book of Francis Daniel Pastorius, which is still in existence, contains charges against Jonas Potts for drawing up agreements, bonds, and other legal papers, and for teaching his children.

On 2 mo. 10, 1712, Jonas Potts leased 200 acres in Gilbert's Manor,* from the Board of Property, for a term of five years at a yearly rental of £8, he to have the privilege of purchasing when the land should be for sale. On 10 mo. 31, 1712, the Board of Property make a minute to the effect that Jonas Potts, having obtained of the late Commissioners, a grant of 300 acres in Gilberts Manor for seven years under a certain rent, now applies for the privilege of purchasing it. He is first ordered to pay the arrears due on his lease, and after an exact survey of the whole Manor has been made, he is to have the preference over all others in the purchase, by paying as good a price for it.

Minute-Book H, of the Board of Property, under date of 20th 11 mo. 1713, contain these entries, James Hamer, of the County of Philad'a, desiring to purchase 300 Acres of Land in the Mannor of Gilberts, next above that Part of it where Jonas Potts is settled, upon a Lease granted him about the Year 1708, agrees to pay Seventy-five Pounds for the same (or £25 per C.) one Moiety thereof in Three Months and the other Moiety in Six Months after, with Int. for s'd Six Months, and a Warr't signed, dated thi 20th 11 mo. 1713-4.

Jonas Potts, at the same time with the forementioned James Hamer, desires that he may Purchase on the same Terms those 300 a's in Gilberts, which he held 5 years on Lease at £3, Old Currency, p. an., but before the above mentioned 300 Acres be laid out J. Hamer he desires that 50 a's more may be added to the first 200 a's at the same rate, all which is granted, and the s'd J. Hamer agrees to begin so much Higher up provided that the Spott of low Land which otherwise might have fallen within his Lines be left to him, which is mutually agreed between them. A Warr't to be granted.

* NOTE. The Manor of Gilberts comprised the whole of the present Township of Upper Providence, nearly all of Lower Providence, and parts of Perkiomen and Worcester Townships, bisected by Perkiomen Creek, in Montgomery [formerly Philadelphia] County.

Whether Jonas Potts secured a full title to this property or not, is not clear. Among his descendants in Virginia, is a tradition that they are heirs to a tract of land at Pottsgrove, (?) Pennsylvania, which belonged to their ancestor, and had never been distributed.

On 6 mo. 31, 1713, Abington Monthly Meeting granted a Certificate to Jonah [Jonas] Potts "in order for his removal to Philadelphia." The Philadelphia Monthly Meeting records the death of Deborah Potts, daughter of Jonas and Mary, on 7 mo. 24, 1718.

On 8 mo. 15, 1719, a double wedding took place at the house of Jonas Potts, at which two of his daughters were married. In one of the Certificates, Jonas Potts is said to be of Gilberts Manor, and in the other, of Perquemans Creek.

About the year 1726, Jonas Potts had a contract for furnishing walnut logs for the Proprietor's use, as appears from an order, dated 2d 6 mo., 1726, which is recorded in Minute-Book I, of the Board of Property. Below is a copy of the order.

Friend JONAS POTTS: I desire thee to deliver to the bearer hereof, John Head, all those black Walnut Loggs which thee some time ago secured for the Prop'r's use, and his rec't with this Order shall be thy suff't discharge for the same. From ffr'd J.[AMES] S.[TEEL]

In 1737, Jonas Potts, of Limerick, signed [by his mark] a mortgage, as may be seen by the Loan Books in the Recorder's Office at Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania Gazette of June 13, 1754, contained the following advertisement,

By virtue of a writ to me directed, will be exposed to sale by public vendue, about 3 a clock on the 29th day of June, inst. at the premises, a plantation with a messuage and grist mill, situated in Limerick township, bounded by the river Schuylkill, by Mingo Creek and by lands of Joseph Burson and Jonas Potts, a part of which is fine improved meadow, with a small piece of land for a millrace, late the estate of John Starr: taken in execution. SAMUEL MORRIS, Sheriff.

Joseph Burson was a son-in-law of Jonas Potts, and probably occupied land taken up by George Burson, his father, about 1713. Joseph Burson seems to have removed to Virginia about 1753.

It is believed that Jonas Potts was twice married, and that he had children by both marriages.* Both wives were named Mary, but no record of marriage nor an authenticated list of his children has been found. The names of his children as given below is believed to be correct so far as has been ascertained at this writing. There may have been other children not therein named. No record of death nor decedent's account of Jonas Potts has been found, and as some of his children settled in Virginia, he may have followed them there.

3 Rachel Potts,² (Jonas,¹), daughter of Jonas and Mary (—) Potts, married Joseph Burson, 8 mo. 15, 1719. Joseph Burson is described as "of Gilberts Maner in the County of Philadelphia, Batchelor," and Rachel as "daughter of Jonas Potts of the same place." The marriage took place at the house of the bride's father. The following are the names of witnesses signing the marriage certificate, as shown by the records of Gwynedd Monthly Meeting.

Joseph Burson seems to have been a son of George and Hannah (Gooda?) Burson, born 12 mo. 25, 1689.* The advertisement printed on page 225, ante, shows that he had land not far from Jonas Potts. He probably inherited land taken up by his father, George Burson, about 1713. He removed to Virginia about 1753, as on 8 mo. 25, of that year, Joseph Burson, Sen., and Joseph Burson, Jun., produced certificates to Fairfax Monthly Meeting of Friends, from Buckingham Monthly Meeting in Pennsylvania. On 9 mo. 30, 1758, he was appointed Overseer of Potts' Particular Meeting, and was released in 1762. This Meeting was held at the house of David Potts, (2).

In 1770, he had trouble with the executor of his son's estate. No record of Joseph Burson's children has been noticed, but it is probable that Joseph Burson, Junior, was a son. About the same time that Joseph Burson is first noticed in Virginia, George, David and James Burson appear, but whether sons of Joseph or not, has not been learned.

4 Elizabeth Potts,² (Jonas,¹), daughter of Jonas and Mary (—) Potts, married William Heald 8 mo. 15, 1719.

* See records of Abington Monthly Meeting.

He is described as "of Kennett in the County of Chester, son of Samuel," and Elizabeth as "spinster, daughter of Jonas Potts of Perqueoman Creek." The witnesses who signed the marriage certificate were the following.

This marriage took place at the house of Jonas Potts, and many of the witnesses, as well of this, as of the marriage of Elizabeth Potts and Joseph Burson, were near relatives.* It is said that after the festivities of this double wedding, the

* NOTE. Among those related to the brides may be noted, Jonas Potts, father; Mary Potts, mother or step-mother; David Potts, brother or uncle, probably the former; Hannah Potts, supposed to be a sister. The other Potts', as well as the Shoemakers, Austins, and Margaret (Potts) Cox, all seem to have been cousins of the brides. The Hamers [Hammers] were neighbors of the Potts family, both in Wales [See pages 65 and 67, ante,] and Pennsylvania, and may have been related. James Hamer, of Gilbert's Manor, had a wife Margaret, and children, James, Adam, Margaret, Mary, Sarah, and Deborah.

William Heald was the son of Samuel and Mary (Bancroft) Heald, and was born 2 mo, 20, 1694, at Eckles in Cheshire, England. No further record has been found, except a mention of William Heald in the minutes of Kennett Monthly Meeting in 1737.

6 Jonathan Potts,¹ (Jonas,¹), son (?) of Jonas and Mary (——) Potts, born 1714, removed first to Virginia, and subsequently to Kentucky. His wife's name seems to have been Amy. She was born in 1718 and was living in 1790. They seem to have had eight children, but the names of only five have been learned. A special Chapter will be devoted to Jonathan Potts and his family.

Below is given a tabular statement of two generations of the descendants of Jonas Potts. While this is probably incomplete, it is believed to be correct so far as stated. A study of the several Chapters treating of the different lines of this family, will give a clearer understanding.

CHAPTER IX.

David Potts. of Philadelphia County.

I DAVID POTTS. The time of his coming to Pennsylvania has not been learned, but he is first noticed as the bondsman of Elizabeth (Potts) Bennett, as administratrix, of the estate Edmund Bennett, deceased, her late husband. The bond was signed 7 mo. 24, 1693. He married Alice Croasdale, youngest daughter of Thomas and Agnes (Hathornthwaite) Croasdale, 1 mo. 22, 1693-4. In 1695 he purchased 150 acres of land in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. He afterwards sold 50 acres of this tract, retaining 100 acres, upon which he seems to have spent the remainder of his life as a farmer.

He was a member of the Religious Society of Friends, being attached to the Germantown Preparative Meeting, and under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting, in Philadelphia County. His name occurs quite frequently in the minutes of the Monthly Meeting, and he was often appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting.

He was a man of good standing in the community, and was a Member of the Provincial Assembly from Philadelphia County, for the years 1728, 1729 and 1730. He died on Monday, Nov. 16, 1730, while a Member of the Assembly, and leaving a will. Alice Croasdale, his wife, was born 7 mo. 3, 1673. The date of her death is not known, but she evidently died before her husband, as he does not mention her in his will.

PART III, of this work will be devoted to a full account of David Potts and his descendants.

CHAPTER X.

Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale).

1 THOMAS POTTS, Junior, as he was usually designated, seems to have come to Pennsylvania, in 1698. He was born in the year 1680, in Wales, according to the traditions preserved in the family. He was twice married, first to Martha Ketrlis, and second to Magdalen Robeson. For several years he was a resident of Germantown and vicinity, but subsequent to 1726 he settled permanently at Colebrookdale, now included within the limits of Berks County. He was an active, enterprising and successful business man. At his coming to Pennsylvania, he was unable to write, and for sometime made his mark to legal papers; but subsequently learned to write, and usually, if not always, signed his name "Thomas potts." When necessary for the sake of distinction, he will be referred to as "Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale)."

On March 7, 1697-8, David Powell, of the parish of Nantmell, and John Morris, of the parish of Karbadamfyneth, county of Radnor, Wales, entered into "Articles of freightment," with Owen Thomas, of the "County burrough of Carmathen, mercer, owner of the good shipp called the William Galley, now riding in the river Towy," to carry the said persons and others to "Philadelphia in Pensilvania," the said ship to sail with "the first and next good wind and weather that God shall send after the tenth of May next ensuing the date above written." Passengers above 12 years of age to be charged £5 each, and children, except babes, fifty shillings each. It was further agreed,

"that every master of a family among the sd. passengers having a wife and children, or a considerable family, shall pay att the time of their going aboard, ffive shillings encouragement to the Doctor belonging to the said shipp, and all single persons, except servants, pay one shilling apiece."

The County of Radnor joins Montgomery on the south, and the Parishes of Nautmell and Karbadamfyneth in Radnor, are not a long distance from Llangirrig, Llandinam, etc., in Montgomery. It is probable that all this party of emigrants were from this section of Wales, and many of them relatives or neighbors. The following is the passenger list, in which only the names of heads of families or contracting parties are given.*

During the voyage John Powell, one of the passengers, died, leaving a non-cupative will, made at sea. Thomas Potts, also a passenger, was a witnesses and made his mark. The will is recorded in the Register's Office at Philadelphia. The appraisers of Powell's effects were Thomas Potts, (Miller), and William James. [See page 204, ante].

Thomas Potts, Junior, while still in his minority, married Martha Keurlis, daughter of Peter ‡ and Elizabeth

† NOTE. Thomas Jarman settled in Tredyffrin Township, Chester County, and has been spoken of as "a Quaker preacher and thrifty miller." He died in 1740, and in his will made a bequest to "my old man John Potts."

‡ NOTE. Peter Keurlis was the head of one of the thirteen families who constituted the first settlement of Germantown. The name seems to have become corrupted into Kerlin, Courlin, and Corliss.

Keurlis, according to the usage practiced among Friends. The records of Abington Monthly Meeting contains the fol-entry relating thereto.

At a monthly meeting, held the 20th of 8th mo., 1699, whereas Thomas Potts and Martha Courlin, having declared their intentions of marriage with each other before two monthly meetings, inquiry being made by persons appointed and found clear from all others on account of marriage, did accomplish their marriage in the unity of Friends, as is signified by their marriage certificate.

Young Thomas Potts, at once, entered actively into public affairs and business transactions. Soon after attaining his majority, in 1702-3, he filled the office of Sheriff of Germantown. He made many purchases and sales of real estate, and as an authentic means of showing his place of residence and occupation, brief abstracts of some of his earlier deeds are given below. These abstracts are all from the Recorder's Office at Philadelphia.

Martha, the wife of Thomas Potts, is supposed to have died about 1716, and Thomas married as a second wife, Magdalen Robeson;* but neither the date of the death of Martha, nor the time of the second marriage seems to be known. About the same time, Thomas again took up his residence in Germantown.

Release, dated August 25 and 26, 1721, for $29\frac{3}{4}$ acres of land in Germantown, from Thomas Jones, et al.

There is a remarkable uniformity in the signatures of Thomas Potts, that have come to notice. In the Memorial of Thomas Potts, Junior, etc., By Mrs. Thomas Potts James, 1784, are shown copies of two of his signatures. [See one on page 76, and another facing page 92]. While a resident of Philadelphia, he was a witness to the will of John Mifflin, of the Northern Liberties, dated September 10, 1713. Here is a fair copy of his signature.

Thomas potts

After returning to Germantown, he was, on 2 mo. 29, 1722, a witness to the non-cupative will of John Samuel Pastorius, of Germantown, weaver. Below is a good copy of his signature as it appears in this instance.

Thomas potts

About the year 1726, Thomas Potts seems to have removed to the region of Gilbert's Manor, as he was one of the petitioners for the erection of Providence Township, which was organized in 1727. It included what are now Upper and Lower Providence, in Montgomery County.

About the year 1716, Thomas Rutter, a smith who lived near Germantown, removed to the region of Manatawney Creek, a tributary of the Schuylkill River, and erected the first Pool Forge, a few miles above the present town of Pottstown, where he began the manufacture of iron, the first in Pennsylvania. Some others became associated with Rutter in this enterprise, which required both skill and capital. Thomas Potts, Junior, became interested in the iron business, and by his previous application to business had probably accumulated considerable means. Mrs. Thomas Potts

James, in the Potts Memorial, says that, while she has been unable to find the evidence, she is convinced that Thomas Potts removed to the Manatawney region previous to 1720. Morton L. Montgomery, in Volume VIII, of the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, says it is supposed that the Colebrookdale Furnace* was erected in the year 1720 or a year or two earlier, by Thomas Rutter, Anthony Morris, James Lewis and Thomas Potts. This furnace was located on Ironstone Creek, a branch of the Manatawney, and within a mile south of the present Boyertown.

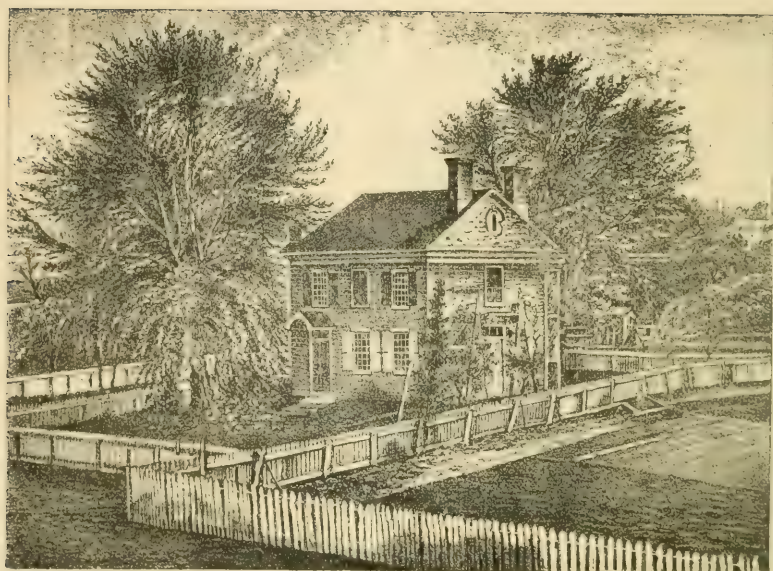

While Thomas Potts, Junior, may have been a member of this firm of iron masters in 1720 or earlier, he certainly did not remove to that region before 1726, because the deeds, heretofore quoted, clearly show that he was a resident of Germantown up to that year. He did eventually settle at Colebrookdale, and was actively associated with the Rutters and others in the developement of the iron interests of that section, and so continued to the close of his life.

Thomas Rutter, Sr., died about the year 1730, and Thomas Potts, Junior, purchased one half of the Colebrookdale tract, embracing two hundred and fifty acres, and including the mansion house, called "Popodickon." Within a few years, both sons of Thomas Rutter died, and the three sons of Thomas Potts intermarrying with three granddaughters of Rutter, a considerable part of the Rutter estate became vested in the Potts family. An abstract of a single deed will be sufficient to establish the identity of Thomas Potts, Junior.

Thomas Potts, of Colebrookdale, Philadelphia County, Iron-Master, and Magdalen his wife, a deed to Thomas Wilson, of the same place, yeoman, for 192 acres of land in Colebrookdale. Consideration, £150.

* NOTE. The furnace was named after one of the same name in Shropshire, in England. The surrounding territory naturally took the same name; and, subsequently, in 1736, upon its erection into a township, it was called "Colebrookdale."

HOMESTEAD OF ISAAC POTTS.

NOTE.—This house was occupied by General Washington as his headquarters during the memorable encampment at Valley Forge in the winter of 1777-8.

Thomas Potts had purchased this land from Gerhart Henkel, by deed dated May 23, 1736. [See Deed-Book E, Volume 9, page 281].

Thomas Potts died at Colebrookdale about January 1752. He was possessed of a large landed estate, including mines, furnaces and forges. In his will he mentions his wife Magdalen, his children and grandchildren. Many of the descendants of Thomas Potts, Junior, down to the present time, have been extensively engaged in iron manufacture. During the Revolutionary war, many heavy cannon and other war supplies were manufactured at the iron works operated by the Potts'. Members of the family filled honorable positions, both in the civil and military departments of the government. Dr. Jonathan Potts was a surgeon in the army, and in 1777, he was appointed by Congress to be Director General of the Hospitals of the Middle Department. It was at the house of Isaac Potts, another member of this family, that Gen. Washington had his head-quarters, during the memorable encampment at Valley Forge, in the winter of 1777-8.

This family attained high social position, great wealth and wide influence. Several genealogies of the descendants of this family have been compiled. The first was by the late William Baird Potts, of Pottsville; the second was by the late James H. Carr, of Philadelphia. Both these compilations are in manuscript. In 1874, the late Mrs. Thomas Potts James, of Cambridge, Massachussetts, published a historic-genealogy of this branch of the family, entitled a Memorial of Thomas Potts, Junior, etc. This is a handsome quarto volume of over 400 pages, and contains records of more than twelve hundred of his descendants, as well as much valuable historical matter.

In view of these former compilations, it is not intended to reprint, in this work, what has already been published, beyond a brief account of those of the second generation, and some pedigree diagrams. The record of the children of Thomas Potts, Junior, printed below, as well as the data for the annexed tabulated pedigrees, has been mainly drawn from the Memorial of Thomas Potts, Junior, etc., by Mrs. Thomas Potts James.

4 John Potts,² (Thomas, Junior,¹), son of Thomas, and Martha (Keurlis) Potts, was born about 1710, probably in the City of Philadelphia. He married Ruth Savage, daughter of Samuel and Ann (Rutter) Savage, April 11, 1734. The marriage was accomplished after the manner of Friends, though not under their care or jurisdiction. The following extract from the marriage certificate, shows the quaint proceedings incident to this important event.

WHEREAS John Pots of Coalbrook Dale; in the County of Philadelphia; and Province of Pennsylvania, Founder; and Ruth Savage of the Township of Coventry, and County of Chester, in the said Province; having with consent of Parents and Relations Concerned, Declared their Intention of taking Each other In marriage, by a paper

John Potts, like his father, was an enterprising business man, and for many years was the largest and most successful iron-master in the American Colonies, operating mines, furnaces and forges, not only in Pennsylvania, but also in Virginia. He long filled the office of Justice of the Peace, and was also a Judge of the Court Common Pleas.

In 1752, he purchased two tracts of land at the confluence of the Manatawney Creek and Schuylkill River, aggregating nearly one thousand acres. Here he laid out the town originally called Pottsgrove. Subsequently this name was applied to the township occupying the northwestern division of Montgomery County, and the village took the name of Pottstown. John Potts' descendants are very frequently spoken of as the "Pottstown Family."

John Potts' land embraced nearly four thousand acres, with mines, furnaces, forges, grist mills, saw mills, farms, etc. He also owned houses, stores and wharves in the City of Philadelphia. He died at Pottsgrove, June 6, 1768, and his thirteen children followed his body to the grave. Ruth his widow died January 7, 1786. They lie buried in the family graveyard at Pottstown.

9 David Potts,² (Thomas, Junior,¹), son of Thomas, Junior, and Magdalen (Robeson) Potts, married Rebecca Rutter, daughter of John and Mary Rutter. He, like his father and brother, was also engaged in the iron business, but died a young man in 1752, not long after the decease of his father. He left no issue.

THE CHARTS. The pedigree charts which occupy the following pages give a very fair exhibit of the descendants of Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), in the male line. For want of space, female lines are not carried forward, and the surname Potts is omitted where the name of wife or husband is given. These Charts have been compiled from the Potts Memorial. A few errors have been corrected, but no general revision has been attempted; so that, in the main, the correctness of these pedigrees depends upon the accuracy of that work. The numbers in the last column of the first Chart, refer to corresponding numbers in the succeeding Charts, where later generations are carried forward.

CHAPTER XI.

The Orphan Children of John Potts, of Wales.

In the year 1698, several orphans, children of John Potts, deceased, and late of Wales, were sent over to the care of Friends in Pennsylvania. It seems very probable that they were passengers in the good ship "William Galley,"* which brought so many Friends from the Welsh Counties of Radnor and Montgomery, and in which Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), came a passenger to Pennsylvania. This JOHN POTTS, is believed to be identical with John Potts, the persecuted Quaker of Llangirrig, Montgomeryshire, in Wales, of whom some account is given on pages 67 and 68, in this work. He was a brother of Thomas Potts, (Miller), of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County.

Neither the names nor the number of all these children are given in any record so far discovered. It is, however, quite certain that John Potts and Mary Potts were two of these orphan children. The Friends of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting had the care of these children, and the Meeting minutes contain several references to them, of which the following are copies

5 mo. 26, 1699. Whereas John Austin proposed to this meeting that several Orphans, Children of John Potts of Wales, came here last year, their passage being paid, this meeting desires Edward Shippen and Anthony Morris to Speak with the persons concerned, and see for convenient places in order that the Children be bound out apprentices by the next Orphans Court.

1 mo. 29, 1700. John Kinsey reports that there are two Orphans, Children of One Potts to be put out, Thomas Potts also desiring (being their uncle) that this meeting would appoint some friends, to put them out to friends. John Kinsey & Anthony Morris are desired to see it done.

2 mo. 26, 1700. John Kinsey & Anthony Morris are desired to continue their care in putting out Jn^o Potts's Children.

11 mo. 30, 1701. Isaac Shoemaker laying before this meeting, That a friend's Child named Mary Potts having been with him more than two years, the time agreed is near out, and she wants learning. In order therefore that she may have what learning is suitable, he desires to have her bound with him for some longer time. Whereupon Samuel Carpenter & John Kinsey are desired to take care therein, making report thereof to the next monthly meeting.

12 mo. 27, 1701. John Kinsey & John Parsons are desired to use their endeavour to get Thomas [John] Potts's * Child from the place where it is, upon as easy Terms as they can, in order to have it placed with a friend.

1 mo. 27, 1702. John Kinsey & John Parsons are continued to take care concerning the Child of Thomas [John] Potts,* deceased, to place it out with some honest friend. It being thought that William Rutledge's may be a fit place for her.

2 mo. 24, 1702. John Parsons reporting that the persons with whom the Child of Thomas [John] Potts, deceased,* is, are not willing to part with it. He and John Kinsey are desired so try a little further what they can do therein.

1 mo. 26, 1703. John Austin lays before this meeting that John Potts, who was bound apprentice to him to learn the Carpenter's Trade, doth not like it, but had rather have some other employment, Therefore Anthony Morris (who was concerned in the binding of him) and William Hudson are desired to do what is needful in the matter, and give an account thereof to the next Monthly Meeting.

1 mo. 25, 1708. John Potts, who was an Orphan bound apprentice to John Austin by approbation of this Monthly Meeting, Complains that he hath Served out his apprenticeship, and his mistress will not discharge him, and desires assistance. In order thereto this meeting appoints Edward Shippen, Nathan Stanbury & David Lloyd to enquire into the matter and if they find he hath served out his time, that then they Endeavour to see him discharged. and Report their proceedings to the next Monthly Meeting.

* NOTE. Mr. William John Potts examined these records very carefully, and was fully convinced that the entries of the name "Thomas" was a clerical error, written in mistake by the Clerk or transcriber, instead of "John."

2 mo. 29, 1708. Report they cannot understand that he hath served out his time, therefore could not discharge him.

These records make it quite certain that John Potts and Mary Potts were two of these orphan children. It is also evident that another orphan daughter was under the care of some family who were not members of the Friends meeting. In another Chapter, entitled Kinship of the Potts' of Pennsylvania, it will be suggested who the other children are thought to be.

John Potts, (Ship-Carpenter), one of the orphan children of John Potts, of Wales, deceased, came to Pennsylvania in 1698, and was soon after apprenticed to John Austin to learn the trade of a ship-carpenter. John Austin's wife was Jane Potts, and it very likely that John Potts was a near relative, possibly a nephew. His apprenticeship had not expired on 2 mo. 29, 1708, when Friends reported to the Monthly Meeting. Perhaps he attained his majority soon after the latter date.

The Pennsylvania Archives, Second Series, Vol. XIX, at page 588, contains a record that, on 10 mo. 22, 1714, the Commissioners of Property signed a Warrant for 300 acres of land in favor of Benjamin Burk and John Potts. This is supposed to have been John Potts, (Ship-Carpenter), as he is the only John Potts known to have been then of age.

He married Rebecca ——— about 1709 or 1710. There is recorded by the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, the dates of the burial of four of their children. It has not been discovered whether there were other children or not. John Potts died intestate about 1721, and letters of administration upon his estate were granted to Samuel Carpenter, March 21, 1721. The only original paper remaining on file in the Register's Office at Philadelphia, is the administrator's bond for £100, with Caleb Ransted and Thomas King as sureties. Rebecca, the widow, seems to be the same who married William Darby, 11 mo. 13, 1724.* They are supposed to have settled in New Jersey.

CHILDREN OF JOHN AND REBECCA (——) POTTS.

- 1 Rebecka Potts, buried 2 mo. 9, 1710/11.
- 2 Rachel Potts, buried 4 mo. 14, 1712.†
- 3 A son, buried 11 mo. 25, 1715.
- 4 Rebecka Potts, buried 1 mo. 26, 1719.

Mary Potts, daughter of John Potts, of Wales, one of the orphan children sent over to Pennsylvania, in 1698, was placed under the care of Isaac Shoemaker, by the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting. She probably continued with the Shoemakers, until her marriage to Matthias Tyson, the eldest son of Reynier and Margaret Tyson,‡ about 1 mo. 29, 1708. On this date the minutes of the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting contain this memoranda, Whereas Matthias Tyson, son of Ryner Tyson, and Mary Potts, of Germantown, having declared their Intentions of Marriage with each other before two Monthly Meetings, Enquiry being made by persons appointed, & found clear from all others on y^e account of Marriage, did accomplish their Marriage In y^e Unity of Friends, as signified by their marriage Certificate.

* See records of the First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

† NOTE. The record, in this instance, gives the parents' names as Thomas and Rebecca, which is clearly an error, as there was at that time no Thomas Potts with a wife Rebecca.

‡ THE TYSON FAMILY. Reynier Tyson was one of the original German emigrants, who came to Pennsylvania in 1683, and founded Germantown. His wife's name was Margaret, who is supposed to have been a sister of Thones Kunders, (another of the German emigrants), as in the Striepers MS., Tyson speaks of Kunders as "brother." About the year 1870, Jesse Tyson, of Baltimore, then in his 84th year, wrote of his great grand-father, "Reynear Tyson continued a resident of Germantown until it became thickly settled, then he sold his possessions there, which had become very valuable, and united with his wife's property (for she had some property as well as spirit, he was quite independent. He purchased a large tract in Abington Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. Here by industry, prudent management, and judicious investments he accumulated much wealth, and lived to a good old age." He had children as named below.

- 1 Matthias Tyson, b. 6 mo. 3, 1686; m. Mary Potts.
- 2 Isaac Tyson, b. 9 mo. 7, 1688.
- 3 Elizabeth Tyson, b. 8 mo. 7, 1690; m. William Lukens.
- 4 John Tyson, b. 10 mo. 9, 1692.
- 5 Abraham Tyson, b. 8 mo. 10, 1694.
- 6 Derrick Tyson, b. 9 mo. 6, 1696; m. Ann Hooton.
- 7 Sarah Tyson, b. 12 mo. 19, 1698; m. John Kirk.
- 8 Peter Tyson, b. 3 mo. 6, 1700; m. Mary Roberts.
- 9 Henry Tyson, b. 3 mo. 4, 1702; m. Ann ——.

Matthias Tyson was born 6 mo. 3, 1686, at Germantown. He settled in Abington Township, and died there about April or May 1727, in the forty-first year of his age. His will made April 8, and proven May 12, 1727, is recorded at Philadelphia, in Will-Book E, at page 46. He names his wife Mary, and his children Margaret, Mary, Reynear, John, Sarah, Isaac, Elizabeth and Matthew.

CHILDREN OF MATTHIAS AND MARY (POTTS) TYSON.

- 1 Margaret Tyson, m. William Hallowell. (See Infra).
 - 2 Mary Tyson, m. Ellis Lewis, 10 mo. 18, 1729.
 - 3 Reynier Tyson, m. Grace Fletcher. (See Infra).
 - 4 John Tyson.
 - 5 Sarah Tyson.
 - 6 Isaac Tyson, m. Esther Shoemaker.
 - 7 Elizabeth Tyson.
 - 8 Matthew Tyson, m. Mary Fitzwater, 5 mo. 1, 1755.

1 Margaret Tyson,³ (Mary,² John,¹), daughter of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, married William Hallowell, son of Thomas Hallowell, 8 mo. 23, 1729. The marriage was accomplished under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting. Among the witnesses who signed the marriage certificate were, Thomas Potts, Jone Potts, Magdalen Potts, Thomas Roberts, Jr., John Roberts, Jane Austin and others.

3 Reynier Tyson, (Mary,² John,¹), son of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, married Grace Fletcher, daughter of Robert Fletcher, 3 mo. 29, 1739. Among the witnesses who signed the marriage certificate were, John Tyson, Thomas Potts, Thomas Roberts, Jr., Mary Tyson, David Potts, Thomas Potts, Jr., and others.

CHAPTER XII.

Joan, or Jone Potts, Widow.

JOAN, or JONE POTTS, is first noticed in Pennsylvania in the year 1700, when her name appears as a witness on the marriage certificate of Lewis Lewis, of Newtown, Chester County, bachelor, and Mary Powell, of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, spinster, on 10 month 13, 1700.* The witnesses in the right hand column are Gwen Powell, Lydia Harry, Sarah Shoemaker, Joan Pott, Catharine Morris, Martha Pott, and others. 'Thomas Potts' name appears among the witnesses signed in the third column.

Her name is found variously written as Joan Pott, Joan Potts, and Jone Potts. There is a somewhat obscure tradition that "Jone Potts with four daughters, from Wales, landed at Philadelphia, and settled at Germantown, where she supported her family by her profession of a female physician, having brought her diploma with her. She taught each of her daughters her profession. Her husband sailed for America (probably before her) in a separate vessel and died at sea." Perhaps Joan Potts came in the ship "William Galley," in 1698, with the Powells and others.

John Roberts, of Chester County, blacksmith, made his will 7 mo. 26, 1702. It was proven January 5, 1702-3, and recorded in Will-Book B, at page 251, at Philadelphia. He made bequests to his daughter Margaret, wife of Thomas Kenderdine, and her children Richard, Thomas, Margaret and Mary; to son John and daughter Elinor Jenkins, living in Wales; to friend JOAN POTTS, widow; and to friend John Kinsey. It will be remembered that Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), sold 235 acres of land to this John Roberts, blacksmith, by deed dated March 7, 1699-1700.*

* See records of Abington Monthly Meeting.

The account book of Francis Daniel Pastorius, of Germantown, for 1700 to 1719, contains the following charges against JONE POTTS, in the year 1712.

Jan.	Jone Potts for 21 yds Worsted at 8 ^d
Feb'y	Jone Potts, 10 yds linsey wolsey and 2 yds Linnen a 8 ^d	6s
April	Jone Potts 12 yds linnen and cotton at 6 ^d	-	-	-	-	5s	5d
Apr.	Jone Potts 12 yds *	*	*	-	-	-	-	6s	10d

On 4 mo. 24, 1714, Jone Potts' name is among the signers to a certificate, issued by Abington Monthly Meeting, to Henry Cunnard and wife.

At the marriage of Ellis Lewis, of Upper Dublin, and Mary Tyson, daughter of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, on 10 mo. 18, 1729, Jone Potts signs the marriage certificate in the middle column immediately following the signatures of John Tyson and Henry Tyson.

There seems to be nothing definite as to the children of Jone Potts, except the tradition that one of them was that Margaret Potts, who married Richard Cox, in 1712. Joan Potts died about 1740. She was an acceptable minister among Friends. The Friend, Volume 30, at page 13, contains the following brief memorial of her.

Joan Potts, of Germantown, Philadelphia County, who deceased about 1740, was for many years an acceptable minister of the Gospel. Her communications were brief, but they were, her friends say, "well received." She was "innocent and exemplary in life and conversation."

* See page 236, ante.

CHAPTER XIII.

Margaret Potts-Cox.

The minutes of Newark (afterwards changed to Kennet) Monthly Meeting, of 1 mo. 1, 1712, and held at y^e Center, contain the following entry, Richards Cocks Requesting of this meeting a Certificate in Relation to marriage wth a ffriend belonging to y^e Monthly Meeting at Abington in y^e County of Philad^a. Thomas Wickersham & Wm. Horne are appointed to Enquire into his clearness in Relation to marriage or otherwise & make report to y^e next m^o meeting.

At a meeting held 2 mo. 5, 1712, at the same place, is this,

Thomas Wickersham & William Horne makes return to this meeting y^t they find nothing against Richard Cox to obstruct, but that he is Clear in Relation to marriage, therefore this meeting orders y^t he have a Certificate as he requested.

On 3 mo. 26, 1712, the minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting contain this record, Whereas Richard Cox, of Kennet Monthly Meeting in y^e County of New Castle, and Margaret Potts, having declared their Intentions of Marriage with each other; before two Monthly Meetings, Enquiry being made by persons appointed and found clear from all others on y^e account of Marriage. Did accomplish their marriage in y^e Unity of Friends as is signified by their Marriage Certificate.

The account book of Francis Daniel Pastorius shows a charge on May 4, 1712, against Richard Cox of Kennet in Chester County, for a "Marriage Certificate with Margaret Potts,"

In Futhey and Cope's History of Chester County, it is stated that Richard Cox is supposed to have been a son of John Cox, who came from England in 1708, and settled in the neighborhood of Kennet. The minutes of Newark Monthly Meeting of 7 mo. 4, 1708, have this entry,

A Certificate being produced to this meeting by John Cox, a friend lately Come from Ould England, which said Certificate being Read is Excepted of by this Meeting.

Of Margaret Potts we have no definite account. The tradition mentioned in the last Chapter, alleges that she was a daughter of Jone Potts, the widow. Richard and Margaret Cox sign Potts marriage certificates among relatives.

The minutes of Kennet Monthly Meeting, under date of 4 mo, 6, 1713, has this entry, Whereas Rich^d Cox desireth to remove himself & family into y^e Province of West New Jersey & desireth a Certificate of his life & conversation to y^e monthly meeting, of Crosswick [now Chesterfield]—therefore this meeting appoints Wm. Horn & Isaac Few to make inquiry concerning him & make report to y^e next meeting.

At the next meeting, held 5 mo. 4, 1713, is this minute,

Wm. Horn gives this meeting accompt that Isaac Few & he have made enquiry concerning Rich^d Cox & they find nothing against him therefore this meeting orders y^e s^d Friends to Draw a Certificate & bring to y^e next meeting.

There is no further mention of this matter, and the women's minutes do not mention it at all. The Crosswicks Monthly Meeting minutes contain no mention of Richard Cox, and if he did remove to that section at all, he evidently soon returned to Kennet.

In 1719, Richard and Margaret Cox attended the double wedding of the two daughters of Jonas Potts at Perkiomen, and were signers to both marriage certificates. That they went such a long distance to attend these weddings is suggested as a strong evidence of near relationship.

In 1722 and 1723, mention is made in the Kennet Monthly Meeting minutes of Richard and Margaret Cox, from which it appears that Margaret had a sister Potts, who was a member of Abington Meeting and at that time unmarried.

On 4 mo. 1, 1728, Richard Cox made a request to Kennet Monthly Meeting for a certificate of removal, and the following minute in reference thereto was made.

Request being made on behalfe of Richard Cox and his Wife for a Certificate to be Joined to North Wales [now Gwynedd] Monthly Meeting therefore we appoints John Heald and Joseph Mendenhall to make inquiry into his Conversation and affairs if nothing appears to obstruct to Joine with women friends to draw a Certificate for them and produce to the next m^o. meeting.

Kennet minutes of 6 mo. 3, 1728, contain the following entry, showing that the certificate was duly granted.

The fr^{ds} appointed to draw a Certificate for Richard Cox and his wife have produced it to this meeting which was here read and approved, and those friends have rendered their reasons for not appearing last meeting which are taken for satisfaction.

The women Friends appointed Elizabeth Horn and Martha Heald to inquire concerning Margaret Cox.

North Wales, (Gwynedd), Monthly Meeting then included some part of Chester County, lying west of the Schuylkill River. Whether Richard Cox removed to the bounds of this meeting at this time or not, is not clear. The certificate does not appear to have been presented to Gwynedd Monthly Meeting prior to 4 mo. 24, 1729. After this date a section of the minutes is missing.

Richard Cox married a second wife, Mary, but no record of the marriage has been found. On 1 mo. 31, 1733, a Richard Cox was complained of at Kennet Monthly Meeting for marrying out of meeting. It is however not certain that this Richard was identical with the subject of this Chapter.*

* NOTE. There appears to have been at least three persons bearing the name of Richard Cox at the same time. First, Richard Cox who married Margaret Potts in 1712; second, Richard Cox, son of Richard and Margaret, born in 1718; third, Richard Cox, of New Garden, who married Elizabeth Scarlett in 1726. In 1739, a Richard Cox signed the marriage certificate of James Musgrave and Hannah Cox, daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Buzby) Cox.

Richard Cox was a taxable in Pikeland Township in 1749 and 1750, and in Vincent Township from 1754 to 1760, being crossed off on the latter date. Perhaps he died in the latter year. His will, dated Nov. 15, 1757, and probated March 31, 1762, is recorded at Philadelphia in Will-Book M, page 263. He is described as of "the Township of Vincent in the County of Chester & Province of Pennsylvania, Husbandman." He devises his "House & Plantation scituate lying and being in the Township, county & province aforesaid, containing Twenty-five acres of Land, etc.," to Mary Cox, his wife, during her life. He names his sons Joseph, Benjamin and John Cox, his daughters Sarah wife of George Burson, Elizabeth wife of William Page, and Mary wife of Jonathan Potts,* and his grand-daughter Hannah Burson. Below is given what seems to be a correct statement of the children.

CHILDREN OF RICHARD AND MARGARET (POTTS) COX.

- 1 Anna Cox, b. 8 mo. 29, 1713.
- 2 Sarah Cox, b. 12 mo. 15, 1715; m. George Burson.
- 3 Richard Cox, b. 2 mo. 17, 1718.
- 4 Jonathan Cox, b. 6 mo. 11, 1720.
- 5 Joseph Cox, b. 2 mo. 18, 1723; m. Catharine Watson.
- 6 Benjamin Cox, b. 2 mo. 18, 1723; m. Elizabeth
- 7 John Cox, b. 8 mo. 9, 1725.
- 8 Elizabeth Cox, m. William Page.
- 9 Mary Cox, m. Jonathan Potts.

* NOTE. The identity of this Jonathan Potts has not been established.

CHAPTER XIV.

Eleanor Potts-Roberts, of Bristol Township.

Eleanor Potts is first noticed in connection with the record of her marriage with Thomas Roberts, 1 mo. 26, 1705. Tradition says that Thomas Roberts came from Wales in December, 1699, in the ship "Canterbury" with William Penn, and settled in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, about five miles above the City, where he and his family continued to live for many years. He was a stone mason, and helped to build the Friends meeting house at Germantown, as the minutes of the meeting state. He appears to have been a member of the Friends Meeting. The minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting of 1 mo. 26, 1705, contain the following entry, which probably refers to their passing meeting the second time.

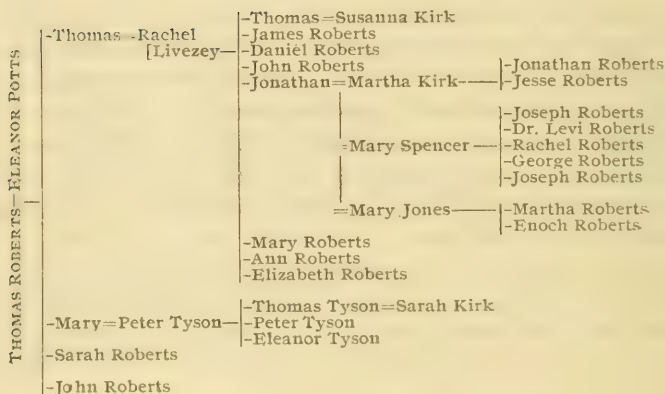

Whereas Thomas Roberts and Eleanor Potts having declared their intention of Marriage with each other before two Monthly Meetings, and Enquiry being made by persons appointed & found clear from all others on y^e account of Marriage, Were permitted to Marry a Mongst us.

In 1713, Thomas Roberts purchased two hundred acres of land in Bristol Township. Some of his descendants have continued to live upon this land, or in the vicinity, down to the present time. Thomas Roberts died 8 mo. 1, 1756, and Eleanor Potts-Roberts 3 mo. 26, 1766. Both are buried at Germantown. The children of Thomas and Eleanor Roberts were frequently witnesses to Potts marriage certificates.

CHILDREN OF THOMAS AND ELEANOR (POTTS) ROBERTS.

- 1 Thomas Roberts, Jr., b. 1709; d. 1756; m. Rachel Livezey, 1734.
Children 1 Thomas, 2 James, 3 Daniel, 4 John, 5 Jonathan,
6 Mary, 7 Ann, 8 Elizabeth.
- 2 Mary Roberts, b. 1711; m. Peter Tyson, son of Reynier Tyson, 1727. Children, 1 Thomas, 2 Peter, 3 Eleanor.
- 3 Sarah Roberts.
- 4 John Roberts.

Pedigree of the Roberts Family.

Margaret Potts-Morgan.

Margaret Potts married Evan Morgan, December 1, 1709, as shown by the records of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia. Aside from the record of marriage, very little information of Evan and Margaret Morgan has come to notice. From the manner of their marriage, it would appear that, Margaret Potts, unlike the other Potts' of Pennsylvania, had not been brought up under the teaching of Friends.

Evan Morgan owned a tract of two hundred and fifty-two acres of land in Philadelphia County, upon Neshaminy Creek, which he and his wife Margaret conveyed by deed to Thomas Potts, butcher, of the City of Philadelphia, on March 20, 1713-1714. The deed is recorded at Philadelphia in Deed-Book E 6, Volume 9, page 214.

CHAPTER XVI.

Rees Potts, of Germantown.

Rees, Reese or Riece Potts, a tailor by occupation, is found at Germantown shortly after the year 1700. Information concerning him is very meager. There are a few quaint references to him, such as "mending Francis Daniel Pastorius trowsers," and a credit for a "finished coat" for Samuel Pastorius. He seems to have been three times married, unless there was another person of the same name.

He owned land in Germantown, but the deed of purchase does not seem to be on record. In 1716, Riece Potts, tailor, and his wife Elizabeth, join in a deed for sale of land in Germantown to Margaret Tyson; and in 1719, for other land to John Conards. In 1719, Rees Potts attended the marriages of the two daughters of Jonas Potts and signed the certificates, indicating relationship.

Rees Potts married as his second wife, Lydia King, widow of Thomas King, late of Cheltenham, and seems to have removed to that township. By a deed dated April 14, 1741, "Rice Poots of Cheltenham, taylor, and Lydia his wife, late widow of Thomas King, of Cheltenham," convey to her daughters by King, and their husbands, her interest in 85 acres of her former husband. A recital of this deed calls him Reese Potts.

Perhaps Lydia Potts did not long survive, as the records of the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia show the marriage of Rees Potts and Christina Rambo, 3 mo. 30, 1743. No will or administration has been found.

CHAPTER XVII.

Jonathan Potts, of Lower Dublin.

There seems to be some confusion as to the identity of some of the earlier persons bearing the name of Jonathan Potts. The following perhaps includes all the earlier Potts' bearing this name.

JONATHAN POTTS, son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, born, 1701, in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, married Sarah Wood in 1729, and settled in Whitemarsh Township. Whether there were children or not is uncertain, at this writing. In the Rent Roll Books at Harrisburg, Jonathan Potts, of Whitemarsh Township, is charged with the quit-rent on 104 $\frac{2}{3}$ acres. The date given is 1702, and is doubtless the time from which the quit-rent is computed. [See Part III.]

JONATHAN POTTS, son of Thomas and Rachel (James) Potts, and grandson of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, of Bristol Township, born, 1723, married Sarah Clifton, in 1756. [See Part III.]

Jonas Potts seems to have had a son JONATHAN, born in 1714, who removed, first to Virginia and afterward to Kentucky.

In 1740, a JONATHAN POTTS is mentioned in connection with Maxatawney Township.

The Pennsylvania Gazette, of October 17, 1754, publishes a list of unclaimed letters remaining in the post-office at Trenton, New Jersey, on September 28, 1754, and among them is one addressed to "JONATHAN POTTS, Kingston."

Richard Cox, in his will, 1757, mentions "my Daughter Mary Potts, wife of JONATHAN POTTS." [See page 260.]

The Abington Monthly Meeting records the burial, at at Cheltenham, 2 mo. 24, 1763, of Sarah Potts, wife of JONATHAN POTTS, not a member.

Dr. JONATHAN POTTS, son of John and Ruth (Savage) Potts, born 1745, has a history so well known, that he cannot be confounded with any of the others bearing the same name. [See Memorial of Thomas Potts, Junior.]

1 JONATHAN POTTS. From a Bible record, still in possession of the descendants, it appears that there was a Jonathan Potts with a wife Rebecca, who had a son, Jonathan, Junior, born in 1758. They are said to have resided in Philadelphia County, and in 1784 the son is described as of Lower Dublin Township. It is thought by descendants that he was twice married, and that his second wife was Rebecca Flinthem. It is said that the wife of Jonathan Potts, Junior, frequently talked of "aunt Richards," who is thought to have been of her husband's family. These are possible clues to a fuller knowledge. This Jonathan Potts may or may not have been identical with one of the above named Jonathan Potts'. The following is a copy of the earliest Bible record.

Jonathan Potts, the son of Jonathan and Rebecca Potts, was born the 5th day of July, 1758.

2 Jonathan Potts, Junior,² son of Jonathan and Rebecca Potts, was born July 5, 1758. He served as a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He was a shoemaker by trade, but later became a farmer. In 1784, he purchased land in Moreland Towuship, Montgomery County, being then described as of Lower Dublin Township, Philadelphia County. He married Sarah Wright, daughter of John and Rachel Wright, about 1785.

Jonathan Potts and family were Baptists. Sarah Potts was received into Penypack Church in 1784, and Jonathan in 1804. On October 10, 1807, Jonathan Potts with his wife and daughter were received into Southampton Baptist Church in Bucks County, from Lower Dublin. The Southampton Church was only a few miles from the Potts' place of residence. Jonathan Potts was an active church member and long served in the office of a deacon. He died Feb. 22, 1840, in his eighty second year. An obituary notice is entered in the minutes of the Southampton Church. His will is recorded at Norristown.

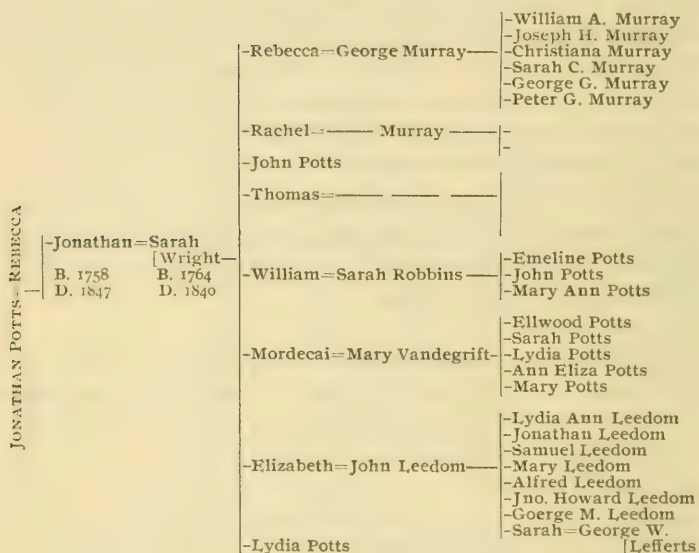

Sarah Potts, wife of Jonathan, was born June 28, 1764, and died Dec. 19, 1847, in the eighty-fourth year of her age. Husband and wife are both buried in the graveyard of the Southampton Baptist Church.

CHILDREN OF JONATHAN AND SARAH (WRIGHT) POTTS.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"Solution of the Old Potts Puzzle."

The earlier historians of the Potts Family found a Thomas Potts, Sr., who landed at Burlington, New Jersey, in the year 1678, who afterwards removed to Philadelphia, and died there in 1726. At Burlington, Thomas Potts, Junior, was mentioned as his son and heir. At Philadelphia, Thomas Potts, Sr., in his will, names Thomas Potts, as his son and principal heir. He also mentions his grandson Thomas Potts, and the other children of his son Thomas. The conditions of the will were exactly suited to Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), for he had a son Thomas and other children. A seemingly legitimate conclusion was reached that Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), was the only son and heir of Thomas Potts (Shield). This statement was published time and again, without any question as to its truth. Other persons bearing the name of Potts were noticed living in the same localities. These were all thought to be descendants of the original Thomas Potts, of Burlington; but when an attempt was made to show the descent, difficulties arose and explanations advanced that were wholly untenable.

In 1869, Mrs. Thomas Potts James, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, issued a circular announcing that she was about to publish a work entitled The Potts Memorial: an Account of the Descendants of Thomas Potts, who was persecuted for his faith in Chester, England, 1653, etc. This work was intended to be a history of the Potts family through Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), whom she then believed to be the son of Thomas Potts, (Shield), and that the latter was identical with Thomas Potts, the Persecuted Quaker of Cheshire.*

About the same time, Mr. William John Potts, of Camden, New Jersey, having his attention called to the subject, entered into a thorough investigation of the early history of the Potts' of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as a spirited correspondence with Mrs. Potts James. He examined wills, deeds, church and family records, bearing on this particular phase of subject, in a manner more thorough and systematic than had previously been attempted. He succeeded in collecting evidence showing that Thomas Potts, (Shield), and his descendants, were entirely distinct from the Potts' of Pennsylvania, so far as near relationship in this country was concerned.

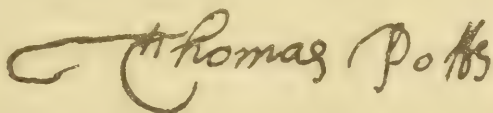

Mrs. James and nearly all others, who had given the subject intelligent study, when confronted with the fuller facts, were thoroughly convinced that Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), was not the son of Thomas Potts, (Shield), and abandoned the claim. The late James Henry Carr, of Philadelphia, who also had given years of study to the subject and collected much valuable data, refused to admit the fact, and in 1880, published an article in the Montgomery Ledger, entitled "Solution of the Old Potts Puzzle," in which he endeavored to prove that Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), was the son of Thomas Potts, (Shield). This article is made up of a large number of brief abstracts of wills, deeds, etc., so arranged as to seem to prove his allegations. A few of the abstracts contain misstatements which may have crept in through oversight or inadvertance.

It is believed that all who have read the foregoing Chapter, need no further argument to have a clear and concise comprehension of the true state of the case. It is, however, the object of this Chapter to re-print Mr. Carr's article, with a few foot-notes showing the fallacy of his conclusions.

* NOTE. For an account of Thomas Potts, the Persecuted Quaker, see pp. 40-60.

That Thomas Potts, tanner, of Burlington, New Jersey, and Thomas Potts, tanner, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, were one and the same person, all are willing to admit. If there were nothing else, his peculiar signature, found both at Burlington and Philadelphia, would be most convincing that they had been written by the same hand. In addition to the tracings already given in this work, on pages 130 and 133, one other is here given, being a fac-simile of his signature attached to the bond of Mary Ingram, at Burlington, in 1694. [See page 129, ante.]

In a private letter, written by Mr. Carr to Mr. William John Potts, after the publication of the article, he stated that the original manuscript sent to the Ledger contained an acknowledgment of his having obtained much valuable memoranda from Mr. Potts, but the editor or proof-reader had eliminated it in order to curtail the length of the article.

The following is the article as it appeared in the Montgomery Ledger of November 2, 1880. The foot-notes are by the compiler hereof.

SOLUTION OF THE OLD POTTS PUZZLE.

Who was Thomas Potts 1678?— Who are his Descendants?

BY JAMES HENRY CARR, OF PHILA.

Smith's History of New Jersey (in notes) informs us that the Ship Shield, Captain Daniel Towes, from Hull, England, arrived in the Delaware river, in December, 1678, and anchored before Burlington. Among its passengers were Thomas Potts with his wife and children.

We have no knowledge of his previous history, or place of birth, but, with aid of public records, still preserved in New Jersey, and in the county of Philadelphia, we are made familiar with his transactions up to the time of his death in Germantown, in 1726.*

1680. Thomas Potts, of the town and county of Burlington, in the Province of West Jersey, purchased dwelling, bark mill, tanyard, &c., from John Woolston, by deed dated 30 December, 1680.†—[See Trenton Records.]

1682. Thomas Potts and Ann Potts were subscribing witnesses to the marriage of John Antrim, on the 15th day of the 3d month, 1682, as appears by the records of Friends' Meeting at Burlington.

1689. [Extracts from the original records of the Baptist Church at Pennepack.]

1686. Thomas Potts baptised by Elias Keach, at Burlington, West Jersey.

1686. Ann Potts, baptised by Elias Keach, at Burlington, West Jersey.

1699. Grace Farmer, baptised by John Watts, in Pennsylvania, at Pennepack.

1705. Alice Pusser, baptised by Thomas Griffith, at Pennepack.

1715. Thomas Potts and Grace Farmer were married.

1716. Thomas Potts and Alice Pusser were married.

[Extracts from Friends' Records, Third and Arch streets Meeting House.]

1714. Ann Potts, wife of Thomas Potts, tanner, died 9th of 7th month.

1715. Grace Potts, wife of Thomas Potts, tanner, died 15th of 6th month.

1699. Thomas Potts of Burlington and Ann his wife, sold and conveyed dwelling, bark mill, tanyard, &c., to Christopher Wetherill, of same place, Taylor, by deed dated 14th March, 1699.

1699. Thomas Potts, senior, of the town and county of Burlington, tanner, and Thomas Potts, Junior, of the township of Springfield, in said county, son of ye said Thomas Potts, senior, executed a bond, dated 14th of March, in the 12th year of the reign of William the

* NOTE. The statements made in this article that Thomas Potts, (Shield), [or tanner,] lived at Germantown and died there, are certainly incorrect. No evidence has been adduced to show that he ever had even business transactions at or about Germantown. The records of Pennypack Baptist Church show that he died at Philadelphia. See page 131, ante.

† NOTE. For a more accurate abstract of this deed, see page 127, ante.

Third, Anno, 1699, to secure quiet possession of the above premises to said Cristopher Wetherill.* [Signed.]

Thomas Potts

1692. [Philadelphia County Records.] Thomas Potts, of Germantown, Philadelphia county, tanner, purchased land in that township, as early as the 5th of 10th month, 1692. Subsequently he was a party to various transactions in real estate, in each of which he is designated as above, up to 1725. †

1699. [Extract from Records of Monthly Meeting of Germantown, in the possession of Friends, 3d and Arch streets.]

"At a monthly meeting held 8th month 3d, 1699, Thomas Potts and Martha Keurling (Courling or Kerlin) having declared their intentions of marriage with each other before two monthly meetings, enquiry being made by persons appointed and found clear from all others on account of marriage, did accomplish their marriage in the unity of Friends, as signified by their marriage certificate." ‡

1700. Thomas Potts, Jr., of Germantown, was in his minority in the year 1700, when he became a speculator in lands in that vicinity, but in 1707 he executed a deed which confirmed his previous conveyances, and recited that he had since that time attained the full age of twenty one years. His deeds style him as "viñtualler" or "butcher."

1714-15. [Extracts from Friend's Records of 3d and Arch Streets Meeting.]

1714. Martha Potts, daughter of Thomas and Martha Potts, died 18th of 6th month.

1715. Martha Potts, daughter of Thomas and Martha Potts, died 2d of 5th month.

1721. Thomas Potts, Jr., and Magdalen [Robeson] his (second) wife, sold and conveyed to Robert Thomas a tract of land containing 300 acres, which he had bought in 1715. This deed, properly signed

* NOTE. For abstracts of this transaction and an account of Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield), see pages 129 and 134-145, ante.

† NOTE. Thomas Potts, sold this land in 1695. A copy of the deed of purchase is printed on page 202, ante, and immediately following is an abstract of the deed of sale. In both of these deeds, Thomas Potts, is described as of Philadelphia County, and in neither is he described as "tanner." Thomas Potts, (Shield), the tanner, continued to reside at Burlington, N. J., until 1699. It is therefore plainly evident that Mr. Carr has made a misstatement, and has here mistaken Thomas Potts, the miller, for Thomas Potts, the tanner.

‡ NOTE. For an account of Thomas Potts, Jr., otherwise Thomas Potts, (Colebrookdale), see Chapter X, pages 234 to 242.

by Thomas and Magdalen Potts, was not duly acknowledged and therefore it became necessary to obtain proof of its execution by them, and this was had on the "testimony of John Potts, Esq., son of the said Thomas Potts," on the 20th of April, 1768, nearly forty seven years after its execution. NOTE.—This same John Potts was the founder of Pottstown. *

1726. The last Will and Testament of Thomas Potts, Sr., of Philadelphia, tanner, dated 25th February, 1725, was duly proved on the 10th of November, 1726. It names his wife Alice Potts; son Thomas Potts; his grandson Thomas Potts, and other grandchildren.* Thos. Griffith, a baptist preacher (who baptised his wife in 1705).—[See Baptist Pennepack Records].

This undisputed will of a much disputed head of a family, who was one of the early settlers of Burlington, in what was then termed the West Jersey Colony, scattered along the shores of the Delaware river, is still in tolerable good condition, and presents the very peculiar signature of the old Burlington and Germantown tanner, thus :

1728. Thomas Potts, the only son and heir at law of Thomas Potts, late of Philadelphia, tanner, deceased, sold and conveyed to George House, by deed dated 10th of March, 1728, a lot of ground situate on Chestnut street, which recited that his father bought it in the year 1715.†

1736. Thomas Potts, in May, 1736, appears on record as an iron master, residing in Colebrook Dale township, Philadelphia county, and he then purchased from Gerhart Henkels, of that place, a messuage and plantation of 192 acres, which Thomas Potts and Magdalen, his wife, in 1741, sold and conveyed to Thomas Wilson. His first purchase

* See copy of this Will on pages 131 to 133, ante.

† NOTE. When Mr. Carr was personally appealed to for evidence that Thomas Potts, (Colebrookdale), was the son of Thomas Potts, (Shield), he referred to this deed as being positive proof. A copy of this deed is reproduced on pages 138 to 140. The most rigid examination fails to show any connection with Thomas Potts, (Colebrookdale). The maker of this deed was Thomas Potts, Junior, (Mansfield). Thomas Potts, (Shield), also devised a lot of ground in Gilbert's Alley, to Thomas Potts, his grandson, who in 1728 sold the lot to Andrew Edge. The grandson is described in the deed as "Thomas Potts, of Mansfield in the County of Burlington in the Western Division of the Province of New Jersey, Tanner." [See copy on pages 146 to 148, ante] Thomas Potts, the grandson and maker of the deed, could not have been Thomas, the son of Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), because he was then [1728] not above twelve years of age and legally incapable of executing a deed. Thomas Potts, Jr., (Tanner), had then but recently become of age.

there was in 1733 as Thomas Potts, yeoman, and the last in 1742, which included a farm and tract of land in Manatawny.

1746. A deed executed by "John Potts, the only son and heir at law of Martha Potts, deceased, who was one of the children of Peter Keurling, of Germantown, deceased; Joseph Walker and Elizabeth, his wife, one of the daughters of the said Martha Potts, and Derrick Cleaver and Mary, his wife, the other daughter of the said Martha Potts," dated 5th of September, 1746, conveyed lands situate in Germantown to Bernard Reser. This deed was recorded in 1752.

1734. John Potts, of Colebrookdale, son of Thomas Potts, Jr., and his first wife, Martha Keurling, was married on the 11th day of April, 1734, to Ruth Savage, of Coventry, in Chester County. Their marriage certificate presents the names of many witnesses, amongst which appear those of his father and step-mother; his brother Thomas; his sisters Elizabeth Walker and Mary Cleaver; and also of Hannah Kerlin, (possibly his maternal aunt).*

1752. On the 10th of January, 1752, the last Will and Testament of Thomas Potts, of Colebrook Dale, iron master, was proven and registered at Philadelphia. It was dated 8th September, 1747, and names his wife Magdalen; sons Thomas, David and John; daughters Elizabeth Walker and Mary Cleaver; grand-daughter Sarah, (daughter of son Thomas); grandsons Stephen Yorke and Edward Yorke.

1749. Thomas Potts, Junior, of Colebrookdale, son of the above named Thomas and Magdalen, was married before 1749, to Rebecca Rutter, daughter of Thomas Rutter, of Philadelphia, and Mary Catharine Gosling, his wife. Thomas Rutter died in 1734. Thomas and Rebecca Potts had five children, viz: David, Sarah, Hannah, Margaret and Mary. Having survived his wife Rebecca, he subsequently married Deborah Pyewell, daughter of Wm. Pyewell, of Philadelphia, merchant, by whom he had two children, viz: William and Rebecca Potts.

Every intelligent reader has here presented to him a full and reliable family chart of the Potts' of Pottstown, from the original tanner of Burlington, their first American ancestor. It is only intended at this time to carry it down to the period when all the family genealogists failed to know who they were looking for, in consequence of the name Thomas Potts belonging to so many different settlers at that early date. The following recapitulation will close this sketch:

* See a full list of the witnesses to this marriage certificate on page 243, ante.

Thomas Potts, of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County.

From the multitude of Records still existing in Philadelphia, in which persons named Potts were parties, I many years since gleaned the following, referring unmistakably to members of a family which continued to reside in Bristol township, Philadelphia county in and after the year 1699.

1702. Thomas Potts, of Bristol township, miller, sold and conveyed lands in that township, to George Gray, including a portion of two grist mills, known as "Potts' Mills."

1708. Thomas Potts, of Bristol township, Philadelphia county, miller, purchased lands in that township. He is then styled Thomas Potts, Sr.

In the Logan collection of manuscript papers now in the possession of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, there are several autographs of this Bristol township miller, which are here fairly represented.

Thomas Potts

1711. Deed from Samuel Richardson and others to Thomas Potts, Sr., David Potts and others, all of said County of Philadelphia, for two pieces of land containing together fifty acres in Germantown, dated 8th of October, 1711. These grantees were Trustees of the Monthly Meeting of Friends, and purchased this property for a Meeting House lot.

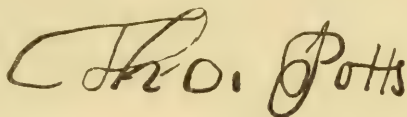

* NOTE. Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), born 1680, and died 1752, was not the son of Thomas Potts, (Shield), and the statements to that effect in this article, are without foundation in fact. See Chapters III and X.

† NOTE. For an account of Thomas Potts, (Miller), see Chapter VII.

1712. By the Record of marriages within the county of Bucks, in the Province of Pennsylvania, it appears that on the 28th of 5th month, 1712, Thomas Potts was granted a certificate of license to marry Judith Sharp,* of Long Island. Copy in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

1719. The last Will and Testament of Thos. Potts, of Bristol township, County of Philadelphia, miller, was proven and registered on the 3d of October, 1719, having been dated the 6th of the 3d month called May (old style) in the same year. It names his wife Judith and his son Thomas Potts, Jr., (in his minority,) and no other.

[Signed.]

1744. Deed dated 12 November, 1744, by Thomas Potts, of Bristol township, County of Philadelphia, yeoman, (the only son and heir-at-law of Thomas Potts, late of the same place, miller, deceased,) and Susanna his wife; Judith Sharp, formerly Judith Potts, widow, the relict and executrix of the said Thomas Potts, the father, of the first part, and Robert Strettel, of Philadelphia, merchant, of the other part, for lands in Bristol township.

1749. Mortgages by the same parties as above, to Robert Strettel, to secure the payment of thirty pounds, Pennsylvania currency, and describing forty acres and forty perches of land in that township.

1751. Letters of administration to the Estate of Thomas Potts, late of Bristol township, Philadelphia county, were granted unto his widow Susanna Potts, on the 29th of May, 1751.

From the foregoing it will be seen that :

Thomas Potts, Sr., of Bristol township, miller, died there in 1719.

Thomas Potts, Sr., of Germantown, tanner, died there in 1726.

Thomas Potts, Jr., of Bristol township, son of the miller, died 1751.

Thomas Potts, Jr., of Germantown, &c., son of the tanner, died 1752.

The old and uniform practice of genealogists, charging these good and enterprising citizens of our county with the paternity of all the stray Potts' in and near Philadelphia, should now be abandoned out of consideration for the fair fame of such orphans of unknown Potts'.

* NOTE. Thomas Potts married Judith Smith. As the widow of Thomas Potts, she subsequently married Thomas Sharp. [See page 206 and 211, ante].

David Potts, of Bristol Township.

1730. The Will of David Potts, of Bristol township, Philadelphia county, dated 13th November, 1730, was proved on the 26th of the same month. It names his eldest son Thomas, sons John and Jonathan, Elizabeth, Stephen, Mary and Rebecca; deceased son Daniel's children; sons Nathan and Ezekiel. David Potts survived his wife, Alice Croasdale, who was the youngest daughter of Thomas and Agnes Croasdale, of Bucks County. They married 5th Mo. 2d, 1694. Their children were as follows:

- 1—Thomas, born in 1695; married Rachel James in 1715.
- 2—John, born in 1696; married Elizabeth McVaugh in 1726.
- 3—Daniel, born in 1698; married Sarah Shoemaker in 1721.
- 4—Elizabeth, born in 1699; married Peter Cleaver, Jr., in 1722.
- 5—Jonathan, born in 1701; married Sarah Wood in 1729.
- 6—Mary, born in 1703-4; married Jeremiah McVaugh in 1729.
- 7—Stephen, born in 1704-5.
- 8—Rebecca, born in 1705-6.
- 9—Ezekiel, born in 1708; married Magdalen ——— 1732; second wife Barbara 1751.
- 10—Nathan; died 1754; married Hester ——— in 1742.

Let it be borne in mind that the Germantown tanner outlived the Bristol township mill; and that the only son of the tanner outlived the only son of the miller. Besides this, it should be remembered that the tanner's son had a large family of children, while the miller's son had none.

The next best chance for the genealogists to work upon would be the "tanner No. 2" of Burlington, of the same name, who is yet largely represented by the family known as "the Trenton Potts," and those above named as descendants of David Potts, of Bristol township.

My work in this line began over twenty years ago, as a labor of love, in behalf of a most amiable and noble representative of the oldest line of Potts; but, as my work progressed, my record notes were literally copied, and even published in a beautiful "Memorial" without a word of credit for so much truth,—while at the same time they were mixed with balderdash, fiction, coat of arms and "probabilities," that I deem it due to the family most interested to furnish these reliable facts concerning their American ancestors.

* NOTE. "Thomas Potts, Tanner, No. 2, of Burlington," is a myth without the slightest evidence of existence, unless the term be applied to Thomas Potts, Jr., (Mansfield), or to Thomas Potts, Jr., (Tanner), the son and grandson of Thomas Potts, Sr., (Shield), both of whom were tanners.

THE MONTGOMERY LEDGER may render important assistance to the searchers after ancestors in the Potts line, by publishing the following record notes not previously referred to by me.*

messuage and lot of land situate in Hatborough, in the manor of Moreland, on the York Road.

1757. Thomas Potts, son of Joshua Potts, of the manor of Moreland, county of Philadelphia, was the first named in his father's will, dated in 1757, and registered 11th of August, 1761. Ann Potts, widow and relict of the Reverend Mr. Joshua Potts, late of the manor of Moreland, and Joseph Hart, executors of the said Joshua, by deed dated 20th of May, 1762, conveyed 196 acres of land to William Folwell. Joshua also left five daughters.

1753. Thomas Potts, of the manor of Moreland, on the 22d June, 1753, purchased from Walter Moore, a corn and grist mill, in Moreland, and two tracts of land. He is styled in this deed as "millwright"

1742. Rebecca Potts, the wife of Thomas Potts, of Burlington county, was previously the wife of Joshua Wright, by whom she had six children, who were living, and named in a deed executed by her on March 5th, 1742. She was one of the six children of Mahlon Stacy, Esquire, deceased.—[See Stacy Potts' Notes.]

1744. Thomas Potts, yeoman, and Rebecca, his wife, and Mahlon Kirkbride, each of the county of Bucks, Province of Pennsylvania, executed a deed, to Amos Janney, dated 19th September, 1744, for lands in Morris county, New Jersey.

1745. 1754. Thomas Potts, (and Rebecca his wife,) of Mansfield, in Burlington county, in a deed dated January, 1754, mentions the natural love and affection he bears to his son William Potts, yeoman.

1761. Mortgage by Nathaniel Potts, of the township of Mansfield, yeoman, and Susanna, his wife, to William Humphries, of Philadelphia, to secure the payment of £400, describing lands in Lower Dublin township, Philadelphia county. He died in June, 1761.

Below is printed a list of the several Thomas Potts' included in Mr. Carr's article, nearly all of whom were contemporary. This list may help to simplify the "Puzzle."

1 Thomas Potts (Shield), baptized July 12, 1647; married, 1st, Joani ———; 2d, Anne ———; 3d, Grace Farmer; 4th, Alice Pusser; died Sep. 4, 1726. Residence, Burlington, N. J., and Philadelphia. [See pages 124-133].

CHAPTER XIX.

Kinship of the Potts' of Pennsylvania.

That the early Potts settlers of Pennsylvania were of kin and nearly related there can be no doubt. They not only resided near together, but are found signing marriage certificates together after the manner of near relatives, and were more or less associated in business transactions. It is, however, quite true that very little has been discovered, wherein the exact relationship is clearly stated.

The late Mr. William John Potts, who made much original research and gave the subject much study, long ago became convinced that Thomas Potts, (Miller), Jonas Potts and David Potts, all of Philadelphia County, were brothers, and, if so, then brothers of John Potts, of Wales, whose orphan children were sent to Pennsylvania in 1698. It will be the purpose of this Chapter to point out some of the evidences of kinship. This data is arranged in chronological order, as nearly as possible.

In 1686, Thomas Potts and Jonas Potts sign the marriage certificate of John Austin and Jane Potts immediately after the step-father and mother of the bride, and just before Elizabeth Potts, who is supposed to have been a sister of the bride. [See page 198].

1692. David Potts was bondsman of Elizabeth (Potts) Bennett, as the executrix of Edmund Bennett, her late husband. [See page 196].

In 1693-4, Thomas Potts and Jonas Potts were the first subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of David Potts and Alice Croasdale. This marriage was accomplished within the bounds of Middletown Monthly Meeting, some twenty miles or more from Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. If Thomas and Jonas were not near kinsmen, why did they go so far to attend this wedding?

1695. David Potts was a subscribing witness to a deed made by Thomas Potts. [See page 203].

1698. Several orphan children of John Potts, of Wales, were sent over to the care of Friends in Pennsylvania. The minutes of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting show that Thomas Potts, (Miller), was their uncle. John and Mary Potts, mentioned in Chapter XI, were undoubtedly two of these children.

1699. Jacob Shoemaker, in a deed, calls Thomas Potts, (Miller), his brother-in-law. As Thomas Potts, seems to have then been a single man, Jacob Shoemaker's wife must have been Potts' sister. [See foot-note on page 203].

1701-2. The minutes of the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting of Friends show that one of the orphan children, a daughter, of John Potts, of Wales, was in the care of a family, who do not seem to have been of Friends faith. An effort was made to have her placed elsewhere, which was unsuccessful. In 1709, the records of Christ (P. E.) Church show that one Margaret Potts married Evan Morgan. This is the only female of the Pennsylvania Potts', up to this time, who was not married according to the custom of Friends. In 1714, Evan and Margaret Morgan conveyed 252 acres of land, by deed, to Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale). May it be that Margaret was one of the orphan children?

1707-8. Jonas Potts was one of the bondsmen of Jane (Potts) Austin, as administratrix of John Austin, her late husband.

Some of David Potts' children, as also Thomas Roberts, had business transactions with Thomas Potts, (Miller). [See pages 210-211].

1719. Some of the children of David Potts attended the marriage of the two daughters of Jonas Potts, at Gilbert's Manor, and were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificates. [See pages 227-229].

1719. Thomas and Jacob Shoemaker, sons of Jacob Shoemaker, Sr., were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of the two daughters of Jonas Potts. [See pages 227-229].

1719. Samuel and Mary Austin, and John Channel, the son, daughter and son-in-law (?) of John and Jane (Potts) Austin, were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificates of the two daughters of Jonas Potts.

1722. Jonas Potts was a subscribing witness to the marriage certificate of Peter Cleaver, Jr., and Elizabeth Potts, daughter of David Potts, signing next to the bride's father and before her brothers and sisters. Thomas and Mary Roberts, Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, and Judith Potts, the widow of Thomas Potts, (Miller), were also subscribing witnesses among relatives.

1729. Thomas Potts, (Colebrookdale), and Magdalen, his wife; Thomas and John Roberts, sons of Thomas and Eleanor (Potts) Roberts, were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of William Hallowell and Margaret Tyson, daughter of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson. [See page 254].

1730. John Channel, son-in-law (?) of John and Jane (Potts) Austin, was a witness to the will of David Potts.

1731. David Potts, son of Jonas, through an advertisement in the Pennsylvania Gazette, offers a reward for the recovery of a stolen horse, and directs that notice be given to ^{George} Jacob Shoemaker, at Philadelphia. This ^{he is} Jacob Shoemaker is believed to have been a son of Jacob, Sr., and probably a cousin of the said David Potts. [See Chapter XX].

1733. Ezekiel Potts, son of David, was a witness to the will of Jane (Potts) Austin. The testatrix names Jacob Shoemaker as one of her executors. [See page 200].

1734. Among subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of John Potts, son of Thomas Potts, Jr., (Colebrookdale), and Ruth Savage, were Thomas and John Roberts, sons of Thomas and Eleanor (Potts) Roberts; and Reynier and John Tyson, sons of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson. [See page 243].

1739. Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), his sons John, Thomas and David; and Thomas Roberts, Jr., son of Thomas and Eleanor (Potts) Roberts; were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of Reynier Tyson, Jr., son of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson. [See page 254].

1749. Judith Sharp, formerly widow of Thomas Potts, (Miller), in her will, names Thomas Roberts, Jr., and John Roberts, sons of Thomas and Eleanor (Potts) Roberts, as joint executors, with her son Thomas Potts, Jr. [See page 213].

1753. Several members of the Tyson family were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of Thomas Potts, (son of John and grandson of David), and Elizabeth Lukens.

1754. Isaac Tyson, son of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, and Esther his wife, were subscribing witnesses to the marriage certificate of Isaac Shoemaker and Elizabeth Potts, daughter of John and granddaughter of David Potts.

1755. John Potts, probably son of David and Alice, was a subscribing witness to the marriage certificate of Matthew Tyson, son of Matthias and Mary (Potts) Tyson, of Upper Dublin.

It is especially noteworthy that many of the same family names are so frequently repeated, particularly among the descendants of David Potts, Jonas Potts, and Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale).

A study of the foregoing facts seems to justify the following conclusions: That John Potts, of Wales, Thomas Potts, (Miller), Jonas Potts, David Potts, Jane (Potts) Austin, Elizabeth Potts, (died 1690), and Margaret (Potts) Shoemaker, were brothers and sisters. If this be altogether correct, then they were children of Elizabeth (Potts) Bennett, by her former husband.

The evidence also seems to warrant the conclusion that Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), John Potts, (Shipcarpenter), Eleanor (Potts) Roberts, Mary (Potts) Tyson, and Margaret (Potts) Morgan, were the orphan children of John Potts, who were sent over from Wales in 1698.

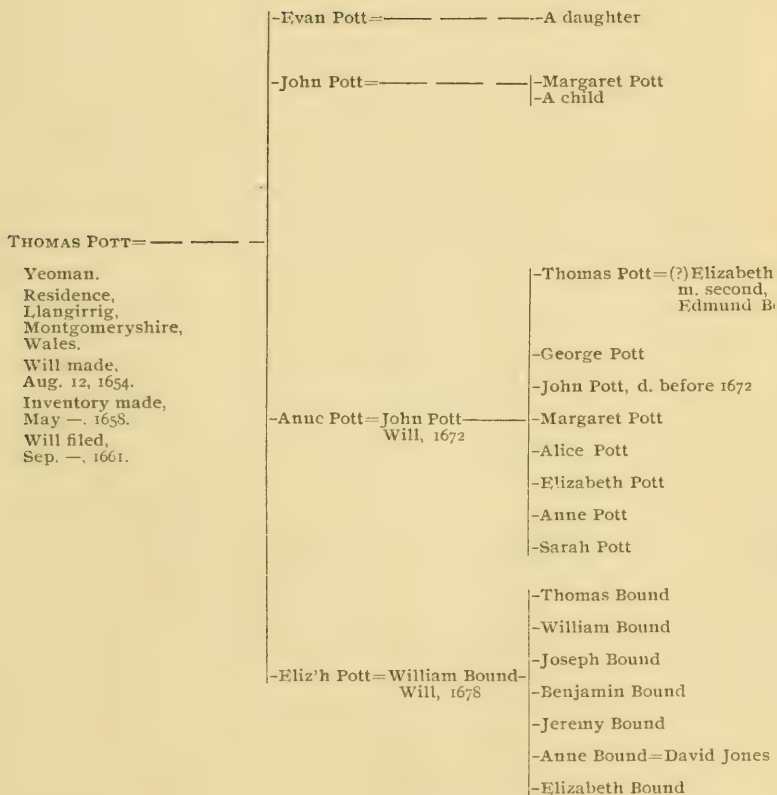

At that day, it was a custom almost universal to name the first born son for his paternal grandfather. Thomas Potts, (Miller), and David Potts, each named his first born Thomas. If the above conclusions are correct, then the eldest son of John Potts, of Wales, also bore the name Thomas. Perhaps Thomas Potts, Junior, (Colebrookdale), also followed the same custom in giving to his eldest son, the name John.

The Potts' settlers of Pennsylvania were Friends, and all the traditions agree that they came to Penn's colony from Wales. John Potts, father of the orphan children, was undoubtedly the John Potts, of Llangirrig, the persecuted Friend. Thomas Potts, of Llangirrig, who was also persecuted, is supposed to have been the father of John.

The Potts', of Wales, were closely associated with the Hamers, Jarmans, and other families. In Pennsylvania they are found associating with the same families.

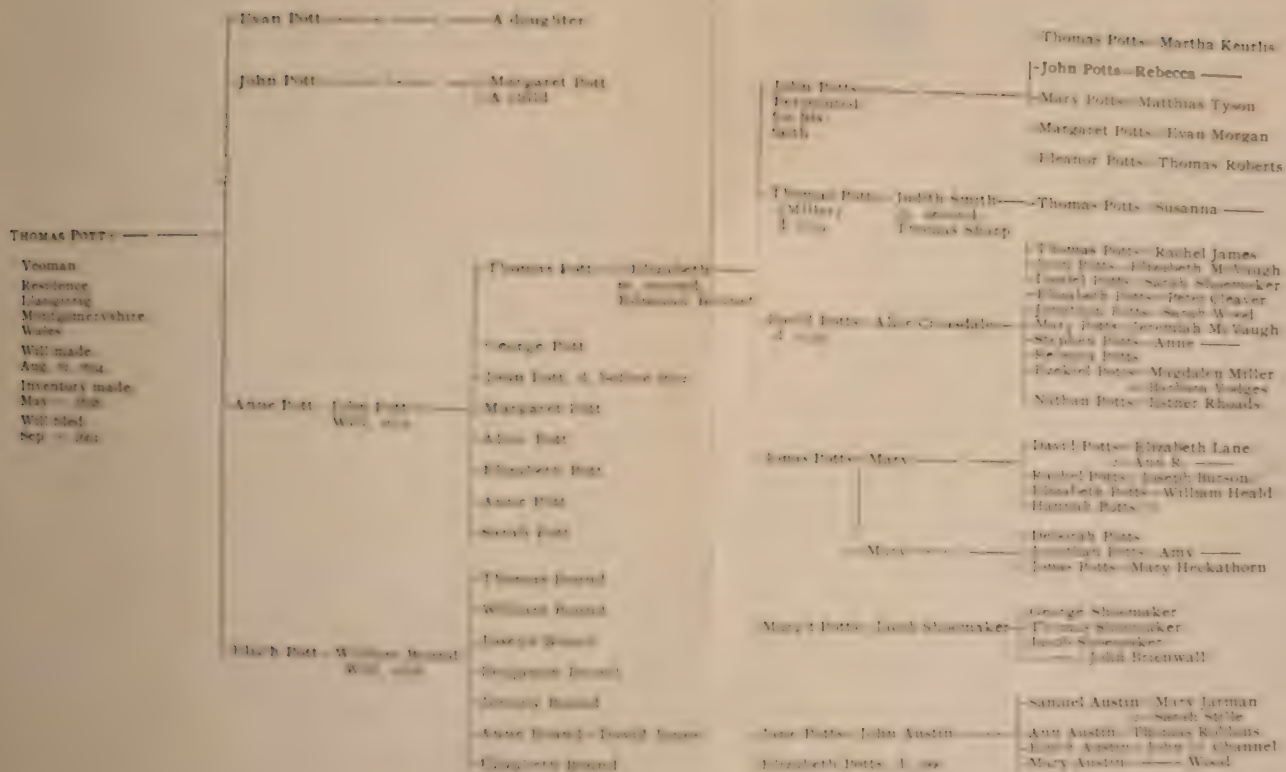

The Chart facing this page exhibits a pedigree of the family, which, while not absolutely proven, is thought to be correct in the main, and is such as accounts for the numerous associations of the different members of the family. Joan Potts, widow, and Rees Potts, were also evidently near relatives, but their kinship is not clear.

CHAPTER XX.

David Potts, Loudoun County, Virginia.

I DAVID POTTS was born about the year 1700, as nearly as can be estimated. He was without doubt the son of Jonas and Mary Potts, of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, though no record of birth has been found. See Chapter VIII. All the traditions and statements of aged members of different lines of the family point to that conclusion. These allegations, summed up, may be included in the following. The Potts family came to Pennsylvania from Wales—some allege, with William Penn. They lived at or about Pottsgrove, where their ancestor owned a plantation to which the Virginia descendants were heirs.* One tradition, in a collateral line, alleges that Jonah or Jonas Potts came to Pennsylvania from Wales. Another tradition alleges that the Potts' were driven from Wales by reason of religious oppression.

The first notice of David Potts is as a subscribing witness to the marriage certificates of the two daughters of Jonas Potts in 1719.† The Pennsylvania Gazette, of May 27, 1731, contains the following advertisement.

* NOTE. Jonas Potts owned and occupied a farm in Gilberts Manor, which adjoined Pottsgrove. It is not certain that he ever secured a full title to this land, and no deed of conveyance from him or his legal representatives has been found. Such a tradition might easily grow from such a foundation.

† See pages 227 and 229, ante.

‡ NOTE. The Great Swamp was a marshy tract of land in the upper end of Bucks County, including the village of Quakertown. Saucon is the name of a creek emptying from the south-west into the Lehigh River, a few miles below Bethlehem. Before the year 1730, some Philadelphia speculators bought up large tracts of the rich lands in the Saucon valley and sold it out in smaller parcels. It seems quite likely that David Potts was then living in the Saucon valley, within limits of either the present Lehigh or Northampton County.

a Servant Boy named John Williams, about seventeen Years of Age, of swarthy complexion, has black Hair, and two Molds on his Forehead. Had on a brown linsey-woolsey Jacket, Leather Breeches, a pair of Shoe packs, and Stockings footed White. He is supposed to have with him a Big Bay Horse, with a Switch Tail, and a Star in his Forehead, a half crop and a half penny in the Ear, and branded on the near Shoulder I P with a Dagger, over it. Whoever secures him and gives notice to George Shoemaker, Innkeeper, in Philadelphia, so that his Master may have him again, shall have Forty Shillings Reward, and Reasonable Charges paid, by DAVID POTTS.

The brand I P may have been the initials of Jonas Potts, who probably contributed to his son's start in life.

David Potts removed to Virginia, but at what time is not clear. One person gave the date as 1735. In 1881, Eliza (Potts) Neer, then above 80 years of age, said that David Potts, her great grandfather, on coming to Virginia, first settled in Jefferson County, where Cabletown now stands, and that his first wife died there. If this statement be true, then it is probable that the date named is substantially correct. It is however quite certain that he was in Fairfax County in 1746, when he leased a tract of land from Catesby Cocke, for five shillings in hand paid, with power to purchase. The lease was dated, November 16, 1746, and covered a tract of 866 acres on Kittockton Run, in Fairfax County. The annual rental was one ear of Indian corn. Subsequently Catesby Cocke and Mary, his wife, conveyed the same by deed to David Potts, who is therein described as yeoman.*

On June 9, 1747, David Potts leased for one year, 333 acres, part of this same tract, to William Williams, at an annual rental of one ear of Indian corn. Subsequently David Potts, and Ann R., his wife, sold the same to Williams.

On the same date, June 9th, David Potts leased to John Osburn, 200 acres of this tract, and later David Potts and Ann R., his wife, conveyed it to the said Osburn, by deed.

* NOTE. These abstracts have been taken from the Land Office records of Fairfax County, Virginia.

On July 16, 1753, Peter Lewis, yeoman, of Fairfax County, conveyed to David Potts, one hundred acres of land on Kittockton Run.

In 1755, Loudoun County was formed from the northern part of Fairfax County, and David Potts' land was included in the new County. The land of David Potts was located between the Short Hill and the Blue Ridge Mountain, in a valley known as Between-the-Hills.

Loudoun County land records show the following additional conveyances of land, in which David Potts was concerned. Liber A, folio 106. Catesby Cocke, of Fairfax County, sold to David Potts, 540 acres of land situated, formerly in Prince William, now Loudoun County. It is described as being north west of Short Hill, and on the south run of the north branch of Kittockton.

Liber A, folio 295. On May 8, 1759, David Potts sold and conveyed to "Jonas Potts, Smith, his half-brother," 270 acres, one half of a tract of land, formerly granted by Catesby Cocke to the said David Potts. In describing the boundary, mention is made of "the corner of Samuel Potts' land," and of "line of another Jonas Potts."

Liber A, folio 428. On April 8, 1760, Joshua Gove and Elizabeth, his wife, sold and conveyed to David Potts, 310 acres of land on the head branches of Piney Run and on the west side of Short Hill.

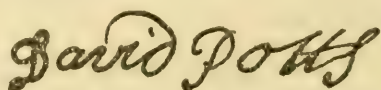

David Potts was brought up under the influence of the religious teaching of Friends, though it is not certain that he was recognized as a member in Pennsylvania. The first settlement of Friends in Virginia, dates from about 1731 or 1732, when Alexander Ross secured a grant of 100,000 acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley, with the intention of making a Friends' settlement there. Many Friends did remove to that valley, especially from Nottingham Meeting, in Chester County, Pennsylvania. This settlement was organized into Hopewell Monthly Meeting in 1735. Many Friends from Pennsylvania also settled within the limits of the present Loudoun County, and Fairfax Monthly Meeting in Virginia was established 5 mo. 31, 1745, although meetings for worship had been held there previous to this date, under the care of Concord Monthly Meeting, of Chester County, Pennsylvania. David Potts was taken under the care of Fairfax Monthly Meeting on 10 mo. 31, 1748, as shown by the following minute of that date.

David Potts having been for a considerable time under the care and notice of Friends, now requests to be received as a member in unity, and nothing appearing to obstruct, his request was granted.

At the same meeting his sons Jonas and Jonathan Potts were also received into membership, and his daughter Ann Potts appeared in a declaration of intended marriage with John Vestal. As David's other children were afterwards recognized as members of the meeting, it is probable that his own acceptance carried with it that of his minor children.

On 12 mo. 24, 1749-50, Fairfax Monthly Meeting, issued a certificate addressed to the Monthly Meeting of Friends held at Chesterfield in West Jersey, commending the acceptable service of Joshua Greeve, while sojourning with them. Among the signers was David Potts, whose signature is here fairly represented.

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "David Potts". The script is cursive, with the first letter 'D' being large and prominent, and the 'P' and 'T's' having long, sweeping descenders. The signature is written in a slightly slanted position.

Meetings were held at the house of David Potts for several years, it being commonly known as Potts' Meeting. The Fairfax Monthly Meeting of 8 mo. 30, 1755, has this entry.

The Friends living above Short Hill Ridge have a meeting kept at David Potts' House, this meeting thinks it reasonable, and allows them to hold meeting on every first and third First-Day in every month till further orders.

On 9 mo. 30, 1758, Fairfax Monthly Meeting appointed Joseph Burson,* Overseer at Potts' Particular Meeting until further orders. He was released as Overseer in 1762. It does not appear when this Meeting was discontinued.

David Potts was twice married. He first married Elizabeth Lane, probably in Pennsylvania. She was, evidently, a daughter of Edward Lane, of Perkiomen.† She is said to have been a woman of fair complexion, and was familiarly known as "Betty." His second wife was Ann R., whose maiden name has not come to notice. She was a woman of dark complexion, and was familiarly known as "Nancy."

David Potts erected a grist and saw mill on his land not far from his residence, which was largely patronized. A mill still stands on the same site. These lands have continued in the possession of his descendants down to the present time. A portion of ground was set apart for a graveyard in which many of the family lie buried. David Potts died about May 1, 1768, and was doubtless buried in the family graveyard, though no tombstone can now be found. His will was made 4 mo. 25, 1768, and proven May 9, following. Below is a copy.

The Will of David Potts, of Loudoun County, Virginia.

I, David Potts, of the County of Loudon, in the Colony of Virginia, Farmer, being weak of Body but of Perfect mind and Memory, thanks be given unto God for the same, and calling to mind the Mortality of my Body and that it is appointed unto all men once to die; I therefore recommend my Soul to him who gave it, and do ordain this my last Will and Testament in manner and form as followeth.

Perkiomen was in the neighborhood of Gilberts Manor, and the Lanes and Jonas Potts family did not live far apart. There was no other Lane family in the neighborhood. Among the descendants of David and Elizabeth (Lane) Potts are found such names as Edward, Christian, etc., evidently introduced from the Lane family, as they are not found in the Potts family prior to this marriage.

In Witness whereof I have hereunto put my hand and Seal, this 25th day of the 4th Month A. Domini 1768.

His
DAVID [David Potts] POTTS. (L.S.)
mark.

Jenkin David. Thomas Llewellyn. William Dillon.

This will was proven and recorded May 9, 1768. John Osburn and William Dillon were the Executors' bondsmen, who were held in the sum of £1000. Anne Potts, (widow), of the Parish of Cameron, County of Loudoun, was still living on May 13, 1771, when she executed a deed of gift to her son Samuel Potts, for "a negro Lad, named Austin."

Though the family were of the peaceful Society of Friends, some of them were given to settling disputes in a worldly, and sometimes in a summary manner. Some went so far as to join military companies, and to engage in light amusements, contrary to the teaching and practice of the Society. For these "outgoings" they sometimes made acceptable acknowledgments. At present all or nearly all are adherents of other religious denominations. The family attained to considerable wealth and high social position in northern Virginia. They were, however, greatly impoverished by the ravages of the Civil War.

* THE CONARD FAMILY. Thome Kunders was one of the thirteen heads of families from Crefeld, Germany, who founded Germantown in 1683. His wife's name was Elizabeth, supposed to have been a sister of William Streypers, another of the original settlers. Kunders died in 1729, leaving seven children, to wit:

- 1 Cunrad Cunraeds, b. 5 mo. 17, 1678; d. 1747; m. 1st, Ann Klincken, 1704; m. 2d, Ann Burson. Children, Anthony, Henry, James, John, Joseph, Dennis.

- 7 Elizabeth Cunrad, b. 2 mo. 28, 1691; m. Griffith Jones, 11 mo. 30, 1709.

Anthony Conard, son of Cunread Cunreads, married Sarah Hatfield. Their sons Jonathan and John settled in Loudoun County, Virginia, and married daughters of David Potts.

2 Jonas Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Elizabeth (Lane) Potts, was born about 1726, probably in Pennsylvania, and removed with his parents to Virginia. To distinguish him from his uncle Jonas Potts, who lived in the same neighborhood, he was sometimes called Jonas Potts, Junior, and at others, Jonas Potts, Farmer.

On 10 mo, 31, 1748, he was received into the membership of Friends, by Fairfax Monthly Meeting. On 2 mo. 29, 1752, he applied to the Monthly Meeting for a certificate of clearness, in order that he might proceed in marriage with Mary Stroud, a member of Hopewell Monthly Meeting, which was in due time granted and the marriage regularly consummated.

His father seems to have settled him upon a farm of 150 acres, and given him a one half interest in the grist mill. In 1761 he purchased 122 acres on the north fork of Kittockton from his uncle Jonas Potts, and in 1763 he sold 50 acres, part of this tract, to Thomas Bryant. In 1764, he purchased from Thomas Wilson and Margaret, his wife, 260 acres on the south fork of Kittockton.

He died August 15, 1768 at the age of forty two years, and was buried in the Potts graveyard. His tombstone bears the earliest inscription in the yard. The monument is a rough Blue Ridge stone, and the lettering is somewhat crudely and quaintly cut. A copy of the inscription is given below. The first line is curved upward in the form of an arc of a circle. Immediately below this curved line, are cut three inverted hearts, in positions indicated by the three asterisks.

Here Lies the Body
O DEPARTED THIS LI
FE YE 15 OF AUGUST IN YE
YEAR 1768.

His will bears date of July 31, 1768, and was filed and proven September 12, following. He mentions "my father David Potts, late deceased," and appoints "my two brothers-in-law, John Vestal and Samuel Person, [Pearson], both of Frederick County," as his executors. He mentions his wife and each of his children by name, and makes provision for them in the distribution of his estate. John Vestal took out letters testamentary, with Israel Thompson and Francis Hague as bondsmen in the sum of £1000. The inventory of his personality covers four folio pages.

CHILDREN OF JONAS AND MARY (STROUD) POTTS.

- 15 David Potts. In 1776, he joined a military Company and was disowned by Friends. No further account.
- 16 Samuel Potts. No further account.
- 17 Jonas Potts, b. —; d. Feb. 1, 1829; m. Phebe Brown.
- 18 Edward Potts, b. —; d. 1846; m. Mary Backhouse.
- 19 John Potts.
- 20 Hannah Potts, b. —; d. Nov. 15, 1828; m. 1st, William Vestal, 2d ——— Hall
- 21 Elizabeth Potts, m. ——— Osburn. Children, 1 Jonathan, 2 Uriah, 3 Margaret, 4 Hannah, 5 ———.

3 Jonathan Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Elizabeth (Lane) Potts, was probably born in Pennsylvania, and removed with his parents to Virginia. He was received into membership with Friends, on 10 mo. 31, 1748, by Fairfax Monthly Meeting. In 1754, he was married by a minister of some other religious denomination, to Elizabeth ———. For this breach of discipline he made acknowledgment, as shown by the following minute by the Monthly Meeting, under date of 6 mo, 29, 1754.

Jonathan Potts having been joined in marriage by a priest contrary to the good order observed among Friends, and voluntarily offered a paper from under his hand, for the Clearing of Truth which was read here, and appointed to be read at the Close of some Meeting for Worship,

At the next Monthly Meeting, held at Monoquesey, on 7 mo. 27, 1754, it was recorded that "Jonathan Potts' paper of condemnation was read according to the appointment of the last Monthly Meeting." This seems to be the last mention of him in the Friends minutes.

It seems that his father gave him a farm of one hundred and fifty acres near the Short Hill, which he subsequently sold to his brother Jonas Potts, and his father confirmed the conveyance by his will. His father, by his will, devised to him two tracts of land in Frederick County,—one of forty and the other of fifty acres.

In 1791, Denny Martin Fairfax, of Leeds Castle, England, leased to Jonathan Potts, of Frederick County, Virginia, 100 acres of land, part of the Manor of Leeds, during the lives of the said Jonathan Potts, Elizabeth his wife, and Joshua his son. Nathan Potts was a witness. Beyond the fact that there was a son Joshua, no further information has come to notice.

Two very old rough stones mark two graves, side by side, in the Potts graveyard, in Loudoun County, bearing simply the initials I. P. and E. P. They are quite near the grave of Jonas Potts, (2), and may possibly mark the last resting place of Jonathan and Elizabeth.

CHILD OF JONATHAN AND ELIZABETH (—) POTTS.

- 22 Joshua Potts. He is supposed to have left descendants in Frederick County, Virginia.

7 Samuel Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Ann R. (—) Potts, was probably the eldest by this marriage. He was twice married. First, in 1757, when he married out of meeting, and because he refused to confess the error of outgoing, he was disowned by Friends. The name of his first wife has not been given. He married, second, Elizabeth Thomas.

In 1759, in the description of the boundaries of the land sold by David Potts to his half brother, Jonas Potts, mention is made of "the corner of Samuel Potts' land." It would appear that David Potts had given his son Samuel a farm and confirmed the gift by his will. In 1771, Ann R. Potts, executed a deed of gift, to her son Samuel, for a "negro Lad named Austin." Samuel Potts is described as a man who did not worry over trifles. His residence was a one story log cabin. On one occasion it took fire, and the negro, Austin, carried a churn full of water from the spring and mounted with it to the roof. By some mishap the negro fell to the ground and was drenched with the water intended for the fire. This misadventure to the negro so amused the master, that he lay down upon the grass and laughed long and loud while his house burned to ashes.

He died in 1801. His will is dated Nov. 20, 1801, and was proven on September 14, following. He bequeathed all his estate, both real and personal to his "Loving wife Elizabeth." The witnesses to the will were Nathan Potts, William Smith and Jane Potts.

8 David Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Ann R. (——) Potts, was born April 11, 1738. He was originally a Friend, but his membership seems to have been severed in 1764. He was twice married, first to Mary Thomas, who died October 18, 1796. He married, second, Temperance Heith. His father, by his will, left him a plantation of 310 acres, and named him as one of his executors.

He died October 17, 1809. The inventory of his effects was filed July 9, 1810. In the division of his estate his widow and children John, Joseph Lewis and Mahala, only are mentioned. Perhaps the other children died young.

He married Elizabeth Mead, in 1769. The marriage was accomplished contrary to Friends discipline, and in consequence they lost membership. Elizabeth was a daughter of William and Ellen Mead, formerly of Wales. She was born October 6, 1745, and died January 22, 1825, in her 80th year. Ezekiel Potts died January 16, 1809, aged 67 years.

17 Jonas Potts,³ (Jonas,² David,¹), son of Jonas and Mary (Stroud) Potts, married Phebe Brown, daughter of David Brown, of Frederick County, Virginia, 4 mo. 7, 1794. The marriage was in unity with Friends, and the marriage certificate was recorded by Hopewell Monthly Meeting.

David Brown gave his daughter 200 acres of land, located in Frederick County, which Jonas Potts, and Phebe his wife, sold to William McDowell, in 1799, for $900. Phebe Potts died 9 mo. 23, 1806, aged thirty years. Jonas Potts died February 1, 1829, without issue it seems. His family Bible is still in possession of collateral relatives in Virginia.

18 Edward Potts,³ (Jonas,² David,¹), son of Jonas and Mary (Stroud) Potts, married Mary Backhouse, daughter of John and Mary Backhouse, of New Castle County, Delaware, 12 mo. 12, 1792. The marriage was effected according to the custom of Friends, and the certificate recorded by Fairfax Monthly Meeting. About 1840, complaint was made to the Monthly Meeting, that Edward Potts had purchased a slave and held him in bondage. On 6 mo. 10, 1840, "a testimony was produced as directed, against Edward Potts, which was read and signed." This is the last mention of any person named Potts by the Fairfax Monthly Meeting.

He was familiarly known as "Neddy Potts." He died in 1846, without issue. By will he bequeathed his estate to his wife, his sister Betsey Osburn, and numerous nephews and nieces. Mary, his widow, died about 1853. She left a small bequest to Benjamin Dixon, a colored man, whom Edward Potts, had emancipated during his life time.

19 John Potts,³ (Jonas,² David,¹), son of Jonas and Mary (Stroud) Potts, was still in his minority on 6 mo. 29, 1776, when he is mentioned in the minutes of Fairfax Monthly Meeting, as not placed among Friends. On 9 mo. 29, 1788, a complaint was made against John Potts, "for joining with light company in dancing," and as he failed to make satisfaction for his breach of discipline, a testimony was produced against him, 1 mo. 23, 1790.

It is probable that he married and left descendants, but nothing definite has been learned. His brother Edward, in his will, (1845), made a bequest to the children of his nephew John Potts, deceased. The children of this nephew John Potts were, 1 John, 2 William, 3 Jonas, 4 David.

33 John Potts,³ (David,² David,¹), son of David and Mary (Thomas) Potts, was born March 6, 1769, and died November 15, 1828. He married Mary Vestal, daughter of William and Hannah (Potts) Vestal, February 6, 1794. She was born Sep. 1, 1774, and died Nov. 13, 1828. John Potts was a surveyor and school teacher.

Memoranda. There are, evidently, many other descendants of David Potts, than are enumerated in the foregoing Chapter, but they have not come to the notice of the compiler.

STEPHEN POTTS, son of a Samuel Potts, was born Aug. 21, 1803, in Loudoun County, Virginia. When quite young, he removed with his parents to Ohio County, in the vicinity of Wheeling, and afterwards to Woodsfield, Monroe County, Ohio. In 1837, he married Sophia McKinley, and engaged in merchandizing. He was long a resident of Guernsey County, Ohio. He served as County Treasurer and as a member of the State Senate. He also held other minor offices of trust. He was long a Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian and later in the United Presbyterian Church. He died August 10, 1886. He had four children, only one of whom—Mrs. Belle P. McCartney—survived him.

* NOTE. It is quite remarkable that these twins lived to exactly the same age. Lucy was the eldest by one and a half hours, and in death preceded her sister by just the same space of time.

A Pedigree of the Family of David Potts, Loudoun County, Virginia.

CHAPTER XXI.

Jonas Potts, Loudoun County, Virginia.

I JONAS POTTS was undoubtedly a son of Jonas Potts, of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, by his second wife, and was evidently born in Pennsylvania. See Chapter VIII. The date of his birth has not been learned, but he was seemingly one of the younger children, perhaps the youngest child of Jonas. Tradition of descendants allege that the family came to Pennsylvania from Wales. Jonas was a blacksmith by trade. He is said to have been twice married, and that his second wife was Mary Heckathorn.

He removed to Loudoun County, Virginia, where he purchased 270 acres from David Potts, his half brother, as appears by deed dated, May 8, 1759.* This was one half of a tract of 540 acres that David Potts had previously bought from Catesby Cocke. Jonas Potts is described as "smith" in the deed. In 1760, Jonas Potts, blacksmith, and Mary, his wife, sold 100 acres, part of the foregoing, to Samuel Stroud, Jonas signs as "Jonas Potts, Smith."

On May 9, 1761, Jonas Potts, blacksmith, and Mary, his wife, sold 122 acres, part of the original purchase, to James Thomas. He signs, "Jonas Potts, Smith." On August 20, 1761, Jonas Potts obtained a patent from "the Proprietors office of the northern neck of Virginia," for a tract of land on or about Round Hill.

On October 13, 1761, he sold 122 acres on the north fork of Kittockton, to Jonas Potts, farmer.* In the description of boundaries, mention is made of "Samuel Potts' corner." He signs "Jonas Potts, Blacksmith." On June 11, 1764, he sold 371 acres, on or about Round Hill, to Thomas Humphreys. This was part of the tract granted by patent to Jonas Potts in 1761. He signs, "Jonas Potts, Blacksmith." Mary Potts joins her husband in signing each of the foregoing deeds of sale. There are probably other deeds on record in the name of this Jonas Potts, not examined by the compiler. Jonas Potts has been a common name in Loudoun County. Down to 1833, among the numerous Potts deeds recorded in that County, the index shows nearly fifty deeds in the name of Jonas Potts. These, of course, include several different persons who bore this name.

How long Jonas Potts continued to live in Loudoun County is not clear. He and all his children seem to have removed to western Pennsylvania or eastern Ohio before the close of the century, or shortly after. His descendants say that Jonas Potts settled at Georgetown, Beaver County, Pennsylvania, where he died about 1814, at a great age. Mary, his wife, died about 1812 or 1813. They were buried on Phillips Island, in the Ohio River. This island is the second above Georgetown.

As before stated, Jonas Potts is said to have been twice married. It is further alleged that Thomas and Noah were children by the second marriage. Information is, however, not sufficiently positive, to designate which were the children of each wife. Neither is it certain that they are all arranged below in the correct order of birth. The records of descendants which follow, have been mainly collected from members of the various branches, and while in many instances quite incomplete, are believed to be fairly accurate.

* NOTE. Jonas Potts, farmer, was the son of David Potts, and a nephew of Jonas Potts, smith. See page 295, ante.

He served in the Revolutionary army, in the Virginia Continental Line. On June 10, 1819, he was granted a soldier's pension. His age was then given as 77 years. * NOTE. The date of birth is found from his age given at the time his soldier's pension was granted.

† NOTE. The date of birth was given to the compiler by Jonathan's son William, and its correctness is confirmed by his age given at the granting of his pension. Jonathan Potts, (No. 47), mentions the death of his uncle in his diary, and incidentally says he was nearly 74 years old. This is clearly an error.

services, he was granted a pension on March 17, 1819. He married Elizabeth English about 1788. He was a blacksmith by trade, but was probably also engaged in farming. He removed from Loudoun County, Virginia, to Washington County, Pennsylvania, where he lived for several years. In 1800, his name appears in the assessment list for Hanover Township, when he is designated as "blacksmith." Shortly after this he removed to Jefferson County Ohio, where he died July 4, 1831. Elizabeth, his wife, died January 14, 1814.

4 John Potts,² (Jonas,¹), son of Jonas and Mary (—) Potts, served as a member of the Ninth Virginia Blues, in the Revolutionary War. The Virginia records show that John Potts was a Corporal in Captain Charles Porterfield's Company, as it stood November 30, 1778. He married Susan ———. John Potts removed from Loudoun County, Virginia, to Washington County, Pennsylvania, where he lived for several years. About the year 1800, he removed

5 Jonas Potts,² (Jonas,¹), son of Jonas and Mary (—) Potts was probably born in Loudoun County, Virginia, and died in Hanover Township, Washington County, Penna., about 1833. His wife's name was Hannah. There is a tradition that possibly applies to him. As a young man he removed to Washington County and settled in the woods. He is reported to have been a very strong and active man. It is alleged that he was sometimes compelled to take refuge in the thick branches of a huge grape-vine in the top of a tree, for the night, as a protection against wild animals. It is also alleged, that after some time he returned to Virginia, married a wife, and took her to his new home.

The records of deeds, in Washington County, show that he made several purchases of land, aggregating several hundred acres, which included the territory just west of the of the present village of Florence. Jonas and Hannah, his wife, join in deeds for the sale of several parcels of land. The will of Jonas Potts is dated June 1, 1822, and was proven April 18, 1833. In the will he describes himself as "being far advanced in age." In 1826, his mind having become impaired, a special act of Assembly was passed, making David Bruce, James Kerr, and Benjamin Bubbitt, trustees of his estate. In the same year, these trustees sold a tract of 36 acres and 75 perches, on petition of John Carroll, a grandson of Jonas Potts.

She was born May —, 1770. In 1799, he removed to Washington County, Pennsylvania, arriving at the home of his brother Jonas Potts, on October 20. He engaged in farming, and continued to live in Washington County until about 1825, when he removed to Fox Township, Carroll County, Ohio.

Virginia. He married Milly Suver, August 3, 1797. He was Overseer of a plantation for some time, perhaps in Frederick County, as his son David is said to have been born in that County. About 1814, he removed to Richland [now Ashland] County, Ohio, near the town of Hayesville. He settled in the woods, five miles from his nearest neighbor, and lived in a covered wagon while he built a log cabin. About 1837, he removed to Lawrence County, Illinois, and died there, perhaps at about 80 years of age. His wife is said to died at above 90 years of age. Some of the family allege that Nathan Potts died in Ohio and was buried at or near Hayesville.

Jonathan Potts left some very interesting memoranda, in the form diaries, being in substance an autobiography, covering his school days and a further period to about 1835. These memoranda are contained in about forty small volumes, and are a mixture of daily doings, comments and record of business transactions. His account of his school days, at Bricelands Cross Roads, [now Florence,] is quite interesting. From 1823 to 1831, he was engaged as a traveling book-seller, covering western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. He carried his wares in a two-horse wagon. In this business he was either a partner or employee of James Turnbull, of Steubenville, Ohio. On quitting this business he retired to a farm in Carroll County, Ohio.

A Short Pedigree of Jonas Potts' Family.

CHAPTER XXII.

Jonathan Potts, of Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

1 JONATHAN POTTS,¹ born 1714, in Pennsylvania, is believed to have been the son of Jonas Potts, of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, by his second wife. [See Chapter VIII, pages 220 to 230, ante]. He removed, first, to Virginia, (supposed to Loudoun County), and from there to Kentucky, where he spent the remainder of his life. The meager account we have of Jonathan Potts is largely founded upon tradition, communicated by aged members of the family.

In 1878, Mr. Edwin H. Potts,* then aged sixty nine years, gave the writer some interesting and valuable information, concerning the early history of the family. Nearly all his statements have since been verified by written records. Among other things he stated that two nephews [half brothers] of his ancestor, David Potts,—Jonas Potts and Jonathan Potts by names,—after living in Loudoun County for some time, removed to the west, Jonas settling in western Pennsylvania. Since then Jonas Potts, who settled in western Pennsylvania, and his descendants, have been quite fully traced and the result given in Chapter XXI.

In the year 1887, Mr. Joel Potts, of Sharpsburg, Illinois, then above seventy five years of age, and a grandson of Jonathan Potts, informed the writer that the traditions of his family allege, that the Potts family came from

* NOTE, For the record of Edwin H. Potts, see pages 303, 305 and 306, ante.

Wales to Pennsylvania with William Penn ; that the emigrant family were Quakers, being driven from Wales by reason of the religious persecution they had endured, on account of their faith. His grandfather removed from Pennsylvania to Virginia, and from thence to Kentucky, where the family endured the hardships and privations incident to frontier life and the hostility of the Indians. Other members of the family have the same tradition of Welsh descent.

Mr. George W. Potts, of Bowling Green, Kentucky, and fifth in descent from Jonathan Potts, has in his possession an old Bible, which seems to have originally belonged to his ancestor, the said Jonathan. This Bible contains numerous manuscript entries of records and sometimes meaningless scribbling. The book is in a very dilapidated condition, and much of the original writing is either partially or wholly faded out. It would seem that sometime children may have made a plaything of the book, and practiced in a first essay at penmanship across the records. Below is given all that can be deciphered of the early records and entries, which have any bearing on the early history of the family. On the first fly-leaf are the following entries,

John Potts his Book God Giv him Grace to Look there on 1768

Emey Potts Hur Book

John Potts his Hand and pen

Jonathan Potts

On the next page of the fly-leaf is what seems to have been an original record of births. It is, from its appearance, the earliest writing in the book, but is now only partially legible on account of the faded ink, and later careless scribbling over the records. So far as decipherable, this is what remains,

This old Bible was loaned to the writer hereof, for some time, giving him the opportunity for a careful study of the now imperfect records. He was led to believe that Jonathan and John were used as synonymous names for the same person. Whether Emey was intended for Amy or Emma is uncertain, but possibly for the former, as this name recurs as the name of a granddaughter. The record of births, is undoubtedly that of the children of Jonathan and Emey, as the latter acknowledges Nathan Potts as her son in one of the Bible entries. From other reliable family authority, it is learned that Jonathan had a son David, and another daughter beside Sarah. Jonathan and Emey Potts were probably married in Pennsylvania. Below is given a list of children so far as possible. It is worth while to remark that the names Jonathan, Nathan, David, and Ezekiel, are duplicates of names common in the families of David Potts, of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, and of David Potts and Jonas Potts, of Loudoun County, Virginia.

* NOTE. This date seems to be plainly written 1767. It is hardly the date of birth, unless it was intended for 1747. It may be the date of a death.

He settled in Mercer County, and engaged in farming. He suffered much from the incursions of hostile Indians. In religious persuasion he was a Baptist. He learned to read after his marriage, and then confined his reading to the Bible. He married, first, Elizabeth Luna. After her death, and when he was about sixty years of age, he married, second, Mrs. Martha Short, a widow with two children. Her maiden name was Tines.

* NOTE. Except of David, very little information of the children of Jonathan Potts has come to notice. Two of the sons are said to have been drowned in the river by the parting of a raft. Mr. Joel Potts says his aunt Sarah married Robert Rowland, had children and removed to Missouri. He also says that another aunt, whose name he had forgotten, married a man named Burke, and that Burkesville, Kentucky, took its name from him. She had no children, and is said to have lived to the great age of 115 years.

10 Jeremiah Potts,³ (David,² Jonathan,¹), son of David and Elizabeth (Luna) Potts, settled in Union County, Kentucky, near Morganfield. He was a farmer and a great hunter. He lived to a great age. He is said to have reached 100 years. He married and raised a family.

CHAPTER XXIII.

John Potts, of Path Valley, Pennsylvania.

I JOHN POTTS, is said to have been born in 1729, in Dublin, Ireland, and died in 1785, in Pennsylvania.* He was educated in London, and prepared for the ministry in the Church of England. He is said to have been a schoolmate and fast friend of King George III. Being too young to take orders in the Church, he was placed for a time in his uncle's store in London. Through some mishap he lost some books or papers belonging to his uncle. He took the matter greatly to heart, renounced his intention to take clerical orders, and applied for a Commission in the Army. He was appointed a topographic engineer under General Braddock, in 1750, and came to America. He was at the memorable defeat at Duquesne, and escaped the general massacre, but his servants were all slain. He remained in Pennsylvania and settled in Path Valley, Cumberland County,—now included in the western part of Franklin County. He was among the earliest settlers of that section, and built the first grist-mill in the valley.

It is alleged that the English Government gave him the grant of a large tract of land, but shortly after the opening of the Revolutionary War, he became mentally deranged and destroyed his patents, deeds, etc. After his death, his children deemed it useless to press any claim for remuneration, the Colonies being then separated from Great Britain. The family have a tradition that two brothers of John Potts came to America and that one of them settled at Pottsgrove. There seems to be nothing to support this tradition. John Potts married Elizabeth Stevens about 1757.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Potts Family of Northumberland County, Virginia.*

1 ROBERT POTTS is found in Northumberland County, Virginia, as early as 1756. The land records of that County show the following purchases of land.

Sept. 13, 1756, from John Hill, eighteen acres.

Dec. 26, 1762, from Robert Carter, a lease of land.

March 8, 1773, from George Edwards, a tract of land.

Robert Potts' wife's name was Frances, and as the family is said to have been related to the Hills, her maiden name is supposed to have been Hill.

Robert Potts died about 1778, probably at quite an old age. His will is dated Sept. 15, 1777, and was proven June 8, 1778. He mentions his wife Frances; his sons Thomas, Robert and Enoch; his daughters Betty Pitman, Martha Pitman, Sukey Pitman and Nancy Potts; his son-in-law John Boyd; and his grand-children Thomas Potts and Frances Boyd.

- 5 Betty Potts, m. — Pitman.
- 6 Martha Potts, m. — Pitman.
- 7 Sukey Potts, m. — Pitman.

* NOTE. This Chapter has been compiled from some brief abstracts from the official records of Northumberland County, and from information received from Warner K. C. Potts, of Mexico, Missouri.

2 Thomas Potts,¹ (Robert,¹), son of Robert and Frances Potts, married Judith Sutton, daughter of William Sutton, deceased, as appears from a bond recorded in Northumberland County, dated Feb. 3, 1777. On July 12, 1779, Enoch Potts executed a deed to Thomas Potts for land inherited from Robert Potts, his father. Thomas afterwards removed to the adjoining County of Lancaster, and on June 17, 1793, he conveyed land formerly belonging to Robert Potts, his father, to Thomas Potts, Jr., his son, who was described as of Northumberland County. Enoch Potts and Robert Potts are named in the deed as brothers of Thomas, Senior. On Sept. 6, 1805, Thomas Potts and Judith, his wife, conveyed to Thomas Webb 142½ acres of land in Northumberland County; and on October 30, following, Thomas Webb and wife conveyed the same amount of land to Thomas Potts. From a deed dated Jan. 14, 1811, it appears that Thomas Potts was a trustee for Jessie Pitman. Whether there were other children than Thomas, Jr., has not been learned.

He married Mary Garlington, daughter of William and Lucy (Carroll) Garlington. The Northumberland County records show a deed made in 1814 by Enoch and Polly Potts, (who was formerly Polly Garlington), to William Garlington, for his wife's interest in dower land held by Lucy Garlington.

About this time he removed to Baltimore, and when the British army made the sally on that city in August, 1814, he lost all his negroes—ten likely men beside several women and children. After a couple of years in Baltimore, he removed to Kentucky and from there to Cooper County, Missouri, where he died about 1845 or 1846.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Potts Family of Barbadoes and Maryland.

The Barbadoes-Maryland family of POTTS take their descent from WILLIAM POTTS, who seems to have emigrated from Kings County, Ireland, to the Island of Barbadoes in the West Indies, probably in the early part of the eighteenth century. This is corroborated, both by tradition and old family letters still preserved. The earliest Bible record begins with William Potts and wife Rebecca in Barbadoes. This family has long been one of high social standing.

I WILLIAM POTTS,¹ (William,^a), son of William Potts, of Kings County, Ireland, was born, perhaps about 1690 or a little later.* For an account of the family in Ireland, see pages 97 to 111, in this volume. William Potts settled at Bridgetown, in the Island of Barbadoes, and was probably a planter. His wife's name was Rebecca, but of what family she was has not been discovered. William Potts died in 1721, leaving a widow Rebecca and a son and daughter.

Rebecca Potts, the widow, seems to have married, as her second husband, John Jones. The Bible which contains record of the birth of William Potts, son of William and Rebecca, in 1718, has next following the birth of John Jones, son of John and Rebecca, in 1723.

William Potts, by his will, left his estate to his son William. He named his wife Rebecca as executrix, and she was to have the enjoyment of the estate during William's minority. From letters extant Rebecca seems to have been still living in 1767.

2 William Potts,² (William,¹ William,ⁿ), son of William and Rebecca Potts, was born in 1718, in the Island of Barbadoes. He removed to Maryland and took up land on the Choptank river. About 1740 or 1741, he married Sarah Lee, daughter of Philip Lee, of Prince George County.* He continued to live in Maryland until about 1753 or 1754, when he returned to Barbadoes. In 1756, he took his son William to London and placed him in the care of an aunt to be educated. He died at Gaudeloupe, West Indes, in 1761, aged about 43 years. Sarah his widow died in 1790, at the home of her son Richard Potts.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Some Early Potts Settlers in North Carolina.*

About the middle of the eighteenth century, many families removed from Pennsylvania and adjoining states and settled in North Carolina. Sometimes considerable numbers from the same community removed in a body. Among those from Pennsylvania, many settled in Rowan County, which originally included all the western part of the state. Many of these early settlers were Scotch-Irish Presbyterians. About 1750, Fourth Creek Presbyterian Church was organized at the place now occupied by the town of Statesville. About 1773, a map of the territory occupied by this Congregation was constructed, embracing a section within a radius of ten or twelve miles around the Church. The names of more than one hundred heads of families, including many of the original settlers appear upon this map. On Fourth Creek, some four or five miles above the Church, was Moses Potts. Henry Potts was a little farther up, and a few miles farther was James Potts. James M. Potts, a grandson of Moses Potts, informed the writer hereof, that Moses Potts had a brother John, who came with him, first to Pennsylvania and later to North Carolina.

Upon the organization of Iredell County, the Potts' were included within the new County. Moses and John Potts removed to Georgia, Henry Potts died in Rowan County, and James Potts seems to have removed to Mecklenburg

* NOTE. The compiler of this Chapter is indebted to the late Rev. Elijah F. Rockwell, D. D., for much of the information contained herein. Dr. Rockwell, was a Presbyterian minister, a teacher, and a local historian of repute. He settled in Iredell County in 1840 and died in 1888, aged seventy nine years.

County, which adjoins Iredell on the south. Tradition alleges that these Potts' were Scotch-Irish. This may have grown out of the fact that they lived among and intermarried with these people, or they may actually have come from the north of Ireland, where a number of Potts' have long been settled. These north of Ireland Potts' seem however to have gone there from English Counties.

The early settlers in Rowan County suffered much from the attacks of hostile Indians. The following sketch was written by the late Rev. E. F. Rockwell, D. D., in 1847.

The most disastrous attack of the Indians, during the time of Fort Dobb,* (1755-1763), of which tradition gives us any account, was when a party went out to forage at the old Moses Potts place, a house that stood near where the little branch, back of John H. MacLelland's, enters Fourth Creek, and above the Nesbit place. It is said that in this company, there were fifteen or twenty men, some young, some old. The Indians attacked them suddenly at the house. One mortally wounded and scalped, crept back into an out-building and died. Some fled across the Creek and up a steep ravine, pursued by the foe. Of these some escaped to the Fort; but one wounded man ran until within sight of the Fort and fell dead. He was buried on the spot where he fell, by the side of the road, in front of where the Huggins place now is.†

At this time Smith Billy Morrison fell in jumping the Creek, just as the Indian in pursuit shot his arrow, which missed him and passing over struck on the opposite bank before him. Rising from the water he caught it, and raising his gun, not loaded, he pointed it at the Indian who fled. Some say that Fergus Sloan was in the company and finding at the house a colt of his that had been turned loose, and converting a rope he had to tie fodder with into a halter, he put it on the horse. Not being able to guide the horse when the Indians began to yell, he ran down the other side of the Creek through the muddy bottom. Morrison ran after him with an Indian in pursuit. Mr. Sloan would stop occasionally and point his gun at the Indian and wait for Morrison to come up, when he would go on again. At length the Indian threw his tomahawk, but Morrison happening to stumble at that moment, the weapon went over his head. Recovering his feet he seized the weapon, and now as the Indian was disarmed he mounted the horse with Sloan and both escaped.

* NOTE. Fort Dobb was located about three miles above where Statesville is now built.

† NOTE. Dr. Rockwell says he saw the grave in the forties. The road is now changed and all traces of the grave have disappeared.

Among those killed on this occasion, was one by the name of Ray and two McKnights. A scouting party went out into what is now Catawba County and came upon a party of savages in a deserted house. The whites got behind a stack of straw and threw pine torches on the roof of the house and set it on fire. The Indians ran from the house and some of them were killed. The scouting party recovered the clothes and scalps of those killed at the Potts place, which were identified by the friends of the slain.

At an early day a store was kept by John Nesbit about three miles north of the present Statesville, in close proximity to the Potts families. This store was continued until the founding of Statesville in 1788, when it was removed to the new town. Some of the old legers, still preserved, fell into the possession of the late Rev. E. F. Rockwell, D. D. Numerous accounts with different Potts' are found, such as

James Potts, Sr., and James Potts, Jr., 1792-4.

William Potts, Sr., and William Potts, Jr., 1792-4.

Robert Potts, son of William, saddler, 1791-4.

William Potts, saddler, 1794.

Henry Potts, son of James, 1791.

William Potts, son of James, 1793.

Widow Potts, 1791, and Ann Potts, 1793.

As some of these names were common to all the families, it is not always possible to identify individuals mentioned here and elsewhere from time to time. Among those not positively identified, mentioned by Dr. Rockwell, was one William Potts, who had children Eli, James, (called lame James), Pamela, Sophia, Emeline and Dora. Sophia died from exposure on the cold Saturday in February, 1835, while winnowing oats in the barn. Emeline married one Summers and died before 1885. Several members of the Potts family married Halls.

These families of Potts all seem to have been of the same connection. There were other Potts' in the County who seem to have been quite distinct.

Thomas Potts appears as a Justice of the Peace in Rowan County about 1753 or '54. He is thought to have lived in the Jersey settlement, where Potts Creek * empties into the Yadkin River. This locality is now included in Davidson County and is north east of Salisbury.

Jeremiah Potts, of Rowan County, died about 1822 or '23, leaving a will dated May 9, 1822, and proven May 1823, in which he mentions his wife Verlinder. Among his personal effects are included a lot of cooper and carpenter tools. [See Will Book H P, page 280, at Salisbury].

George Potts, of the same County, died about 1825 or '26, leaving a will dated July 20, 1823, and proved February 1826, in which he names his children Hamblin, Jeremiah, Josiah, Crescey, Nancy, Rebecca and Sally. [See Will Book H P, page 328, at Salisbury].

It is probable that Moses, John, Henry and James Potts were near of kin, possibly brothers or cousins. They and their descendants will be treated of in the next succeeding Chapters.

* NOTE. In Davidson County, which was formed from Rowan County, are two small streams still known as First and Second Potts Creeks.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Moses Potts, of Iredell County, North Carolina.

1 MOSES POTTS is said to have emigrated from Ireland and first settled in Pennsylvania.* He seems to have located in Derry Township, Lancaster [now Dauphin] County, where he appears as a taxable for the year 1751. The tax-list for 1755 does not contain his name, but it appears in that for 1757. He removed, perhaps along with many others, to Rowan County, North Carolina. The date of his removal was probably shortly after 1751. He settled on Fourth Creek, about four miles above the present Statesville. His name appears on the map of the Fourth Creek Presbyterian Congregation in 1773. Iredell County was formed in 1788, and Moses Potts was included within the limits of the new County.

He married, first, Jane McKee, who died in North Carolina. He married, second, Elizabeth Neely. He removed to Bowling Green District, Oglethorpe County, Georgia, perhaps before the close of the century, and died there. Perhaps there were other children beside those named below.

John McRay of Delaware, who was then visiting his brother in N. Carolina. A daughter married Willis Gray and died at nearly 93 years.

* NOTE. One (1) WILLIAM POTTS (who Rev. Dr. Rockwell says was a brother of lame James) had a son (2) WILLIAM POTTS, born April 6, 1792. The mother is said to have been Ann Allison.

2 WILLIAM POTTS, the son, was known as Major Potts. He married Jane G. Knox in 1828. There is still in existence an old letter, written in 1828, by the son to his father in Jackson County, Georgia, describing his marriage to Miss Knox. He died October 13, 1835. They had children as follows,

3 Mary Elizabeth Potts, b. Feb. 11, 1829; d. May 9, 1830.

During the Civil War, the farm was rented out, and many articles were allowed to remain in the house and among them Moses Potts' family Bible. Shortly afterwards the house was destroyed by fire. The Bible disappeared, but whether destroyed or carried off is unknown. Napoleon B. Potts, removed to Watkinsville and died in 1871. The surviving children live at Atlanta.

CHAPTER XXIX.

John Potts, of Iredell County, North Carolina.

1 JOHN POTTS is said to have been a brother of Moses Potts, and to have removed with him from Pennsylvania to North Carolina. He later removed to Georgia and died in Jasper County. His wife's name has not been furnished. James M. Potts, a grandson of Moses Potts, says he often heard his father speak of his "Aunt Ann Potts," but does not know whether she was a sister or sister-in-law of Moses Potts. There may have been other children beside those named below.

ably the same who, his descendants say, removed from Pennsylvania to Oglethorpe County, Georgia.* When he was about forty years old, he is said to have married Margaret Potts, a cousin. Perhaps she was the daughter of Henry Potts. [See No. 5, page 376]. He is described as a man of fine physique and great activity. He acquired quite a large estate and was fond of gaming and horse-racing. He was thrown from his horse and killed about the year 1818. He and his wife were buried side by side in Bowling Green District, Oglethorpe County. No tombstones now remain.

CHAPTER XXX.

Henry Potts, of Rowan County, North Carolina.

1 HENRY POTTS lived on Fourth Creek in Rowan County, North Carolina, about a mile above Moses Potts, and four or five miles from the present town of Statesville. This section was afterwards included in Iredell County. He was probably a farmer, and was evidently a near relative of Moses and John Potts. His wife's name was Margaret. He died in 1775. His will recorded in Will-Book A, page 147, at Salisbury, was made January 18, 1775, and proven May, 1775. He names his wife Margaret and children James, William, Henry, Margaret, Mary and Sarah. Moses Potts was a subscribing witness.

CHAPTER XXXI.

The Potts' of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

The history of the Potts' of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, presents an interesting field for the genealogist. The compiler hereof has only been able to secure partial and very brief abstracts of the public records of that section. It is believed that a careful examination of the County records of Rowan, Iredell and Mecklenburg would reveal much information, and perhaps show other connecting links and develop a clearer showing of the earlier generations than is given below. The compiler of this work was very fortunate in having had, years ago, correspondence with several aged members of the family, who are now deceased, and who gave much valuable information. The traditions of descendants all agree in alleging that their Potts ancestors went from Pennsylvania to North Carolina. One tradition alleges that they went south from about Philadelphia, and another that they were from Pottsville. There is, however, nothing to show any connection with any of the Potts' of southeastern Pennsylvania.

1 JAMES POTTS is found on Fourth Creek, Rowan [now Iredell] County, North Carolina, sometime after 1750. He lived above the Moses and Henry Potts' places, and was probably a near relative of these—at least their descendants claimed to be cousins. On April 12, 1763, James Potts, described as of Rowan County, purchased from Edward Fanning, a tract of 443 acres of land in Mecklenburg County. He died about 1781. In his will dated July 16, 1781, he mentions his children, John, William, James and Jane.

2 John Potts,² (James,¹), son of James Potts, seems to be the same who, on Jan. 16, 1770, conveyed 636 acres of land in Mecklenburg County, to his son Robert Potts. Both are described as of that County. He was twice married. In his will, dated May 1, 1783, he mentions his children, James, William, Robert and Margaret.

3 William Potts,² (James,¹), son of James Potts, seems to be the same who married Lydia McCue, Nov. 11, 1779. On January 13, 1778, James Potts conveyed 550 acres of land in Mecklenburg County to William Potts. Perhaps this was a conveyance from father to son. He died Nov. 29, 1800. In his will dated Nov. 21, 1800, he mentions his wife Lydia and his children James, William and Mary. Lydia Potts, the widow, married Col. Geo. Graham in 1802.

4 James Potts,² (James,¹) son of James. Of him no definite account has been learned. It is probable that he left descendants, as there were those not otherwise accounted for, and who will be mentioned in the latter part of this Chapter.

6 James Potts,³ (John,² James,¹), son of John Potts, by his first wife, married Sarah Tinon or Tinnen. In the latter part of his life he lived with his son Robert.

He lived about two miles from Concord Presbyterian Church for many years, but about 1832 or '33 he and all his family removed to Sumner County, Tennessee. In the Spring of 1835, he and his family, except his sons Thomas and Robert, removed to Jersey County, Illinois, where he took up land and became a well-to-do farmer. He married Margaret Anderson, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Maben) Anderson, Sept. 9, 1799, in Iredell Co., N.C.

Supplementary Records.

Beside the foregoing, there were at least two heads of families in Mecklenburg County—JOHN POTTS and JAMES POTTS—who were undoubtedly descendants of James Potts, but the connection is not clear to the compiler. They may have been children of James Potts, Jr., (No. 4). The following account of John Potts and his descendants is founded, mainly, upon information furnished by the late John Grier Potts, of Pineville, North Carolina.

1 John Potts, settled on a plantation on Six-Mile Run, then in Mecklenburg County, but now included within the limits of Union County. This land is still owned and occupied by descendants. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War and was engaged in the battle of Hanging Rock, in South Carolina. He married Nancy Houston, who is said to have been ten years of age when her parents emigrated from Ireland. The will of Agnes Potts, dated 1830, is on record in Mecklenburg County. Whether she was identical with Nancy Houston, or was a second wife of John Potts, is not clear in the light of present information. In the will she mentions each of her eight children.

He was a mahinist and ginwrightman, but also engaged in merchandising and hotel keeping. He at different times lived at Columbus, Lexington, Pontotoc and Holly Springs, Mississippi. He accumulated great wealth and was a great landed proprietor. At the breaking out of the Civil War, he owned ninty-six sections of land, embracing Marshall, Benton and Tippah Counties, Mississippi, and his annual taxes then amounted to $19,500. He was a useful man in his community and generous to all in need. During the Civil War, he was taken prisoner and confined at Alton, Illinois, where he died at the age of sixty-two years. His widow died February, 1870. Three children died young. A post-office in Marshall County, called Potts Camp, was named in his honor.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

The Potts Family of Eastern Virginia.

About the year 1879, the compiler hereof had some correspondence with the late Col. David G. Potts, then Postmaster at Petersburg, Virginia. A family affliction—the tragic death of a son of Col. Potts, in a railroad accident—occurring in that year, interrupted the correspondence, and it was unfortunately not renewed.

Col. Potts stated that he had been told by his father that his Potts ancestors came from Wales, but whether direct to Virginia or not, he had no information. He further stated that his great grandfather, whose name he thinks was John, settled on the James River in Surry County, Virginia. He also stated that his great grandfather had brothers William, Joshua, Abner and James. William Potts, who is called Lieutenant by Col. Potts' son, is said to have been killed in a naval engagement, during the Revolutionary War. One of the other brothers is said to have settled in North Carolina, one in Kentucky, and the other in Tennessee.

An examination of the Surry County Court records down to 1741, only revealed one person bearing the name of Potts. In 1705, one Thomas Potts was fined for swearing, a common offense at that day. An examination of later records might reveal more definite information.

The general Index of Wills in Sussex County shows the following.

- 1814. Will of John Potts.
- 1824. Inventory of the Estate of Charles Potts.
- 1846. Will of Thomas Potts.
- 1855. Nathaniel L. Potts, account of sale under a trust deed.

Brunswick County was formed from Surry County in 1720, and the public records are complete from the beginning. Judge N. S. Turnbull, of Lawrenceville, that County, and who is familiar with the records, informs the writer that the name of Potts occurs very frequently among official records, and the family was evidently of prominence and high standing. These records are not indexed and the papers on file and many of the books have to be examined one by one and page by page. Here is a promising field for the genealogist. Perhaps these Potts' of Eastern Virginia, are descended from some of the family who settled about Jamestown in the seventeenth century.*

The information at hand concerning this family is very meager. The tabulated pedigree at the end of this Chapter gives a fair showing of the family, so far as the compiler has any information.

———, ¹), son of Thomas Potts, was born August 27, 1810, in Sussex County. He engaged in farming for some years. Upon attaining his majority he was elected to the office of Sheriff. He removed to Petersburg, Dinwiddie County, where he was long engaged as a merchant. He was Treasurer of the P. & W. R. R. for 19 years. In religious persuasion he was a Baptist, and took a very active part in all Church matters. He was a liberal contributor to his Church and to all benevolent objects, even to his own detriment. He was the embodiment of integrity, and his counsel and advice was sought concerning all local matters. He was a Colonel of the State Troops before the Civil War. He was a strong Union man and took an active part in opposing Secession, but when his State seceded he cast his lot with his people. He did not enter the Army, but served as President of the Board of Charities of his City, to look after the needs of those whose supporters were doing duty in the Army. The whole business of the Board devolved upon him. He gave his services without charge. When the Federal Army entered Petersburg, the captured supplies were turned over to Col. Potts, by the Federal authorities, for distribution among the destitute of the City. In 1878, he was appointed Postmaster of Petersburg by President Hayes, notwithstanding the fact that he was a staunch Democrat and was careful to apprise the President thereof, before the appointment. He filled the position for five years.

Col. Potts married Rebecca Parham Schoolfield, daughter of Dr. Joseph and Mary (Lewis) Schoolfield. Col. Potts died January 31, 1887, in the 77th year of his age.

1 RICHARD POTTS was born about 1753. He was a farmer of King George County, and a man of means, being a slaveholder. He married a widow Barrett. He died about 1823, leaving a will which was probated August 7th of that year.

CHAPTER XXXV.

The Potts' of Georgetown District, South Carolina.

1 THOMAS POTTS,* tradition alleges, came from Northumberland County, England, possibly about 1720 to 1730, and settled on the Pedee River, in Georgetown District, South Carolina. Whether he brought a wife with him or not is not known. His descendants were clanish, and when occasion demanded, removed in a body to another locality. About 1825, they left the rice district, on account of its unhealthfulness, and removed to the oak and hickory lands of Chester District, and again, in 1836, to Winston County, Mississippi. Prior to the Civil War, this family were quite wealthy, but lost nearly all their property during that conflict. Since then they have scattered to various places, many settling in Texas.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Dr. Anthony Potts, and his Family.

The compiler has some fragmentary account of a family who took their origin in County Northumberland, England. They are in all probability descended from the same parent stock, as those of Chapter XXXV. The information at hand is embodied in letters from several members of the family, which contain general data, but are very defective as to individual names. The following is a summary of the information at hand.

1 ANTHONY POTTS,¹ whose wife's name was Hannah, lived at Herdlaw, Parish of Elsdon, in the County Northumberland, England. They had a son,

2 William Potts,² who married and had a son,

3 William Potts,³ who was a surgeon and apothecary, at New Castle-on-Tyne, County Northumberland, England. He was twice married. Two sons by the first marriage are said to have left England, one going to North America and the other to South America. [Possibly Carolinas]. He married, second, Mary Brown and had a son,

4 Dr. Anthony Potts,⁴ who was born about 1759, at New Castle-on-Tyne. He was a physician. He married Ann Brown, daughter of James Brown, Brewer, etc., of Wylam, England, about 1790. About 1794, they emigrated to the United States, and settled, first, either in Virginia or New York. After a few years they removed to Fayette County, Ohio, where they remained until 1820, when they removed to Illinois and settled in Green County. He died in 1852, at the great age of 93 years. He raised three sons and three daughters.

Supplementary Notes.

There is a family of Potts' in Washington and Beaufort Counties, North Carolina, whose history has not been traced. Mr. W. A. Potts, Jr., of Washington, N. C., informed the compiler that his Potts ancestor came from Northumberland County, Eng., and was one of the earliest settlers of Washington County, but no further information was furnished.

Capt. Thomas Potts Miller, (No. 19, p. 410, ante,) who was born 1804, said that in his boyhood he heard mention of an Anthony Potts, who was spoken of by the family as "Cousin Anthony."

It is possible that all these Northumberland County families of Potts' were nearly related.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

A Potts Family of Charleston, South Carolina.

The data at hand concerning this family is very meager. It is designated as of Charleston, because that was the first place of settlement on coming to America. The facts printed below have been obtained from Dr. Samuel T. Potts, of Augusta, Georgia, whose father died when he was an infant. The family records seem to have been lost.

1 ALEXANDER POTTS married Miss Charlotte McKentire, in Scotland, and after the birth of their first child, emigrated to America and settled at Charleston, South Carolina, about the time of Revolutionary War. After living in Charleston for sometime, they removed to the vicinity of Petersburg, Virginia. He sent his sons William T. and Robert to London where they were educated. Alexander Potts died suddenly while about his stables.

3 William Thornell Potts,² (Alexander,¹), son of Alexander and Charlotte (McKentire) Potts, was born at Charleston, South Carolina. He was educated at London, England. Upon his return from abroad, he entered into business speculations. In his last venture he went to New Orleans, and there invested his capital in a cargo of cotton, intending to sail to England, and after disposing of his venture, to settle in London. Just previous to sailing, the vessel took fire and the entire outfit and cargo were destroyed. After this misfortune, he returned to Petersburg. In 1834, he went to South Carolina, where he met and married Anna Simmons, and settled in Horry District. He engaged in teaching and attained considerable eminence in his profession. In 1840, the family removed to Wilmington, North Carolina, where Mr. Potts and his three eldest children died of yellow fever the same year.

11 Dr. Samuel T. Potts,³ (William Thornell,² Alexander,¹), son of William Thornell and Anna (Simmons) Potts, was born about 1839. He studied medicine and traveled much. Owing to a physical affection, he was compelled to relinquish the practice of medicine, and engaged in mercantile pursuits at Augusta, Georgia. He married Sarah Elizabeth Carrow, of Craven County, North Carolina, 1862. The compiler is indebted to Dr. Potts for the information contained in this Chapter.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

The Potts' of Davies County, Kentucky.

A family of Potts' was settled in Davies County, Kentucky, in the early part of the nineteenth century, but the time of coming to America or of settlement in Kentucky, seems to be unknown. There is a tradition that the family is descended from one Solomon Q. Potts, of Northampton, England, who is said to have had sons Ezekiel E., Christopher A., and Washington A. The two latter are said to have been Commanders of British war ships, and to have been buried at Northampton. Ezekiel is alleged to have been the father or ancestor of RICHARD F. POTTS.

1 RICHARD F. POTTS, is said to have been born July 4, 1776, and was a resident of Kentucky, near Owensboro, Davies County, it is supposed. His wife was Betsey Cummings. He died at about 70 years of age, and his wife at about 96 years.

A Potts Family from County Cavin, Ireland.

1 GEORGE POTTS, a native of County Cavin, Ireland, married Miss ^{Margaret} McKeever, perhaps about 1788. About 1793, with his wife and three children, he emigrated to America. During the voyage, the eldest child was accidentally drowned. The father took this affliction so much to heart, that he died of grief soon after reaching New York. The widow subsequently married a Mr. Dickinson, but he did not long survive, and she was left a widow a second time. She crossed the mountains and settled at West Middletown, (formerly called Williamsburg), Washington County, Pennsylvania.

CHAPTER XLII.

A Potts Family from County Monaghan, Ireland.

I GEORGE POTTS, of County Monaghan, Ireland, was the ancestor of a family who settled in Pennsylvania in 1798, some of whose descendants attained to considerable prominence. The information furnished concerning this family has been very meager and incomplete. Tradition alleges that in the time of Cromwell, two gentlemen named Potts, Sergeants in the Army, were sent over to Ireland, from England, and subsequently settled there and were the the ancestors of Potts' of County Monaghan. Three sons of George Potts emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1798.

He settled at Johnstown, Pa. in 1839, and was President Judge of Cambria County 1871 to 1873. He held other official positions. He married Margaret Jane Karns, October 2, 1838. They were members of the Presbyterian Church and occupied a high social position. They had seven children—four sons and three daughters.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Dutch and German Families of Pott, Potts, and Putt.

Beside the Potts families in America of English extraction, there are also families of German or Dutch origin bearing a similar name, viz. Pott, Potts and Putt, but originally Pott. The name Pott in German is pronounced as if spelled P-u-t-t, and in English speaking communities would be very likely to be spelled as pronounced. Where the English pronunciation was adopted the s was very likely to be added. It is not the purpose of this Chapter to trace these German families, except a family or two of Pennsylvania, and where they are liable to be confounded with English branches, and in any case very briefly.

Nicholas Putt, of Philadelphia, and Rachel Williams were married Jan. 10, 1714. The record of this marriage, as well as of the baptisms and burials given below, is from Christ P. E. Church, of Philadelphia. On August 20, 1725, John Williams conveyed by deed, certain real estate, to Rachel Potts, wife of Nicholas. Nicholas Putt died Nov. —, 1732, and was buried in Christ Church graveyard. If any descendants survived, it is possible that they took the name of Potts.

- 3 Annie Putt, baptized March 30, 1724.
- 4 Nicholas Putt, buried September 30, 1730.
- 5 George Putt, buried October 10, 1730.

Among the lists of arrivals and of persons naturalized, given in Volumes II and XVII, Pennsylvania Archives, second series, are found several persons named Pott or Potts, who seem to have come from Holland or Germany, viz.

MICHEL POTT aged 40, Margret Potts aged 22, Hance Micall Potes aged 11, and Margerate Pottsen aged 5, came in the ship Adventure from Rotterdam. Michel Potts was qualified Sept. 25, 1732.

DEGENHART POTT, Wilhelmus Pott, Johannes Pott, and Johann Wilhelm Pott, (the two latter under 16 years of age), came in the ship St. Andrew from Rotterdam. Degenhart and Wilhelm were qualified Sept. 12, 1734. [See below].

JOHN LUDWIG POTTS, aged 29, came in the ship Elizabeth, and was qualified October 30, 1738.

PETER POTTS, aged 20, came in the ship Charming Nancy. The emigrants who were of age qualified Nov. 9, 1783. He may be the Peter Potts who married Sarah Owen, of Leacock Township, Lancaster County. See American Genealogist, Volume I, page 293.

WILLIAM POTT took the oath of allegiance, April, 1743.

JOHANNES POTZ came in the ship Dragon, from Rotterdam, and was qualified, Sept. 26, 1749.

JOHN RINEHARD POTTS and George Patts, are named in a passenger list in 1753.

JOHN HENRICH POTTS came in the ship Friendship, from Hamburg, and was qualified Nov. 19, 1753.

GEORG POTT came in the ship Friendship, and was qualified October 21, 1754.

BERTHOLD HENRY POTT came in the ship John and Elizabeth, from Amsterdam, and was qualified Nov. 7, 1754.

JOHN POTT, was naturalized September 24, 1759.

GEORGE POTTS, of Bethel Township, Lancaster County, was naturalized April 5, 1767.

Wilhelm and Degenhart Pott.

WILHELM and DEGENNART POTT, brothers, arrived at Philadelphia in September, 1734, in the ship St. Andrew, John Steadman, master, from Rotterdam. Wilhelm Pott will be treated of below. Of Degenhart Pott little seems to be known. Tradition alleges that he died a young man and unmarried. It is the tradition of this family that their ancestors were among those driven from Holland into England, by reason of the persecution of the Duke of Alva, but returned to Holland in the time of Charles I.

1 WILHELM POTT, as before stated, arrived in Pennsylvania in 1734. He brought with him his sons Johannes and Johann Wilhelm. The ship's passenger list places these children among those under 16 years of age. The statement of the family is, that they were under 10 years, and that one of them was an infant. The printed passenger list does not include the names of females, but from a patent and deeds, Wilhelm's wife's name is shown to have been Gertrude. It is fair to conclude that she came with her husband and children. They are said to have first settled at Germantown, but soon removed to Oley Township, Berks County, purchased and settled on a farm. Wilhelm Pott died in 1767. Whether there were other children than the two already named, does not appear from any information in possession of the compiler.

him upon a farm. He married Maria Hoch, daughter of John and Susanna Hoch, Dec. 23, 1755. He died 1804.

3 Johann Wilhelm Pott,² (Wilhelm,¹), son of Wilhelm and Gertrude Pott, was quite young when brought by his parents to Pennsylvania. The descendants of his brother John, speak of him by the name of William Pott, but do not know what became of him. It seems very probable that he is the same who settled in York County, of whom some account is given hereafter.

6 John Pott,³ (Johannes,² Wilhelm,¹), son of John and Maria (Hoch) Pott, was born Dec. 16, 1759, and died Dec. 23, 1827. He married Maria Leshner, daughter of John and Mary Leshner, in 1786. He settled up the Schuylkill River, within the limits of what is now Schuylkill County, where he engaged in the iron and lumber business. He was one of the first to utilize anthracite coal as a fuel. In the year 1809 he laid out and founded the town of Pottsville. Maria Pott, his wife, died April 21, 1823, aged 54 y. 9 m. 12 d.

His wife's name was Margaret. He died in 1774. His will is recorded at York. The wife and children are mentioned by name.

Benjamin Potts, born about 1775, in York County, may have been a grandson of William Pott. His descendants claim to be of Dutch descent. When about 18 years of age, he entered the army and served three years, under General Anthony Wayne, in the Indian wars. He had a brother John who was with him in the army, and both were taken prisoners by the Indians. A few years after his discharge from the army, he married Abigail Peer, in New Jersey. After living in New Jersey a few years, they removed to the Dominion of Canada. At the outbreak of the War of 1812, they were compelled to leave, for refusing to take the oath of allegiance to Great Britain. From Canada they removed to Bellville, Richland County, Ohio, where they continued until 1836. In that year they removed to Jefferson Township, Noble County, Indiana. Benjamin Potts died in 1859, aged 85 years, and Abigail Potts, in August, 1851.

PUTT. There is a large circle of persons named PUTT, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania. They claim to be of German descent, and that the name was originally identical with Pott. In 1876, George W. Putt stated that his grandfather, Henry Putt, of Berks County, removed to Bedford County at an early day and made a settlement there. Henry is alleged to have had brothers John, William, Jacob, Joseph and George.

Levi Potts, of Lexington, Illinois, writes, that his great grandparents started from Germany for America about 1775, having with them their son DANIEL POTT. The father died at sea. The mother and son settled in Berks County, Pennsylvania. Daniel Pott, who was born about 1767, married and left children, 1 Daniel, 2 John, 3 Elizabeth. Daniel, Jr., was the father of the above Levi Potts.

1 JOHN POTTS was an early settler in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. He is said to have been a soldier in the Revolutionary war, and to have removed from eastern Pennsylvania (a grandson says Lancaster County), about 1796. He is said to have been of German extraction, though one tradition alleges English origin, but whether born in this country or not is uncertain. The date of his birth is given as 1753. He died in 1837. His wife's name was Christina Potzer. There were 10 sons and 2 daughters.

Frederick removed to Loudoun County, Virginia, and in 1800, from there to Clark County, Kentucky. He is said to have been named in honor of Frederick the Great, of Prussia.

CHAPTER XLIV.

Some Miscellaneous Fragments.

The writer has a large amount of miscellaneous and fragmentary memoranda of persons named POTTS, not identified as belonging to any of the families herein named. Much of this memoranda has not been compiled and is only partially indexed. It would require much time and labor to collect and classify this material, and much of it would perhaps be of little use. The following, mainly connected with Pennsylvania, may be found to be of value and helpful to the future genealogist who desires to pursue this subject further.

Mr. Stephen W. Potts, of Solebury, Bucks County, has given the compiler hereof a brief account of his family connection. He says he does not know the name of his grandfather Potts, but thinks that he was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. His grandmother's name was Mary, but he is not certain of her maiden name. Upon hearing the name of Dellsil mentioned, he wrote as follows,

The name Dellsil seems to be familiar, and I think I have heard my sister say that Mary Dellsil was grandmother's name; but I should not have thought of it again had not you mentioned her name. I do not want to say anything to lead you astray in this matter, but the name Dellsil forces itself so strongly on my mind that I cannot give up but that she was my grandmother.

These statements suggest very strongly that the grandfather was JASPER POTTS, son of Thomas, Jr., and Susanna Potts, of Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, who is mentioned on pages 214, 215, and 216, ante.

3 John Potts,³ son of Jasper and Mary (Dalzell) Potts, was born April 9, 1785, in Philadelphia. When nine years of age he was placed with a family on a farm in lower Bucks County, where he remained until he was twenty one years of age. He married Rachel Woodford, daughter of Stephen Woodford, of Bucks County. He died Dec. 25, 1848, and Rachel his wife, Dec. 24, 1862.

11 Lambert Hibbs Potts,³ (John,²), son of John and Rachel (Woodford) Potts, was born March, 1831, in Bucks County. He married Dr. Anna M. Longshore. Dr. Longshore-Potts, is a female physician of repute, well known as a traveler and lecturer. Lambert H. Potts resides at Manitou Beach, Michigan.

There were several persons in Pennsylvania bearing the name of ROBERT POTTS, of whom little more than a brief mention has been noticed. These items may not always refer to different persons.

The records of Christ P. E. Church at Philadelphia, show the marriage of Robert Potts and Elizabeth Fressey, on January 5, 1717.

ROBERT POTTS, of Paxtang, Lancaster County, whose wife is said to have been Sarah Biddle, died October, 1769. In his will he mentions his wife Sarah, his sister Jean Potts and his four daughters by name.

- 1 Rachel Potts, m. Michael Troy, of Sunbury.
- 2 Peggy Potts, m. Alexander Porter, a farmer.
- 3 Jean Potts, m. John Dickey, a blacksmith.
- 4 Ann Potts.

Robert Potts filed a petition in February, 1770, Term of the Court of Chester County, from which it appears that he had come into Pennsylvania from Ireland about 1767, and had learned the trade of a carpenter.

The records of St. James P. E. Church, of Lancaster, show the marriage of Robert Potts and Catharine McGratty on August 2, 1771.

Robert Potts was a private in Capt. James Cowden's Co., Col. Burd's Battalion, of Lancaster County, Mar. 13, 1776.

Robert Potts was a private in Capt. Gibbs' Company, 8th Battalion, of Chester County, 1777-1778.

JAMES POTTS, formerly a bookseller at Belfast, Ireland, who seems to have been a man of wealth, sailed September 1748, for Boston, Massachusetts, in the sloop Eagle, Oliver Airy, master. He is next found in Pennsylvania, where he purchased lands and entered into speculation in Chester and Lancaster Counties. He died intestate about 1755, and John Singleton took out letters of administration, upon his estate, in Lancaster County, filing a bond for £2000, July 18, 1755. The inventory was filed in 1756, and the final account in 1757, which showed charges against the estate amounting to £1192 10s. 2d. Reference is made to land, near Carlisle, held in partnership by the decedent and the administrator. As many accounts due the decedent were worthless, there was no balance for distribution.

On April 25, 1756, John Potts of Belfast, merchant, and and Robert Potts, of County Antrim, gave a letter of attorney to David Potts, also of County Antrim, all brothere of James Potts, formerly of Belfast, Ireland, bookseller, but lately of Chester County, Pennsylvania, who died intestate, possessed of a considerable estate, authorizing the said David Potts to proceed to Pennsylvania and collect the proceeds thereof. Recorded at Phila. in Deed-Book H7, p. 526.

JACOB POTTS, born 1749, married Sarah Draper, Sep. 10, 1762, at Philadelphia. He was buried in the Philadelphia Friends graveyard, 10 mo. 8, 1773, aged 33 years. Sarah Potts, who was buried in the same graveyard on 8 mo. 22, 1825, aged 81 years, may have been the widow of Jacob. The Philadelphia Friends records also show the burial of James Potts, son of Jacob, 10 mo. 8, 1772, aged 2½ years. Other children may have survived.

THE POTTS' OF LANCASTER COUNTY. There is a family of Potts' in Lancaster County, of which the writer has been able to secure only a very meager account, as those who are alleged to have old family records have failed to respond to inquiries, and personal interviews with other members of the family have failed to elicit much information. It is how-alleged that one EPHRAIM POTTS was their first American ancestor, and that he came from England. His son Joseph Potts, whose wife's name was Frances, owned land and lived in the vicinity of Strasburg. A deed of partition, executed in 1830, shows that Joseph and Frances had children, as given below.

CHILDREN OF JOSEPH AND FRANCES (——) POTTS.

- 1 Daniel Potts.
- 2 Maria Potts.
- 3 Samuel Potts, died 1829.
- 4 Frances Potts.
- 5 Joseph Potts, died 1856.
- 6 Jacob Potts, d. before 1868; m. Catharine M. ——. He had a daughter Catharine, who m. Daniel E. Potts. He d. in 1887.
- 7 Benjamin Potts, died before 1830.
- 8 David Potts. Had ten children and died in 1866. He was the proprietor of the hotel at Potts Landing, one mile east of Lancaster. His son Samuel W. Potts succeeded him at the hotel.

The records of Belmont County, Ohio, show the marriage of JOHN POTTS and MARY TAYLOR, of Richland as taking place on Dec, 24, 1818. The ceremony was performed by Vachell Hall. They had four children, three sons and one daughter. Two sons and the daughter died young. After the death of his wife, John Potts left Ohio, and there is no further account of him. He is alleged to have had two brothers,—one a wealthy bachelor of Baltimore, Maryland.

CHILDREN OF JOHN AND MARY (TAYLOR) POTTS.

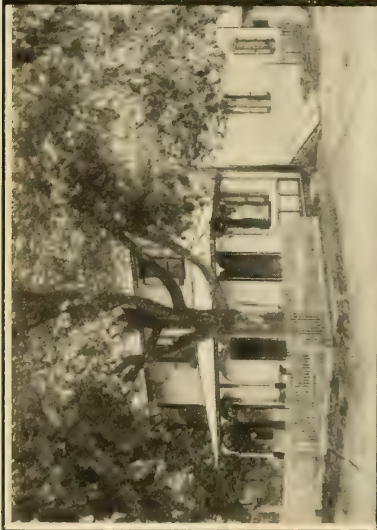

- 1 Samuel Potts, m. ————. A son James D. Potts has for several years been connected with publishing houses at Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio, and latterly at New York.

JOHN POTTS, of the city and county of New Castle, [Delaware,] sawyer, and Sarah, his wife, conveyed to Joseph Armitage, on Feb'y 21, 1726, a lot of ground which Joseph Hill had previously conveyed to said Potts. [Deed-Book H, page 169]. Perhaps he was identical with "John Pitts" of Maryland, who had a grant of 500 acres of land in New Castle County before 1703.

CHAPTER I.

David Potts, of Philadelphia County, Penna.

1 DAVID POTTS,¹ was born about 1670, in Montgomeryshire, Wales, it is believed. He was a Friend, married Alice Croasdale in 1694, settled in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, and died in 1730.

David Potts has already been mentioned in this work on pages 192, 196, 203, 252, 278, and in Chapter XIX, page 282, et seq. The time of his coming to Pennsylvania, has not been discovered. He may have come with other members of the family when he was but a lad. The first mention of him that has been noticed is on 7 mo. 24, 1692, when he became the bondsman for Elizabeth Bennett,* as executrix of Edmund Bennett, her late husband. His signature attached to the bond, which remains on file in the Register's office at Philadelphia, is here fairly reproduced.

He was a Friend and first belonged to the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, though no record of his reception there seems to remain. The early records of the Meeting are quite imperfect. David Potts and Agnes Croasdale, youngest daughter of Thomas and Agnes (Hathernthwaite) Croasdale,* declared their intentions of marriage with each other, before the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 10 mo. 29, 1693, [December, 1693], passed the Meeting the second time on 11 mo. 26, 1693-4, [January, 1694], and were granted a certificate to marry under the care of Middletown Monthly Meeting in Bucks County. The following is a copy of an entry in the minutes of the latter Meeting.

David Potts and Alice Croasdale have requested to solemnize their marriage within this meeting, because her relations mostly dwell here, and they belonging to Philadelphia have brought a Certificate from that Monthly Meeting, that testifies they have proceeded there orderly, and nothing is found against them, and also requested that they may accomplish their marriage here, which they have granted them; so this meeting is satisfied and grants their request.

A subsequent record shows that they were married in an orderly manner on 1 mo. 22, 1693. This date, according to the modern system of reckoning, would correspond to March 22, 1694. The following is a copy of the marriage certificate as it is recorded by the Monthly Meeting.

Marriage Certificate.

Whereas, DAVID POTTS and ALICE CROASDALE, both of Philadelphia, in the Province of Pennsylvania, having declared their intentions of taking each other in marriage, before several public meetings of the People of God called Quakers, in Philadelphia in the Province of Pennsylvania aforesaid, in America, according to the good order

* THE CROASDALE FAMILY. Thomas Croasdale and Agnes Hathernthwaite were married 3 mo. 1, 1664, according to the records of Lancaster [England] Monthly Meeting of Friends. They resided in Yorkshire for sometime, but in 1682 came to Pennsylvania in the ship Welcome with William Penn. They settled on Neshaminy Creek in Bucks County, in the vicinity of the present village of Langhorne. Thomas Croasdale died 9 mo. 2, 1684, and Agnes 8 mo. 20, 1686. They had the following children, all born in England.

- 1 William Croasdale, b. 12, 7, 1664; d. 1715; m. 1st, Elizabeth Hayhurst, 2d. Sarah Wilford.
- 2 John Croasdale, b. 5, 11, 1666; d. 10, 6, 1706; m. Marah Chapman.
- 3 Elizabeth Croasdale, b. 11, 5, 1667; d. 6, 4, 1682.
- 4 Mary Croasdale, b. 8, 30, 1669; d. 1716; m. William Smith.
- 5 Bridget Croasdale, b. 6, 30, 1671; d. 2, 20, 1701; m. John Cowgill.
- 6 Alice Croasdale, b. 8, 3, 1673; m. David Potts.

used amongst them, whose proceedings therein, after deliberate consideration thereof, were approved by the said meetings ; they appearing clear of all others.

Now these are to certify to all whom it may concern, that for the full accomplishment of their said intentions, this twenty second day of the first month called March, in the year one thousand six hundred and ninety three, (1693), they the said David Potts and Alice Croasdale appeared in a public meeting of the aforesaid people and others, met together at the public Meeting house of friends in Middletown, Bucks County, and (according to the example of the Holy men of God recorded in the Scriptures of Truth), in a solemn manner, he the said David Potts, taking the said Alice Croasdale by the hand, did openly declare as followeth, Friends, in the presence and fear of God, and before you his people, I take this my friend Alice Croasdale to be my wife, promising to be to her a loving and faithful husband, till it please God by death to separate us ; and then and there in the same assembly, the said Alice Croasdale did in like manner declare as followeth, Friends, in the presence and fear of God, and before you his people, I take this my friend David Potts to be my husband, promising to him to be a loving and faithful wife, till it please God by death to separate us. And the said David Potts, and Alice, his now wife, as a further confirmation thereof, did then and there to these presents set their hands.

Thomas and Jonas Potts, who are the first signers to this certificate, were brothers of David, as it is believed. [See Chapters VII, VIII, and XIX, Part II]. William Croasdale was a brother of the bride, and Mary Smith, who was the wife of William Smith, was a sister. John Cowgill was a brother-in-law. Possibly some of the other witnesses were also related.

In 1695, David Potts purchased 150 acres of land in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, in the vicinity of Germantown. He subsequently sold 50 acres, leaving him 100 acres upon which he seems to have settled and spent the remainder of his life. The following memoranda, relating to the purchase of this land, is from the minutes of the Board of Property, as printed in Volume XIX, page 278 of the Pennsylvania Archives, second series.

The Commiss'rs, by Patent dated 26th 9 mo., 1685, Granted 500 acres to Rob't Longshore, Purchaser in Bristol Township, in the County of Philad'a, joyning on Germantown, Irenia Land, and Wil'l'm Wilkins, of which by Deed dated 1st 4 mo., 1686, he sold to Samuel Bennett 200 acres, who by Deed dated 2, 4, 1695, sold 150 thereof to David Potts, who sold to Wm. Harman 50 acres now in the Possession of Peter Clever.

The said David Potts Requests a Warr't of Resurvey on the said 150 acres according to the True bounds of the Tract and to Cutt off 50 a's to said Harman or Clever. Ordered that a Warr't be accordingly granted for the said 50 acres to be cutt off as by agreement made between them and a Patent on the Return if required, they paying for the Overplus, if any.

In 1716, he had a grant of 100 acres of land in the Manor of Springfield for which he was to pay £80.

When a Friends Meeting was established at Germantown, David Potts seems to have been transferred to that Meeting. On October 11, 1711, Samuel Richardson, Richard Townsend and Samuel Cart, for the consideration of £200, conveyed 50 acres of land in German Township, to Thomas Potts, Sr., Thomas Canby, John Cadwallader, David Potts, Isaac Delaplaine, Morris Morris, Henry Cunnards, and William Lukens. These latter were Trustees of Germantown Meeting, and purchased this land for the use of the Meeting. This Meeting was under the care of Abington Monthly Meeting, and in 1712 David Potts was appointed one of the two overseers of the Meeting at Germantown, From this time forward, David Potts was frequently appointed to attend Quarterly Meeting, and entrusted with other matters of greater or less importance.

On June 15, 1728, David Potts petitioned the Orphans' Court of Bucks County, representing that William Croasdale, by his will about the year 1715, devised to his grandson William Hill, a plantation in Bristol Township and a lot in Bristol, and appointed his daughter Agnes, wife of Richard Hill, executrix. She died soon after her father, and Richard Hill took possession of the property. And also the said William Hill was left by his mother, the said Agnes, to the care of his, the said David's wife, until he should arrive or attain to man's estate; and also that the said David Potts has kept and maintained the said William Hill about twelve years, etc.

David Potts was a man of good standing in the community and had the confidence of his neighbors. He represented Philadelphia County in the Provincial Assembly for the years 1728, 1729 and 1730. He died November 16, 1730. The Pennsylvania Gazette of Nov. 19, 1730, contained a notice of his death in which it is stated that Monday last died Mr. David Potts, one of the Members of Assembly for this County.

Alice, wife of David, was born 8 mo. 3, 1673. She has a rather interesting history. The Croasdales came passengers with William Penn in the ship Welcome, Robert Greenway, master, in 1682. During the passage, the small-pox made its appearance in great virulence and occasioned much distress. Of the one hundred passengers on board, thirty died of this disease. It is related that William Penn cheered the dying and the survivors with his Godly conversaton during the memorable voyage. One of the passengers writing of the voyage says,

The good conversation of William Penn was very advantageous to all the company. His singular care was manifested in contributing to the necessities of many who were sick of the small-pox then on board, of which about thirty died.

The date of her death has not been discovered, but she probably died before her husband, as he does not mention her in his will. David Potts' will made Nov. 13, 1730, and proven Nov. 26, 1730, is on file in the Register's Office at Philadelphia, and recorded in Will-Book E, at page 142. It is as follows.

The third item in the foregoing Inventory includes "a large bibel." This Bible passed to the possession of David's son Ezekiel, and is still preserved by his descendants at Norristown, Pennsylvania. The writer hereof made a careful examination of this old Bible some years ago. It is well preserved, but has been rebound. There is some writing on some of the margins, scattered through the book, but nothing of historical value. If any family records were ever entered, none now remain. The book was printed at London in 1613. It was probably brought over by the family at their coming to Pennsylvania. It bears the following imprint,

CHAPTER II.

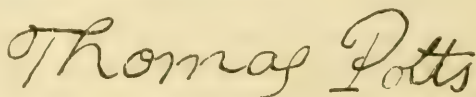

Second Generation.

2 Thomas Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 3 mo. 27, 1695. He married Rachel James about August, 1715, and Abington Monthly Meeting minutes contain the following record thereof.

6 mo 29, 1715. Whereas Thomas Potts son of David Potts, and Rachel James, Having declared Their Intentions of Marriage with each other, before two Monthly Meetings, Enquiry being made by persons appointed, and found clear from all others on y^e account of marriage, did accomplish their Marriage in y^e Unity of Friends as is signified by their marriage Certificate.

They seem to have lived in Roxborough Township, Philadelphia County, for some years. On March 8, 1726, Isaac Norris and Mary, his wife, conveyed to Thomas Potts, Junior, a plantation of 140 acres in Roxbury. On November 16, 1733, Thomas Potts, and Rachel, his wife, of Roxbury, sold this same tract to Thomas Lewis, of Goshen, Chester County, miller. Jonathan Potts was a witness to this deed.

On November 22, 1832, Thomas Potts was a witness to the will of Ann Townsend, of Roxbury, and the following is a reproduction of his signature.

They removed to Cumberland County, New Jersey. Rachel, wife of Thomas, was born about 1695. She was an excellent woman, and an acceptable minister among Friends. The following biographical sketch of her is copied from The Friend, Volume XXXII, page 365.

Rachel Potts, wife of Thomas Potts, was born about 1695. She resided with her husband for many years within the limits of Gwynedd Monthly Meeting; and was a Minister in esteem there. About the year 1750, her husband removed his family to West Jersey, and settled far from any Meeting of Friends. This was a great grief to her, for her weakness of body was such as generally precluded her from the exertion necessary to enable her to meet with her Friends in social worship. The people in the neighborhood where she resided, were of other religious denominations; among whom her good conversation was of much service, removing all prejudices against Friends, and awaking in their minds an openness towards Truth. So that after her removal from the place, Meetings were held in the neighborhood to good satisfaction; the savor she had left behind her opening the way for others.

She had taken a Certificate to Salem Monthly Meeting, and in a few years, her husband removing nearer to the place where the Meeting was held, she was enabled, although weakly in body, more frequently to attend it. She was, says her memorial, an humble waiter in religious meetings, and her labours in the ministry of the Gospel were accompanied with a good degree of life and power, to the comfort and edification of those who heard her.

She departed at her own house on the 19th of the Second Month, 1758, aged 63 years; and we have reason to believe, is entered into rest from the various troubles wherewith she was exercised.

Gwynedd Monthly Meeting records the birth of three children. If there were others, their names are unknown.

- 13 Elizabeth Potts, 9 mo. 27, 1721.
- 14 Jonathan Potts, b. 4 mo. 12, 1723; m. Sarah Clifton.

3 John Potts, (David), son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 8 mo. 8, 1696. He learned the trade of a millwright. He married Elizabeth McVaugh, otherwise McVeagh, daughter of Edmond and Alice (Dickinson)

McVeagh, about 5 mo., (July), 1726. The minutes of Abington Monthly Meeting show that they passed meeting the second time on 4 mo. 27, 1726, and the minutes of 5 mo. 25, 1726, state that the marriage was orderly accomplished.

John Potts was a witness to the will of David Jones, of Bristol Township, made in 1719. David Potts was one of the appraisers. Here is reproduction of John's signature.

John Potts

In 1727, John Potts was a witness to the will of Robert Kirkwood, of Plymouth Township, and the following is a fair copy of his signature.

John Potts

John Potts settled in Upper Dublin Township, now included within the limits of Montgomery County, where he purchased a tract of land from Isaac and John Phipps about 1748. The deed, which is recorded at Philadelphia, recites at length the chain of title from the original grant by William Penn in 1681. This land is still in the possession and occupancy of descendants of John Potts. It lies about two miles east of the present village of Fort Washington.

John Potts died September, 1766. His will, recorded at Philadelphia, is given below. Elizabeth (McVeagh) Potts was born in 1679, and died 1 mo. 5, 1791, aged 92 years.

4 Daniel Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 2 mo. 19, 1698, in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. He married Sarah Shoemaker, eldest daughter of Peter, Jr., and Margaret (Op den Graeff) Shoemaker,* in 1721. They passed the Abington Monthly Meeting the second time on 10 mo. 25, 1721, and were doubtless married very soon after.

Very little is known of Daniel Potts. On 8 mo. 4, 1722, he was a signer to the marriage certificate of Peter Cleaver, Jr., and Elizabeth Potts, his sister. His name appears among those who contributed to the building of the stone wall around Upper Germantown Burying Ground, about 1725. He died when quite a young man, sometime before 1729.

Sarah (Shoemaker) Potts was born 5 mo. 22, 1698. She married, as her second husband, James Dilworth, son of Richard Dilworth, 7 mo. 29, 1729, by whom she had children Elizabeth, Margaret, William, Jonathan, Nicholas and James. They continued to live in Bristol Township. Sarah was living in 1765, being mentioned in the will of her husband, made in June of that year.

* THE SHOEMAKER FAMILY. Peter Shoemaker, Sr., came from Krisheim in the Palatinate to Pennsylvania, in 1685, and settled at Germantown. He brought with him his son Peter and his daughters Mary, Frances and Gertrude. Peter, Jr. married Margaret Op den Graeff, and had ten children, Sarah being the eldest. See Our Family Ancestors, by Thomas Maxwell Potts, 1895, for a fuller account.

Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 10 mo. 30, 1699. She married Peter Cleaver, Jr., son of Peter, Sr., and Catharine (Shoemaker) Cleaver,* at Germantown Friends Meeting 8 mo. 4, 1722. In the marriage record, Peter Cleaver, Jr., is described as "weaver," and Elizabeth Potts as daughter of David and Alice Potts, "seamstress." The marriage certificate was signed by fifty one witnesses, a majority of whom were relatives. They settled in Upper Dublin Township, now included in Montgomery County, where he owned one hundred acres of land. Peter Cleaver was born 10 mo. 28, 1697. and died 4 mo. 8, 1772.

He learned the trade of a weaver, and seems to have made two or three trading voyages to Barbadoes, as it appears from the following abstracts taken from Abington Monthly Meeting minutes.

1 mo. 30, 1730. Certificate by Jonathan Potts From fr^{ds} of Barbadoes Signifying his good Conversation Whilst among them.

He married Sarah Wood in the early part of 1730. They passed meeting the second time on 11 mo. 26, 1729, and at the next meeting, held 12 mo. 23, 1729-30, the marriage was reported orderly accomplished. They settled in Whitemarsh Township, now in Montgomery County. In 1734, Jonathan Potts was assessed with 60 acres in Whitemarsh. In 1745, Edward Farmer conveyed 10 acres in Whitemarsh to Jonathan Potts, and on Feb. 3, 1749-50, Jonathan Potts and Sarah his wife made a deed for this same tract. The Abington Monthly Meeting records the burial of Sarah Potts, wife of Jonathan, "not a member," at Cheltenham, on 2 mo. 24. 1763. It is not known that they had any children.

8 Stephen Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 11 mo. 20, 1704-5, in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. He was a printer by trade and a fellow apprentice with Benjamin Franklin, who in his Autobiography describes him as follows, Stephen Potts was a young countryman of full age, bred to the same; of uncommon natural parts and great wit and humor, but a little idle.

Again he says,

Meredith was to work at press, Potts bookbinding, which he by agreement was to teach them, though he knew neither one nor t'other.

Stephen Potts was a member of the JUNTO, a literary Society instituted by Franklin and others. His name also appears among the first on the list of members of the Philadelphia Library. He was Doorkeeper or Messenger of the Assembly for the years 1738 to 1741. The following is a good reproduction of his signature.

Stephen Potts

His wife's name was Ann, but her maiden name has not been noticed. He died in the 6 mo., 1758, and was buried at Germantown. His wife survived him, perhaps for many years. Christ Protestant Episcopal Church of Philadelphia records the baptism of their children. The dates given are taken from the records of Christ Church.

10 Ezekiel Potts,² (David,¹), son of David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts, was born 1 mo. 30, 1708, in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County. He was the principal legatee of his father's will, and succeeded to the homestead, embracing one hundred acres of land in Bristol Township, and purchased by his father in 1695. He seems to have spent nearly his whole life on this land.

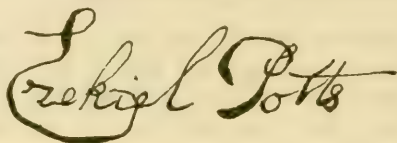

He married, first, Magdalen Miller, daughter of George and Sibilla Miller, 10 mo. 31, 1734.* As this marriage was accomplished contrary to the usage of Friends, he made an acknowledgment to Abington Monthly Meeting, on 2 mo. 29, 1737. He married, second, Barbara Vodges, widow of Reinier Vodges,† late of Germantown.

He died about 1781. His will, made April 22, 1775, and proven April 10, 1781, is recorded at West Chester. At the making of the will, his residence was given as Germantown, but at his death he was a resident of Tredyffrin Township, Chester County. It seems probable that when the British Army occupied Philadelphia, he went to Tredyffrin and lived with or near some of his children who had settled there. He speaks of himself as "yeoman, being aged

* See records of the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia.

He settled in Whitemarsh Township, now included in Montgomery County, where he died in 1754. His will, made May 31, 1754, and proven October 1, in the same year, is recorded at Philadelphia. He was buried in the Friends graveyard at Plymouth, a few miles from Conshohocken. A small tombstone, with the initials N. P., still marks his resting place. Esther Potts, his widow, was living in 1780, when the assessment list for Plymouth Township states that Zebulon Potts has an aged mother to support.

14 Jonathan Potts,³ (Thomas,² David,¹), son of Thomas and Rachel (James) Potts, was born 4 mo. 12, 1723. He removed to southern New Jersey, and was a member of Salem Monthly Meeting of Friends. He married Sarah Clifton in 1756. The the following is a copy of the record of their first declaration.

At our Monthly Meeting held at Salem the 26th of ye 4th m^o 1756, came Jonathan Pots, son of Thomas Potts, and Sarah Clifton, Daughter of Hugh Clifton, and Declared their Intentions of Marriage with Each other, the First time, therefore Philip Dennis and Mark Reeve are Appointed to make the Necessary Enquiry and Report to Next Meeting.

They passed meeting the second time on 6 mo. 28, 1756, and were probably married shortly after. The name of only one child has been noticed. There were however male descendants, who were still represented within the present generation.

On June 22, 1753, Walter Moore and Sarah his wife conveyed to Thomas Potts, millwright, of the Manor of Moreland, one half of a certain corn mill, etc., and two parcels of land in Moreland.

He subsequently removed to Sussex County, New Jersey, and settled at Chelsea Forge, where he had a landed estate. He was High Sheriff of Sussex County in 1772, and a Member of the Provincial Assembly in 1775 and 1776. Below is a copy of his signature.

He married Elizabeth Lukens, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Tyson) Lukens, Jan. 16, 1753. He died July 29, 1776. His widow subsequently married Dr. John Rockhill, a widower with children.* There were no children by this marriage, but some of their descendants by their former marriages intermarried. Dr. Rockhill was born March 22, 1726, and died April 7, 1798. Elizabeth survived him.

Thomas and Elizabeth (Lukens) Potts had ten children, five of whom survived.

He was a blacksmith by occupation, and seems to have been a resident of Germantown until 1755, when he removed to a "plantation upon Scholkill on the West Side of the Great Road Called Wissahickon road in the Northern Liberties," which he leased from Thomas Hood, Jr., for a term of five years. He built a smithshop on the premises and carried on smithing in connection with keeping a public house. He was subsequently proprietor of the "Rising Sun," and "Wheat Sheaff," noted hoseltries above Philadelphia during Colonial Revolutionary times.

He was a Friend and a member of Germantown Meeting, but in 1757 complaint was made against him for being con-

The minutes of Radnor Monthly Meeting of Friends have this entry,

Daniel Potts removed 11th mo. 8th 1765 to Kingwood, New Jersey.

In settling in New Jersey, Daniel Potts may have been influenced by his cousin Thomas Potts, who had previously settled in the same neighborhood. He married Rebecca

* NOTE. Ann Rush married, first, John Ashmead, and had children, 1 William, 2 John, 3 Rachel, 4 Benjamin. See "Our Family Ancestors," by Thomas Maxwell Potts, 1895, for an account of the Rush Family.

Emley, daughter of John and Sarah (Lawrence) Emley, 8 mo. 6, 1766. She was born March 22, 1738.

On Jan. 6 1773, an advertisement appeared in the Pennsylvania Gazette, offering for sale an undivided half interest in a Forge, dwelling, etc., situated about half a mile below Pittstown. It was stated that the premises were then occupied by Daniel Potts. He died in 1782. Rebecca died 8 mo. 25, 1807. Both left wills. Below is a copy of the signature of Daniel Potts.

20 Rebecca Potts,³ (Daniel,² David,¹), daughter of Daniel and Sarah (Shoemaker) Potts, is mentioned in the will of Peter Shoemaker, her grandfather, in 1741. She married John Hood, Jr., a physician, February 2, 1747-8. The marriage is recorded by Trinity Church, Oxford, Philadelphia County. They seem to have resided in the Northern Liberties, Philadelphia County, and on June 1, 1758, "John Hood, of the Northern Liberties, in the County of Philadelphia, and Province of Pennsylvania, Practitioner of Physick, and Rebecca his wife," join in deed for the sale of a one third interest in a "Water corn or grist mill or mills, commonly called Frankford Mills," including some 50 acres of land which Dr. Hood had inherited from his father. No record of children has come to hand.

He removed to Warrington Township, York County, and transferred his membership from Abington Monthly Meeting of Friends to Warrington Monthly Meeting, in 1754. He married Miriam Frazer, daughter of Alexander and Sarah Frazer, late of Kennett, Chester County, 6, 22, 1756. Peter Cleaver was an active Friend, and was the Clerk of Warrington Monthly Meeting. The records were well kept, and in a beautiful handwriting. He died 12, 8, 1795. Miriam Cleaver died 5 mo. 29, 1798, aged 71 years.

28 Joseph Potts,³ (Stephen,² David,¹) son of Stephen and Ann (——) Potts, was born May, 1733, and baptized July 9, 1734, at Christ Church, Philadelphia. While it is not proven, it is altogether probable that he is the same who married Miriam Kelly, July 25, 1765, at St. Pauls [P. E.] Church. He was a seaman, and in 1764 was Captain of the Slow Johnson, 80 tons; and of the Sloop King George, in 1766. He died in 1770, and in his will mentions "my loving mother," "my brother William," and "my loving wife Meriam."

Miriam (Kelly) Potts was born 1740, and died 6 mo. 20, 1774. By her will, she made bequests to the Pennsylvania Hospital, to the Home of Employment, to Ann Potts her mother-in-law, to her mother Elizabeth Green, to her half brother John Green, and to several others whose kinship is not mentioned. Neither husband nor wife mention any children.

29 William Bickins Potts,³ (Stephen,² David,¹), son of Stephen and Ann (——) Potts, was born Dec., 1734, and baptized at Christ Church, Philadelphia, Aug. 29, 1736. He seems to be the same who is called "mariner" in deeds, and who married Esther Moore, April 10, 1764, at Christ Church. He was concerned in a number of land transactions, and in a deed of partition of a tract of land in the Northern Liberties, July 3, 1765, his name appears on the plat attached as "William Potts for John Moore." Letters of administration were granted upon the estate of one William B. Potts in 1808.

31 David Potts,³ (Ezekiel,² David,¹), son of Ezekiel Magdalen (Miller) Potts, was born 4 mo. 15, 1735. He married Alice Schull, April 25, 1759. They removed to York County, Pennsylvania, about 1776, as on 12 mo. 7, of that year, he with his wife and children Jonathan, Ann, Hannah, Rachel, Joseph and Stephen, made a request to be received into Friends Meeting. Their request was granted 2 mo. 8, 1777. They were members of Menallen Particular Meeting, (now included in Adams County,) then under the care of Warrington Monthly Meeting. Perhaps they subsequently removed to Bedford County, where on February 18, 1791, David Potts purchasad 162½ acres, called "Greenfield," for £10. On June 10, 1793, he purchased 100 acres of land on Dunnings Creek from Ellis Rogers. On Feb. 18, 1797, he purchased 162½ acres, called "Greenfield," for £468. Later in the latter year, David and Alice Potts conveyed the two tracts of 162½ acres each to Jonathan Potts their son. Of the six children of David and Alice Potts, no subsequent mention has been found of any of them except Jonathan, and it is possible that the others died young.

32 William Potts,³ (Ezekiel,² David,¹), son of Ezekiel and Magdalen (Miller) Potts, was born 7 mo. 19, 1736. He owned and resided on a farm in Tredyffrin Township, Chester County, on the south side of the north Chester Valley hills, about a mile and a half from Valley Forge. In a deed of conveyance, this land was described as bounded on the east by land of John Potts.

He married Hannah Eddy. She was born in 1736, and died May 11, 1816. William Potts died 11 18, 1802. In his will he names his wife Hannah, and children Ezekiel, William, Mary, Elizabeth, Anna, Martha and Hannah. His executors were his son-in-law, Thomas Rowland, and his kinsman, Nathan Potts, of Montgomery County.

36 Joseph Potts,³ (Ezekiel,² David,¹), son of Ezekiel and Magdalen (Miller) Potts, was born 1 mo. 3, 1742-3. He married Sarah Dilworth, March 23, 1769, at Germantown. Dilworth Potts, his grandson, informed the writer that Joseph Potts, his grandfather, removed to Kentucky, but later returned to Pennsylvania and entered the Revolutionary Army. The Pennsylvania Archives show that he was commissioned on June 6, 1776, as a First Lieutenant in the 4th Pennsylvania Battalion commanded by Gen. Anthony Wayne. He was promoted to a Captaincy, Oct. 12, 1776. He was severely wounded in the Battle of Brandywine and taken prisoner by the enemy. He was exchanged in 1778, and while in the ranks became deranged. By an act of the Legislature, passed the 20th day of March, 1812, five hundred acres of land were granted to his heirs. The following is an abstract of the Act.

Whereas, it appears that Joseph Potts entered the service of his country at the commencement of the Revolutionary War as a Lieutenant in 1776; was promoted to the rank of Captain; at the Battle of Brandywine he was wounded by a musket ball which broke the bone, and also by the thrust of a bayonet which pierced through his shoulder, and in the same engagement was taken prisoner. On the first day of July 1778 he became deranged. By an act of Congress, &c. * * consequently entitled to a donation of land, Therefore,

He joined the First Militia of Pennsylvania at the beginning of the Revolutionary War, and marched with his Company as far as Amboy, where he was taken sick and returned home, and died Sept. 16, 1776. She was born 7 mo 29, 1753, and died in 1802. They resided in Plymouth Township, not far from Conshohocken, and the large stone mansion house remains in an excellent state of preservation.

Zebulon Potts was a very prominent man in his day, and a staunch patriot in the time of the Revolution, and was a

* NOTE. Tradition alleges that the father of Griffith Thomas married a daughter of one Lord Phillips, much to the displeasure of her family. The young couple came to Pennsylvania and settled near the present town of Conshohocken. They had four children, Philip, Mary, Anne, and Griffith. Upon the decease of Lord Phillips, Philip Thomas became the heir to his grandfather's estate and returned to Wales to occupy it.

Captain of Militia in the Army. During the encampment of the Patriot Army at Valley Forge, he was very active in procuring food for the army. On more than one occasion he succeeded in passing the British lines into the City of Philadelphia. On account of his activity in the cause of the Colonies, a price was put upon his capture. Many attempts were made by the British to take him, but he always succeeded in evading his pursuers. On one occasion he hid in an open ended barrel with the open end at the ground. He had a secret understanding with his neighbors, that when danger threatened at night, pebbles were thrown upon the roof of his house to apprise him, and give him time to escape. Mrs. Potts was a stately, dignified and brave woman, and when British officers or soldiers called in search of her husband or upon skirmishing expeditions, she won their respect and protection, by her suave and courteous manners.

After the war Zebulon Potts was appointed High Sheriff of Montgomery County, which he held for several years. He was also a Member of the Legislature. He died 3 mo. 17, 1801.

129 Nathan Rhoads Potts,⁴ (Nathan,³ Nathan² David,¹), son of Nathan and Priscilla (Morgan) Potts, was born July 7, 1783, and died Novem. 24, 1861. He married Mary Ann Cole, daughter of John and Ann (Shipley) Cole, Feb, 28, 1810. She was born 11 mo. 8, 1792, and died 1 mo. 8, 1879. Nathan R. Potts, was an attorney at law, having been admitted to practice April 6, 1805. The following sketch of his life was written for this work by his son, Howard N. Potts, Esq., of Philadelphia.

NATHAN RHOADS POTTS was born near Hickorytown, Montgomery County Pennsylvania. He received such education as the country schools of the time afforded, and joining to this an earnest self-educating ambition and will, fitted himself for entering the office of Judge Chapman as a law student, and was in due course admitted to practice in the counties of Montgomery and Bucks. He filled for a time the office of District Attorney, and afterwards removed to Philadelphia, where he received the appointment of Clerk of the Orphans' Court, and conducted its important business with a method that was much commended by bench and bar. After filling this office for several years, he resumed the practice of his profession, which naturally fell largely into the line of the Orphans' Court business, through the experience and facility which his official duties had given him in the settlement of the estates of decedents and all matters relating thereto. Under Judge Chapman's tuition, and as the result of persistent laborious study, he acquired a very thorough knowledge of land law, which aided by a clear head, a sound judgment, and a certain natural aptness in tracing up mooted points to their fundamental principles, caused his written and oral opinions on questions of title to be much relied on, as were also his opinions relating to the interpretation of wills.

In his early politics he was a Federalist of the Washington school, and through the nominal changes of that grand party down to that of Republican of the present day, never faltered from his allegiance.

For twenty years or more, he resided on Arch Street, and during that period frequently represented his Ward in Common or Select Council. He was also at that time a prominent and active member of the Masonic fraternity, and filled one or more high offices in the Royal Arch. Four of his sons in later years became members of the Order. When certain of the prominent Masons of Pennsylvania were summoned to Harrisburg in the year 1836, he was one of the summoned, but taking advantage of a technical defect—the omission of the middle letter of his name—disobeyed the summons. The whole proceeding being a fiasco, nothing ever came of it. He was one of the oldest members of the Welsh Society, and its solicitor up to the time of his death.

If asked to name his most prominent characteristic, it would be that of liberality and large-heartedness, ever ready to give his professional services to those whose narrow circumstances forbade the possibility of adequate compensation, or indeed any compensation at all. He was one of the very few lawyers who lived up to the old fashioned ethics of the profession, that a fee was "quidam honorarium," and not a price or wage to be demanded of a client for so much service rendered. Carrying out with somewhat exaggerated loyalty this antiquated rule of professional ethics, he never kept any book accounts with his clients, unless possibly of costs that he had paid out of his own pocket; but the costs not seldom followed the fate of his unremunerated services, as might be expected. If he thought a cause unjust he would have none of it. And whenever it seemed possible by an appeal to the common sense, conscience and spirit of fairness of opposing parties to bring them to an amicable settlement of their dispute, that appeal he was sure to make; and in the event of its success felt more gratification than if he had been successful in a suit at law.

In a discourse delivered by Elizabeth Newport, in Green Street Friends Meeting after his death, she took occasion to apply to him with much feeling the words of Job—

When the ear heard me, then it blessed me; and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me:

Because I delivered the poor that cried, and the fatherless, and him that had none to help him.

The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me: and I caused the widow's heart to sing for joy.

No collection of words could more truly have portrayed the man.

This sketch will, perhaps, be incomplete without some brief mention of a few personal peculiarities, which cast a side-light upon his character. He was nearly six feet tall and of fine presence. In his young manhood he had conformed to the custom of the time of wearing his hair tied in a cue, and, as a sort of mild protest against the frivolous and arbitrary changes of fashion, continued so to wear it to the day of his death, being the last of our city worthies, I believe, who retained that antique appendage. Linen was, in his young days, the usual material for underwear, and linen only would he wear as long as he lived; the collar being an integral part of the shirt, (false collars were shams, and shams were his abomination), cambric ruffles, white neck cloth, and sleeves without buttons,—all cut according to one primitive and invariable pattern—that of his early days.

Born in the country and simple as a child in his tastes, he retained a love for it to the last, and was never happier than when Court term at Norristown afforded him the opportunity of release from the thralldom of the City. And so as he had lived he passed away, unchanged amid the changing fashions of the time, loved, honored and trusted for the enduring qualities, of which his quaint steadfastness in minor matters was but the type.

When he reached manhood, anxious to see life and the country, he went west. In 1822, he joined the Henry and Ashley expedition, bound for the Rocky Mountains and the Columbia River and served as a scout. Gen. Ashley wrote to his brother Robert of his integrity and courage. His letters written to friends at home were graphic and full of interest. After leaving this service he went to Texas, and from there wrote to his friends that he was buying and shipping cattle to the New Orleans market. His brother Robert placed several thousand dollars to his credit with merchants in New Orleans and wrote to him to that effect. The money was never drawn and he was never heard of again. About this time a vessel loaded with cattle encountered a storm and went down, and all on board were lost. Daniel Potts is supposed to have perished on this vessel. He is not known to have been married.

FOREWORD

This leaflet is a brief of a book, The Potts Family, compiled by Thomas Maxwell Potts in 1916.

It shows the junction of the Potts - Fegan families, with their offspring to date.

Notification of any errors or additions will be welcomed by Major J. C. Fegan, U. S. M. C., Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps, Navy Building, Washington, D. C.

THE DERIVATION OF THE NAME

The origin of the name of Potts, anciently Pott, is somewhat obscure. Lower has, in his Patronymica Britannica, London, 1860, p. 274, the following:

POTT, POTTS. The reason for the assumption of this name is not very obvious; yet similar words have designated families of importance in other countries. For instance, there were in Flanders in the XV century, a noble family of Pott, who bore a pot in their armorial coat. There was also an Italian house, called the Little-Pots (Pignatelli), while a line of Spanish grandees rejoiced in the thrice-illustrious name of Padila, "Frying-pan"—DIXON. In the north of England, "Potts" is a topographical term implying deep circular hollows in the ground. This surname designates a Northumbrian clan.

Various evidences, apparently not brought to the notice of Lower, show clearly that Potts is a place name of one who lived near "deep circular hollows in the ground." The following line from Tennyson's In Arden would seem to give an apt description of such a locality:

" a cup like hollow of the down."

In Bishop Percy's Romances and Ballads we have a curious ancient ballad, the story of one Thomas A. Pott, a servant to the Earl of Arundel, who falls in love with his master's daughter, and after a quarrel with a certain suitor, Lord Phenix, who does not find favor in her eyes, unhorses his adversary, defeats him and marries the Earl's daughter, and according to the ballad, takes the name of Arundel.

It is not generally known at the present day that four hundred years ago, a large number of substantial English yeomen had no family names. Among the Parliamentary writs, A. D. 1278, Robertus atte Potte, County Surrey, is summoned to do military service.

The name of Pott is to be found in isolated instances in different parts of Great Britain at a very early period, but it is not until the reign of Queen Elizabeth that we find any family of the name of special importance settled in one spot, so that one is able to make a connected pedigree.

ARMS OF POTT OR POTTS

First of all it may be well to explain, that the English idea or usage armorial bearings is, that they are granted as property to an individual, and from him descend to his children, grandchildren, and so on. In England there is no such thing as the arms of a family, except the sons, grandsons, etc., of the grantee constitute his particular family. That is, they do not pass to brothers or collateral lines. The practice however is quite different on the Continent.

The Arms of Pott or Potts are quite simple, being composed of bars and a bend over all. In the various descriptions given, there are some variations in the tinctures or colors, as borne by different branches of the family. In some cases these changes may have come by reason of being borne by junior members of a family, while in some other cases it is not at all improbable that the copyists may have been at fault. It is not at all uncommon for the branches of a family to difference their arms with an interchange of tinctures.

Similarity of Arms is generally understood to indicate family relationship, but it is not an ironclad rule, as there are instances of persons bearing the same surname, and having very similar Arms, yet in no way related.

The earliest record in the Herald's College of Arms granted to any person bearing the name of Pott or Potts, so far as yet discovered, bears date of 1583. In that year Arms were granted to John Potts, an eminent lawyer of Lincoln's Inn, London, and are fairly shown and described as follows:

ARMS: Azure two bars or, over all a bend of the second.

This John Potts was a son of Roger Potts of Mannington, County Durham. The Potts' of Counties Bedford, Durham and Kent, all bore the same Arms and seem to have been of the same family. A branch of the Potts family who settled in Kings County, Ireland, also bore these Arms, though they claim descent from the Cheshire Potts.

Ormerod's History of Cheshire, edition of 1882, gives a description of the Arms of Pott, of Pott Hall, Cheshire, which seems to be corrected from a former edition of that work. This description is here copied:

ARMS: Or two bars azure, over all a bend (not) of the second (but gules).

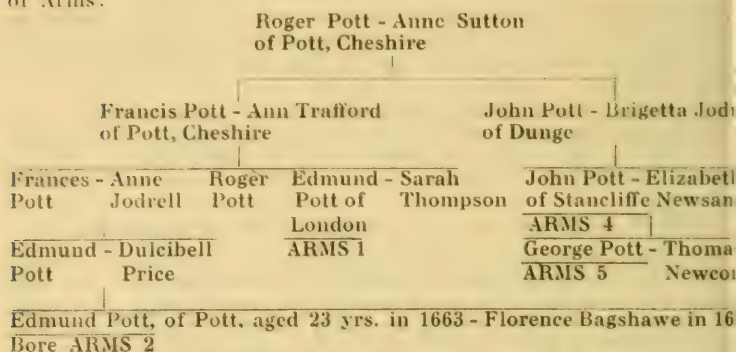

When these Arms were granted, and to whom, does not appear, but the inference is that they were quite ancient. In the Visitation of 1633, Edmund Pott, of London, bore these Arms. This Edmund Pott was the third son of Francis Pott, who was a son of Roger Pott, of Pott Hall, Cheshire. These Arms bear a mullet on the bend over the dexter chief, which is the distinctive difference indicating a third son, and proves that he bore these Arms by inheritance.

On November 19, 1611, Arms were granted to John Pott, of Stanfeild, Derbyshire, by Sir Richard St. George, Norroy, and are described as follows:

ARMS: Barry of ten argent and sable, on a bend over all gules, three trefoils slipped or.

John Pott, of Stancliffe, was a son of another John Pott, a grandson of Roger Pott, of Dunge, Cheshire. On a burial tablet, pendend in St. Mary and St. Helen Church, at Neston, Wirrill Hund in Cheshire, to the memory of Thomasyn, wife of George Pott, Stancliffe, who ided in 1650, the Arms for Pott are the same as th granted to John Pott, of Stancliffe, his father, in 1611, except that tincture of the bend is changed from gules to sable.

Assuming that Roger Pott, of Pott, and Roger Pott, of Du Cheshire, were one and the same person, which seems to be altoget probable, the following skeleton pedigree exhibits the position in family of those of Cheshire and Derbyshire who are mentioned as b ing Arms. The names of those who have been noticed as bearing A are underscored and a number affixed to correspond with the descrip of Arms:

The Pott or Potts family of Counties Selkirk and Roxburgh, S land, bore very similar Arms.

MOTTOS

THE POTTS LINE

DAVID POTTS. Born about 1670 in Montgomeryshire, Wales, it is believed and died in 1730. He married Alice Croasdale in 1694. He settled in Bristol Township, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, and was a Friend. Their children were: Thomas (1695), John (1696-1766), Daniel (1698), Elizabeth (1699), Jonathan (1701), Mary (1703), Stephen (1704), Rebecca (1706), Ezekiel (1708) and Nathan.

David Potts came to America with Governor Markham. The time of his coming to Pennsylvania has not been discovered, but he may have come with other members of the family when he was but a lad. The first mention of him that has been noticed is on 7 mo. 24, 1692, when he became the bondsman for Elizabeth Bennett, as executrix of Edmund Bennett, her late husband. His signature attached to the bond is on file in the Registrar's office at Philadelphia. He first belonged to the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, though no record of his reception there seems to remain. The early records of the meeting are quite imperfect. David Potts and Alice Croasdale, youngest daughter of Thomas and Agnes (Hathernthwaite) Croasdale, who came to America with William Penn on the good ship "Welcome", declared their intentions of marriage with each other before the Philadelphia Monthly Meeting on 29, 1693. (December, 1693), passed the Meeting the second time on 11 mo. 26, 1693 (January, 1694), and were granted a certificate to carry under the care of Middletown Monthly Meeting in Bucks County.

JOHN POTTS. (David and Alice (Croasdale) Potts). Born 8 mo. 1696 and died in September 1766. He married Elizabeth McVeagh daughter of Edmond and Alice (Dickinson) McVeagh, about 5 (July), 1726. The minutes of the Abington Monthly Meeting show that they passed meeting the second time on 4 mo. 27, 1726, and the minutes of 5 mo. 25, 1726 state that the marriage was orderly accomplished. Elizabeth McVeagh Potts was born in 1679, and died 1 mo. 5, 1791, aged 92 years. Their children were: Samuel, Elizabeth (1734-1758), and Thomas (1729-1776).

John Potts was a witness to the will of David Jones, of Bristol Township, made in 1719. David Potts was one of the appraisers. In 1727 he was a witness to the will of Robert Kirkwood of Plymouth Township. He settled in Upper Dublin Township, now included within the limits of Montgomery County, where he purchased a tract of land from Isaac and John Phipps about 1748. The deed, which is recorded at Philadelphia, recites at length the chain of title from the original grant by William Penn in 1681. This land is still in the possession and occupation of descendants of John Potts. It lies about two miles east of the present village of Fort Washington. His will is recorded at Philadelphia.

THOMAS POTTS. (David, John and Elizabeth (McVeagh) Potts).
born in 1729 and died on July 29, 1776. He married Elizabeth Lukens, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Tyson) Lukens, on January 16, 1753. Ten children were born to them, five of whom survived. Three of them were Elizabeth, William Lukens (1771-1854), and Hugh Henry (1773-1842).

Thomas Potts was a millwright by trade and lived in Moreland County for some time. On June 22, 1753 Walter Moore and Sarah his wife conveyed to Thomas Potts, millwright, of the Manor of Moreland, one half of a certain corn mill, etc. and two parcels of land in Moreland. He subsequently removed to Sussex County, New Jersey.
He settled at Chelsea Forge, where he had a landed estate. He was elected Sheriff of Sussex County in 1772, and a member of the Provincial Assembly in 1775 and 1776. His widow subsequently married Dr. John Rockhill, a widower with children. There were no children by this marriage, but some of their descendants by their former marriages remarried. Dr. Rockhill was born March 22, 1726 and died April 7, 1783. Elizabeth survived him.

The Lukens family was one of the most notable of the early Pennsylvania families and was of Holland descent. Joseph and John Lukens were brothers-in-law of Thomas Potts. The first mentioned was a life-long resident on the Lukens estate at Sandy Run, about ten miles from Philadelphia, in the neighborhood of Chestnut Hill. The Potts family had then been nearly sixty years in America, having emigrated from England under the auspices of William Penn in 1668. Joseph Lukens was a life-long resident on the Lukens estate; a man of wealth and held in high esteem for many good qualities. John Lukens studied civil engineering, and later was appointed to the responsible position of Surveyor-general of Pennsylvania, under the King. Upon the agitation of the momentous question which prepared the way for American Independence, he espoused the cause of the patriots, and so closely identified was he with the leaders in the revolutionary movement that it was in one of the apartments of his residence, in Philadelphia, that the Declaration of Independence was drawn up by Thomas Jefferson.
His grand-daughter, the celebrated beauty, Sally McKean, became the wife of the Marquis D'Yrujo, the first minister from Spain to the United States under the constitution.

By his marriage with Miss Lukens, Thomas Potts received a handsome fortune. He removed to the beautiful Musconetcong Valley, in New Jersey, near the mouth of the river, where he purchased a large estate, on which he erected a forge and furnace, and conducted until his death in 1776, an extensive and successful iron manufacturing enterprise. To an almost immeasurable degree he had the confidence of all who knew him. He was trusted as a man of honor and unyielding fidelity; he was admired as a man of unwearying enterprise and brilliant talents. He is distinguished as having been a member of the Continental Congress, which convened in Philadelphia in 1775 to petition the King to redress the grievances which had long been suffered by the colonies. He was in all essential respects a patriot; he had at heart the cause of the early struggling colonies, and deprecated as deeply as any of his liberty loving contemporaries the severity with which they were oppressed; but he was a consistent adherent to the religious principles of the Society of Friends, and finding it impossible to regard the Declaration of Independence as anything short of a practical declaration of war he refused to affix his signature to that historical document, wishing to cooperate in an act which would precipitate bloodshed and rapine upon the colonies.

A remarkable circumstance in the histories of the Potts and Riddle families is that members of them have intermarried for five generations, during which they have lived on the same estate.

HUGH HENRY POTTS. (David, John, Thomas and Elizabeth (Lukens) Potts). Born in 1773 in New Jersey and died in 1842. In 1800 he married Elizabeth Hughes at Carlisle, Pa. (Not related to Rachel Hughes, wife of William Lukens Potts). She died in Bucks County, Pennsylvania in 1813. Their children were: Elizabeth Hughes (1801), Thomas (1803), Sarah Ann (1805), John Hughes (1807), William Lukens (1809-1885) and George Henry (1811-1888).

Having a natural proclivity for a military career, Hugh H. Potts became an officer in the first United States army raised under the newly organized government and served as such for many years. After he resigned his commission he purchased an estate on the Delaware River, where he resided until the death of his wife. Near the close of the war of 1812-1814 he was reappointed to a captaincy in the United States army service, but just as he was about to join and report for duty peace was declared.

His father-in-law, Captain John Hughes of Revolutionary memory, was a distinguished officer who participated in every engagement from that at Three Rivers, Canada, to the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, during nearly all of which eventful period he was in the companionship of General Washington. Captain Hughes recruited a company at Carlisle which was attached to the 10th Pennsylvania Regiment, and entered the service as its captain, but was soon promoted to the office of paymaster-general, a position which the history of those times would indicate depended more on the possession of ample means and a patriotic willingness to disburse them as occasion required, for the relief of the ill-paid and often suffering soldiers, than the mere desire and ability to transact its simple routine duties in consideration of the salary.

WILLIAM L. POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, (Hugh Henry and Elizabeth (Hughes) Potts) was born May 2, 1809 in Bucks County, Delaware River, Pennsylvania, and died in Eureka, California in 1881. In June 1833 he married Ann Margaret Carpenter in Hazel Green, Wis. Ann Margaret Carpenter was born in Trenton, New Jersey in January 1817, and was brought at the age of two to Galena, Wisconsin.

William L. Potts was named after his uncle, William Lukens Potts. His father had some means; therefore he was well educated, probably in Philadelphia. His mother died in 1813 when he was four years old and he was raised in Pittstown, Hunterdon County, N. J. in the family of his father's sister, Mrs. John C. Rockhill. Little is recorded of any events connected with his life in the East, excepting his close association and regard for Edwin Forrest—not approved of by the family—because of their religious views.

In about 1829 or 1830 Grandmother Carpenter (Frances Creveling) a woman of some means, left Galena, Wisc. and journeyed back to Philadelphia to consult her bankers, the Potts', on business. While there she was invited to take a young man West with her because he was not in accord with the Quaker mode of living. This young man was William Lukens Potts, then a young man about twenty years of age. William was a frequenter of the theater and became a close friend of Edwin Forrest, the noted tragedian, whose remains lie in the old St. Paul's Churchyard in Philadelphia. For a time William acted as prompter for Forrest, and was himself able to recite Shakespeare with dramatic effect. It has been learned that later, while a clerk in a store at Springfield, Illinois, where Abraham Lincoln was also employed, he presented Lincoln with a copy of Shakespeare's works.

William started West with Grandmother Carpenter, and stopped at Galena, Wisconsin, where he obtained employment as a bookkeeper. Later he was taken to Springfield, Illinois, to adjust a set of books. During the Black Hawk War, which broke out shortly afterward, he represented the Whites in a conference with Chief Black Hawk, the conference taking place in boats in mid-stream. After the war he returned to Galena and in June 1833 married Anne Margaret Carpenter.

His Army service, during which the Black Hawk War occurred, is given as follows: Enlisted on April 21, 1832 from Sangamon County, Ill., in Captain L. W. Goodman's company, Mounted Volunteers, commanded by General Samuel Whitesides. On May 1, 1832 he joined Captain John Dawson's company of the Spy Battalion in General Whiteside's command. The company was mustered out at the mouth of the Fox River.

n May 28, 1832. He then enlisted in Captain Elijah Iles' company of the Mounted Volunteers in the service of the United States under the command of General Henry Atkinson. He was mustered out as a private on June 16, 1832. Abraham Lincoln, afterwards President of the United States, enlisted in the same company as a private after his own company had been mustered out. Captain Iles' company was mustered out at Fort Wilbaum, near Peru, Illinois. On the same day William L. Potts (also Abraham Lincoln) reenlisted in Captain Jacob Earley's company, Mounted Volunteers. They were mustered out July 16, 1832 on White Water River, a branch of Rock River, Illinois.

For five years William L. Potts and his wife lived in Galena, then a great wagon train center and Indian trading post, where because of his excellent education, he held a clerical position. In 1838 he moved to Sabula, Iowa, a new settlement, where he carried on the hotel and ferry business combined; but failed because of difficulty in procuring supplies. They then went South on a river boat to Lyons, Clinton County, where he was employed as a bond clerk of the Clinton County Board in 1839. He then moved with his wife and family consisting of one son and two daughters to Sabula in 1841 where he again managed a hotel, this time meeting with more success. In 1849 he became interested in the California gold rush, left his wife and six children in Andrew and went West in charge of the longest wagon train ever assembled in Andrew or nearby cities. Most of the other pioneers were from that part of the State and many were his neighbors.

Because of uncertain mails, after an absence of several years he was thought dead. He returned about 1856 to Meadows Farm, went back to California the following year, but later again returned to Iowa. Finally, in 1879, he returned to California and located in Eureka, a seaport and supply point for pioneers, where he was engaged in trading. It was here that he spent the six remaining years of his life.

His lack of interest in home and family caused much concern, which finally resulted in a formal separation. His wife married Edwin Hamberlain about 1860. William L. Potts is described as a stocky man with small hands and feet, black hair and large blue eyes. He possessed a wonderful voice.

ANN MARGARET (POTTS) FEGAN. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry, (William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born November 3, 1834 in Hazel Green, Wisconsin, and named after her mother. She died in the Mercy Hospital, Clinton, Iowa on June 30, 1911 and was buried in Springdale Cemetery in Clinton beside her husband Joseph Dever Fegan, whom she married August 26, 1851 in Elk River Township, Clinton, Iowa. They had the following children: Estella (1853-1855), Charles P. (1855-), Elizabeth R. (1857-1894) and Margaret (1859-). Her mother's maiden name was Ann Margaret Carpenter. The Carpenters are an old and prominent family who settled in Warren County, New Jersey. Samuel D. Carpenter was the name of her grandfather on her mother's side. He died in 1845 in Deep Creek Township, Clinton County, Iowa, where he settled in 1838. In 1816 he married Frances Creveling who shortly after the death of her husband married Ansel Briggs, the first governor of Iowa (1846 to 1850), and lived with him until her death in 1860. Governor Ansel Briggs died at the residence of his son in Omaha, Nebraska on May 5, 1881. The Crevelings are an old New Jersey family from Hunterdon County. The mother of Mr. J. D. Fegan, Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts, was remarried on November 21, 1857 upon her separation from her first husband, William Potts, to Edwin Chamberlain, who was born January 24, 1811 in Kent, Connecticut. Ann M. Chamberlain was born January 1, 1816 and died January 20, 1904 at Clinton, Iowa. She is buried in the Oakland Cemetery at Clinton (Lyons), Iowa. Mr. Chamberlain is buried in the same lot, it having been purchased by him in 1868. The lot next to it was owned by Captain J. D. Fegan.

"Diddy", as she was called by the family and her friends, was about five feet five inches tall, weighed about one hundred fifty-five pounds, had light blue eyes, a rather large nose, very smooth skin and black hair. She must have been a Potts in stature but a Carpenter in temperament, as she was very quick-tempered and sensitive. A great lover of good books and flowers, with no regard for the value of money and generous to a fault. Her home was always a gathering place, and "Bluff Orchard" was the scene of many a party and courtship. She and Captain Fegan lived very quietly during the declining years of their lives under the faithful eye of their grand-daughter Jean Wilkins. Diddy passed away after three sad years following the death of her husband.

ARAH ELIZABETH POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry, William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born in Galena, Illinois August 9, 1836 and died at Mount Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa November 2, 1915. Buried in the Oakland Cemetery, Clinton (Lyons), Iowa beside her mother and her son Wilbur. She was a sister to Mrs. D. Fegan and was named after two of her aunts on her father's side. "Aunt Lib", as she was generally called, was married to Edward Wemple about 1870, her husband having been a captain during the Civil War. They separated, after having had one son, Wilbur B., who died August 7, 1901 at Clinton, Iowa. Wilbur B. Wemple had one son, Gale A. Wemple, who lives in Chicago. About 1880 Aunt Lib married John Harding, and they were divorced about ten years later. He died shortly afterward. She was a Spiritualist and devoted most of her time to their meetings and teachings. She had a tent in the Mount Pleasant summer camp grounds at Clinton, Iowa, and her home was on Fourth Street near Twelfth Avenue. She believed in palmistry and made a serious study of it. She was somewhat similar to her older sister, Ann Margaret, in general build and looks, and was very mirthful and smart. In temper and likes she was a Carpenter. Her later years were spent almost entirely with her friends who were interested in Spiritualism.

WILLIAM CARPENTER POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry (William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born in De Creek, Clinton County, Iowa on September 4, 1838. He was named after his grandmother's people and was the oldest brother of Ann Margaret Potts. Educated at the Fulton Military School, Fulton, Illinois. At the age of twenty-three he enlisted in Company "M" First Iowa Cavalry September 2, 1861; mustered September 12, 1861; reenlisted and mustered December 27, 1863. After the Battle of Boonville, they were retained for duty at Major General Rosecrans' headquarters as escorts, scouts, and couriers until the end of the campaign. The rebellion being practically suppressed, it was expected the government would dispense with the services of the Regiment, but this hope was rudely dispelled when orders were received for the First Iowa and a number of other Regiments to embark on transports to proceed to Alexandria, La. and then report to Major General G. A. Custer for further orders.

The command arrived at Alexandria on June 22, 1865 and on the following day General Custer issued an order, the strict enforcement of which brought great hardship and humiliation upon the splendid Regiments composing his command. The full details of the terrible experience through which this Regiment passed while under the command of this martinet of the regular army, are given in the report of Lieut. Colonel A. G. McQueen to the Adjutant General of Iowa, including copies of official orders, affidavits and correspondence in which the honor of the Regiment is completely vindicated.

Deserted June 25, 1865 at Alexandria, Louisiana. Captured a horse belonging to the rebel general Quantrell and brought it home to "Meadow Farms" in Clinton County, Iowa. This horse was a vicious one and had a record of killing three men, one of whom was the uncle of Bruce Darling, who married Jean Wilkins.

In about the year 1869 he managed a general store at Fort Scott, Kansas. One evening while sitting in his home he was called to the door by a man who had ridden up on horseback, and upon going to the door was shot and killed by this desperate character, who immediately rode away. The reason for this act was never learned, unless it was because of a dispute which had taken place at a horse-race a short time before. He was buried in the Oakland Cemetery at Clinton (Lyons) Iowa. His wife and two daughters Mabel and Zoe, cannot be located.

FRANCES IOWA POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry (William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born in Deep Creek Township, Iowa, on June 7, 1842. She died on May 27, 1919, in Maquoketa, Iowa, where she had lived most of her life. She was named after her grandmother on her mother's side and the state in which she was born. On May 7, 1864 at Meadow Farm, Clinton County, she married John Wanichuk. To this union two children were born: Irene Genevieve on August 30, 1865, and Claud Potts on September 8, 1867 at Clinton, Iowa, who later settled in Dutch Flats, California and entered the lumber business. John Wanichuk died in Lyons, Iowa, now part of Clinton, on July 2, 1868 and is buried beside his mother-in-law in the Oakland Cemetery at Lyons on his lot which is next to the one owned by Captain J. D. Fegan. On June 6, 1869 at Maquoketa, Iowa his widow married Jacob Glaser. This union brought six children: Edna Earl, August 9, 1870; Edwin Everett, September 23, 1872; Jacob Erwin, September 17, 1874; Bessie Beatrice, September 4, 1877; Dorchester Ellet, September 11, 1879, who died in Colorado in 1912; Carl Lyle, December 1, 1881, who died in Colorado Springs, Colorado in 1903 and is buried at Maquoketa, Iowa. Dorchester Ellet is buried in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Edna Earl had children as follows: Laura Bell Wilkins, September 9, 1889 and Claudiell Jenette Anderson, January 27, 1902, both of whom are married and live in Chicago. Edwin Everett lives in Wells, Nevada, and is now engaged in the lumber business. Jacob Erwin now lives in Hot Springs, Ark. and is engaged in the contracting business. Bessie Beatrice now lives in Chicago and is married to Guy McNutt.

Frances Glaser was a typical Potts—a woman of high ideals; intelligent, benevolent and a leader in social activities being particularly interested in charity. She believed that friends were a measure of one's character and usefulness. Her house was always open to those who were in want. Her creed was "Live a life of hope and faith; believe in the mighty power of truth and love." During the middle part of her life she lived in Carr, Colorado, for short periods, where her two sons died. Her last years were divided between her daughter Edna in Chicago and her other daughter Bessie in Milwaukee, where she enjoyed the offerings of rural life.

IRENE LUCINDA POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry (William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born in Sabul Iowa on November 28, 1845 and was named after one of her aunts on her mother's side. She died at her home in San Francisco, March, 1921. In 1861 at Lyons, Iowa she married Paden Cox, who during the Civil War raised and equipped a company, of which he was its captain. Upon being wounded at Shiloh he resigned from the service. During his absence his cousin, Thomas Cox, was left in charge of his property at Lyons, which included the old Randall house, a well-known building. Later Paden Cox ran a store in Lyons, and in the fall of 1863 went by wagon train to Boise, Idaho, where he had a ranch. Returned to Iowa about 1866 and took up a homestead near Boone. Left Iowa about 1868 and went to Dutch Flat, where he was interested in Hydraulic mining. Later he went to Sacramento and became interested in the lumber business.

Their children were: Minnie Valentine, Frank, Annie and Ethel. Minnie Valentine was born in Lyons on February 14, 1863 and married Charles DeLong of San Francisco. She is an artist and has been engaged in interior decorating. There were no children. Frank was born in Boise, Idaho in 1866; is married and has one daughter, Thelma. He is engaged in the railroad business and ranching. Annie (Nan) was born at Boone, Iowa, in 1868; married a well-known San Francisco lawyer. During the earthquake and fire their house was used by General Funston as his headquarters. The husband of Nan was blinded by an explosion and some time later was killed in an accident. Ethel was born in Dutch Flat in 1875, and married Kurt Heyman, a San Francisco merchant. She is a business woman; has been auditor of a leading San Francisco firm but in recent years has assisted her husband in his business at Palo Alto, California.

AMUEL HUGH POTTS. (David, John, Thomas, Hugh Henry, (William L. and Ann Margaret (Carpenter) Potts) was born in Sabula, Ill. March 28, 1848. Died February 25, 1870 at Camion River, Kansas. Typhoid fever. Never married. Went to school at Fulton Military Academy. Went West with his older brother William, and lived on a farm near him. Always in poor health. Buried in the Lyons Cemetery on the family lot beside his brother William. Learned tinner's trade. He was a fine musician.

209 Jesse Charles Potts,⁵ (Jesse,⁴ Samuel,³ Daniel,² David,¹), son of Jesse and Elizabeth (Dunns) Potts, was born Sept. 30, 1811, and died Feb. 2, 1891. He was a life-long resident of Albany, New York. When he reached the age of 16 years he determined to become self-supporting, and after working at other employments for some time, he entered as an apprentice with Corning & Norton to learn the foundry trade and finished with Francis Low. After working at the trade for some time, he, at the age of 24 years, entered into a partnership with Hoffman under the firm name of Hoffman & Potts and started one of the first stove foundries in Albany, which eventually became the largest stove manufacturing city in the United States. In 1850 he withdrew from the firm and went to Europe. Upon his return to this country, he formed a co-partnership with J. H. Shear and Joseph Packard, Jr., in 1852, under the firm name of Shear, Packard & Co., and built a large foundry. In 1857 he sold his interest in the firm to his partners and retired from active business, having amassed a considerable estate, which was subsequently largely increased by judicious investments in real estate and stocks. His career in life was a demonstration of what pluck, energy, honesty and brains may accomplish. He began a poor boy, without friends to help, and step by step rose to a position of honor, prominence and wealth in his native city.

He married Eunice U. Walker, daughter of Ashbel Walker, Dec. 22, 1835. She was born 1812, and died June 23, 1890. Mr. Potts was an active member and vestryman of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, of Albany. In politics he was originally a Whig and later a Republican. He was active in public affairs. In the days of volunteer fire companies he was a member, and as early as 1835 was foreman of Truck No. 1. At one time he was a member of the Board of City Supervisors. He was one of the originators and a Director of the Commerce Fire Insurance Company; a Director of the First National Bank; one of the founders of the Firemen's Lodge of Odd Fellows; a member of the Histrionic Association; and a collector of American coins.

In 1895, the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Potts erected and presented a handsome Rectory to St. Peter's Church at a cost of $20,000, as a loving Memorial to their father and mother. A fine bronze tablet in the vestibule bears the following inscription, Supplement.

[MEMORANDUM. The following records, furnished by William Theodore Gauss, of Colorado Springs, Colorado, came to hand after the printing of the book was nearly completed, and too late to be incorporated in consecutive order.—T. M. P.]

Third Generation.

38 Elizabeth Potts,³ (Ezekiel,² David,¹), daughter of Ezekiel and Barbara (Vodges) Potts, was born 9 mo., 14, 1753, and died about 1820. She married Andrew Kennedy, under a Pennsylvania license dated February 17, 1774. Andrew Kennedy was born in Ireland, about 1751. He enlisted, March 3, 1777, at Philadelphia, in the Fourth Pennsylvania Regiment, Continental Line, in the Revolutionary War. The Regiment was commanded by Col. Lambert Cadwallader, and participated in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, Jamestown, Yorktown, and was at Valley Forge. He was honorably discharged in 1781.

About 1794, a committee of the Friends Yearly Meeting purchased a part of the Langhorne Estate, in Bucks County, including the mansion house and about 400 acres of land, with the intention of establishing a Friends School there. But afterward not liking it so well, it was sold in the Philadelphia Exchange to Andrew Kennedy, who purchased it at a very low price.* Kennedy made some repairs to the mansion house before the close of the century. Andrew Kennedy died Sep. 23, 1811. The wills of both Andrew and Elizabeth are registered at Philadelphia. Andrew is described as manufacturer of Philadelphia, and Elizabeth as widow of Northern Liberties.

1908 Robert Kennedy,⁴ (Elizabeth,³ Ezekiel,² David,¹), son of Andrew and Elizabeth (Potts) Kennedy, was a keeper of Naval stores at Philadelphia. He is said to have been married twice. The records of the Second Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, give the marriage of Robert Kennedy and Ann Pennington, as having been consummated on February 1, 1810, but it does not appear whether she was the mother of his children or not.

Striker reports the 27th Regiment under Col. Long, as "having in a particular manner distinguished itself in the defense of Baltimore. It was unsurpassed for bravery, resolution and enthusiasm." He was born in 1763 in Ireland, and died February 27, 1821, in Baltimore, Maryland. Elizabeth died in 1850, at Pittsfield, Illinois.

In 1814, he was made Postmaster of Philadelphia, but the opposition was so strong against the appointment, that he was afterward removed, and soon dropped out of politics.

THOMAS POTS, son of Thomas Pots, first pastor of the English Church at Vlissingen, later of the church at Amsterdam, where he died in 1635, and of Sarah de Maayd, was pastor, first, at Vlissingen, then, in 1651, of the English congregation at Utrecht and from November 10, 1654, of the Low Dutch church of the former place. In September 1684 he came into great inconveniency, because he through great indiscretion had had Koelman, who had been deposed at Sluis, preach for him at Vlissingen, notwithstanding that the States of (Council?) Zeeland had previously forbidden Koelman to preach or to administer the Sacrament in the Province. On account of this, Pots was summoned before the States (Council?) of Zeeland, but excused himself "because he was suffering from the gout."

The States were (Council was?) not satisfied with this and summoned him anew. Pots defended himself in the ablest manner and declared he did not know that their resolution in 1674 referred to Koelman, since he (Koelman) had likewise preached for his colleague, Bernardus van Denise. The consequence of all this was that the two gentlemen were prohibited from preaching for three months and their salaries for that period given to the poor of Vlissingen.

In 1659 he received a call from the English church at Amsterdam, and in 1663 one from the Low Dutch church at Utrecht. He died in 1689. From an article written concerning him and spread among the people, it appears that he was not greatly beloved at Vlissingen. It began thus :—

And nobody's sorry for it."

His first wife was Nikoletta Kommersteijn, who died in 1665, and his second Alide de Ruiter, daughter of Admiral M. A. de Ruiter, widow of John Schrorer, an Alderman of Vlissingen.

PART II.

Page 117. To the list of the early emigrants to America, may be added the name of Richard Potts, a famous fisherman on the coast of Maine, of about 1660. "Potts Channel" and "Potts Point" were named in his honor. He is said to have left descendants.

Page 121. 17th line from the top, for "1729-30," read "1629-30."

Page 126. 19th line from top. ADDITIONAL. Since this part of the book was printed, Mr. Rae Reisinger, of Franklin, Penna., has had some further researches made in Chesterfield Parish Registers, from which it appears that RICHARD POTT married ANNA, daughter of Godfriedi Ashe, May 15, 1636. She was baptized at Chesterfield, February 8, 1617.* Richard Pott does not seem to have been born at Chesterfield, as there is no record of his baptism in the Parish Registers, and the name of Pott or Potts has not been found there prior to 1636. In addition to the information already given, it may be added that there is brass tablet affixed to the north pillar on the west side of the high altar, of the Chesterfield Parish Church, bearing an inscription to the memory of one JOHANNES POTTS who was buried October 10, 1676.

Pages 136-7. Since these pages were printed, evidence has come to the notice of the compiler showing quite clearly, that Joseph Borden of the deed was none other than Joseph the founder of Bordentown. As Joseph's children are all accounted for and none was the wife of a Thomas Potts, the term "son-in-law" was used to indicate a relationship not now accorded to this term. John Borden, an uncle of Joseph, died in 1716, and by his will left lands in New Jersey and Pennsylvania to his daughters Hope and Mary. Mary is alleged to have been born about 1684, and is the only one of John Borden's children who is not clearly accounted for after his decease. It seems altogether probable that she removed to New Jersey, and that she may have become a member of her cousin Joseph's household, and subsequently, if she became the wife of Thomas Potts, it would be, at that day, not at all improbable that Joseph would speak of Thomas as his son-in-law.

Page 160. 19 Stacy Potts. The following extract from a letter, dated August 2, 1768, and written by Stacy Potts, is not only interesting, but is confirmatory of the facts already set forth at length in the account of the descendants of Thomas Potts, (Shield).

Mahlon Stacy who came over to the wilds of America in the Ship called the Shield from Hull, and arrived in December 1678, with a great number of first settlers of New Jersey, among whom was Thomas Potts my predecessor in the male line, which I need not at present pursue, but to return to the said Mahlon Stacy my other great grandfather who had six children called Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, Ruth, Rebecca and Mahlon, the latter of whom was with Edward Beakes over with you in or about 1716 then a Widower, he died without issue

The daughters married as followeth, Elizabeth to Abel Jenny of whom are a considerable family. Mary married Renben Pownell who was also at your house, they died childless. Sarah married Joseph Kirkbride and left one son still living with a number of children and some grandchildren. Rebecca married Joshua Wright and left a pretty large family of descendants, and Ruth married William Beakes then a widower who had two sons William and Edmond by a former wife, and by her he had one daughter and two sons, Sarah (who was my mother), Stacy and Nathan. When the said William Beakes my grandfather died and his widow married Samuel Atkinson who is still alive, and by whom he had two sons and two daughters still living. My mother married to Thomas Potts Grandson of the aforesaid Thomas Potts by whom she had six children, five of whom are now living two sons and three daughters. My father died in 1742 when we were all very young and my mother 15 years after. My brother named Richard has a wife and several children as also have my sisters Ruth and Mary. My youngest sister Sarah still unmarried, and myself (the eldest) have been married and have four children, but have had the misfortune to lose my wife about three months past.

Page 475. 12th line from top. 56 Hugh Henry Potts. The following extract from a letter written to the compiler in 1885, by the late William John Potts, concerning Hugh Henry Potts and others of that connection, contains interesting matter worth preserving.

This summer I have renewed my acquaintance with Mr. George H. Potts, of the City of New York, above spoken of. He is, as you are aware, first cousin to my father and is now seventy four years old, a tall, distinguished and elegant looking man of at least six feet high, not inclined to stoutness which characterizes two of his sons. * *

Among Mr. George H. Potts' traditions of his father, uncles, and grandfather were several which were confirmed in part by my aunt (Hannah) Elizabeth Potts and my uncle Charles Clay Potts, both aged above seventy years. Hugh Potts, as he was commonly called, though his full name was Alexander Hugh, father of the said George, and brother to my grandfather, was a remarkably handsome man. One of the Robesons who had known him in his youth, possibly an old sweetheart of his, said he was the handsomest man she ever knew. The said Mary Robeson died in Philadelphia aged above seventy years ten or more years ago.

Hugh Potts was six feet one inch high, weighed 220 pounds and was a most powerful man. On one occasion he lifted with one hand fourteen (14) fifty six (56) pound weights to above the knee. He held on his outstretched hand, one Ramsay, Sheriff of Hunterdon County, in a standing position, he being steadied by a man on each side of him, took him entirely across the room. He also carried the said Ramsay standing on his (Mr. Potts') knee, the back part of it turned up, across the room. Mrs. Rockhill, sister to Hugh Potts, was also of large frame. She was six feet in height. * * *

Thomas Potts, High Sheriff of Sussex County, N. J., [father of Hugh Potts,] on one occasion had to arrest Edward Marshall, the hero of the famous Indian walk, who lived on an island in the Delaware out of his jurisdiction, and was beside no mean adversary. My great grandfather Thomas Potts, a large and powerful man, took a boat and crossing over to the island where Marshall lived, bound him hand and foot and when he landed his prisoner on the Jersey shore, served his warrant on him.

Page 477. 60 Jesse Potts. He was a Friend or Quaker, and a member of the Masonic fraternity. A gold Masonic emblem, bearing date of 1808, is now in possession of his grandson, Jesse Walker Potts, of Albany. He seems to have been a man of taste and more than ordinary education. Many of his books, some fine pieces of furniture, and a fine old "grandfather's clock," are preserved by the grandson above named.

Memoranda.

RICHARD POTTS. David McKown, or McKewen, a merchant of Barbadoes, was for some time in the City of Philadelphia, where he was taken sick and died about the year 1694. His will, dated Dec. 26, 1694, and proven January 7, 1694-5, is recorded in Will-Book, C, page 297, at Philadelphia. He was a man of considerable estate. He names his wife Ann, and mentions, inter alia, his "silver headed cane," and £44, 16s., and a hundred weight of tobacco, in the hands of Richard Potts. At the probating of the will, Richard Potts made oath that "he did write y^e Last Will & Testament within mentioned by y^e speciall direction of the wthin named david M^{ac}Kowine." Richard Potts was named as one of the executors. A loose paper filed with the original will, in a handwriting other, than that of Richard Potts, is a renunciation of executorship of the said Richard Potts, but it is unsigned. This Richard Potts has not been identified, and it is possible that he was only temporarily in this country.

THOMAS POTTS. The "Annals of the Shotwell Family," contains the record of the marriage of Abraham Shotwell, (b. 1719), son of John, Jr., and Mary (Thorne) Shotwell, of Shotwell's Landing, on the Rahway River, in Essex [now Union] County, New Jersey, and Mary Potts, daughter of Thomas and Phebe Potts, of "Honey Neck, Conattecute," in 1742. They were Friends and passed Meeting on 9 mo. 4, the second time. Mary (Potts) Shotwell died 3mo. 31, 1762. No further information of this family of Potts has been found and no such place as "Honey Neck" is known in the state of Connecticut at this time.

The three persons mentioned below, each bearing the name of John Potts, have not been identified, but they may have belonged to some of the families heretofore recorded.

JOHN POTTS. In 1744, one John Potts was registered in Pennsylvania as an Indian Trader.

JOHN POTTS. On May 1, 1759, John Potts was Ensign in the Military Company of Captain Richard Gardner, of Pennsylvania.

JOHN POTTS. Among those who accompanied the Lewis and Clark exploring expedition to the Rocky Mountains, in 1804-5, was one John Potts. During the expedition, Potts and one Colter obtained permission to stop for the purpose of trapping and hunting, intending shortly to overtake the main body. As there had been a recent encounter with the Blackfeet Indians, the trappers were aware that extreme caution was necessary to escape the vengeance of the Indians.

Their plan of operation was to set their traps in the evening, visit them early in the morning and remain in hiding during the day. One morning while rowing up stream a heavy tramping was heard. Colter declared it to be the approach of Indians and was for taking to flight at once, but Potts laughed at him, declaring that the sound was that of a herd of buffaloes, and kept ahead. It was but a short time until both banks of the stream were lined with Indians.

As there was no possible chance of escape, they obeyed the command to row to shore, where they were at once surrounded by the savage Blackfeet. Just as they stepped ashore, a burly Indian snatched Potts' rifle, but Colter, being a man of great strength, wrested it from him and returned it to Potts, who jumped into the canoe and pushed out into the stream. Colter called to Potts to come ashore, but he kept out into the current and soon called out. "Colter, I am wounded." Colter turned and saw the Indian who had shot Potts just taking down his bow, and while looking at him he heard Potts' rifle and saw the Indian drop dead. A moment later, Potts' lifeless body fell into the canoe, pierced by hundreds of arrows. Colter was subsequently given a chance of life by running and succeeded in escaping. Washington Irving, Bradbury and others have written graphic accounts of this thrilling affair.

THOMAS POTTS. Thomas Potts, who was sometime Governor of British Honduras, was a man of great wealth and held large possessions in Honduras, and had funds invested in both England and the United States. He died about October, 1806. His wife, Catharine Ferara, belonged to one of the chief families of Honduras. His will is lengthy and disposes of a large amount of property to many different individuals. He mentions his brothers Richard and James of London, England, his sister Elizabeth, his son James Potts, his son Robert Potts then in New York, his son John Potts then in Leipsic, Germany, his daughter Mary Potts then in London, and his daughter Anna Grace Potts. He also mentions his nephew Richard Potts son of his brother James, his nephew John Potts, his cousin Frances Pendergrast, and many others in which no relationship is mentioned. Robert Potts, the son, seems to have left descendants in this country. One of his daughters married that John Redman Coxe, who was born in 1799, and was living a widow in Philadelphia as late as 1890.

ROBERT POTTS. One Robert Potts came from Ireland to Pennsylvania about the year 1824. After spending some time among friends in Huntingdon County, he removed to the western part of the State and settled in Beaver County. Here he engaged in farming and died there in 1851. The traditions of the family allege that their ancestors came into Ireland from Scotland. Robert Potts' wife's name was Eliza, and his children were Robert, Samuel, Charles, John, David and Margaret. John Potts, the son, continued to reside in Beaver County, and at last account he was still living, a highly respected citizen, at above eighty years of age. David Potts, son of Robert, Junior, resides at Washington, Pennsylvania.

An Anglo-Hibernian Potts Family.

Just before sending the last pages of this work to press, some information came to hand concerning a family of Potts of English origin who settled in County Cavan, Ireland, and later in America. This information has been furnished by Dr. George J. Potts, now of Victoria, British Columbia. It came too late to gather other details or trace a more remote ancestry. This family has occupied a high social position. Of the early history of the family, Doctor Potts gives only what he learned from his seniors while he was yet a boy. The family claimed a lineage running back for more than four hundred years. It is possible that this hastily prepared sketch may contain some inaccuracies, but it may prove a basis for a fuller pedigree.

1 JOHN POTTS,¹ a native of England, is supposed to have been born in either Cheshire or Derbyshire. He served as an officer of some rank in the British Army, and was in Egypt under Sir Ralph Abercrombie at the time of the first Bonaparte War. While still in the Army, he married Miss Jeanette Tought, or Tout, the daughter of a Presbyterian minister of Dundee or Aberdeen, Scotland. He accompanied the Army into Ireland, and when the troubles were over, retired from it on full pay and took up his residence at Drumislady, County Cavan, Ireland. At his death he was buried in the graveyard of Kildalon Church. The upright tombstone still remains. His widow survived him for several years and received a pension from the English government.

Dr. Potts says he well remembers his grandfather's house at Drumislady, a long structure, partly built of stone. The dwelling part was one and a half stories high, with wings one story high, built with old style mortar walls and covered with a straw thatched roof. The stable, cow house, etc., were at one extreme end, the whole structure being perhaps two hundred or more feet in length. The Parish Church and graveyard of Kilnagher, surrounded by a stone high wall, stood about two hundred yards in front of the house.

Dr. Potts states that two brothers of his grandfather, John Potts, served in the army under Gen. Washington and that eventually one or both settled at or about Philadelphia, Pa.

He eventually emigrated to America, landing at New York, and subsequently removing to Ontario. He settled at Belleville, in Hastings County, where he purchased a farm. He was unused to farm life, and exposure brought on Bronchitis, followed by Aphonia, from the effects of which he died December 19, 1852. His wife survived him more than twenty years and died in 1873. Both lie buried at Belleville, in the graveyard of St. Thomas Parish Church, where a monument marks their resting place.

4 and 5 David Potts² and Daniel Potts,² (John,¹), sons of John and Jeanette (Tought) Potts, are said to have to have emigrated to America and settled at or near Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

6 Jeany Potts,² (John,¹), daughter of John and Jeanette (Tought) Potts, was born in County Cavan, Ireland. She married John Thurbur. After his death, she remained a widow and died at an advanced age. She was buried in the garveyard of Kilnagher Church. They had one son who entered the Army and was killed in the Battle of Cape of Good Hope.

His wife survived him and died at above seventy years of age. They lie buried at Millbrook. They had a family of four sons and four daughters. The youngest son succeeded to the homestead.

8 John Potts,³ (Alexander,² John,¹), son of Alexander and Jane (Lovat) Potts, was born at Mohr, County Cavan, Ireland. He entered the Army much against his father's desire, and served in India during the Sikh campaign, and in the Cape of Good Hope during the first troubles with the Boers. Lord Gough was his Commander in Chief. After fourteen years of service, his father purchased his discharge and he accompanied the family to Canada. He died suddenly at Ancaster, Ontario, at the age of forty nine years. unmarried.

9 Rev. Alexander Potts,³ (Alexander,² John,¹), son of Alexander and Jane (Lovat) Potts, was born at Mohr, County Cavan, Ireland. He taught school and studied for the ministry. He became dissatisfied with the unfortunate conditions existing in Ireland, with famine prevailing, and agrarian outrages, frequently accompanied with murder and assassination, he left Ireland, accompanied by his two youngest sisters, Marianne and Eliza Jane, and came to Canada. Their letters home and the mother's desire to be near her children, induced the father to remove with his family to Canada.

Alexander Potts took holy orders, in Canada, and after serving as curate and missionary, was appointed to the Parishes of Delaware and Lambeth adjoining in the Diocese of Huron, where through his labors a beautiful Brick Church was erected about six miles from London, Ontario. It is alleged that his constant labor and zeal, in connection with the erection of this Church, brought on some trouble with his liver which eventually caused his death in 1865. He was buried within the Church grounds, at the urgent wishes of his congregation, who erected a handsome monument to his memory. He married Miss Elizabeth Courtney who still survives. They had one child, a son, who died at the age of twenty seven years.

10 William Lovat Potts,³ (Alexander,² John,¹), son of Alexander and Jane (Lovat) Potts, was born at Mohr, County Cavan, Ireland. He received a fair education, but his taste inclining to farming, his father sent him at the age of 19 years, to the care of Adam Lucas an old friend, and a planter in the West Indies. He remained in the West Indies until the rest of the family removed to Canada, when he followed them and engaged in farming with great success. He married Ann Jane Elliott, daughter of John an Christiana (Potts) Elliott, a first cousin, by whom he had three children, one son and two daughters.

He retired from farming, entered into mercantile pursuits and failed. He removed with his family to Rochester, New York, where his wife, his son and younger daughter died. He afterward entered the employ of the Pennsylvania Rail Road and removed to Philadelphia, where he died in 1884. His eldest daughter married Mr. ——— Vanever and resides at Omaha, Nebraska.

11 George Jerald Potts, M. D.,³ (Alexander,² John,¹), son of Alexander and Jane (Lovat) Potts, was born at Mohr, County Cavan, Ireland, and when twelve years of age came with his parents to Canada. He was educated at the High School at Belleville, Ontario, and for four years served as a clerk in a general store. On account of the discovery of gold in Australia, he went to that country and had fair success. Subsequently he went to London, England, where he studied medicine, and in 1856 obtained the qualification as M. R. C. S. Eng. He went to Australia a second time as Medical Superintendent of the Government emigrants to Victoria. The vessel was chartered for India and the Straits settlements. Upon arriving at Singapore, learning of a probable vacancy in the Hospital, he applied for the place and received the appointment. He was appointed as Resident Surgeon in Charge of the East India Company Invalid Hospital with the privilege of private practice. This position he held for three years, with no little success and popularity.

He was induced to accept the position of Surgeon to her Britannic Majesty's Consul at Bankok, Siam, with greatly increased pay and emoluments. At the end of eleven months, the mutiny occurred in India, and he with twelve other Consular Surgeons were ordered to Calcutta. On arriving at Calcutta, they were organized into an Auxilliary Medical Staff Corps, of which Dr. Potts was appointed the Chief Medical Officer or Superintendent. After the mutiny had been quelled the Corps were ordered to China where the Anglo-French War against the Chinese was about to begin active operations. At the close of the Chinese War, Dr. Potts resigned his position, at Hong Kong, and returned to America, arriving in New York early in 1861, and was there when Abraham Lincoln passed through the city on his way to Washington to be inaugurated.

The following year, Dr. Potts applied to Surgeon General Hammond, U. S. A., for an appointment as a Surgeon in the U. S. service. He was ordered to report to the Army Medical Board at Boston for examination, and later recommended to the President for appointment. He was sworn in on March 12. He served under General Grant, in the Army of the Potomac, and was afterward sent to Texas, where he continued until October, 1865. After leaving the U. S. service, he returned to Belleville, Ontario, where he practiced Medicine and Surgery for three years, when he settled at Toronto, where he continued until 1898, and since that time he has resided at Victoria, British Columbia.

Dr. Potts married Miss Agnes Stewart in 1868. She is a lineal descendant of "Annie Laurie," of poetic story, and whose family name was Ferguson of Craig-Darig, Scotland. Their youngest daughter, Jessie, is said to resemble her famous ancestor in features and general appearance.
